For one thing, these aspects don't have to be played up by us; our enemies abroad will do that in more effective fashion than we ever could. For another thing, it would not necessarily be in the best interests of our government to wave our dirty linen in public on an international scale, assuming that all the facts are not known in advance. The State Department's job is to out-think, out-trick and out-maneuver the other fellow in order to secure an advantage for the United States in its dealings with other countries. Maybe this isn't the highest morality but it is international diplomacy.

If we want Negro men and women to be appointed by our State Department to represent this country abroad, then we must expect them to be assigned to do their jobs as the Department wants them done, not as we would prefer. They immediately cease to become representativs of the Negro population; they become representatives of the American government. Now, perhaps we disapprove of what our government is doing, and perhaps our disapproval is justified. But that is a different story. Then we have a responsibility for trying to change government policy—and even the Administration at the head of our government. And some of us are going to try to do exactly that this campaign year. But in the meantime we can't insist upon the State Department employing Negroes on international assignments and then insist that these Negroes refuse to carry out their assignments.

All this is aside from the fact of the kind of jobs that have been done by some of these State Department spokesmen. There has been criticism of Mrs. Edith Sampson by one or two writers who have read copies of her speeches in the Scandinavian countries. I have seen the full text of her addresses delivered a month ago. They are not speeches I would have made but there is no reason why she or anyone else should be ashamed of them. They are frankly an attempt to answer Communist propaganda disseminated abroad on the subject of race relations. Mrs. Sampson says in effect: that propaganda is largely false because it is distorted. Next week I'll go into her speech in detail.

In Our Corner

ON THE BOOKSHELF

Among the Negroes who came to prominence in Haiti a century and a half ago was Henry Christophe. Growing up in slavery, he rose to a position of absolute authority: in 1811 he made himself king.

King Henry burned with an overwhelming ambition for his race, as well as for his own aggrandizement. He immediately began setting his island kingdom in order. An impassioned Englishman, Thomas Clarkson, dedicated to the cause of Negro emancipation, became the friendly adviser of the king. Together they planned the improvement of Haiti, Clarkson laying the results of European experience before King Henry, and the latter putting many of the proposals into action.

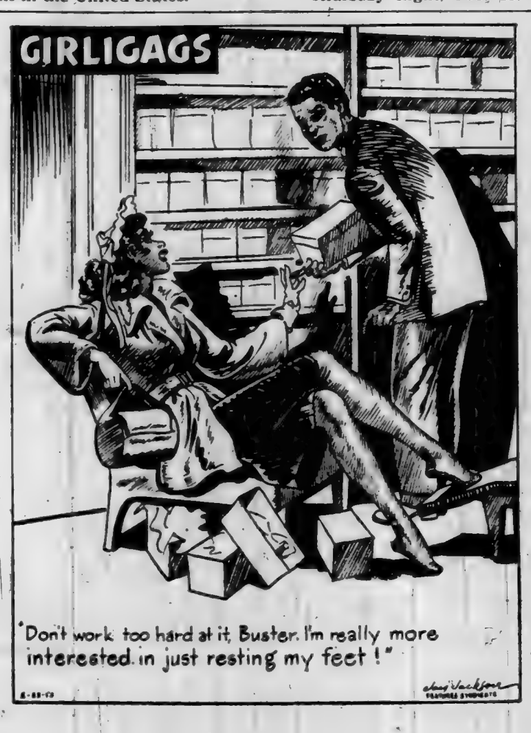
This dramatic story is unfolded in a series of letters soon to be published by the University of California Press—HENRY CHRISTOPHE AND THOMAS CLARKSON: A Correspondence, edited by Earl Leslie Griggs and Clifford H. Prator ($4.00).

The letters tell their own story. King Henry, with Clarkson's advice, reduces the standing army. Land is parceled out to the soldiers and the formation of a militia is outlined. Agriculture is increased and improved. The foundation of an educational system is laid. Even the difficult problem of international relations, particularly with France, is undertaken.

Suddenly, in the midst of success, comes catastrophe. Christophe is stricken with apoplexy. His troops rebel. The broken king retires to his room and puts a bullet through his heart.

Although Henry Christophe's grandiose plan for his Negro kingdom was shattered, this noteworthy collection of letters and documents preserves the tragic tale for all time.

CALIFORNIA CALLED THEM
By Robert O'Brien



One brief century ago, California's call to the world was a magic one—gold. This is the engaging story of the rise and fall of the boom towns which mushroomed up and down the gold trail. Here, from the epoch making discovery at Sutter's mill to modern ghost towns with their nostalgia for other days, is the essence of the California of forty-niner and gold rush.

HOW TO KNOW AMERICAN ANTIQUES
by Alice Winchester

How old is antique? If you must be technical about it, the United States Government has ruled that an object must be at least a hundred years old to be classed as an antique. Other than that, there seems to be many answers and a bewildering array of objects, periods, localities. This is a help to the recognizing by material, design, and workmanship authentic American antiques and their periods.

NO GREEN PASTURES
By Roi Ottley

A distinguished Negro author examines a theme that has been scarcely touched upon—the position of Negroes in European countries. It has often been thought that racial prejudice is largely unknown on the European continent. Mr. Ottley, however, finds that the position of the Negro is difficult everywhere and on the whole he has his finest opportunity for advancement in the United States.

The People Say—

The Eagle is glad to publish your letters. Say anything you want to say, whether it is critical of our policies or in approval of them. We'll print what you have to say if you will keep your letters as short as you can. And you'll help us if you'll type your letters. If you can't type them, please write legibly on one side of the paper. Thanks.

Dear Sir:

The American Council on Human Rights is very happy over your editorial of last week. Thank you very much.

The registration campaign is in full swing now and we thought you might give us a progress report in this or next week's issue. The following facts are submitted:

1. Eleven persons have been deputized by the Registrar of Voters office, and we are working the east, west and southern sections of the city. They are: Florence Anderson, Lucille Bonnett, R. C. Ola Brown, Lillian Fentress, Minnitte Finis, Esther Saul Johnson, Cleopatra Johnson, Virgie Mason, Edna Moore, Shirley Spencer and Shirley Curry.

2. In addition to door-to-door canvassing in each assigned precinct, the deputy registrars can be seen sitting in front of markets, drug stores, etc.—any place where the pedestrian traffic is heavy. We've found out that all that is necessary is to make it convenient for the citizens and they will register.

Thursday night, Feb. 21, four deputies will be stationed at Shrine Auditorium to take affidavits of persons attending the NAACP Mass Meeting.

Sponsors of other meetings where a large audience is anticipated may get in touch with the American Council on Human Rights by calling the chairman of Registration Committee, Mrs. Florence Anderson (RE. 1-1795—2016 W. Adams Blvd.), or the President, Miss Lucille Bonnett (CE. 2-8883), and we will be happy to send deputies.

3. Letters have been written to churches, enclosing brief statements about the campaign to be carried in the Sunday bulletins.

4. Placing posters in buildings, such as markets, hotels, drug stores, etc., where there is much traffic, is another means which the council is using to call attention to the drive.

Deputy registrars report that the majority of the affidavits taken are of persons who have changed addresses.

Remember, you should register if:

a. You have resided in California 1 yr.

b. You have attained the age of 21.

c. You have changed address.

d. You have married. (Name change for woman.)

e. You did not vote in either the primary or general election in 1950.

f. You have become a naturalized citizen.

How many persons are we going to be able to report as having registered during this campaign? It's up to you. Register to Vote.

Thank you again for your cooperation.

Yours very truly,
FLORENCE ANDERSON.
Chairman, Committee on Registration.

Dear Sir:

The program of Day Classes for Adults offered in Los Angeles is one of the most unique educational services given in the public schools of America. Many neighboring areas in California also have these classes, but in the nation as a whole they seldom can be found. These classes give the homemakers an opportunity to leave their work in the daytime, learn things of value and interest to the entire family, and be home again to prepare the evening meal.

The Los Angeles City Schools, through its Adult Education program, have approximately 425 of these classes in operation. Classes in interior decoration of your home and home crafts are a part of this program. For the wardrobe, the mothers can make dresses, receive instruction in tailoring, knitting, and millinery.

Interesting classes in consumer education to help the homemaker recognize quality and exercise good judgment in purchases of food, clothing, and house furnishings is a feature of the offerings of the adult schools.

Many know about the classes in Parent Education. On the other hand, many of the newcomers to the city do not know of the broad offering in other fields.

Women of the community over eighteen years of age are invited to attend these classes to help in adding richness to their home, and ability and skill to their own activities.

Call your nearest adult school to learn about these valuable classes. T.J.E.

Dear Sir:

Sincere thanks for the outstanding cooperation of the California Eagle in the recent Community Chest campaign for our 160 Red Feather services and the USO.

Hundreds of volunteers in your locality found their work of securing Chest contributions made easier by this support, while the end results will spread to the entire community in terms of health, welfare and youth services.

In the name of the volunteer workers and the tens of thousands of people in the Los Angeles area who will be benefited, I wish to express our great appreciation.

Cordially,
CHARLES P. SKOURAS, Chairman, Campaign Public Relations Committee, Community Chest of Los Angeles Area.

Newsman Pulls a W. Winchell

By L. DAVID

(Haven't even hung up my hat when Reisel dares to do something like this. These newsmen who prattle for years as defenders of the faith and Lord High Muck-mucks sure are showing which side of democracy they are on.)

Victor Reisel, so-called "Labor" syndicated columnist in coast-to-coast papers, (including the New York Post which has been exposing Winchell's anti-Negro bias) tore into the forward ranks of Negro and white entertainers fighting for more jobs in the new Television Union with the under-quoted column, released in the LA Daily News this week.

In brazen and bully fashion, Reisel calls the attempt to force advertisers to employ Negro actors—censorship! No sir, says Reisel, Jimcrow is a symbol of democracy and any attempt to beat it down will be met by attack!

Reisel, in his copyrighted Post-Hall Syndicate article, wrote:

"On a quiet Sunday afternoon one of the nation's two Negro congressmen gets up at a pleasant little meeting of the Negro Actors' guild, plays to his audience and gets off a demagogic speech which gives the sprawling television, radio and movie industries the jitters. The congressman threatens to disrupt the sale of thousands of products, worth billions of dollars to industries everywhere, which employ millions of workers.

"Since you can side-step a sensitive issue only so long before you begin snarling at yourself, I want to take on this congressman with the built-in demagoguery, for I'm weary of the self-appointed messiahs who exploit the unhappiness of people for a calculated political reason. This congressman, a Broadway bon vivant by name of Adam Clayton Powell, husband of the sultry singer-pianist Hazel Scott, the other Sunday afternoon shouted that he soon would deliver a speech in Congress in which he would list all sponsors of broadcasts and telecasts which do not use Negro performers in their shows.

"Automatically, this speech to Congress will become part of the Congressional Record. He will be entitled to reprints and free mailing privileges under his congressional frank. Then, he stormed, he will mail copies to millions in Negro communities the nation over—with letters urging that these big industrial sponsors be boycotted and picket committees be organized to demonstrate before stores selling the manufacturers' products if they should refuse to have their script writers weave in parts for Negro entertainers.

"With supersonic speed, this talk flashed from the little hall in the Grand Street Boys club on West 55th street to the Hollywood community where they are preparing to produce films for some of the major television networks. Swiftly it spread through the entertainment unions in Chicago and along the east coast, as well as up and down Broadway. And why?

Because the AFL's Television Authority (union) only six months ago sent a committee to the national broadcasting networks and got from their executives a statement agreeing to integrate as many Negroes as possible into programs, in roles free of cliches or degrading characterizations.

"Leaders of the American Federation of Radio Artists have an official committee constantly working to increase entertainment employment opportunities for their Negro members.

"Of all the amusement guilds, AFRA has the largest permanent membership in the South. Its membership meetings are unsegregated and there is a gradual but obvious breaking down of anti-Negro sentiment — which could be hurled back 50 years by an hysterical operation such as Congressman Powell plans. There are many Negro movie players competently protected by Hollywood's Screen Actors Guild, and I have sat with the Screen Extras Guild board on which is represented every race and every nationality, reaching from the Chinese to the American Indian, and even some people from Brooklyn.

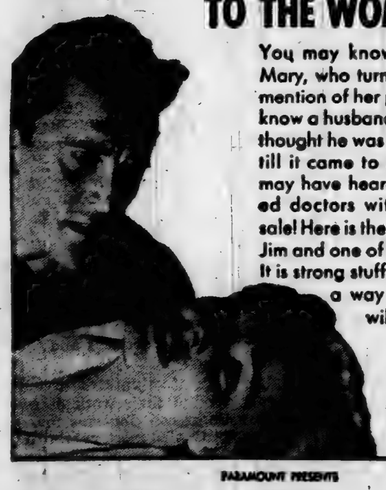
"Now along comes Congressman Powell, as if election year is just coincidental, and declares war on all of American advertising, industry and broadcasting. Just like that! And he expects to be immune from attack because he's behind a sensitized curtain.

"Well, he's not immune. This is censorship and it will boomerang. No script writer in this nation can be told what to do. Their innate decencies and their art will take care of the racial tensions far better than Powell's demagoguery."

Georgette Harvey Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—Georgette Harvey, Negro actress and singer for more than half a century, died in Harlem Hospital yesterday, following a long illness.

She appeared in such shows as "Five Star Final" and "Solid South," and also scored in "Mamba's Daughters" and "Morning Star."



SARAH VAUGHAN OPENS AT APOLLO

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan, who played a record-breaking two-week date at the Paramount Theater on Broadway only last month, will return to New York on Friday, February 22, to open a week's engagement on stage of the Apollo Theater in Harlem.

Sarah's annual appearance at the Apollo is always one of the spots of her year's booking activities since it was there that she launched her singing career some eight years ago by winning first prize in the Apollo's amateur contest.

FIRST LOCAL APPEARANCE — William Warfield will make his solo debut in Los Angeles' Philharmonic Auditorium on Tuesday evening, February 26, at which time he will sing a varied program devoted to the writings of Handel, Schubert, Verdit, Faure, Karl Loewe, Roger Quilter and Monteverdi. The concert is co-sponsored by Ward AME church.

William Warfield In Recital Sunday

"A truly extraordinary singer, endowed with a phenomenal voice," was the way the New York Herald-Tribune greeted the debut recital of baritone William Warfield a couple of years ago. In writing of this singer's ability as "One of the great voices," the New York Sun, without realizing it, had predicted an outstanding success, which has since proven to become a reality.

Warfield makes his solo debut in Los Angeles' Philharmonic Auditorium on Tuesday evening, February 26, at which time he will sing a variety program devoted to the writings of Handel, Schubert, Verdi, Faure, Karl Loewe, Roger Quilter and Monteverdi.

Born in Arkansas, William Warfield grew up in Rochester and attended the Eastern School of Music. He became so fluent in languages that his four years of Army service were spent in Military Intelligence.

With part of the proceeds from the concert going to the Ward African Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. Frederick Jordan announced that tickets may also be purchased at the church. The church is co-sponsoring the appearance of William Warfield at Philharmonic Auditorium, it is announced.

Lloyd Glenn In Music Position

Lloyd Glenn, talented musician, writer and composer has now taken over the job as musical director for Swingtime Recording Company, of which Jack Lauderdale is president and owner. Glenn, a recognized musician, actually is not new on the scene at all, he has been around for quite some time, having played with the band of Kid Ory, but it did take his unique arrangement of "Chica-Boo" to evoke new enthusiasm and display his versatile talent to the public.

Glenn has complete charge of all musical recordings, arrangements and is usually on hand to supervise most of the sessions.

Detective Story At Paramount

A sensational drama that had Broadway threaregoers ooh-ing and ah-ing for almost two years will be generating tense excitement on the screens of the Paramount Theaters when Paramount's "Detective Story" starts rolling Thursday. Based on the play of the same name by Sidney Kingsley, the picture stars rugged Kirk Douglas, Eleanor Parker and William Bendix.

"Detective Story" concerns itself with a conscientious, but brutal detective with a psychopathic hatred of crime, weakness and immorality. When he learns that his wife has been involved with a cheap gambler and an unlicensed doctor whom he is trying to collar, his rage and torment drive him to a violent solution.

Mr. 'B' Buffo in Southern Tour

HOUSTON — Dance promoters are seeing the end of a slump in their business these days as singer Billy Eckstine continues on his record breaking tour. "Standing room only" signs are hung out nitely as turnaway audiences mob the auditoriums and dance halls he's currently appearing in.

Appearing with Count Basie's Band, Mr. B. recently drew over 9000 fans in Kansas City's Auditorium, racking up a $12,000 gross. It was the same in Dallas, Forth Worth and at the auditorium here. Extra details of city police are always necessary when a promoter announces that Eckstine is in town.

His first southern tour since he acquired fame as a solo artist three years ago, Eckstine, an MGM record star, will wind up the tour a week before Easter and move into New York's Paramount Theatre. As the headliner there, he will draw one of the highest salaries ever paid at this popular Broadway vaudeville house.

Merger Plans Of Musicians Moving Ahead

Musicians Union Local 767 has appointed a committee headed by Jack Carter, internationally famous musician and arranger, to work out the plans of a merger with Local 47, Leo Davis, president of 767, announced this week.

Some discussions have been held between the committee and trustees of Local 47, and more are to be held. Carter announced. If the merger is completed, it will be effected by the union's national headquarters and under the national's laws.

Local musicians have complained that as members of a Jim Crow local, they are not permitted to compete for jobs on radio, television and the movie industry, and are forced to remain in the blues and rhythm category. Several meetings and affairs were held by a faction of Local 767 who designated themselves the "One Union Group" and dedicated themselves to the merger of the union.

In a hotly contested election the group sought to oust the administration and elect a slate to office. The election resulted in a standoff, with everyone claiming to be for one union.

Sources close to the administration of both unions are of the opinion that the merger will be effected in the near future as soon as several organizational and other kinks can be worked out.

Local 47 has 13,500 members. Local 767 has 400 members.

"Sure, this Joe Louis' golf victory is on the level," drawled thin, tired-looking Leonard. (Joe IS my friend) Reed just as one square of ofay would refer to a square from "home." I had a "mama" too! Here is the latest golf victory reports: A survey of 12 tournaments scheduled in the South this winter revealed that: 1) not one Negro has filed an application to play in one of these meets; 2) spokesmen for the Houston, Tex. Open and the Pro-Amateur tournament at Palm Beach, Fla., were on record as barring Negroes; and 3) Kirby Moore of the Greensboro (N.C.) Open said he "hoped we won't have to decide" on the question of Negro entrants. Others are going along as usual. So, it looks as though the saying "Whole hog or none" is right after all.

THEY ARE RAVIN' about Joe Morris and Clarence Moore's Club Alabam show. Which is just about the best since Duke Ellington's Jump For Joy. DINAH WASHINGTON, terrific; MABLE SCOTT, great; FOX and WHITE, hilarious; HAPPY FEET, happy; CALVIN BOZE'S band cool and smooth, LEONARD REED, Leonard Reed, and the GIRLS in the chorus wonderful.

Taking in the entertaining show we spotted a few: Curtis Woods and Mrs. Nola Hill, Honey Murphy, Sonny Howard, Alycepha Wheatley and Arthur Giles, ringsiders in one party. Shared our table with Maynard Sloate who is making money with STRIP CITY; he once booked for Dinah Washington.

Red Cross Drive Set for Eastside

In preparing to launch the 1952 Red Cross fund campaign in the East Side, Area Director Thomas Clark this week appointed three volunteer members to his fund campaign staff.

Named were Mrs. Nellie Alvarez, housewife, 1334 E. 57th street, as residential chairman; and Nat Diamond, furniture dealer, 4525 S. Central avenue, and Dr. D. Overstreet Gray, dentist, 1111 E. Vernon avenue, as co-chaimen of small businesses.

An an area director for the Los Angeles Red Cross, he said "through your Red Cross you can serve your neighbors near and far. It doesn't matter how you serve them, whether it's with your time as a volunteer worker, or with your money as a contributor, or with your blood as a blood donor—or with all three—the important thing is that through your Red Cross you tell your neighbors that you are ready to serve them."

Through their gifts to Red Cross, the director said, contributors are on the docks at our ports of embarkation to give that fighting man a sendoff, and are there in Korea to greet him. When he moves into the field, they are right behind him to look after the little things.

"They provide him with touches of home—a letter here, a bar of soap there, maybe an old magazine. They follow him to hospitals in Korea and hospitals in Japan, and are here to welcome him when he comes home," he said.

Emphasizing this year's slogan, "Your Gift Is Important," the director said that "through the American National Red Cross and its volunteer workers, your wish to help your neighbors near and far and the fighting man in Korea can be expressed. Now that flood victims across town and that wounded GI in Korea are right next door—you have but to put your hand in your pocket or roll up your sleeve and you can serve that neighbor, even though you don't know his name."

St. Augustine-West View Hospital Needs Outlined

St. Augustine-West View Hospital, a community hospital, to be built at 54 and Main streets, will fill a critical need in the civilian defense program by furnishing hospital facilities to be used in the event of war, earthquake, or any other catastrophe or epidemic. There are 300,000 people in the area where the hospital will be located, the entire Southeast area which is without a Class A hospital, where all peoples, rich or poor, regardless of race or creed, may go for care.

Hospital Shortage

St. Augustine-West View will relieve the shortage of hospital facilities in Los Angeles. It will offer opportunities for extended research in the medical field. It will offer the young interne, nurse an opportunity for experience and further study. It will teach democracy.

Disease Democratic

Disease and pain are democratic. They attack all without regard to race or creed, therefore it is necessary that the community demonstrate the same democracy in a fight against disease and pain in order to raise the general health standards of the community.

The sum of $1,300,000 is needed . This figure has been broken down into pledges of $27 per person, which will equal the hospital completion.

While contributions are needed, the support of the community through volunteer service is also needed. There is a need for clerical work, typists, and general office workers, as well as field workers and leaders.

Wilson, Elks Leader, Dies

mous "Overland Limited" between Chicago and Los Angeles.

In his long and progressive reign over the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, "The Grand" fought many battles for survival. He faced the determined opposition of the late Casper Holstein, the late Dr. John M. Marquess and the perennial job seeker Edgar Brown. He met and dispatched all assaults with brilliant political sagacity.

When J. Finley Wilson was elected Grand Exalted Ruler in 1922 in Newark, New Jersey, the Elks had approximately 50,000 members. Today there are over a million men and women members in the U.S.A., Cuba, the Bahamas, Canada, England and Hawaii. He has made Elkdom grow numerically, economically and otherwise. Scoffers who once termed the Elks "a good-time organization" now look with respect upon the hundreds of Negro and white youths who have become college graduates through scholarships from the Elks Department of Education, established in 1925. The Elks are now interracial, and each year white delegates attend the Grand Lodge sessions.

Multi-Million Organization

The last financial report of the Grand Lodge, the body which coordinates subordinate Elkdom, showed that it was worth a cash total of half-a-million. This, coupled with the hundreds of Elks Temples and Elks homes scattered across the country with their bars, cabarets and extra curricular activities, makes Negro Elkdom a multi-million dollar operation.

Politicians were quick to recognize "The Grand's" power and prestige and beat a path to his door. In 1935 he organized the Civil Liberties Department and threw the great power, prestige and resources of the organization in the fight for full citizenship.

Presidents and presidential aspirants sought his advice and favor. He conferred with Calvin Coolidge and though a rock-ribbed Republican, had a warm friendship with Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman. Thomas E. Dewey and Henry Wallace knew him intimately.

Sick for Some Time

The "little Giant" had been ailing for some time. He suffered from the same condition that recently took King George's life.

The "Grand" is dead! He is dead, but leaves a living symbol of his brains and energy in the great organization that plays such an important role in American cultural and political life.

Speculation naturally has arisen as to the successor of "the Grand." William C. Hueston, former Municipal Court Judge of Gary, Indiana, Grand Secretary; Judge Perry B. Jackson of Cleveland, Grand Treasurer; Magistrate Hobson R. Reynolds of Philadelphia, head of Elks' Civil Liberties Department; and Lieut. George W. Lee of Memphis, Tennessee, a member of the Board of Directors of the Atlantic Life Insurance company and head of the Education Department are generally conceded to have the inside track.

Simpson, who has been named to this post, has a long and distinguished career in government service. Speaker of the House of Representatives, he became Secretary of State in the administration of Pres. Edwin Barclay. He was vice president during President Tubman's first term of office.

Negro Craftsmen Hired by NBC

As the National Broadcasting Company enters its 26th year of operation, it notes with particular interest the increased employment opportunities opened during 1951 to skilled Negro craftsmen and technicians as well as to entertainers in the broadcasting industry.

In keeping with the integrated employment practices of the Radio Corporation of America, of which NBC is a unit, Negroes are being employed in highly technical positions in a field which held few opportunities for them in bygone years.

Negro technicians are today found manning television cameras and servicing television equipment in the studios of the National Broadcasting Company. Clayton Yates and William DeLany are two such engineers hired during the past year.

Yates, a graduate of Indiana's Purdue University, holds a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, and was originally referred to NBC by the National Urban League, leading Negro social service agency. He was hired as a television student engineer and was promoted after two months to his present position as a television maintenance engineer. In the NBC-TV maintenance department, Yates is charged with the servicing and repair of cameras and other studio equipment used in the production of television programs.

William DeLany, who received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Howard University in Washington, D. C., is employed as a television studio engineer at NBC. He was originally hired as a television assistant and was promoted early this year. As a studio engineer, DeLany has a variety of duties which include operation of television cameras and mike booms, and handling audio controls.

The year 1951 was also marked by an increased number of Negro entertainers and actors appearing on NBC-TV variety shows and in some of the network's top dramatic presentations. In this regard, both the network and Herbert Bayard Swope, Jr., producer of an NBC television mystery program, were awarded Certificates of Merit by Delta Sigma Theta sorority, outstanding women's organization, during a special program sponsored by the Greek letter group in the NBC studios at New York City.

Negro entertainers, including Josephine Baker, Duke Ellington, Lena Horne, Pearl Bailey and several other equally prominent song and dance stylists, made guest appearances on NBC-TV variety shows during the year. The Billy Williams Quartet, popular Negro vocal group, was featured regularly on "Show of Shows," another NBC network variety program.

South African Natives Fight Voting Barrier

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—The bitter constitutional struggle that has raged in South Africa since the Government cut down franchise rights will come to a boil at the end of February, when the Appeal Court will decide, in effect, whether the Union's Constitution is binding on Parliament.

The Appeal Court has set aside six days, from Feb. 20, to hear argument on the validity of the Separate Representation of Voters Act, which the Malan Government forced through Parliament last year without the requisite two-thirds majority of both houses sitting together. The act, adopted by a simple majority of the two houses sitting separately, removes the 50,000 Colored voters of Cape Province from the common rolls and gives them separate and restricted representation by Europeans in Parliament.

One of the most contentious measuers ever before the Union Parliament, it was opposed so strongly by the Opposition, led by J. G. N. Strauss, Marshal Jan Christian Smut's heir and disciple, who charged the Administration with breach of faith toward the non-European majority, that Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan acted to limit debate.

Case Is Appealed

Last October four colored voters urged the Cape Provincial Division of the Supreme Court to declare the act null and void on the ground that it contravened the South Africa Act of 1909, which is the Constitution of the Union.

The lower court ruled that only the highest court in the land—the Appellate Division—could decide such important constitutional issues. The case then was appealed, and the Appeal Court will be asked to hold that franchise rights cannot be changed without a two-thirds majority of both houses sitting together, as required by the South Africa Act, which entrenched non-European franchise rights.

The Government's reply is that the Statute of Westminster, which ended the power of the British Parliament to legislate for South Africa, made the Union Parliament completely sovereign and that any entrenchment of colored voting rights is not binding.

High Court Won't Review Vet's Case

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Supreme Court of the United States last week refused to grant a review of the conviction of Paul Washington, 25-year old Louisiana Negro veteran, facing death for alleged "rape."

Washington faces execution in 30 to 60 days in Louisiana's portable electric chair. Records which show that since 1907, not a single convicted white rapist has ever been put to death by the state, while 30 Negroes have been given the death penalty.

Discerning the rights of man, we cannot fail to foresee the doom of all oppression. Slavery is not the legitimate state of man. God made man free.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Love Leads To Slaying

hotel at 643 S. Kohler, was standing in the front door as Barrett went out. "I have shot Courtney," Barrett told him.

"Why did you do it?" "Because I loved her," Barrett replied as he walked out with the hot gun in his bloody hands.

Licon called the police who found Mrs. Scott lying face down in a pool of blood. One bullet was found beneath the body and four empty cartridges were around on the floor.

Mrs. Perkins stated that she had only known Barrett two days and he just looked like an ordinary fellow to her. Officers later learned that she had known him five years and was the one that told him to leave the scene of the crime.

Lauvetta Hishaw, of 839 Kohler street, heard the shots and stated that, "We were all drinking and having a good time. I had no idea of what was really happening.

When a woman came up and said that Barrett was at her hotel at 746 Kohler, Dets. Edward Sanchez and O. M. Klutts went down there and arrested him as he was getting into a car. Barrett told them, "I saw her making eyes and Shorty making eyes at her, so I got my gun and decided to kill her."

Barrett and all of the witnesses were taken to Homicide in City Hall for questioning. It was learned that Barrett has another son by another woman by the name of Jodell Barrett of 1234 East 65th street.

Detectives Sergeant Gilbert Encinas and Edward Sanchez questioned them, and Barrett made this statement: "We were all drinking in my room. I've been living with Lillian for five years. Lillian and I got into an argument and Lillian said 'Let's go out to the back.' I got my gun out from under the mattress and put it in my right rear pants' pocket. Lillian knew I had it. We went out to the hall—through the bathroom—to the back room where we started arguing again. At this time Lillian came toward me and grabbed my left arm, I took out the gun and shot her once in the head. I held the gun right close to her head. She fell on the floor and I shot her four or five more times. Then I went back to the room and took some clothes out of the drawers and laid them on the bed. I was looking for more shells. Alice told me I had better get out of there for she was gongi to call the ambulance. I told her to go ahead and I walked out of the house and across the street to where my friend's car was parked. I threw the gun over the car against the side of the Roadside Hotel.

"I drove to a hotel on Crocker, between 8th and 9th and told a girl friend of mine what I had done. I decided to give myself up. I tried to call the police but someone was in the phone booth. My girl friend and I drove to a hotel at 746 Kohler. I tried to call the police from there, but I didn't get any answer. I was leaving the hotel when I saw the police car coming down the street. I had intended to go back to the hotel and give myself up. I never pulled any robberies, because I am a hod carrier and I've made good money. Lillian and I had lived at that address about five years. No, we weren't legally married—just common-law marriage. I shot her because I loved her; but I didn't like her playing around."

An inquest is set for 9:30 a.m. today (Thursday).

Self-Employed Social Security Tax Compulsory

"Every self-employed person should know that coverage under the new social security program is compulsory, that taxes on self-employment income earned in 1951 will be due on or before March 15, 1952, that the amount of social security tax will range from $9 to $81, and that each self-employed person reporting must have a social security number," Ralph A. Dillman, acting manager of the Los Angeles social security office, said this week.

He continued, "Many self-employed people seem to think coverage under the program is voluntary. This is not true. If a person is a sole owner or a partner in a trade or business and has self-employment net earnings of $400 or more during 1951, the law requires that he must report his earnings and pay the social security tax on or before March 15 of this year." Only self-employment earnings up to $3600 a year count towards old-age and survivors insurance. The Federal income tax form will have a special section for making this report.

HELD IN CHILD DEATH—Mrs. Jeanette Wise, 44, and her daughter Mrs. Barbara Thompson, 19, 1941½ E. 50th street, are being held by police for operating a bootleg boarding home for children. The case first came to public attention when a four month old baby in their care died under suspicious circumstances. An autopsy later revealed that the child probably died of pneumonia.

Tobias Spoke For Country At United Nations Meeting

PARIS—Dr. Channing H. Tobias was American spokesman on no less than five agenda items during the Sixth General Assembly of the United Nations which recently adjourned. In the course of presenting the viewpoint of the U. S. delegation, of which he was an alternate member, the distinguished churchman several times was engaged in lively exchange with the representatives of the Communist governments.

As a member of the economic committee Dr. Tobias spoke on two important measures favored by the United States. Urging the committee to recommend adoption of the land reform resolution, Dr. Tobias stated that the American view goes beyond the general conception of merely breaking up large estates. "Our concern," he said, "is with the people who work on the land." He found occasion here to cite the significant work in this field of the late George Washington Carver.

On the food and famine issue, the delegate called on member governments to find ways and means of increasing their food supplies. He recommended also that they encourage voluntary relief organizations to work with them to this same end.

PATTERN OF BIAS FOUND IN DEFENSE BY LEAGUE

NEW YORK — Unless drastic steps are taken to curtail discriminatory employment practices in the majority of the nation's industries having defense contracts, there will be very few Negro workers in the manpower mobilization program. This was the conclusion reached by the National Urban League this week after studying reports from 30 key industrial cities and reviewing field reports of its national staff members who have covered over 30 cities in the last six months. Los Angeles was described as "better than average."

"The present picture," according to Julius A. Thomas, the League's industrial relations director, "is very similar to that which prevailed in the early part of World War II. Expanding industries, even where new plants have been constructed, or in process of construction, show little inclination to plan for the maximum of the labor reserves in the local labor market.

"While the picture is described as varying from one community to the other, and from one plant to the other," Thomas points out, "discriminatory employment practices are bound by neither geography nor the corporate policies of the large multi-plant corporations holding extensive defense contracts. In this group are 25 of the best-known industries in the nation, and it is known that they now hold 50 per cent of all prime defense contracts."

Discrimination against Negroes follows a uniform pattern in plants located in northern and southern industrial centers, League observers report. As the work force expands, a few Negroes have been added to the maintenance and common labor group of workers. Negroes are rarely accepted for in-plant training programs in any of the communities studied by League personnel. The employment of Negroes in white-collar, administrative, and technical jobs in these expanding industries is practically unheard of. In those communities where new plants are being constructed for defense production, it is almost impossible to obtain any statement of policy with respect to the utilization of Negro personnel.

Domestics to Organize Club

Local domestics employed in nearby Hollywood and Beverly Hills are taking active steps to form an organization of domestic employes including chauffeurs, maids, cooks, butlers, maid-companions and maid-secretaries.

Robert Bennett, organizer and former president of the Colored Chauffeurs Club here and one of the prime movers in the new all inclusive organization of domestic employes, California Institute of Domestic Employes, said the body would be interracial and non political.

'The nd' Buried in Impressive Rites

50,000 Attend Services

WASHINGTON—The mortal remains of J. Finley Wilson, "The Grand," legendary and deified head of the Elks, were consigned to the past Saturday afternoon in an impressive 24 hours of ceremony that had all the pomp and circumstances befitting the passing of a king.

Wilson died Tuesday, February 18, in an oxygen tent. He was 71 years old.

Over 50,000 people from all walks of life, Elks and non-Elks, viewed the flower-banked bronze casket containing the wasted body of "The Grand" as he lay in the foyer of Columbia Lodge Elks Home in Washington, D. C., during the 24 hours preceeding the funeral.

Impressive March

Then came the impressive march from the Elks' home 11 blocks to the Metropolitan Baptist Church, where Finley was a member and attended regularly. Led by the tall, erect figure of Washington's Herbert E. Jones, the procession of 84 automobiles and 309 marchers slowly wended its way to the church.

3000 people were crowded into the edifice, and over 10,000 more jammed the streets around the church straining to hear the impressive service.

His wife, "Mrs. Finley" to all Elkdom, bore up bravely as she silently sobbed and declared, "Our love will last forever."

Manslaughter Charge Faces Drunk Driver

John T. Glover, 24, 119 E. 49th street, faced charges of manslaughter, drunk driving, and hit and run, as result of an accident at Jefferson and Trinity last Friday.

Duncan Mack Delaney, 1401 S. Hill street, was struck by a speeding car while in the cross section at Jefferson and Trinity, and dragged 81 feet by a speeding car. He died almost instantly.

Eyewitnesses to the tragic accident, Mannie Hogan, 449½ E. 53rd street; and Edgar W. Garteau, 1155 E. 61st street, told officers that a speeding car bound east on Jefferson hit Delaney with a terrific impact. The front left portion of the car struck the pedestrain, knocking the left front light off. The car then swerved toward the curb, careened off a parked car, and then picked up speed. Police were notified and all traffic and patrol cars were notified to be on the lookout for the damaged car.

A squad car rushing to the scene spotted Glover trying to turn right at Jefferson and San Pedro.

Glover told police officer, "Yes, I was driving the car that hit the pedestrian and the other car. I got a bump on my head and was just going around the block and coming back."

Officers noticed Glover's weaving and smelled alcohol on his breath and gave him a sobriety test that he failed to pass.

Glover then made the classic remark, "I've had one can of beer and I'm not drunk."

FATHER KILLS SON AND SELF

Here's What Sentinel Said About Walter White Meeting

(The Sentinel didn't say a single word!)

Didn't Say a Mumbling Word

(AN EDITORIAL)

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, came to Los Angeles last week.

More than 5,000 people flocked to the Shrine Auditorium to hear him.

The AFL cooperated to stage the mass meeting.

The CIO helped arrange it.

The Jewish community organizations helped out.

More than 30 organizations of all kinds lent a hand.

EVERYBODY COOPERATED—THAT IS EVERYBODY BUT THE LOS ANGELES SENTINEL.

Walter White had come to tell a shocking story of murder, and bombings, and ruthless violations of the law of the land.

He told his audience about a mob that burned the Negro section of Groveland, Florida.

He told about a sheriff who killed a helpless, handcuffed prisoner.

He told about hoodlums who tried to dynamite a Catholic church.

He told about the bombing of Jewish synagogues in Miami.

He told of the murder of Harry T. Moore and his wife on Christmas night by Florida Klansmen.

Every American is shocked by such outrages.

The FBI has sent its agents to seek out the culprits.

Attorney General Howard McGrath has ordered a sweeping investigation.

EVERYBODY IS CONCERNED—THAT IS EVERYBODY BUT THE LOS ANGELES SENTINEL.

Every newspaper of general circulation in Los Angeles reported that Walter White was here, and why he was here.

The Eagle devoted all of its resources toward making the meeting a success.

The Los Angeles Times ran Walter White's picture.

Indict Dawson's Aide On Job Sales Charge

CHICAGO—Frederick P. Wall, secretary to Congressman William L. Dawson, had the unenviable distinction of being the first Negro to be caught in the ever widening drive against corruption among federal office holders.

Wall and three other persons were indicted by a federal grand jury last Thursday following an intensive investigation by the FBI into charges that they had taken bribes in excess of $15,000 from more than a hundred persons under the pretext of getting postal jobs for them.

Court attaches stressed the fact that there was absolutely no indication that Dawson had been aware of what had happened and expressed the belief that Wall had kept his activities hidden. Dawson is a leader in Democratic politics in Chicago and a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Wall lives at 3630 Calumet and has offices at 3618 S. State.

Indicted with him were Williams H. Creditt, who also has an office at the State St. address; Mrs. Mary Campbell, 46, of 4736 Michigan, and Mrs. Danella Allen, 5853 Prairie.

Mrs. Campbell is a clerk at the new post office. Mrs. Allen, now unemployed, is a former clerk there.

The indictments were returned before U. S. Judge Philip L. Sullivan. Bonds were set at $1,000 each.

Nine counts charge the four shared bribes paid by women hired temporarily at the post office for influence to get them appointed to permanent civil service positions. A tenth count charges conspiracy.

All of the nine women duped by the racket had failed civil service tests, according to the indictments. It was pointed out that such jobs cannot be given by appointment.

The offenses occurred between June 10, 1948, and March 3, 1949, it was said.

No specific details of how the Races Join in Rally To Protest Terror

By GRACE E. SIMONS

More than 5,000 people of all races and creeds converged on the Shrine auditorium last Thursday night to join in an impressive protest against intimidation, brutality and killings in Florida.

Never before in recent Los Angeles history has the city's powerful labor movement, its Jewish organizations, civic and church groups responded in this manner to a call from the NAACP for a mass demonstration in defense of Negro rights.

The line-up on the platform was significant of the united front that was formed and that promises effective and forthright cooperation for the future.

New Pattern

Seated on the platform along with Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP and principal speaker at the rally, and a number of other NAACP officials, were some 20 or more representatives of the various

Skids Under Jim Crow In Army, Says Korea Soldier

By Paul Jacobs

"It's the strangest thing for me to have to say, but it's the truth —right now the Army, Navy and Marines are conducting the biggest and most successful experiment in breaking down Jim Crow that's ever been seen. And its tough for me to admit this because I hated the Army when I was in World War II. I tried to resign from the reserve after I got out the first time; and I was miserable for the whole 17 months I just finished serving in Korea and Japan. Now I'm out for good but still have to say it —the Army's way ahead of the country."

This was Chet Carter speaking, former 1st lieutenant in World War II, and formerly first lieutenant in the Korean "police action." In his Army records he's listed as Chester C. Carter, 1438½ W. Jefferson Blvd., L.A. but on the University of Southern California campus, where he was the first Negro student ever to make Skull and Dagger, the honorary men's fraternity, the slim, good-looking young thirty-year old was always known as Chet.

The Hard Way

Even if you're white you don't make Skull and Dagger at SC for doing nothing. And if you're a Negro, you make it the hard way. Chet came to SC from Washington where he attended the University of Seattle. After a

Jeff High Student Leader and Athlete Murdered in Sleep

By WENDELL GREEN

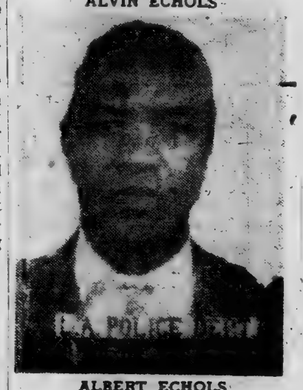
Stark, heart-rending tragedy struck a well-known Los Angeles family Saturday morning when a father, apparently in a fit of mental derangement, pumped three shots from a pistol into his sleeping teen-age son, then turned the gun on himself.

Albert Echols, 56, 1352 E. 18th street, a retired Los Angeles police officer, walked into the small bedroom where his 17-year-old son, Alvin Echols, lay sleeping, cocked the bone-handled .32 Colt automatic pistol he always carried, and shot three times into the sleeping form of the lad. The deep sleep of untroubled youth turned instantly to eternal slumber as one slug tore into his brain, one ripped into his back, and the third bore into his hip, coming out in the leg.

Grisly Requiem

Echols then turned the gun on himself, squeezed the trigger, and a bullet passed entirely through the left side of his body, crashing into the wall and showering the body of his son with plaster in a grisly requiem from father to son.

Echols then staggered from the bedroom to the kitchen, where he fell dead.



The grim discovery of death in the Echols family was made by his two tiny grandchildren, June and Jeanette Oglesby, ages seven and six, too young to recognize or comprehend.

The two tots, who live in the rear house, entered the kitchen from the open back door to get Grandpa to read a note left for them by their mother, Alberta Oglesby. When Grandpa failed to get up off the kitchen floor in response to their calls, they left the kitchen and seated themselves on the front porch, waiting

Bandit Shot In Holdup

Harrison Bledson, 33, of 149 E. 41st place, was shot in the right side Tuesday by a radio car officer on patrol, in a dead-end alley less than five minutes after he held up a market at 4177 S. Main street.

Bledson took $90.00 and a bottle of wine in the holdup. Police said they saw him with the bottle of wine and ordered him to halt, but he refused to stop. The police had received the call of the holdup and knew that a bottle of wine was taken.

Herbert Grosman said Bledson went into the market for wine and then robbed the store.

He was taken to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital for treatment and transferred to General Hospital prison where he was booked on suspicion of murder.

Life of Alvin Echols Showed Great Promise

By MIRIAM CHRISTIAN

Alvin Echols was the type of boy anyone would like for a son. Probably the only one who felt differently was his own father who murdered him as he slept Saturday morning. Just one month before his 18th birthday and on the eve of his confirmation, the well loved Jefferson high school student was found in his usual sleeping position. Unusual were the bullets pumped into his back.

Albert E. Echols, 56, ended his own life after first ruthlessly making sure that his young handsome son would no longer be the favorite in his home. Knowing that his act would bring grief to the entire Echols family, the retired policeman could not have devised a better means to torture his wife and other children.

Star Athlete

Alvin had been a star athlete and honor student throughout his young life. At LaFayette junior high school, he won many medals for prowess as a sprinter and dashman. His scholastic honorary certificates numbered as many as athletic achievements. His attendance record was perfect.

Police Arrest Two For Rape-Robbery

Two knife-wielding, gun toting rape-robbers were arrested last Wednesday after waging a reign of terror on the Eastside. The 18-year-old youths were arrested shortly after they raped and robbed a young matron.

Harrison Onrel Scribner was arrested in his home at 1581 E. 42nd street and Raymond. Lee Scott was arrested shortly afterward at 942½ E. 31st street, not long after they raped and robbed Ethel Lee Jenkins, 945 E. 40th place.

Miss Jenkins told police that she was in the hall of the apartment house looking in her mailbox when the youthful desperadoes, one brandishing a dagger, walked up to her and told her to be quiet, if she knew what was good for her. "Show her we mean business, buddy," the knife wielder said, and his partner flashed a gun.

Pleaded With Them

They told Miss Jenkins to go outside and get in their car. She pleaded that she was afraid to get in the car, but they could go to her apartment upstairs.

The two followed her closely, weapons in hand. When they entered the apartment, Scribner, still holding the knife, ordered her to undress and proceeded to rape her. Meanwhile Scott ransacked the apartment looking for money and valuables.

When Scribner finished, Scott came in the room holding the gun on her, ordering her to commit an abnormal act. She told him she had a girl friend for him in the next apartment. Scott was hesitant, informing her that he didn't trust her, but finally consented to let her go.

She fled to the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones and told them the predicament she was in. While Scott was talking to Mrs. Jones, Miss Jenkins fled to call the police and both boys fled.

Three nights before the young rapists knocked on the door of Ellen T. Hickman, 40, 798 E. 47th street, saying they were selling subscriptions for the Examiner. The pencil one of them was holding suddenly turned into a knife. They forced their way in the door, then the other one pulled a gun. One forced the woman in the kitchen, and her 18-year-old daughter in the bedroom, and ravished and committed perverted acts on them for two solid hours, occasionally ransacking the place for money and valuables.

They grabbed their clothes and fled out the back door when someone knocked at the front door.

The three women positively identified the two youths as the ones who raped and robbed them. Police are checking on other rapes and robberies to see if they can be traced to Scribner and Scott.

Scottsboro Boy Beats Rape Rap

ALBANY — James Andrew Wright, one of the central figures in the famed Scottsboro case of 1937, was acquitted Wednesday by an all-white Albany County jury on a charge of raping a 13-year-old girl last summer.

The jury of eight women and four men deliberated an hour and twenty minutes after Jawn Sandifer, who defended Wright, said the Scottsboro boy was a "victim of a fantastic plot."

for someone to come home and read the note to them.

Body Discovered

Shortly afterward, Albert E. Adams, 1308 E. 21st street, arrived and found the girls on the front porch. He tried the front door and finding it locked, went to the rear and entered, discovering Echols' body on the kitchen floor. He immediately awakened Mrs. Clifford Echols, sister-in-law of Echols, who was asleep in the middle bedroom, and they called the police.

While the police were on the way, they discovered the body of young Alvin Echols in a sleeping position in the bed, with a bullet hole in the head. He never moved a muscle in the quick transfer from sleep to death.

Police estimated that the murder-suicide took place sometime between 8 and 9 Saturday morning.

About 7:30 that morning, Echols telephoned his wife, Eloise Echols, on her job where she worked as a domestic, saying he was going to leave as he couldn't sleep.

He then called Adams, asking him to come over and take him for a ride.

Popular Student

The innocent victim of the tragedy, Alvin Echols, was a senior at Jefferson High school. He was a good student and had recently been elected vice-president of the student body.

He also was a good sprinter and was expected to carry a big share of the load this track season in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes.

Last year he was commissioner of athletics, and at a recent banquet for Jefferson's championship football team, at the Golden State Insurance Company's banquet hall, the entire coaching staff publicly commended him for the excellent job he did in office.

The most puzzling aspect of the tragic affair was the murder of the son. What were the inner emotions, tensions, and drives that caused Echols to murder his son—blood of his blood, bone of his bone—in the unfolding flower of his youth?

Queer Duck

Interviews with associates, friends and former co-workers of Echols revealed that he was always considered a "queer duck." The constantly recurring theme in all of the conversations was Echols' almost pathological obsession for money. This passion for money was for money itself, as Echols was famous for his ability to hold on to a dollar.

One woman he used to visit rather frequently said, "A lot of people said he was nuts, but I thought he had real good sense. He would do almost anything for money, and wouldn't spend a quarter. He always wanted to be a big man that people would look up to and respect. He used to take me riding out to Watts and show me lots he owned and tell me all the big things he intended to do with them. I guess when he got so he couldn't make money like he used to, it musta got to him."

That seemed to sum up the general reactions of those outside the family, who knew him well.

Recently Echols reportedly began indulging in violent quarrels with his family. An older daughter and son moved away from home because of them. The son moved Sunday, a week before the fatal shootings. Echols also quarreled with the son he murdered.

Intimates of the family and former co-workers of Echols were almost unanimous in their opinion that Echols' worship of the dollar corroded his mind and unhinged his reason, resulting in the brutal murder of his son, and his suicide.

'Tis truly written, "The love of money is the root of all evil."

Man Held for Wife's Murder

Johnnie Jones, 29, 5107½ Woodlawn, is being held on suspicion of murdering his common-law wife, Helen Banks, 25, during a domestic quarrel Sunday night.

Jones was arrested when he showed up at General hospital for treatment of cuts around the hand. Police noticed that his address was the same as the murdered woman, and picked him up.

Jones told the officers that during an argument, Mrs. Banks got a knife and cut him. He pushed her down in a corner, but she got up and started chasing him with the knife.

Jones stated that he got out his knife and cut her in self defense.

A witness, Treasy Streamer, 1220 Birch street, stated that Mrs. Banks chased Jones all through the place with a knife until Jones retaliated.

The coroner's inquest is set for Thusrday (today).

Fresno Will Drop Housing Segregation

FRESNO—The Jim Crow policy of this city's Housing Authority was on its way out as the Fresno City Commission last week went on record with a resolution that public housing units in Fresno should be open to all persons on an equal basis without reference to race or color.

Under a policy that has been practiced since the initiation of public housing here, Negroes have been confined to one project, whites to another and Mexicans to still another.

The Commission's resolution was adopted after Hugh Goodwin, attorney representing the NAACP, charged the city with discrimination because of housing segregation practices. Two weeks ago he filed suit in local superior court to force a change in housing policies and after the Commission action hearing on the suit which was set for Monday was postponed.

Goodwin explained the basis for a recent superior court suit which he filed challenging the right of the authority to assign occupancy on a racial basis.

The attorney said his clients, John and Mildred Lusk and Gertrude Walls, allege Sequoia courts had been reserved for Negroes; Fairview Heights for white persons and Sierra Plaza for the Latin American races.

Hugh Allardt, the housing authority's executive director, has denied any segregation is being practiced.

Goodwin also alleged the policy making functions of the housing commission members have been delegated to Allardt and suggested they may be called before the Fresno City Commission to show cause why they should not be removed from office.

organizations supporting the rally.

Keynote of all the speeches was recognition of the fact that the mob terror in Florida forms part of a dangerous new pattern that threatens not only the Negro minority, but the rights of all minorities and all workers in the country.

Thomas Ranford, president of the Central Labor Council, declared that "What happened in Florida will continue all over this nation unless such rallies as this tonight are carried on everywhere.

SHRINE SPEAKER—Walter White, principal speaker at Shrine rally.

Traced Terror

"Any action against one minority group is an action against this nation."

White, in his talk, traced the unchecked march of terror in Florida from the time of the infamous Groveland rape case in 1949 with its posses, burning of Negro homes and killing of one of the accused, through the flare-up of fiery-crosses, intimidation floggings and killings that culminated Christmas night at Mims, Fla., with the bombing murders of NAACP leader Harry T. Moore and his wife, Harriet Moore.

He declared that the bigots of Florida are utilizing the method of violence as a last resort, and deplored the action of the terrorists not only because of the intimidation here at home but also because of the effect it has upon the dark-skinned people in Asia, in Africa, in India and the Caribbean. These people are asking themselves, he said: "What right have we dark-skinned people to believe we wouldn't be treated just like American Negroes?"

Labor Representation

Others on the platform included Albert T. Lunceford, secretary-treasurer of the Greater Los Angeles CIO Council; C. V. O'Halloran, regional director of the United Automobile Workers CIO; Councilmen Edward Roybal and Kenneth Hahn; Supervisor Leonard Roach; Eagle publisher Loren Miller; Rev. George W. Coefield; Rev. J. Raymond Henderson; Tat Kusida, of the Japanese - American Citizens League; Thomas Griffith; and NAACP leaders, as well as representatives of other cooperating organizations.

John Dial, co-chairman of the rally, introduced a number of people on the platform, and then turned the meeting over to Walter O'Keefe, as master of ceremonies.

Councilman Roybal presented the City Council's resolution endorsing the meeting to Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the local branch of the NAACP, who in turn presented it to White. Dr. H. Claude Hudson made an appeal for funds to help carry on the work of the association.

The national anthem and "In the Promised Land" were sung movingly by the Los Angeles Interracial choir under the leadership of Mrs. Jean Gomez. Artist Mack sang "Lift Up Your Voice and Sing."

Other speakers on the program were Frankie Williams, west coast regional director of the NAACP; Alfred T. Lunceford, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Greater CIO Council; actor Jeff Chandler; Supervisor Roach and James Anderson. Telegrams were received from Gov. Earl Warren, Rep. Sam Yorty, and Mendel Silverberg, president of the Los Angeles Jewish Community Council.

So did the Examiner. So did the Mirror. So did the Daily News. So did the Herald-Express.

EVERY NEWSPAPER REPORTED THE MEETING—THAT IS, EVERY NEWSPAPER BUT THE LOS ANGELES SENTINEL.

That was to be expected because it fits in with Mrs. Dora Moore's thinking and she's running the Sentinel news and editorial policy nowadays.

She opposes—and she makes the Sentinel oppose—FEPC.

She's opposed to the NAACP—and the Sentinel reflects that view.

She sees nothing wrong with minstrel shows—and she keeps the Sentinel bowing and scraping in that direction.

She sneers at the American Council on Human Rights which is conducting a voting registration drive—and the Sentinel ignores its good work.

She's opposed to labor unions and the right of working men and women to join the CIO and the AFL—and the Sentinel echoes her beliefs.

There's more to be said in the same vein to pile up proof that the Sentinel today opposes everything that Leon H. Washington Jr. stood for when he was well and dictated its policies.

We keep on saying these things every week because we want the readers and advertisers of the Sentinel to face up to the fact that they're supporting an Uncle Tom newspaper—a newspaper that's against everything that thinking Negroes say they're for and for everything that intelligent Negroes say they're against.

THE SENTINEL HASN'T PRINTED A WORD ABOUT THE FLORIDA STORY.

The blunt truth is that when the Sentinel ignores the Walter White meeting; when it refuses to print a word about what's happening in Florida, it is serving notice that it doesn't care about what happens to Negroes; that it isn't interested in protecting the rights of Negroes; that it won't lift a finger to help protect them against murder, against bombings, against invasions of their constitutional rights.

Do YOU want that kind of a newspaper?

Pickpocket Charges Dismissed

Jodie Watley, Jr., 900 E. 28th street, was acquitted of charges last Monday that he picked the pocket of Ada Browning, popular Central avenue barber, while they were joyriding last November 25.

Mrs. Browning charged that while riding with Watley, Joe Wells and Willie Flowers, she missed $75.00 from her pocketbook. She insisted that the men accompany her to the police station to be searched. They complied with her request.

Newton officers testified that when they began searching Watley, he pulled off his shirt and threw it on the floor. A thumping sound was heard and officers found the $75.00 neatly tucked away in a half empty package of cigarettes.

Despite Watley's protests of innocence, he was promptly arrested and jailed.

At the trial, Earl C. Broady, defense attorney for Watley, brought out from questioning Watley, Wells and Flowers that they had been drinking, and that Watley had consumed considerably more than his share. It was also brought out that Watley was a rather heavy smoker, and had been smoking another brand than the package in which the money was found.

Judge John D. Ford of Department 39 of the Superior court ruled that there was a reasonable doubt in his mind that Watley had taken Mrs. Brown's money, and found him not guilty.

The big question remains. Who did take the money?

Tempers Flare in Banning of Chinese

SAN FRANCISCO—Race covenanters, who last week voted to bar a Chinese family from living in their lily-white neighborhood, this week muffed a chance to reverse themselves. Instead they clung stubbornly and noisily to their prejudices.

In a bitter, raucous meeting held in a church here last Friday, some 250 members of the Southwood district stamped, booed, hissed and shouted at speakers who tried to make themselves heard.

In the hubbub nobody seems to have convinced anyone, and the community's residents left as divided and angry as when they came.

"Tested" Democracy

During the meeting, someone suggested an apology be made to the young Chinese, Sing Sheng, former Chinese Nationalist army intelligence officer, who had been told he was not wanted in the community.

Some one yelled out: "We'll accept his apologies." Another shouted: "You're selling your neighbors down the river."

Cause of the ruckus was the purchase by Sheng of a home in Southwood for himself, his young American-born wife and their baby son.

Some of the neighbors objected. Sheng, innocently believing in democracy, suggested that the issue be put to a secret vote. It was, and Sheng lost out, 174 to 28.

Started Uproar

But the issue started a nationwide uproar, with publicity on the incident flooding the country all the way to New York.

The city council of South San Francisco became alarmed and hastily passed a special resolution "deploring and disavowing the action of a small faction of the city." Even Gov. Earl Warrent got into the act and denounced the white supremacists.

Friday night's meeting was called to reconsider the vote, but the covenanters wouldn't back down. They packed the meeting, and stuck to their contention that Sheng's moving into the neighborhood would bring property values tumbling down.

As a result of the outlawing of race restrictive covenants, Sheng has a legal right to occupy the home he purchased. But he has indicated that he will move elsewhere.

One of the die-hards stated the case: "Southwood residents bought property on the premise the area would be restricted. Under the circumstances, I'm sure if the same situation were to arise as a national issue, 80 percent of the people voting in such an election would vote as we did."

Cairo Trials Slated Mar. 5

CAIRO, Ill. — The hearing for the nine persons arrested for actively participating in a drive to end racial segregation in the public schools of this city has been set for March 5.

Miss June Shagaloff and Lester P. Bailey, NAACP field secretaries, are among the group who were arrested and charged with endangering children whose transfers from segregated schools they sought to expedite. Cairo has been operating segregated schools despite an Illinois statute forbidding such segregation.

Monsignor Dignon Stresses Stronger Parental Guidance

Stressing the need of building stronger spiritual and moral values in the home, Monsignor Patrick J. Dignon, superintendent of Catholic schools, emphasized the necessity at the Fathers' Night program sponsored by Holy Name Mothers' club on Friday evening. The address was delivered in the school auditorium at Cimarron and Jefferson.

Monsignor Dignon spoke to the group on the value of families finding their pleasures together in the home rather than depending solely on artifical outside sources.

Dwight Smith, member of the Los Angeles sheriff's narcotic bureau, spoke on the increase in use of narcotics, especially among younger people. He emphasized the need of parent education in the control of this problem.

Continuing with an all male program, Robert and Herbert Bloom, acompanied on the piano by their father, entertained the gathering with several tap dancing numbers. Another parent, Jeff Jefferson, contributed the popular song "Too Young."

Rev. Byrd Delivers Convocation Sermon

The University of Redlands launched its second semester of the school year by holding a momentous spiritual convocation.

Dr. Bernard Byrd, pastor of New

DR. BERNARD BYRD

Hope Baptist church, 1623 Paloma Ave., was invited to deliver a special sermon for this event which took place recently. This marks the first time that a Negro has delivered the sermon for convocation.

Using "Move Forward Under the Influence of the Spirit as his theme, Dr. Byrd stressed the importance of continual progression in religion. He emphasized, "Life is a system of created movements operating under many influences. Although without some form of an influence there is no life, the best can be enjoyed only when motivated by the spirit of God.

A series of efforts or movements demonstrate insufficiency or a dissatisfaction with existing conditions. The attainment of certain heights to reveal more opportunities and the possibility of greater height to be attained.

The sons of the prophets who had enjoyed the accomplished heights of their predecessors, discovered that in comparison with their own flaming ambitions, these goals were somewhat obsolete.

They respected the accomplishments of their predecessors, but refused to be confined to them. The inalert, unprogressive and poorly influenced mind adjusts itself to the limitations or confinements, but the ambitious mind rebels against confinements."

Class Confirmed at St. Philip Sunday

Last Sunday, in an evening service, new members were received into the Episcopal church at St. Philip, 801 E. 28th street.

The Rector, Rev. Father Moore, presented the class which he had trained approximately six months ago to the Rt. Rev. Donald J. Campbell, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of the Los Angeles Episcopal Diocese. Bishop Campbell, who is assistant to Bishop Bloy, confirmed the class and preached.

Play Reveals Man's Church Indifference

Climaxing one of the most challenging Men's Day services in the history of Westminister Presbyterian church the Men's Council of the church presented a play "The Trial of Everyman," at the evening service on Sunday, February 24. Throughout the morning and evening services, the importance of the church to man and man to the church was stressed.

At the morning service, Dr. William C. Bouchelion's sermon theme was "The Double Character of Man." Assisting Dr. Bouchelion in this service were Dr. Henry A. McPherson and the all-male choir, Kenneth A. Morris, Rev. David Thomas, James D. Patterson and Dr. Hampton B. Hawes, pastor.

The "Trial of Everyman," presented at the evening service, was an incident of the indifferent attitude of the average man toward his church responsibilities. The cast of the play included John A. Rencher, Dr. McPherson, Dr. Bouchelion, J. Lester Albright, Cecil E. Davis, John F. Taylor, Neile L. Adams and Michelle Fraizer. The play was directed by Attorney William R. Freeman with James D. Patterson acting as stage manager.

Music at the evening service was furnished by the all-male choir and a male quartette. Attorney Freeman, president of the Presbyterian Men's Council presided at both services.

NEXT WEEK

Next week a complete coverage with pictures of St. Patrick's Catholic church's recent confirmation will be featured in this section. Watch for it.

"SPIRITUAL READING"

Are you doing any spiritual reading this Lent? When did you last read your New Testament? The Imitation of Christ? A biography of some saint?

FUEL FOR THOUGHT

Spiritual reading provides oil for the lamp of piety. We go to church, clear our minds of worldly thoughts, and then—nothing happens. Worse—distractions keep pouring in faster than we can keep them out. Why? Because nature adhors a vacuum.

OVERCOME STARVATION

We must stock ourselves up with spiritual ideas borrowed from pious literature, else we will find our devotional life dying of sheer starvation.

Victims of Propaganda

Residents of South San Francisco who voted overwhelmingly against the residence of a Chinese neighbor in their community demonstrated the deep hold that racial myths still have on the American people.

As individuals we suspect that most of the people who voted for a lily white neighborhood are just average, everyday Americans who could be counted on to come to the aid of a distressed friend and who are good friends and good citizens. We don't think they are Fascists or Klansmen. They are just badly informed victims of propaganda.

From 1919 to 1948 California courts ground out decisions upholding race restrictive covenants. From 1932 to 1946 the Federal Housing Administration approved such agreements and in its early years demanded that they be inserted in all subdivisions where it guaranteed loans for home building. For fifty years the National Association of Real Estate Boards has fought tooth and toe nail to bolster residential segregation and until very recently took disciplinary action against brokers who dared to sell a home to a "Non-Caucasian" in a "white community." That kind of propaganda, and much more, is hard to overcome.

The Chinese who submitted the matter to a vote was as mistaken as the residents of South San Francisco. The right to own and occupy a home is a right which is guaranteed by the Constitution of this nation. The vote on it was taken a long time ago when the United States ratified the Fourteenth Amendment. It is the same kind of a fundamental right as the right to freedom of speech or of the press or freedom of religion or the right to vote. Nobody who seeks to exercise those rights would think of asking his neighbors whether he had the right to speak freely or hold his own religious beliefs or cast his ballot. He would insist on them and resist every attempt to deprive him of them.

American citizens—whether Chinese or Negro or Mexican or Japanese or white persons—should insist on their right to own and occupy homes of their own choosing and should not ask the frightened or the ill-informed for permission to do so. In the long run, the man who insists on his constitutional rights does a service both for himself and for his fellow citizens. He strengthens the fabric of constitutional rights, and that benefits everybody.

"The Grand" Is Dead

To thousands of Elks all over America J. Finley Wilson was "The Grand."

That affectionate term mirrored the high esteem in which he was held and reflected their understanding of the fact that he did more than any other single individual to advance the cause of his fraternal order and to give it status and respect.

J. Finley Wilson was a complex person. Beneath his hail-fellow-well-met attitude was a deep love of the Elks and a passionate concern for the problems that they, as Negroes and as Americans, faced in America.

He steered the order into support of every worthy movement that promised relief for Negroes and that held out the promise of giving them their full constitutional rights and privileges in the nation.

There were those in his own order who grumbled intermittently at what they said were undemocratic methods but whenever there was a showdown on any issue The Grand always received an overwhelming vote of confidence from the members who paid the freight. They believed in J. Finley Wilson and they supported him. Basically that support flowed from their belief that The Grand could be counted on to come to their aid and that he understood the problems that confronted them.

The Elks will miss J. Finley Wilson. His warm, human personality can't be replaced very easily. And all Americans who believe in the democratic system will learn in time—if they dont' know it now—that a powerful voice has been stilled and that his wise counsel and advice will be missed.

They Belong in Jail

The arrest of ten members of the Ku Klux Klan in North Carolina following an intensive investigation by the FBI is welcome news to Negroes even if the violence for which the culprits got into trouble was perpetrated against white persons.

The cynical may draw the lesson from this arrest that the KKK gets into trouble only when it attacks white persons and that the hooded hoodlums would have been safe had they confined their activities to whipping or terrorizing Negroes.

The other side of the picture is that it is much easier to get the facts in the South when whites are involved than when Negroes are the victims. White witnesses are often unwilling to talk when Negro rights are violated and Negroes are afraid. Neither group wants to buck established social patterns and run the risk of community disapproval.

We are convinced that if successful prosecutions against Klansmen can be maintained where white persons are involved that additional prosecutions can be sustained where Negroes are the victims.

The Klan is in disrepute everywhere. Nobody is willing to be listed as supporting it except the ignorant and the racketeers who are using it as a vehicle with which to feather their own nests.

If the FBI can get enough evidence to send some of the sheeted order to jail where they belong the result will be that the Klan will find it hard to drum up customers to peddle the poison of racial and religious prejudice.

The Minority Runs the Show

There are about 155,000 residents of the Sixty-Second Assembly district. Of that number some ninety thousand are eligible to register and vote.

Only about sixty thousand of those who are eligible to vote are registered. That means that some thirty thousand people—most of them Negroes—who live in the sixty-second assembly district can't vote.

Even the registration figure is probably out of kilter and it is probably true that some five to ten thousand of those on the rolls are ineligible because they have moved or married.

Add it all up and it simmers down to the fact that a minority of voters do the voting for the sixty-second district.

The registration rolls are open now and a concerted effort would put many of the unregistered on the voters' lists. The American Council on Human Rights, the labor unions and many individuals are helping out. But the job of getting the voters registered won't be done unless all of us help. We can help by urging friends and neighbors to register. Who don't you do that today?

The Watch Tower

Latest information from the segregated school battlefront indicates that in this period of high taxes when everyone is giving more than passing thought to costs of government and its services, the jim crow school system may be abolished in some areas on purely economic grounds.

Washington, D.C., the capital of our democracy, which has maintained a rigid jim crow school system these many years, is pondering some figures submitted to it last week by the District Commissioners. The Commissioners cited a report of a survey which declared that in teachers' salaries alone, the taxpayers are digging up $715,000 a year more than they would have to do if the system were not segregated.

The special Washington revelation was made because of the request for more Negro teachers in the next year's budget. The Negro part of the school system is woefully short of teachers, with classrooms badly overcrowded. But the white part of the system has 66 more teachers than it needs. Its classrooms are either normal in size or below normal.

When the excess of whites was made known, suggestions poured into the Board of Education that white teachers be assigned to Negro school. However, it seems that the law forbids such an arrangement. Under it, whites must teach whites and Negroes must teach Negroes. The law enforces strict jim crow, with no mixing whatsoever. This means that white and Negro taxpayers are paying for segregation to the tune of almost three-quarters of a million dollars a year in the matter of teachers' salaries alone. The whites are getting no better or no more education for their children than they would if they were not paying this increased amount; and the Negroes are getting less education for their children even though they are paying the additional costs. Both sides of the jim crow line are losing heavily, but the whites are losing only money while the Negroes are losing money as well as a decent education for their children.

There is no indication as yet what residents of the District will do about this latest revelation of the cost of jim crow schools. A steady campaign has been in progress over the years to get rid of the system, but it has encountered two roadblocks. One has been the prejudice of the heavy white southern population of the capital plus the rule of the District by a commission of Congressmen, largely from the southern states. The other has been the financial and prestige interest which Negro principals, teachers, and other school workers have in a separate system. Add all these workers together and throw in their families and friends and you will have a considerable minority bloc in the Negro population.

But the economic squeeze is on. The chances are that more white people will challenge the cost of jim crow than Negroes because whites are now very tax conscious. A tip-off on this angle came several months ago when an editorial in the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser told its readers that the jim crow system was one of the reasons for the high school tax. It did not elaborate, but merely planted the idea.

In this school fight, as in so many others on the jim crow front, Negro Americans have a chance to tear up old patterns if they will strike intelligently while the iron is hot.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

As I pointed out in last week's column, in spite of the unhappy critics who complain that Mrs. Edith Sampson, in her speeches in the Scandinavian countries, did not "tell the truth" about race relations in the United States, there is nothing in that lady's prepared remarks that should cause shame to her or to any other mature observer of the American racial scene.

Whether or not one approves of Mrs. Sampson's speeches must depend upon whether or not one approves of what our State Department is trying to do in answer to anti-American propaganda assiduously peddled by Communists in every country of the world. The Communists are not trying to solve our race problem. They don't give a hoot in Hades how many Negroes are lynched—how long racial segregation lasts. What Soviet Russia and its obedient pro-Communist stooges are trying to do is undermine U.S. prestige by use of truths, half-truths, lies and the most incredible distortions of fact—by saying anything and everything that will create distrust toward this country and thereby help Moscow's plans for world domination.

For the past six years our State Department has been fumbling around half-wittedly with this issue of race prejudice, which is the most damning indictment our enemies can bring against us. Belatedly, the Department's masterminds have realized that the best way to answer that indictment is to have American Negroes themselves representing this country abroad — some as speakers, some as ECA or Point IV workers, some few as diplomats. Mrs. Sampson is one of the speakers who have agreed to talk face-to-face with European audiences — and in other continents as well — and tell them some of the positive facts about race relations. The Communists say Democracy is a farce and failure because race prejudice exists in this country. Mrs. Sampson says, in effect, that Democracy is a success whenever America has tried it, and increasingly it is being tried.

In the manuscript prepared for her speeches, Mrs. Sampson described the racial atrocities at Mims, Groveland and Miami, Florida, as examples of undemocratic practices. Then she went on to say: "These sensational incidents are a blot on the record, but they do not indicate that we are being pushed back. They are the last-ditch acts of an old guard which can no longer stem the tide. They are the wild thrusts of a small group of pathological people. . . .

"You read in your press the mouthings of the old-fashioned politicians in some Southern states. What they say makes sensational news. But what you hear is the death rattle of a dying group. . . .

"America is coming of age. In its maturity it will bring the strength of its peoples from every nation and of every race to the common cause of universal peace with freedom."

And I ask, what's wrong with that? And I also ask, why should any literate, reasonably intelligent Negro object to a speaker telling a European audience that more democracy will cure America of her racial prejudice? Isn't that what we've been saying here at home—why we've been distinguishing between democratic and undemocratic practices? Of course, I can understand why pro-Communists would disapprove of the Sampson speech. And I can understand why some pathological Negroes would decide that we'll never win our fight and therefore resent any other Negro who says we can. What I cannot understand is why any self-respecting Negro would be expected to go overseas on a United States mission and then retail the Communist line to European audiences. That Communist line presents American Negroes to the world as a hapless, helpless, grovelling group who cower whenever the white man frowns and jump when he commands. I haven't seen that happen in New York, Chicago, Atlanta or Houston. I've seen plenty of injustice and suffered from my own share of it. I've seen a race riot, been in a town soon after a lynching and faced Jim Crow in a thousand forms in a hundred cities. But I am not grovelling, nor are my racial brethren, and I'm glad that Edith Sampson has been making it clear that we are not.

ANOTHER ALASKA STORY

Dear Sir:

In your issue of January 31, 1952, on page 2, column 4 there is a story under the by-line of Grace E. Simons, headed "Cold, Snow, Bias found in Anchorage."

Either Mrs. Stevenson, who is supposed to have furnished the information on which the story is based, deliberately misrepresented conditions here, or Miss Simons garbled the story assuming that wherever Negroes are represented in any appreciable number in proportion to whites, they are bound to be mistreated.

So far as I can see, there is not much difference between the way Negroes fare here than in New York. Segregation of whatever nature, is self-imposed. I have heard that there are places here that will refuse service to Negroes. On investigation I have found each "hear-say" to be false. The civil rights code here is much stricter than anywhere else in the United States (and this is the United States, too—don't forget that). The minimum penalty for refusing service for reason of color or national origin is $250 and I understand, not more than $1,000. A jail sentence is also an alternative. There have been two fined since I have been here—it does not take many like that to discourage discrimination.

There are no signs saying for "white only." Negroes drive buses here, and one of the employees was a woman, but it got "too cold" and she headed south. The advertisement for bus drivers does not mention race. An FEPC law passed here in 1947 squelches that sort of thing. By that I do not mean that Negroes are hired on every job where they apply, but unemployment is not severe. There is some, of course, as there is everywhere, but race does not enter into the picture. Despite warnings, people will flock in months before work for which they are fitted, opens up—hence no jobs.

Segregation—that is just not true. We eat anywhere; we attend all games, as well as all theatres. Soldiers, of course, go ANYWHERE; if any are barred without cause of conduct, the place is promptly declared "off-limits." And, by the way, the troops here are completely integrated, with large majority of "ratings" held by Negro troopers.

There are 4 or more restaurants, one package liquor store, a barber shop, and a real estate office conducted by Negroes.

Let's get the record straight and quit yelling "wolf" when there is none. If we keep harping about being "segregated" the other race will get the idea that is what we expect, and will be only too glad to accommodate.

Conditions would be much better if Negroes here would integrate themselves wholly in the community; take an active interest in civic affairs, and exercise their right to vote.

Yours truly,
George C. Anderson
Anchorage, Alaska

OPPOSES TERM "NEGRO"

My dear Sir:

I take this way to congratulate you on your efforts in the newspaper field and since we have been friends for some years, I feel that, since I read what you think, I can tell you what I think and still be friends. (smiles)

I agree with you on the 6 articles that you favor and the two that you oppose but I think the time is ripe now for all Americans to stop thinking and using the word "Negro."

I think when any American thinks he or she is a Negro or calls himself a Negro they are segregating themselves.

I have searched the American or United States Constitution and Bill of Rights and I cannot find the word Negro.

Therefore I think these two documents do not protect the rights on any one who calls himself a Negro; they only protect a citizen of the United States regardless of their origin. I think the Eagle should change from integration (of Negroes) to all Americans and encourage all Americans in business regardless of origin.

I think the N.A.A.C.P. should change the C. P. to ALL AMERICANS and maybe that is why some Americans believe that the N.A.A.C.P. is taking a little belligerent attitude in trying to force democracy.

I think the Constitution and Bill of Rights are two of the greatest documents in the universe, but the job is to educate, train and encourage All Americans to grow in intellegence and understanding until they reach a degree that they become willing to apply the ideals of Christianity-democracy in their daily living with one another.

I am in favor of F.E.P.C. but I believe that group of Americans of all origins should meet with employers in a friendly attitude to reason and encourage them to include all Americans who can qualify for their personnel and without infringing on the employers' rights by fining or sentencing him if they refuse. Again I want to praise and encourage you in your efforts in the newspaper field. Maybe you don't agree with what I think but anyway we are still friends.

Sincerely,
Johnnie Weaver

GLAD TO HELP

Dear Sir:

In behalf of the Recreation and Park Department and the Block Warden Servvice, may I congratulate Wendell Green on your fine story on Samuel M. McCallister, which appeared in the Eagle February 21, 1952, and thank you for the space given to this most important phase of our City's civil defense effort.

Your story was most thorough, calling attention to the urgent need of citizen participation in the defense program. It was also a well-deserved tribute to one of this Department's most valued employees.

I hope that you will feel free to call on this office at any time for pictures or other materia which the Eagle can use.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE RAMSEY

SANTA ANITA—Hill Gail by four lengths, Windy City II second, one length in front of Arrog, that was the stunning finish of the $140,000 Santa Anita Derby before more than 50,000 lovers of the sport of kings. It took the pride of the Calumet Farms from Kentucky to defeat the 1-to-2 favored Invader from far off Ireland. Outlucked in his last races, and blocked off in the San Felipe Handicap in which Windy City II won by himself, Hill Gail, the son of Bull Lea-Jane Gail redeemed himself by running the mile-an-one-eighth in 1:50 flat, paying in the mutuels the nice price of $11.40.

Ramsey

Jockey Teddy Atkinson rode the colt for the first time, replacing Steve Brooks, who severed relations with the Calumet stable more than a week ago. Not only did Atkinson ride a masterful race but he hung it on America's stake riding chamption Eddie Arcaro and brought $92,000 as the winner end to the Calumet Farms.

Windy City II ran a good race, but it was just too much Hill Gail for the Irish Invader. The latter had to fight desperately to save the place from Arroz.

Wednesday, Feb. 27, the San Luis Rey Handicap at seven furlongs will be the feature. It carries an added value of $15,000, and on Saturday, March 1, the Grand Slam will be run. It is the feature event of the season, the Santa Anita Handicap at one mile and one-quarter, with $100,000 guaranteed to the winner. My pick is Hill Prince.

CALIENTE — Kay Em Count knocked out some of the best sprinters at the border course in the feature event last Sunday. Coming off a route, the son of Counterbalance — Kay Em Bee was outrun the first half, closed fast on the outside to get up in a hard drive to stall off the belated rush of Set Don, the favorite, and score by a neck.

Jockey Arthur Anderson, who had the mount of the winner, brought the pride of the Hall's stable down in the sparkling time of 1:10 4/5 for the six furlongs. Virtually overlooked in the betting, he paid $22.40.

The daily-double combination of Reed Lee, winner of the fourth race, and Golden Fury, victor of the fifth, paid $43.80. Although in the fifth race Duy Ukey, a fifty-to-one shot, won the race, but was disqualified and placed third. The fourth race, which was won by Competitive, also was disqualified. And the race was given to Reed Lee. The future book was closed after the afternoon races.

Two Big Matches Set for Radio-TV

Two outstanding boxing bouts, one bringing together former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta and Eugene Hairston, and the other a non-title match between Jimmy Carter, lightweight champion of the world, and the up-and-coming Luther Rawlings of Chicago, will be broadcast exclusively over CBS Radio and CBS Television on the first two Wednesdays in March (CBS Radio, CBS-TV, 10-10.45 p.m. EST.).

The LaMotta-Hairston bout on March 5 will take place in the Detroit Olympia, with the Carter-Rawlings tussle on March 12 originating in the Chicago Stadium.

Steve Ellis and Lester Bromberg will provide the radio blow-by-blow description and between-rounds commentary, with Russ Hodges in charge of the TV coverage.

All four participants are strong punchers and one or both bouts are good bets to wind up in a knockout.

The Carter-Rawlings bout originally was scheduled for Feb. 20 but was put off because of an injury sustained by Carter.

Jeff to Hold Inter-Class Meet Friday

By BRAD PYE, JR.

FULTON FIELD—As the Democrat politicians would say, this is the Democratic year—and likewise is the saying of Jefferson High cinder followers that are predicting the '52 edition of Estel Johnson and Joe Barry's Democrat spike team, will again retain its loop, city, and state crowns.

Headman Johnson won't say so, but sources close to the likeable mentor are expecting him to come up with some more Guy Blackburns, Lang Stanleys, Lawrence "Teddy Bears" Williamses and Gary Greens, four lads that should be fine Olympic Games hopefuls.

440 FEATURES THE NOSES

In the quarter-mile race it looks very much like Johnson has in Robert "Nose" Taylor, city B sprint champ, the No. 2 horse in the history of the school or in other words another Gary Green. The versatile Taylor will also be counted on for a host of points in his specialty, the 100-yard dash. Although Taylor favors the shorter race I should think after a swift 52s. timing in his first try he very much has the making of a stellar quarter-mile champion. This is a boy I predict will be the backbone of the Democrats' title hopes in these two races.

Veteran Fred Hunter and Maurice Giles, B footballer and promising 10th grader, should give Taylor a run for it in the century race.

Rudolph "Red Nose" Lewis, a member of Mike Marienthal's championship grid team along with Walter Barrett expects to come in for some of the honors in the 440. Lawrence Hawkins, a big 180-pound tenth grade flash, could easily follow into the footsteps of Green.

In the 220-yard dash it should be somewhat of the same as in the 100 with Rosland Range, state broad jump placer, last year, to be a threat for the No. 1 spot. Headman Johnson thinks very highly of this lad.

SCOTT SHOULD SIZZLE IN THE HURDLES

Returning Letterman Lewis "Popeyed" Scott looks sharp in early season practice. He may be the answer to coach Barry for his fine departed low hurdler, Gerald Taylor. In the highs it looks as though Billy Levey and Earl Robinson, the latter also a high jumper, should pick up some valuable points for the Democrats in this event.

Willie "the toe" McMahan, star quarterback on the mighty Demo grid team, has turned in some flashy efforts in recent workouts and he seems to be headed for a great season on the cinders.

CAREY, SMITH TOPS IN FIELD EVENTS

James Carey, stellar all-city tackle, I should think one of the greatest in the history of the school, who pitched the shot well over 52 ft. last season, is rounding into fine shape and he is virtually a sure bet to better his last season performance. Henry Webb, Carey's all-city tackle teammate, is reported to have a best effort of 56 ft. This should be quite a duel. Cornell Jackson also should get into the act.

Julius Jones, a fine cross-country letterman, and Johnny Connors will be great competition for McMahan in the half-mile.

Range and McMahan are coming fast in the broad jump and look for them to go great guns by mid-season.

In the pole vault the Demos will probably have one of its finest performers ever in second place state winner O. W. Rhodes, who literally won the state title for the Jefferson lads last year when he soared to the height of 12 ft. 9 in. on his last try to cop the crown. Rhodes should be consistent at 12 ft. 6 in. Footballer Charles Hammond, top-flight center, will win a lot of points for the Demos with his 11 ft. 6 in. effort.

Frank Denkins, top distance runner outstanding pace-setter, will bring back many thrills the fans have enjoyed the past three years, displayed by the famed Lang Stanley and the great lithe Jimmy Walker. Denkins and letterman Joe Swan, who made a letter in both track and tennis last spring, has given up the latter sport to devote all of his time to track. This is a boy to watch.

Johnson and Barry send their aspirants through their first test Friday in the annual interclass meet.

ED SANDERS — Ex-Jordan and Compton JC athlete is a favorite in the Golden Gloves tourney in the heavyweight division at Chicago.

THE NEXT NEWCOMBE—Chuck Dressen (right) Brooklyn Dodger manager is in conference with pitcher Joe Black at Vero Beach (Fla.) practice grounds. Black is expected to develop into another Don Newcombe, the Bums' 20-game winner, who was sworn into the army this week.

Sutton, Ex-Jeff Cage Ace, Here With Cal-Poly

L. A. STATE—Algin Sutton, All-City star for Jefferson High in '50 along with his two all-league buddies Dean Johnson, and Charles Hill were members of the fine Cal-Poly five that performed in the CCBT here this week.

All-CCAA conference player Ed Nichols and Vern Wilson were also member of the squad.

Baseball Luncheon At Biltmore Friday

Pacific Coast League President Clarence Rowland; Don Stewart, president of the Los Angeles Angels; Mexican Counsul-General Salvador Duhart; Revs. Clayton Russell and John Branham; Bill Schroeder, Helms Athletic Foundation; Beans Reardon, Eddie Atkinson and members of the metropolitan and Negro press are expected to be on hand for the SWI League "Kickoff" Luncheon at the Biltmore Friday noon, announced Harry Leddel, loop president.

DOBY SIGNS WITH INJUNS

TUCSON—Larry Doby, last year's disappointment, signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians this week for an undisclosed sum.

Doby has been holding out for quite some time because the Indians want to cut his last year's salary.

If you aren't registered, you can't vote. Register today, so you can vote in June.

VIRGIL AKINS

BOXERS AKIN-DAVIS TANGLE AT LEGION

HOLLYWOOD—When Virgil Akins, rated the No. 2 lightweight in the world tangles with popular Henry Davis in the main event at the Legion tomorrow night he will have very little time for coasting.

Davis, a persistent slugger from Honolulu, has a clean slate at the Legion with decisions over Baby Leroy and Johnny Gonzalves.

Akins has somewhat the same record in local rings but in his last two outings he seemed to coast against Leroy and Joe Gilmer.

Comets Sign 15 Ballplayers

Fifteen players, led by sensational Mayso Dixon, long-ball hitting shortstop; jet-propelled centerfielder Harvey Allen and former Lincoln High all-city Lucious Banks, were this week signed to baseball contracts by the Comets, all-Negro nine of the Southwest International League.

The signings were effected by Comet General Manager Emmett Ashford, who released the following roster:

Pitchers—Willie Caines, Alfred Graham, Jesse Pipkin and James Walls.

Catcher—Frank Lewis.

Infielders—Lucius Banks, Travis Branch, Willie Crockett, Mayso Dixon, William Wade and Simon Peters.

Outfielders — Harvey Allen, Charlie Brown, Earl Stephen and Johnnie Williams.

Workouts are slated this Saturday for the City Park, South Gate, California.

FANS LAUDS OL' SATCH AT CAMP

BURBANK—Satchel Paige, the fabulous Ol' Satch, universally admired, shuffled to the mound here this week and gave his giant audience a look see at his first pitch of the season for the St. Louis Browns.

Satch performed before a highly appreciative by wafting up bloopers, roundhouse curves, sinkers and several unnamed specialities of his repertoire. For fifteen minutes the ancient flinger flung . . . then shuffled to the showers.

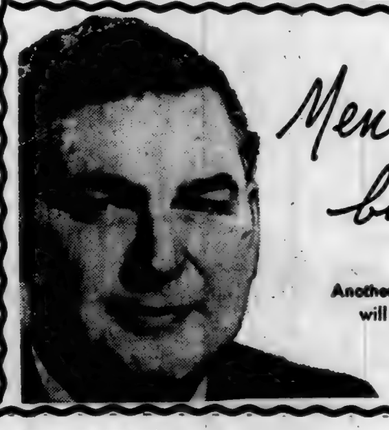
Tuskegee Wins

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Breaking into the win column again after a lapse of a few days the Golden Quintet of Tuskegee Institute subdued the greatly improved Allen University Quintet of Columbia, South Carolina, 67 to 48 in Logan Hall Wednesday night.

Led by the Freshman stalwart, Willis Hockett, with 14; Charles Bonner, with 11, and Capt. Norman Jackson, with 10, the Tuskegee cagers from the beginning left not the slightest doubt as to the outcome of the game.

Henry Go Mar. 17

BALTIMORE—Clarence Henry, of Los Angeles, the third ranking heavyweight of the world will meet Chubby Wright in a 10-round bout here March 17, according to Baltimore Promoter Benny Trotta.



Henry in his last outing won a sensational 1:41s. first round victory over Bob Strafield.

THE CLEVELAND INJUNS' EASTER PARADE—

Luke Easter, the Cleveland Indians' giant first-baseman, is currently the hottest subject along baseball row—Now that Luke's knee is reported in top shape, his big bat is being counted on to literally lead the Cleveland boys to the Flag. . . . This is a feat the Injuns haven't accomplished since '48. . . . Sad Sam Jones, stellar hurler up from San Diego along with Larry Doby, the holdout man, that is until this week. . . . I should think will be main factors in the Injun's Flag hopes. . . . It's a little early in the season for prognostications of who will win the respective Flags, but I'm going out on the limb and say if the Luke is able to see full action, the Injuns, I should think, will win the American League pennant. . . .

LUKE EASTER

DODGERS IN THE NATIONAL—

As long as there is a Jackie Robinson around I'm sticking with the Dodgers. . . . Robinson, a local boy, probably one of the greatest all-around athletes in the history of UCLA is the man that can virtually make everything look possible, for the Bums. . . . Roy Campanella, the fine catcher, Don Newcombe, the 20-game winning hurler, may be around from now on if Uncle Samuel doesn't interfere. . . . The Boston Braves' Sam Jethroe should again be a top performer, but I don't see the Braves giving the Dodgers too much trouble, it will be the defending champs the New Giants, that will be breathing down their backs at all times. . . . Hank Thompson, Monte Irvin and I should think is enough to worry any team. . . . If I'm wrong I stand corrected. . . . But this is how I see it at this stage of the game.

HERE AND YONDER

Dave C. Settle, proprietor of the super-fine Shell Service Station at the corner of Griffith and Jefferson Blvd., literally the city's immaculate automobile hospital, is virtually noted for the finest, and courtesy service this side of wonderland. . . .

Take it from me you won't find anywhere else in town the pleasant atmosphere that surrounds Settle and his three well-versed auto physicians namely James Horton, A. B. "Red" Brown, and Elbert Pauley. . . . Oh! I almost forgot the main feature that makes the Settle Station so popular. . . . With every purchase two enterprising young lads that answer to the names of Junior and Henry gladly dust your auto off free of charge. . . . Don't take my word for it Ace drive in at the Cornor of Jefferson and Griffith Blvds. and dig for yourself. . . .

JEFF WEEPS FOR ECHOLS

A tragedy happened over the weekend—that took the life of Alvin Echols, Vice President of the Jefferson High student body. Alvin, a member of the Jefferson track team last season and the past semester Commissioner of Athletic, straight A student and member of the Knights (honor society) was one of the most liked and efficient students to ever roam the Hooper Ave. school's halls.

The entire student body and faculty moans over the ill-fated mishap of probably one of the most sincere and friendly students that you can know. . . . Alvin, a swellgant lad to know was lauded at the recent Semi-Annual Third annual sports banquet for his remarkable job as Commissioner of Athletics. . . . After accepting all of these honors he made an equolent speech that would have done any Rhodes scholar justice. . . .

Estel Johnson, head track coach said of Alvin—"I can safely say that Alvin would have developed this season into a 9.8s. and 21.8s. sprinter. . . . We here at Jefferson are proud to have worked with such a fine lad as Echols."

I cannot find the appropriate adjectives that will properly convey my deepest sympathy to Alvin's dear mother Mrs. Eloise Echols and his charming girl friend Alora Anderson of East 41st.

It's reported that Alvin was shot to death early Saturday morning by his father who in turn killed himself. . . . At this writing the reason is unknown. . . .

Funeral service will be held at the Hamilton Methodist Church at 18th and Naoma streets Saturday.

A scholarship fund in the name of Alvin is being formed, in one day alone, the students contributed more than one hundred dollars. The faculty and friends will also donate to this worthy cause.

JORDAN'S DOUGLAS A CONGRESSMAN

That is William Douglas, of 9532 Wilmington Blvd. of Jordan High was a representative at the YMCA Model Legislature meeting held at Sacramento the past week. . . . William represented the Crusade Hi-Y from the Southeast district. . . . The purpose of the meeting William tells me was to teach the youth of today the functions of the government so as they might better cope with it as they grow older. . . .

As of now this is 30-dash.

Sister of Recent Bride Is Married in San Jose

From Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ribbs of San Jose comes news of the mariage of their daughter Evelyn to Dr. James Levi Hutchinson of Sacramento, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lorenzo Hutchinson of Shreveport, La. They also are parents of Alma, who recently wed Los Angeles resident C. G. Price.

The newlywed pair exchanged vows at a morning ceremony January 13, in Reno, Nev.

The bride wore her own creation, a magnificent gray and white wool costume. The stole jacket was trimmed with winter white tassels and she wore a hand knitted winter white blouse, hat and gloves. Red calf shoes and bag completed her attire. Her flowers were red roses.

As sole bridal attendant, Annette Craig of Sacramento wore a champagne suit. Her accessories were benedictine.

Sharing best man duties was Clarence Craig, of Sacramento and Shrveport, La.

The new Mrs. Hutchinson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ribbs, prominent San Jose business man, attended school in San Jose, San Jose State College, studied piano and voice with LeRoy Brant, and is a graduate of The Institute of Music in San Jose. Mrs. Hutchinson taught piano and for the past two years, with her sister Alma Ribbs Price, was popular disk jockey for San Jose's key radio station.

The bridegroom attended schools in Shreveport, La., graduating as valedictorian of his class. Dr. Hutchinson received his B.S. degree from Wiley College in Marshall, Texas, and received his M.D. in medicine at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Hutchinson spent four years in the Medical Corps, serving three years in Italy. During his undergraduate days, the benedict belonged to Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

He is now a resident physician at the Sacramento County hospital.

News of The Camp Fire

The Ta-Yi-To Camp Fire girls of Carver Jr. Hi enjoyed a three-meal "cook out" Saturday at the Sycamore Grove park. Some of the girls were earning their Woodgatherers Rank.

The Elu-Tanda Camp Fire girls of Ascot Avenue enjoyed the hike with them.

The girls cooked the three well-balanced meals in style. They built the fire in the old-fashioned fireplace with smoke getting in their eyes.

MRS. She is shown enjoying one of the many galas given for her during their brief stay. The scene is at the home of Mrs. Jack Hardy during a Friday afternoon tea in her honor. Others pictured are Mmes. Big Sisters In Annual Installation

On Sunday, Feb. 24, the Twelve Big Sisters held their annual installation in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Durousseau. A very delightful afternoon was spent with many civic workers and officials.

Mrs. Vivian Strange, Sergeant of the Los Angeles Police Department and member of the organization, served as mistress of ceremonies. The purpose, aims and accomplishments of the Twelve Big Sisters were given briefly by Mrs. Mary Clay, chairman of the program. Atty. George Hamilton, of Milwaukee, Wis., gave two musical numbers.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Dr. A. R. Tweed, Psychiatrist and member of the Board of Education. He pointed out the importance of trained personnel in the handling of Juveniles. Security in the home and understanding of adolescent problems as the individual grows into adulthood are two of the greatest contributing factors in combating Juvenile Delinquency.

Libby Clark, columnist, in installing the new officers, stressed the fact that a great deal of attention is focused upon the women of today, and the Negro woman is becoming more active and creating greater interest not only here on the West Coast, but nationally and internationally.

Those taking office for the coming year were: Dorothy Jones, going into her fifth year as president of the organization. Emily Johnson, vice-president, for the second term. Roberta Newby, secretary; Mary Clay, treasurer; Anne O'Ferrall, corresponding secretary and Dr. Kathleen Jones King, counselor.

Mrs. Pearl Riggert, referee judge of Juvenile Hall was installed as the godmother of this organization, replacing the late Poppy Cannon White is the big news this week. She's the wife of over-all NAACP head Walter White, you know. Thursday night's Shrine mass meeting to protest recent Florida racial violences brought her and her spouse to the City of the Angels and she was beautifully entertained while busy Walter went about more serious matters.

Attended by numbers of local ladies was the tea given for Mrs. White Friday at the Silver Lake home of Mrs. Jack Hardy.

A partial guest list includes Mmes. Sumner Spaulding, Tay Rosen, Irene T. Neneman, Elizabeth Woods, Atlos, Vei Balmer, David Marshall, Helen Garrott, Vada Somerville, Betty Vaughn, Pegge Hawkins, B. B. Bratton, Ralph Turner, Marjorie McPherson, H. A. Howard, Antoinette Atkinson, Caime Russ, Ethel January, Anita Grant and Pat Alexander.

Just out after a bout with the flu is Betty Howard. But do you think that stopped her from giving valiant effort to promotion of Monday night's March of Dimes dance at El Sombero? It did not! She, and all those concerned with the event did a conscientious job.

'Tis a pity this finds me in no situation to criticise you other sluggards who stayed away. I did, too—regretfully and with, I hope, adequate excuse. It is discouraging, though, to know there was not an ample crowd to attest to the value of this vital March of Dimes program. This is one thing in which it has been proven there's no discrimination—racial or religious. And polio strikes everywhere. Let's get wid it!

Doing a great job of learning and "funning" is Faustina Johnson who postcards from the Annual State Chamber of Commerce Managers' convention in San Bernardino. Know she's back by now, full of news and enthusiasm.

Her pet organization, the 12 Big Sisters, installed officers at absolutely fabulous afternoon entertainment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Durousseau.

A well-planned party for the press was held by the Zeniths Sunday afternoon. A "first inaugural" provided lots of fun for guests of the alert Postalettes at Crystal Tea Room Saturday night.

Those of you who thought you saw a juicy bit of hush-hush whispering in Mae Crowder's black eye are in for a huge disapointment. There are plenty of witnesses that she got it from a hard hit, stray golf ball on the course last week end. Those of you who go to her fashionable dress shop on West Jefferson will be glad to know that the mishap did nothing to spoil her "eye" for beauty in exquisite garments.

Atty. Thomas L. Berkley of Berkeley was a week end visitor to our city. Berkley was here attending the Regional meeting of the National Association of Claimants Compensation Attorneys at the Ambassador Hotel.

BILL SMALLWOOD

On The Delightful Side

Mable Scott, party-hostess at her place tomorrow (Friday) evening, the fastive accent on her olde chum, Duke Ellington. Should be gay, by golly. Walter Daniels left Sunday for Detroit to bury his mother. Joanne Sampler flew in Sunday night after a trip to Cincy to visit her family. Ann Marquess Garrott and her Army officer mate are due momentarily after more than a year of life in the Philippines. Enroute east they may come through here, stopping with Bernice Lawson. The latter's daughter Janez doubtless will make the trip east with the globe-circling Garrotts. Ann, active daughter of a prominent Philly family, did her graduate work in physical education at SC, you recall. In fact, further, it was Ann who raised such a wondrous justifiable rumpus at SC when she discovered tan tone students (at the time) were being denied use of all the facilities, etc. She got positive results, too!

Bridegroom-to-be Bobby Bruington's mother Mrs. Leta Carter, came through surgery last week with colors flying. Bobby's sister who lives in N. Y. won't be here for his wedding; she will arrive however in June. Lawrence Winters checked out've the Alexandria Monday, left for Colorado. Delta Sigma Theta deserve and certainly get lusty accolade for bringing the Davis-Winters pair to the village green. Their recital was excellent; the reception at Wilfandel which followed was enjoyable. There: the so-gracious Tabors of Venice tell me their grandson, George Price, Jr., goes to Detroit after he finishes school here. Also there: the exceptionally attractive Hazel Chambers, she with the beautiful complexion.

Back in town after an absence of six years, Tony Doram and his son will settle again. The Cullen Fentresses back from a golf weekend in Arizona. Dr. Gertrude Curtis Thompson leaves for N. Y. on March 27. The new baby daughter of Carol Brice and her husband will be christened Lisa. Murmur: What's this we hear of the Oliver Odums (Loyce)? A weekly here is diligently (dead-pan, too) searching for the most eligible male in town. Captivating: Poppy Cannon White. Rare, beauty and brains. Kappas celebrated their Founder's Day with the traditional banquet last Saturday evening. Jules Smith's sister ailing in N. Y. Gladys (Boo) Dent, singing on that inspirational program aired in N. Y. and created by Rev. W. J. Bryant. Cliff Bennett and wife due here in June.

Flournoy Miller left last Thursday on one of his commuting trips east. Las Vegas holiday weekenders: Mae Castleman, Bernie Brown, Dottie Crozier, glamour gals all. Rev. Frederick Jordan flew in from the recent Bishop's Council (held in South Carolina) in time for his Sunday pulpit. Atty. Sadie Alexander (she was at the Mayfair while here) due back from Honolulu enroute home to Philly. She thinks Angelenos generate an unbelievable amount of energy—socializing! Darn clever, the announcement from Jode and Dexter Gordon of the arrival of their Robin Lanne Gordon! It's patterned after a theater ticket, has all the data cleverly worded to fit, even to the customary narrow envelope. I've never seen anything like it, really.

Josephine Baker in Cuba til April. March Calendar: Adele Weaver birthdays on the 1st; Dr. A. A. Foster on the 7th; Pearl Bratton Smith on the 31st; Nat Cole on the 17th. Rev. Adam Powell will appoint a white assistant pastor at his church next time a vacancy occurs. Lady Zenith Charity and Social Club members really put some though hard work and earnest effort into this Alabam benefit of theirs (Sunday). Last Sunday they had a press party, no less. Unique, the Tuskegee Alumnae idea in conjunction with their April 18 Muriel Rahn concert; they will have an exhibition of the paintings of several California artists in the lobby. Alberta Hunter unanimously elected as an ASCAP member. Murmur: You definitely can expect Marian Anderson to drastically cut her exhausting tours beginning next season.

Add March Calendar: Steve Lockett birthdays on the 9th; Ann Moseley on the 29th; the decorative Nichols twins on the 21st. In reply to a query of mine at a recent late-hour Hollywood

Nevin Ave. P-TA

Th Nevin Ave. PTA held its meeting Feb. 15, at 2 o'clock, in the school auditorium with Mrs. Luther Wise presiding. A beautiful candlelighting play, commemorating Founder's Day, was held. Mrs. E. The date of the roll sale is Mar. 7, 1952. The proceeds will be used to purchase a life membership to be presented in June.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Last week's column (which didn't appear due to complications).

Putting on a sweetheart's dance is not much of a problem when there are so many of these folks around. And it seems that the whole of Sweetheartdom showed up at the Deltas Sweetheart Dance recently. Of course they had on hand the usual Sweethearts plus the confirmed Bachelors and Spinsters. Py Taylor and his combo provided the music for the dancers as well as the listening enjoyment.

Just to mention a few we noted sitting, standing, talking or milling around the dance floor were Bud Conner with that beauty from Redlands, Zenobia Thomas; Connie McCallister with Bobby White; Wilbur Williams, talking sweet bits of nothing to Betty Jean Taylor; Florelle Pierson and Floyd Wilson, and that handsome pair of Eva and Ernie Powell.

Sweet and lovely Sylvia Griggs appeared with that versatile man about town, Wallace Tucker . . . Also greeted strangers Jane Miller and Jerrell Stephens . . . Preston Johnson, newly elected president of the Scrollers Pledge Club, showed up with his spouse, who else? . . . It seems that Uly Griggs will never run out of changes 'cause he brought another of his pretties, Charlene Derrick . . . Judging from the masterful gleam in Bob O'Reilly's eye we figgered that he had everything (Louise Ateman) under control . . . Don Hamilton and Mildred Blackburn are just one step closer to proving that some things never fade . . .

Among the notables on hand were Stanley (SQUARE) Robertson, Harriet Flowers, David Reed, Ola Morrison, Leroy Matthews, Joyce Overr, Wilson Hunnicutt and Ronald Powell, Bozie Walton, Pat Prescott, and Rodney Thompson.

And We Hated to See Her Go . . .

Yes, all good things must come to an end, and thus the end came to a "Wonderfully enjoyable vacation," so said Loleta Allen during a small get-together of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jackson. Loleta has been visiting our fair city for a month and plans to return soon. She hails from Chicago. Guests included Bobby Pounds, Howard Dear, Pete O'Garro, Francine Portier, Richard Allen, Wallace Brice, Pat King, Morgan Maxwell, Imogene Fatherree and Walter Towns, George Brown and Julie Simms.

Bon Voyage . . .

The Old Gang couldn't bear to see Kenneth Younger go to the Army without first throwing a little shindig. It would be useless for us to try to explain the most outstanding happenings of the eve, but we will let you know just who showed. And here they are, Jo Ann Leonard, Niles Garnett, Austin Nicholas and Charlotte Johnson, Lynn Adams, Walker Bruce, Leon McCarty, Marabelle Lee, Mary Cantrell, Audrey Nicholas, Jean Bugg, Darling Scott and John Herod.

In Short . . .

For one reason, or maybe two, Carl Clay has resumed his courtship with attractive Delores Roberts . . . Heard that Gloria (Casey) Collins and mate Myron, are tearing up the marriage certificate . . . Just got the news that Larry Winston has slipped the ring on Lita Coleman's finger, also of the engagement of Conner Baumann to a lovely from Seattle . . . A new twist to the story that love is blind. Clyde Winston and Angelita Nicholas are making a hit at it. Love MUST be blind . . . A great change in business is expected now that Dot Cain is working behind the counter at downtown Cliftons . . . Wishing the best of everything to the newlyweds Loretta Pruitt and Frank Matthews.

Patriotic to the Bone . . .

Chiquita Adams felt that her country needed her service in the WAC's, June Matthews felt the same way about the WAF'S so they both rushed down to their nearest recruiting office and did the thing.

DON'T MISS THIS . . .

The Sigma Chapter of the AKA's are sponsoring a G.A.G., which means, get a guy (and probably the best way to get a date for a change) Dance. The object is to invite some fella since this is leap-year. This happens at the beautiful NEW Alpha Bowling Club on Feb. 29. And the Ivies are doing the same with a Skunk Hollow Dance on March 8th.

How's everybody feeling, satisfied?

The KAPPA's finally decided upon the six cheerleaders who will direct them in their chants, yells, and songs for the coming basketball series. These SELECTS are Mary Ann Vandange, Elaine Byass, Elaine Lindo, Dorothy Cain, Joan Southern, and Mary Cantrell.

The KAPPA frat is really in the news this week. They welcomed into the "bond" eleven new brothers. These being Lee Stewart, Ray Scott, James Franklin, Pete O'Garro, James Smith, Earl Glenn, Hugh Coleman, Rodney Richards, Willy Collins, George Gramberry and Harold Morgan.

session singer Johnny Ray says: "The guy who wrote the hit song, "Cry," is a colored 40-bucks-a-week factory worker who lives in Pittsburgh. He sent it along with a few other tunes to a publisher. The publisher took a fancy to "Cry" and sent it along to me to see if I wanted to record it. Well, so far it's sold nearly two million records. The guy who wrote it (he has a wife and kids) still has his factory job although he will make $75,000 off it. God Bless America, eh?"

Schoolmarm Henrietta Flanner back at her N. Y. duties after Puerto Rico and a month in the Virgin Islands and Haiti. I'm sure she was reminded vividly of Southern California, which she loves, on her trip more than once. Poetry-reading Marie Joe Browne (she was here the same season Henrietta was) is another who often grows nostalgic over her L. A. days. Maudelle Bass, busy in downtown N. Y. these days, is listed too among those who frequently sigh over the local scene.

For a five o'clock drink with Adele and Ernie Weaver, long-time favorites of ours, yep: Their daughter Inez flew to Chi with her daughter, joining their soon-to-be-a-Captain head of the family. Inez and her hubby had high hopes he would be ordered to Japan, but, alas, it turned out to be South California for two years. Now they're debating just how they'll manage the rugged life down thar. Barbara, the subdeb Weaver, may go to Chi this summer to visit her grandmother, Barbara, in case you weren't sure, IS the serious looking young-un you may think you saw behind the wheel of a car. Her folks bought her a runabout the other day.

Dottie Crozier's mother planning a trip east. She's as perky and youthful-thinking as her large, well known family. Adelaide Barker, who is one of bride-elect Haroldine Browning's bridesmaids, was a yellow kitchen shower hostess for her over the past weekend. Incidently, Haroldine and her devoted keeper-of-her-heart secured one of the hard to get apartments in that eye-filling new building at Montclair and Seventh Avenue.

Mrs. Imogene Dempsy of Washington, D. C., here. This is her former hometown. Wife of Richard Dempsy, contemporary artist, she is taking time before departing for Greece, where her husband will continue art. He recently journeyed to Haiti as guest of that country's government, exhibiting his works and participating in the festival of art.

Helen Broyles Smith, Sara Collier, Zeresh Eberhardt, Edna Cohen, other friends, and relatives have feted Mrs. Dempsy during her stay. She returns to DeeCee soon ,then Europe.

Bridging It From Club Pacifico

Because we feel there are others who like Dr. Guy A. Gin of Oakland, who is our western vice president, the Natoinal A.B.A. would like to know why we have no schedule of forthcoming regionals. We would like to state publicly that we of Club Pacifico believe that first, we can serve the organization best by cultivating and creating new constituents in the game of contract and duplicate bridge.

Second, we realize that of the many thousands of bridge players on the Coast, there are a relative few who play other than on a house to house basis. The reason in some cases is that some people, in order to build up their own clubs, continue to misrepresent us and our purpose. In so doing, they do injury to all duplicate clubs.

Hence, if we are to establish and maintain an organization on a par with all other types of sports and hobby groups, we must first advocate and educate the would-be future players to the many wonderful hours of pleasure, as well as other advantages in learning to play the game scientically as well as socially.

Third, because most of the members of "Club Pacificco" are new and inexperienced, we have been giving them the masterful instructions of Robert Lee Johnson each Sunday during our regular play. We also are looking forward to continued progress along these same lines, in the hope that in the not too distant future there will be hundreds of bridgers taking part in duplicate play. At any rate, we expect to have by the coming year enough trained disciples to not only stage their own plays, but give all you "dyed-in-the-wool" players plenty of keen competition by not only winning your prizes but your master championship points as well, Yep: that's what we aim to do.

To all who have given their loyal support, we say thanks . . . So sorry most are so, too, too "in Harmony," our motto is "live and let live."

However, you are all fine bridge players and we enjoy playing with you each Thursday evening in our club rooms.

Sunday's game went off smoothly as usual with Mrs. B. Reeves and L. Woods taking first place, with a top score of 70. Hugh Denton and Thomas Kelly were second with a score of 65, while with the exception of Paul Graves and partner E. Reeves, the home teams fell way behind the finish lines although with such strong competition to give us the practice we need we are bound to develop into a mighty strong bridging group.

Our lecture on Sunday consisted of suit preference leads and discards and was very informative to all. We will be back next Sunday when Mr. Johnson puts us through the paces on "squeezes." Till then, see how you would defeat this contract. (Number seven in a series of ten.)

Negro in Movies: Post-War History

(PART ONE)

By L. DAVID

Now that some Negro actors, working in the "Amos 'n' Andy" program have voted to allow the Screen Actors Guild to continue to represent them in the field of television-on-film (as opposed to the new union, Television Authority) — a thoughtful investigation should be made into the Screen Actors Guild and its relation to Negro actors. This investigation by those interested should really broaden into an investigation of the entire movie industry and its relation to Negro employment.

During the second world war, as a result partially of public outcries, Wendell Wilkie, then chairman of the board of 20th-Fox, held a series of discussions with Walter White of the NAACP. As a result of this activity, the movie industry as a group, informally agreed through its spokesman, Eric Johnson, to encourage the portrayal of new Negro characters on the screen and to discourage the use of Negro stereotypes.

There were a few good advances, notably "Lifeboat," "In This Our Life," "Sahara," and "Bataan." But most studios solved their stories by not using Negro actors at all in their fear to trod on any toes.

This situation became so bad after the war that a group of white and Negro actors, led by such people as Betsy Kelly, Marsha Hunt, Louise Beavers, Joel Fluellen and Gene Kelly, proposed a resolution to their Guild—the Screen Actors Guild—that a special committee be established to investigate the condition of the Negro actor. This resolution was passed unanimously by the Screen Actors Guild in 1947, and a special committee was set up, chaired by a white actor, Walter Anderson, and including only one Negro member, Clarence Muse. Among others on the committee were: Betsy Blair, Boris Karloff, and Gregory Peck.

This committee met with committees of the Screen Directors, Writers and Producers. The concrete result of these conferences was a four-point program adopted and agreed to by all concerned.

The four points were: Employment of Negro extras in ten per cent proportion to white extras in all general extra scenes in railroad stations, bus terminals, fight arenas, etc. Secondly, books purchased for filming with important Negro parts were not to see these Negro parts "rewritten white." Thirdly, the use of Negro stereotypes was not to be encouraged but rather were the studios called upon to cast Negroes in un-stereotyped roles as doctors, lawyers, etc. And lastly screen writers were to be encouraged (along with casting directors) to cast Negro actors in small parts in movies where no specific color was called for.

This was the four-point program adopted by what amounts to the entire movie industry in 1947. The special committee of the Screen Actors Guild was commended for its work.

Valaida Snow Heads Top Alabam Show

The Club Alabam scores again with another terrific show this week featuring Valaida Snow,

VALAIDA SNOW

Mabel Scott, Fox and White and the singular music of Joe Liggins and the Honey Drippers.

The versatile Valaida has a life that in many ways parallels the the fabulous Josephine Baker. She was a star at the old Sebastian Cotton Club in Culver City, then went to Europe where she was the toast of the continent. She was arrested and thrown in a concentration camp for refusing to entertain enemy troops.

After a harrowing experience, she was rescued and took up her career where it was interrupted.

She comes to the Club Alabam direct from New York's Cafe Society. Miss Snow plays at least eight musical instruments, but is best known for her trumpet playing and torchy singing.

Held over from last week are Mabel Scott, Happy Feet, Leonard Reed and the Alabam chorines.

AIDS CLUB — Ernie Whitman, lovable Bill of the Beulah Show, will act as Master of Ceremonies next Sunday afternoon when the Zenith Social & Charity club present their Benefit Cabaret Matinee from 3:30 to 8:00

Lil Greenwood Sizzles In East

Hailed as a Judy Canova in beige, Lillie Greenwood, rollicking blues artist with Roy Milton's Solid Senders, is stopping the show wherever she appears. She did it in New York at the Apollo a fortnight ago, followed suit at the Howard theater in Washington and is currently standing Cleveland on its ear with her sensational showmanship at Gleason's Musical Bar.

Following their stay in Cleveland, the Solid Senders shove off for Atlanta for an engagement at the Roy Peacock. They're due back in California early in March.

University Players In Romeo and Juliet

ATLANTA. — The University Players, under the direction of Baldwin W. Burroughs, will present matinee and evening performances of "Romeo and Juliet" February 21-23 in Howe Memorial Hall, Spelman College campus. With 25 roles to be played, this popular and colorful Shakespearean production gives promise of being the season's outstanding dramatic entertainment.

In the title roles are Bernard Peterson of Richmond, Virginia, who is currently a graduate student in the School of Arts and Sciences at Atlanta University; and Wylma White of Beaumont, Texas, who is a member of the Class of '53 at Spelman College.

NEGROES PLAY TOP ROLES IN NBC TELEVISION SHOWS

NEW YORK CITY—Having accumulated an impressive background which includes experience on Broadway, radio, motion pictures and lately television, both Emory S. Richardson and P. Jay Sidney have won for themselves widespread acclaim for recent appearances on the National Broadcasting Company television network.

Richardson, who is adept at portraying famous historical personages, was last seen in the NBC presentation of the Hallmark Hall of Fame show on February 24.

He enacted the part of French John, a trusted personal servant of Dolly Madison, who helped her to save the Stuart portrait of George Washington when the White House was burned by the British during the War of 1812.

After a memorable performance of impersonating Abraham Lincoln on NBC on February 10, Richardson was praised by the viewing public as being "one of the most realistic and impressive actors ever to appear on television." Bernie Harrison wrote in the Washington, D. C., Times-Herald: "This actor (Richardson) achieved a most unique effect in his readings. I've heard Massey as Lincoln and a half dozen other actors but never have I run across an accent and phrasing that seemed so right for the Emancipator. . . ."

P. Jay Sidney, who has made a name for himself in playing "straight" roles on NBC Television, was most recently seen in the historical role as Cato in "The Plot to Kidnap General Washington" on February 17.

In this performance Sidney, who worked for an Irish tailor who received information from British soldiers that the English planned to kidnap General Washington and thus force the ending of the Revolution, became a hero when he took the extremely vital information to the General's headquarters at West Point, secretly and at great personal risk.

KAY STARR, the current number one juke-box favorite on many AMERICANS musical ratings, isn't interested in Joe Morris and Clarence Moore's Club Alabam. The agents so informed the two when they thought of booking the ofay gal that imitates a pretty good sepia chick, in putting over a song. The agents, after learning that the club wasn't located on the Sunset Strip, asked the whimsical figure of Four Grand a week. In other words you poor peasants who buy the sultry lady of song's records at: Dolphin's, Flash, Ray Robinson, Famous, Esther, Woods, Specialty shops are fools. The royal mistress doesn't think a Negro-owned night club is American enough.

However, the owners are coming up with VALAIDA SNOW, internationally known showwoman, for their second great show following Dinah Washington. Will be at ringside "Joe."

JAMES JONES new mag titled properly "COLORFORNIA" is getting a big play around the town. If the coming issues are half as good as the current one, look for Ebony to take a drop in circulation in Los Angeles.

DUKE ELLINGTON, who is with us again for his concert in modern music, was telling us that his Texas arrest was much to do about nothing. It seems that some AMERICANS in Texas are out to prove with the courtesy of the police department that interracial gathering isn't conducive to good AMERICANISM. They should have been on hand to hear WALTER WHITE, NAACP's big wheel, say the eyes and ears of the world are upon us.

Caught Atty's. Theodore Newsome, Leo Branton, Ted Schaffer, A. B. Clay, L. V. Johnson, James Hill, Emily Woody, Dr. Overstreet Gray, Ann Schooler, Bill Gilchrist, William Pollard, and 3,000 of the most solid L.A. citizens.

WEDDING BELLS will sound for Mildred Sanders and Chester Carter come July. Carter is a teacher of religion and his heavenly thing is Mildred.

ROBERT JOHNSON, a Korea war vet, knows what it is to be caught lonesome so he is taking a cute little Lafayette Jr. High school teacher.

SWEET DREAMS — that is what the wolves are telling each other about: Mary Esther and Willa Mae Elder, a pair of well "quipped" waitresses at the SWEET DREAMS CAFE.

TRADE SECRET—and a big hush is being given to the socially bluebook westside chick. She got and needed a friend indeed. It was a most embarassing moment for the young lady and her friend! The only man on this party were uninvited officers. What a spot she would have placed her architect father in! Seems to us a nice gift is in order for the lifesaver. We will sell out and not call names for a year's subscription. To the whole family, and that's not cheap because they'll be getting California's greatest newspaper in the Eagle.

POKER PARTIES — and there were a few scheduled for last Saturday night. All reported a broke-affair, especially the one located on 120th, Aliso Village, and the Kenwood street address. In fact there were a few pokes exchanged at the 3419 address.

Ted Hughes, the slick real estate dealer, shown up with a cool deck and Harry (Used Car) Davis tossed him and his pal out.

PROFILE OF A STAR—Dinah Washington, the terrific song stylist who just closed a highly successful run at the Club Alabam, was tendered a party by the owners on her closing night. All the employees were on hand to wish the lady of songs a happy bon voyage.

The affair didn't seem to move Dinah for she took shelter all alone in a seat far away from the gaiety. The employees didn't get it for they confessed to me they tried hard to give the lady first class service as Joe Morris and Clarence Moore let it be known to them that she was to get the best in the house.

Even Juliette Miller and Artie Hesse, who operate the club's kitchen didn't get to bed until 5:00 a.m. and were due to open their Merchant Lunch at 12 noon.

There was Arthur (MGM SLIM) Murray, ace handshaker, who did more than his share of trying to please as well as the whole crew. The great lady didn't show them the small courtesy of saying "thank you." Sorry, Joe and Clarence — too "small" to pass up.

CARRIE MANNING is the kind of female that draws sweat from a man's brow, when you place her in a two-piece bathing suit. PERCY (Peaceful) Anderson rates his crew of bartenders as the best in the city. His stellar mixmasters include: Jess (Fatman) Penson, Rubin (Cleveland O.) Lomax, Chuck (Jeff-Hi) Jackson and Jack (Clocker) Smith.

NATE MORELAND — the guy with the good pitching arm, is teaching school in El Centro. He plays ball during the summer for the International League. He annexed 18 victories last season.

A COUPLE—of Hollywood Detectives are anxiously trying to find one Bruce James.

FRANCES BARTLETT—the willowy, trim number who makes her home at No. 415 in the Watkins, is attending a Hollywood Modeling School. As if she is missing something.

Taylor Medical has a lovely bit of advertisement in Barbara Deans, Marian Ogen, Marian Syam and Peggie Hyeston, all nurses.

Oliver Campbell, a San Francisco postal clerk, liked it so well he is putting in for a transfer. I know three clerks down at the Macy street annex who wish they could transfer anywhere before the news gets out about three certain gals.

CADILLAC CLASS — many sleep, eat in 'em, and still lose 'em, but Ace Graham gets a new one each year and carries a wardrobe around in the trunk that rivals JOE KING.

WHISTLING SCHOOL TEACHER is Benzelle Graham, no relation to Ace. She was the star attraction of the Pasadena Debs coming out party. She also receives more than her share of whistles when she strolls down the avenoo.

AT THE SHRINE — Duke Ellington will bring his entire troupe to the Shrine Auditorium for a concert Friday night.

Jim Crow on Skids In Army in Korea

couple of years on the Trojan campus, he was elected to the student senate, was made a Trojan Knight, and helped run the "Unity" party which was trying to break the hold of the machine fraternities on campus life and wipe out the "race and descent clause" on the SC application blank.

Then in October, 1950, in the middle of his studies for a Master's Degree, "The Man" came and got him again. Reluctantly, student Carter again became Lieutenant Carter. He was reluctant because he'd served from 1942 to 1946 in a Jim Crow Army, starting as a private and ending up as an officer; he was reluctant because he wanted to finish school; he was reluctant because he no longer believed that armies and navies could solve the world's problems; and because he felt that Communism, which he profoundly abhors and detests, could only be beaten back by a moral and spiritual battle.

Things Changed

But "The Man" wouldn't let him out of his reserve commission and so he went back. For 40 days, he lived with Jim Crow as a platoon leader in an all Negro outfit, the 375th Chemical Smoke Generator Company at Fort Lewis, Wash.

"Then," said Carter, "In Dec. 1950, the outfit was sent to Japan. We went to Ifu, home of the 24th Infantry Regiment, which was up at the front in Korea at the time. We stayed in Ifu four months and then went to Pusan in southern Korea. And we were still an all-Negro outfit.

"But 60 days after we were in Pusan, things changed. We had sent in a request for 11 replacements and by the time the request go back to headquarters, the integration policy—a fancy way of saying that all-Negro outfits were abolished—had been established. So they sent us back 11 soldiers; not Negro soldiers or white soldiers but just plain soldiers. And 10 of them turned out to be white and only one Negro."

Southerners, Too

Ex-lieutenant Carter smiled. "It was real interesting to watch. Six of the white soldiers were from Northern states and four from the South. The day the Southern boys arrived they put in a request for a transfer. But we couldn't transfer them even if we had wanted to and we didn't want to. We had a stake in integration and they were part of the stake."

The Northern boys were assimilated pretty quickly into the barracks life, according to Carter and three of the four Southern soldiers gradually made an adjustment.

Within 30 to 45 days, the 375th had a 50 per cent turnover of personnel. Carter estimated that three-fourths of the replacements were white.

No Incidents

"Originally, all the officers were white, with me as the exception. But as the integration process was continued, we finally ended up with a 60-40 relationship. Sixty per cent of all enlisted men were white and forty per cent Negro."

How about trouble? Were there any race riots? Any repetitions of some of the ugly incidents of World War II where Negro and white soldiers fought pitched battles in the camps?

"No," answered Chet. "There wasn't any outward sign of trouble as far as the military mission was concerned. But sometimes, a GI would get too much to drink and the alcohol broke down his reserve with the result that his prejudices began to show. I never saw this happen with officers but this is probably because the officers, as a rule, tended to have a better understanding of the whole problem and because of their background, were perhaps less prejudiced.

No Separate Facilities

"In the barracks, the enlisted men were arranged alphabetically so that there wasn't any chance for whites and Negroes to segregate themselves. But outside the barracks, two out of three groups of GI going out on pass would be all white or all Negro and only one would be mixed."

There was much more social fraternization among the officers than the enlisted men but, said Carter, "I want to make it clear that the Army policy prohibited any kind of separate facilities for Negro and white enlisted men and there weren't any that I ever saw. Everybody used the same service clubs; everybody went to the same dances.

Liquor Stores Robbed Again

A lone armed bandit robbed the owner of a liquor store at 13909 South Willowbrook Ave., Willowbrook district today, obtaining $190.

After forcing Louis Tasselli, 48, of 13715 Willowbrook Ave., to hand over the money in the cash register, the holdupman also took a wallet from Frank Ferrara, 49, of 2275 Oris St., containing $14. Tasselli told sheriff's deputies the bandit sped from the scene in a car parked nearby.

Brandishing a .25 caliber blue steel automatic, a bandit held up a liquor store at 4150 South Central Ave. and escaped with $230 late last night.

Charles Wilkens, 127 West 52nd Pl., clerk, said the man came in once to change a $50 bill. He returned later and forced Wilkens to give him all the money

Distinguished Speakers

The pageantry of distinguished speakers, in three-minute messages, was a true measure of "The Grand's" immortality. Herbert E. Jones, Bishop W. W. Matthews, AME Zion; Dr. W. H. Jernagin, nationally known churchman; Lieut. George W. Lee, Memphis GOP leader; Rev. Marshall Shepard, ex-D. C. Recorder of Deeds; Judge Armond W. Scott, D. C. Municipal Court; John Murphy Jr., Afro-American newspapers; Hon. Willard W. Allen, Sovereign Grand Commander, the Masons; Perry W. Howard, GOB Committeeman; Hon. George Mechen, past Grand Exalted Ruler, IBPOEW.

Resolutions were read by Nettie C. Jackson, Grand Daughter Ruler, and Buena Kelly, Grand Daughter Secretary.

Hon. Charles P. McClane, Grand Director, Public Relations, said, "48 states are here represented. Every single jurisdiction of IBPOEW has representation. We have received 117 long distance calls; 1, 373 telegrams; 3,014 pieces of mail; 17 cablegrams; a wire from President Truman, and from 38 Governors. We have received 61 telegrams from high places and messages from North America, South America and Europe.

Rev. E. C. Smith, pastor of Metropolitan Baptist Church, delivered the eulogy, revealing the depth of the late leader's religious fervor.

After the three-hour-long services, the procession wound its way slowly to Lincoln Memorial Cemetery.

As the words "Ashes to ashes, dust to dust" were slowly intoned, and the dull thud of clods of earth upon the bronze casket ended the service, an era of unsurpassed leadership passed.

Promising Life Cut Short by Murder

Upon entering Jefferson high school, Alvin immediately was recognized as an exceptional student and pushed by faculty and students into offices requiring the qualities of leadership and perseverance.

When Alvin worked at something, it was without obvious demonstration for gains in his own behalf. Rather, he took a job for desire of seeing the task accomplished. From every undertaking he received praise, but he never stressed the importance of glorification. In calm, friendly tones, he always asked for a chance to perform the duty again. When he tried it the second time, there were no mistakes involved.

Honor Student

At the time of his death, Alvin was vice president of the student body. He was a member of the Knights, an organization based upon outstanding leadership and service. Last semester he served as commissioner of athletics. At noon, on Tuesdays and Thursday, Alvin handled a disc-jockey program. It was a favorite of the youth group. A cousin to Joe Adams, he introduced authentic radio devices that were favored by his listeners.

Permitting actions to speak for him, Alvin drew friends without seeking them out. A witty speaker and fast thinker, he found something good in every one he met. He belonged to no special clique, but considered all to be his friends.

Jefferson had hopes of making the aggressive young student first man on its track team. He was being developed for the position by school instructors. He took his training seriously and earnestly kept strict watch over rules.

Ambition

At the time of his death, he was concerned over future educational possibilities. He had discussed with his family and friends the hopes of receiving a scholarship to a university where he could study law. A scholarship was the most important thing to him and it was the topic of most conversations.

Jefferson is organizing an Alvin Echols Memorial Scholarship fund to perpetuate the memory of its ambitious student. From the students alone, $100 was collected in donations. One student told the group that a woman she met on the street gave her $1.25 to the fund. She would not give her name.

Next week a memorial service will be held to eulogize the memory of his school's beloved youth. Special selections are being prepared by the A Cappella choir and several student friends will speak.

Alvin had a 'best girl.' Alora Anderson became a close friend during the past holiday season. The pretty 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Anderson encouraged Alvin to study law and took a sincere interest in all his activities.

To Be Confirmed

On Friday, the day before his death, Alvin arrived at the Anderson home at 10:30 in the morning. He studied his lessons and then spent the day helping Alora sew her confirmation dress. Mrs. Anderson, Alora and Alvin attended classes at St. Philip Episcopal church in preparation for confirmation Sunday.

The one person whom Alvin loved above all others was his mother, Mrs. Eloise Echols. She wanted to see her younger son continue school and worked to keep him in ease to study. Mrs. Echols was proud of Alvin. With every medal, letter and certificate he received she was impressed.

Before his death, Mrs. Echols vowed to aid Alvin until he reached his accomplishment. On Monday when visited by an Eagle reporter, Mrs. Echols was still not convinced that Alvin is dead.

The Echols family was a happy clan of nine before the tragedy. Beside the deceased father and son and mother, there are another son, Albert Jr., and five daughters, Alberta, Ernestine, Gladys, Eunice and Evelyn.

Overflow Crowd Throngs Church At Echols Rites

A tragic chapter of filicide and suicide was closed Saturday as the remains of Albert Echols and his son, Alvin Echols, were lowered into twin graves at Evergreen Cemetery Saturday afternoon.

Last week retired police officer Albert Echols, 56, 1352 E. 18th street, pumped three shots from a 32-caliber pistol into the body of his sleeping 17-year-old son, Alvin Echols, then turned the gun on himself.

Funeral services for father and son were held at Hamilton Methodist church Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Memorial at Jefferson

Plans for an Alvin Echols Scholarship Fund were made known as memorial services were held for Alvin Wednesday morning in two assemblies at Jefferson high school, where he was a student leader, honor student and star athlete.

The church at 18th and Naomi overflowed with student friends of Alvin Echols, who gathered to pay their last respects to him. Members of the Retired Police Officers' Club and fellow officers who had worked with Albert Echols were also on hand to pay their respects.

Nab Two in Daring Daylight Holdup Try

One bandit and a gun moll, two of a bandit trio, were captured by police Saturday when the gang attempted the daring daylight holdup of the Patton Escrow Company at 8211 S. Broadway.

The third member of the gang escaped police staked out at the building. A short distance from the spot, he and his female confederate, who drove the get-away car, exchanged four shots. He is still at large.

Otis Stanford, 34, of 1604 West 38th street, the bandit who was captured on the spot, was rushed to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital with a bullet from a cop's pistol lodged near his spine. Stanford was identified as an ex-convict who served a term at San Quentin for murder.

Innocent bystander Oliver Riley, 55, 4625 Wesley avenue, was given first aid. His leg was grazed by a bullet.

Opal Frazier, also known as Opal Stark, was traced to her mother's home at 1504 East 20th street and identified as the driver of the bandits' car which was abandoned on Vermont avenue about 20 blocks north of the holdup scene.

Still at large was a man identified as Odell Frazier, 34, also an ex-convict.

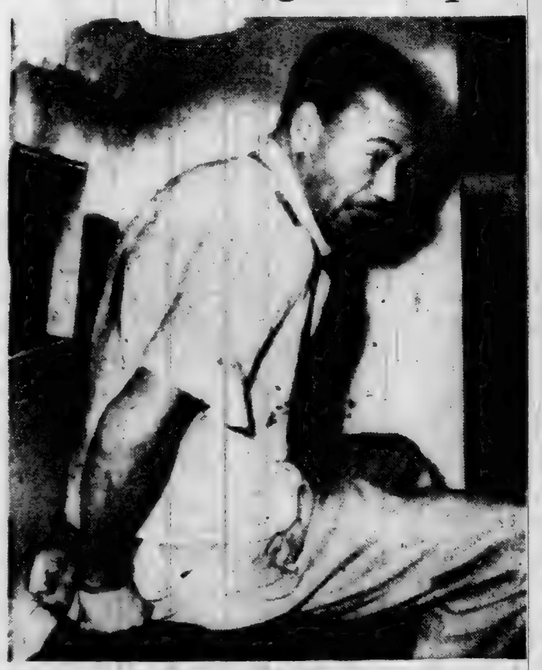
Police Were Tipped Off

Police said they had been tipped to expect a holdup at the escrow place, so officers Harry Slajer and D. P. Dascenzi lay in wait for the bandits.

The holdup men entered the offices from different entrances, and one got the drop on Officer Dascenzi, taking the policeman's gun from him.

He was herded into a room with office manager D. J. Myers, 30; Marshall E. Capps, 32, 6912 South Main street; Anne G. Pincock, age 29, of 812 Kalsman avenue, Compton; Marjorie Ellen Lamb, 32, same address, and clerk Frank Kimball.

"Is This a Stickup?"



Officer Dascenzi said loudly, "Is this a stickup?" tipping off the other policeman hidden in another room.

The bandits scooped up $400 cash, however, and got out of the building before Officer Slajer could open fire. Stanford fell, while the other bandit jumped into the car. The woman quickly drove away as the policeman emptied his pistol at them.

Single Shot Kills Prowler; Landlord Aims at Flashlight

An after-dark prowler was killed by a dead-eye landlord as he attempted to flee from a house into which he had been peeping and finally tried to enter.

William Glenn, 53, 636 E. 90th street, was killed instantly last Tuesday night by Judge Kates, 1624 E. Santa Barbara avenue, when he failed to halt at Kates' command, and was struck in the cheek with a bullet from Kates' 38-caliber revolver.

Perry Wilson and his wife, Izella Wilson, told police officers that they observed Glenn loitering in Ross Snyder Playground near the fence by their back porch about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. The Wilsons live in the rear of 1624 E. Santa Barbara, and the fence separating them from the playground is about two feet from their back porch.

They said that they watched Glenn for 20 minutes, but everytime he saw them he would walk away and return in a few minutes. Wilson also stated that he has been bothered by prowlers and peeping toms for the last six months.

At approximately 9 o'clock, they observed Glenn on top of an incinerator in the playground, trying to climb the fence.

Wilson ran to the front house to tell his landlord, Judge Kates, what was happening. Kates got his gun and went into the rear house.

Kates told officers that he listened at the rear door and heard someone tearing the screen off. He opened the door and saw Glenn climbing the fence trying to escape into the playground. He yelled at Glenn to wait. Glenn whirled around and pulled something shiny out of his rear pocket. Kates fired once, and Glenn fell in a pool of blood beside the incinerator, with a flashlight in his hand. He was killed instantly. Glenn had been arrested for burglary in 1947.

Jury Frees Woman Who Killed Mate

Mrs. Oce Norris, of 1123 E. 66th street, who told deputy sheriffs that she bought the gun to kill Clifford Thomas, of 760 E. 43rd street, was freed Tuesday by a coroner's jury which found that her killing of Thomas, her one-time common law husband, last Thursday, was "justifiable homicide."

Mrs. Oce Norris

The killing took place at Mrs. Norris's home and climaxed a stormy long-time love affair between the couple that ended when she had Thomas arrested last September. After he had served a jail term for an assault on her, he had systematically blackmailed her into paying protection on the promise that he would leave her alone.

Made Threats

Thomas lived with Mrs. Norris during July and August last year at the 66th street address. While living there in September he became intoxicated and she had him arrested. Since then, according to Mrs. Norris, Thomas made threats to her on several occasions over the telephone, saying he was going to kill her.

The gun used by Mrs. Norris, according to her, was purchased for the sole purpose of her protection should Thomas ever attempt to carry out his threats.

When Thomas went to Mrs. Norris's house Thursday night, she said she realized that he was there to kill her. She was so afraid that she stayed in the back part of the house while her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Tatum, 24, of the same address, went to the door and tried to reason with him. Mrs. Norris stated that she heard a fall and a lot of noise coming from the front part of the house and then heard Thomas making threats again.

Got Gun

"I got my gun . . . It's a new one . . . from under the stove in the bag and box I bought it in. I got it out and went to the front door. Cliff was standing on the porch. I said, 'Go away, Cliff,'

'Uncle Blue' Visits Pokey For 61st Trip

By Eddie Lee King

Clifford Wooten, 66, a transient, who is known far and wide as "Uncle Blue," "Had a Do," and by half a dozen other names, was arrested Saturday afternoon together wth the five-gallon gasoline can he calls his "piano," at 2nd an dMain streets.

It wasn't a new experience for Uncle Blue. He says, not without a trace of pride, that it's his 61st arrest.

"I know you've warned me before, but I have to do this to pay the bills," he told officers who picked him up while he was beating a rat-tat-tat on his battered drum.

People who know him, say that he never spends a nickle, and likes to brag about it.

"Does this mean I can't work Main street any more?" he asked.

Police found that he had money and savings amounting to over $11,000. They reported that he had $23 in pennies, nickles and dimes when he was arrested, $2500 in Postal Savings and a bank book with a net balance of around $9,000. Uncle Blue said he has $143 in another bank. He added that he got all his money from people while singing and playing his five-gallon "piano." He said this is his third can. He has worn out two others. "If I had been working for a living, I wouldn't have $200," he told an Eagle reporter while being interviewed at City Jail.

Learned Trade at San Quentin

When asked where he learned his profession, he answered, "When I served 36 months in San Quentin, about 24 years ago, for petty theft with a prior, I got an old tin can and played 'Going Back to Baltimore' on it. The men gave me money. When I got out, I got myself a larger can and made more money."

He said that generally all people are good, "especially to me."

He was asked if the talk that has been going around that he has a $20,000 home on the East side of this city was true. "No, I don't own any property at all. If I did I would have to pay tax on it."

He also denied ever having been married, though he has a brother who is married and has

POLICE BRUTALITY AND WHAT TO DO

(AN EDITORIAL)

It is a rare week that some person doesn't come to the Eagle office with a complaint about some police officer. Some of these complaints are justified; others aren't.

Our own estimate of the situation in this community is that police invasion of civil rights of Negroes is on the wane.

But we can't blink the fact that there are cases of police brutality. Those cases ought to be investigated by the proper authorities.

There are a few simple things that a complainant ought to do and the order in which he ought to do them. Here they are:

1. Get the name, or at least the badge number, of the police officer, against whom you want to make a complaint.

2. Make a complaint directly to the Bureau of Internal affairs, Room 37, City Hall, and be prepared to furnish dates, times, places and names of your witnesses.

3. If you can't go to the City Hall, make your complaint to the commander of the police station in your district.

4. Go to the offices of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, 4263 S. Central avenue, and tell your story, supplying names, dates, times and places.

It doesn't do you any good and it doesn't help the police department to discipline officers if you don't follow these steps. You may feel better by making complaints and charges to your neighbors about what has happened to you but in the final analysis what we're after is the elimination of abuses.

You can help eliminate them by following the steps we have outlined here.

Granger Will Speak At League Meeting

Lester B. Granger, executive secretary of the National Urban League, will be the principal speaker at Jefferson High School next Friday (March 14) when the local League makes a series of awards to outstanding citizens for distinguished service in the field of race relations. Motion picture stars Glen Ford and Eleanor Powell will present the plaques.

The presentation of such awards is a feature of the League's annual meeting, Lou Mandelbaum, awards chairman, told the Eagle, and are given for persons whom the League's directors feel have done the most to improve community and interracial relations. Granger was secretary of the Los Angeles League in 1931 and is now a columnist for the Eagle.

Ford and Miss Powell will present the Eugene Kinckle Jones Perpetual Trophy to the Los Angeles Period Furniture Company for the integration of its factory and office personnel on the basis of ability. The trophy was presented to the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company in 1950 and to the Los Angeles Rams professional football team last year. The Stanley Foundries will receive an award for their democratic hiring practices.

Individual awards will go to Robert Buckner, producer of "Bright Victory," starring James Edwards and Arthur Kennedy. This motion picture dealt with the readjustment problems of blinded war veterans.

Also receiving awards from the movie stars will be George Leslie Thomas, Executive Director of the

Councilmen See Need for Vet Housing

As two committees of the City Council recommended extension of the lease of Rodger Young Village for another two years, residents of the village went ahead with plans for a widely supported mass meeting Sunday, March 16.

Purpose of the meeting is to explain the continuing need for the housing project and the serious hardships that would result if the village were closed.

Wide Support

Cooperating in sponsoring the meeting, which will be held at 2:30 p.m. March 16 on the tennis court of the village, are about a dozen organizations including the Veterans Coordinating Council, the AFL Central Labor Council, the CIO, the Jewish Labor Committee and the Los Angeles Urban League.

On Tuesday the Veterans Affairs and Public Housing committee and the Recreation and Parks committee of the City Council jointly recommended the two year extension of the Rodger Young Village lease.

They also recommended, however, that the lease be cancelled at any time within two years if it is proved that a veterans' housing emergency no longer exists.

Survey Completed

The motion unanimously passed by the Veterans Coordinating Council last Friday, endorsing the March 16 meeting, pledged the organization's "whole-hearted support in helping to publicize the plight of the residents of Rodger Young Village."

Completed for presentation to the City Council and Mayor Fletcher Bowron is a survey of Rodger Young Village compiled by the Community Emergency Committee of the Village residents.

The report points out that al-

Central Ave. Stages 3 Giant Dollar Days

For the first time in the history of the community, the merchants on Central avenue have joined together in organizing a gigantic three-day Dollar Day this week, Thursday through Saturday.

To accommodate the many hundreds of customers who work during the day, the merchants are staying open Friday and Saturday nights until 9 p.m.

Special official streamers will mark the windows of all stores participating in this record-smashing value-filled event.

Because of the large number of stores cooperating, customers will be able to choose articles for practically every need from an an exceptionally large array of merchandise.

The three-day affair is sponsored by the Central Avenue Chamber of Commerce. Merchants have planned for the event well in advance. The avenue has been decorated, prices have been scaled down, excellent selections have been made available.

Cross Planted to Scare Negroes From New Home

RICHMOND, Calif. — A white cross was stuck in a flower bed Wednesday at a home just purchased by a Negro contractor.

The new owner declared, however, that he intended to move his family into the residence.

"I purchased the home and have no intentions of relinquishing it unless some physical force is exerted upon us," Wilbur D. Gray told newsmen.

The wooden cross, about three feet tall, appeared mysteriously in the front yard at 2821 Brook Way Drive in Rolling Wood, a suburb north of San Pablo.

Gary has been engaged in general contracting work here for eight years. A Navy veteran, he is Vice-Commander of an American Legion Post at Oakland.

UAW's President In Favor of Pushing Civil Rights Fight

By GRACE F. SIMONS

"We are proud of what we have been able to do in our own union on the civil rights issue. We have made great progress in breaking down discrimination in our industry," declared Walter Reuther, president of the powerful United Automobile Workers of America, CIO, during a press conference here Saturday.

Reuther is on a combined fact-finding survey and speaking tour of the Western states. While in Los Angeles he conferred with union leaders on the touchy situation at the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant in Long Beach, and also spoke to a mass meeting of workers at the Long Beach Municipal Stadium Sunday afternoon, and to a meeting called by the Americans for Democratic Action Sunday evening.

Parried Political Questions

Reuther said that the UAW is trying to mobilize the broadest possible support for the civil rights struggle in order to "square what we preach with what we practice." He pointed to the recent civil rights leadership meeting in Washington to bring pressure on Congress to pass civil rights legislation as a "most significant" development.

The UAW leader skillfully parried questions as to what candidates his organization will support in the 1952 elections, but he wasn't hiding his views. He doesn't think "California is doing well in the Senate." He believes there must be a "fundamental realignment" in the political set-up which he described as being at present nothing but a "hodge-podge."

He is for the two-party system, he said, and has never advocated formation of a labor party, but feels that the two parties should make their platforms clear, that they should be based on issues, not on personalities. He strongly praised Americans for Democratic Action, especially for their civil rights stand.

Scores Witch Hunt

He also scored McCarthyism as "contemptible." Too many investigating committees, he said, are seeking only headlines. He added that he favored exposing Communists, but was opposed to hysteria and the witch-hunt.

At Douglas in Long Beach, the question of strike is still unsettled, with the 43-day strike that commenced last Sept. 5 still officially in "recess."

The international board of the union has recommended to the workers that they stay on the job until March 24 and in the meantime attempt to negotiate the thorny union shop question with the company.

Back Pay Recommended

The Wage Stabilization Board which has long been considering the situation at Douglas, last week handed down decisions favorable to the union on 15 points, including a recommendation for retroactive pay from April 6, 1951, which would amount to about $300 per worker.

The company has reportedly stated that it will grant these various demands in a new contract, but with a big "provided."

That proviso is that the workers must give up their insistence on the union shop. On this point the union will not yield.

The UAW position on the union shop is that it is the only means whereby the workers can be assured of job security. They point out that without the union shop, the employer is free to hire non-union and anti-union workers and to discriminate against union workers. They claim further that unless the company was trying to "break" the union and institute an "open shop" policy, they would have no reason for not agreeing to the union shop demand.

Drop Charge In Cairo, Ill. School Case

CAIRO, Ill.—Apparently recognizing it's a tough job to convict Negroes for the "crime" of seeking to exercise their elementary civil rights, the grand jury here last week refused to return "true bills" against the seven Negroes and one white man who were arrested for trying to get Cairo to drop segregation in the city's schools.

The NAACP leaders and the others arrested with them, therefore, will not have to stand trial on the charges that they "conspired to endanger the life and health of certain children," the fantastic "crime" for which they were arrested, held in jail and finally released on $1,000 bond each.

Vindictive

The grand jury also refused to indict four men who had been arrested for the shot-gun attack on the home of Dr. J. C. Wallace, and the bombing attack on the tire shop owned by Henry Dyson, NAACP leader.

In a vindictive statement, the grand jury, while finding insufficient evidence to hold any of those arrested, nevertheless denied that segregation is practiced in the public school system, and lashed out against the NAACP for being "arrogant," "abusive," and acting in such a manner as to provoke violence.

The NAACP answered the attack in a special meeting at Springfield, which called upon Attorney General J. Howard McGrath to convene a Federal grand jury to investigate the entire situation here.

21 Transferred

To date 21 Negro students have been transferred to "white" schools. It was the refusal of the authorities to grant transfers to nearly 90 Negro youngsters which caused the original protest and the outbreak of terrorism against Negroes.

The grand jury's report stated: "We wish to state that inasmuch as we have not found any evidence of segregation practiced in our public school system, we wish to make the following statements and recommendations:

"It is a positive fact that some outside influence has suddenly disrupted the safety and moral conditions of our school children, that there is much evidence that great pressure has been put on our Board of Education, County and City Superintendent of Schools and all teachers, all of whom are very capable of handling any problems pertaining to their business and being fully aware of the laws of segregation, should be allowed to proceed as they interpret the law.

"While we have not found where the NAACP has violated the law, according to our interpretation of the testimony received, we feel the representatives of this organization, in the manner they presented their side was handled in such a way that showed arrogance, abusiveness and utter lack of cooperation, which could have very easily led to violence and upheaval, that every effort was made by them to usurp our school system."

five children. He says that his brother was a fool for getting married. "When you're married, you have responsibilities. Me . . . I have nobody to worry about . . . not even myself."

Does Not Believe in Charity

Question: When you die, will you leave your money to help people that are less fortunate than others?"

Answer: "No. People give me money, sure. But I don't believe in charity." "I will give my money to my brother's children."

"I never spend money for food. People tell me to play and they will give me something to eat. I play . . . They give me food."

"Uncle Blue" says that he has never begged anyone for anything. "I play . . . They give."

He was booked at City Jail on suspicion of begging and got a 10-day sentence.

Nab Two in Daring Daylight Robbery

Hoover street, filling station attendant Milton Groenveld, 33, said he saw the car pull to the curb. A man jumped out, wheeled around and fired at the woman behind the steering wheel.

The woman returned the fire, the witness said. Mrs. F. C. Timberlake at 8020 South Hoover, said she saw the male bandit leap a fence behind her house.

The woman driver of the bandit car abandoned it, ran a block to a church at 80th and Hoover, stayed inside only a moment, then ran out again.

While she was inside the church the attractive young woman ran excitedly up to the Rev. Dwight G. Bennett and asked if she could use the telephone.

The Rev. Bennett said she called the Yellow Cab Company and asked that a cab be dispatched immediately to pick her up at the church. She gave the name of "Mrs. Anderson."

Then, said the minister, the woman quickly made another call, saying she was phoning a sister.

"Have you any money for cab fare?" she asked into the phone. Impatiently, a moment later, she said, "Well, have you or haven't you? I'm coming right over."

The lady ran outside, the minister said, jumped back into her car and drove away. She was described as about 30 to 35 years of age, about five feet, five inches tall, well-dressed, was wearing a yellow raincoat. The car was described as a 1951 or 1952 light green DeSoto.

At Georgia Street Receiving Hospital the seriously wounded Stanford identified his male confederate who escaped as Frazier, 34. He refused to identify the woman.

About $300 of the loot was recovered by an honest citizen who told police the money was scattered under a truck parked around the corner on 83rd street.

The policeman's revolver was discovered near the spot where Groeneveld said he saw Mrs. Frazier and Odell Frazier shoot it out. It was believed the woman fired the police pistol at the man identified as her common-law husband.

The woman was traced to her mother's home at 1504 East 20th street after she had abandoned the car and taken a cab.

She told police that Frazier jumped into the car after the shooting began at the escrow company and shouted angrily that "somebody's tipped the cops and squealed on me." She said they argued bitterly until "he finally fired two shots at me."

Stanford was sent to San Quentin in 1947, convicted of murder in the second degree in the stabbing death of his common-law wife. He was released last year.

Frazier was sent up in 1946 for first degree robbery of an East Washington boulevard foundry in which a watchman was wounded by a bandit bullet. Frazier was released from prison in 1949.

He was said to be employed at a motor firm's lot at 1502 South Western avenue, from which he had taken the DeSoto.

With the capture of Stanford, all but $27.00 of the money taken from the escrow company was accounted for, police said.

Public Housing Gets Full AME Support

The Pacific Coast Conference educational meeting of the A.M.E. church has given its unqualified endorsement to the Los Angeles Public Housing program.

Dr. Frederick D. Jordan, pastor of Ward A.M.E. church, reported the action recently to the Ministerial Alliance, which has already gone on record in support of the city's housing project.

Dr. Jordan pointed out that the conference, held on Feb. 12, had devoted one entire day to the housing situation, as a result of the recommendations made to the presiding elders of the A.M.E. church by the alliance.

"Most of us have been aware of the advantages of low rent public housing for a long time," Dr. Jordan said. "Speaking personally," he continued, "I can say that I have been closely associated with people who live in public housing.

"Some of my parishoners have lived in Pueblo del Rio, Aliso Village, Ramona Gardens and Hacienda Village. I know that many of these people have been able, after living in these projects and paying reasonable rentals, to save enough money to move into private housing and that the public housing apartments have then been available for other families to better their conditions."

Dr. Jordan pointed out that the City of Los Angeles needs every one of the 10,000 units of housing planned. He emphasized that far from being a threat to the city, public housing is a definite asset. "It does not compete with real estate operators or developers," Dr. Jordan stated.

"It is a threat to the owners of slums who have allowed their property to deteriorate until it is unfit for human habitation but who, at the same time, take advantage of the rental market to extort exhorbitant rentals from the unfortunate individuals who are forced to occupy them."

Dr. Jordan praised the Housing Authority for its operation of the permanent low rent housing units which were built approximately ten years ago.

"It has been a successful experiment," he said. "The city of Los Angeles has received much more revenue in lump sum "payments in lieu of taxes" from the Housing Authority than it did from the slum area before the housing was built.

"But more important," Dr. Jordan said, "since the operation of these projects has been without segregation or discrimination it has proved that people of various racial and cultural backgrounds can live together and develop mutual respect."

Push Fight to Save Victim In 'Rape' Case

OCALA, Fla.—Four days after he was sentenced to death for a second time, attorneys for Walter Lee Irvin, Groveland rape case prisoner, filed a motion for a new trial here on Feb. 18.

The NAACP, which has been fighting for the life of the young farm hand ever since he was first accused of "raping" a young white woman in 1949, is determined to take the case to the United States Supreme Court, should that again be necessary.

Trial Not Fair

On their first appeal to the highest court in the land, Irvin's previous conviction was unanimously thrown out as having been obtained in a prejudiced and venomous atmosphere. A new trial was ordered.

The trial just held here was the re-hearing ordered by the Supreme Court. Irvin was again sentenced to die after an all-white, all-man jury deliberated for only a little over an hour.

The motion for a new trial, filed by Paul C. Perkins of Orlando, one of the attorneys for his defense retained by the NAACP, was the first step in Irvin's appeal.

The motion contends that the verdict was contrary to law and evidence and cites 22 grounds upon which a third trial is asked.

Errors of the court, the petition asserts, denied Irvin "a fair and impartial trial as guaranteed to him by the Constitution" and deprived him of his constitutional right to "life and liberty."

Errors Cited

Among errors cited were failure to suppress certain evidence of questionable validity, denial of a motion for change of venue, rejection of the testimony on the findings of the Roper public opinion poll in Marion County, admission of hearsay evidence, acceptance as evidence of shoe prints allegedly made by Irvin, and denial of a defense motion for a mistrial "because of the improper and prejudicial argument of the State's Attorney."

Joining Perkins in the filing of the motion were Alex Akerman, Jr., of Orlando, and NAACP special counsel and assistant special counsel Thurgood Marshall and Jack Greenberg.

Two Housing Projects Slated For New York

NEW YORK—Construction of two low-rent housing projects was assured here Saturday when the State lent $59,180,000 to the City Housing Authority.

The money is to be used for two centers, one in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn, which will house 3,800 families.

The Manhattan project is to be named after Frederick Douglass, famed Negro abolitionist writer, statesman and race leader of the Civil War period.

The Douglass Houses will replace some of the worst tenements in the city. The majority of the houses in this tightly packed area have no private baths. Many are in advanced stages of disrepair.

Buildings in the new centers will occupy only 15 percent of the total project areas. The rest of the land will be used for playgrounds, athletic fields and other health and recreational facilities.

Rents will be scaled down to $9 a month per room, with apartments available only for persons whose earnings range from $1,500 to $2,900 a year.

Free Suspect Assaulted by Dope Officers

Assault and battery on narcotics suspects by police officers was defended in court Friday by a deputy district attorney who claimed it was necessary in order to keep the suspect from disposing of evidence.

It was during the second jury trial of Harry Van Dyke, 21, a Negro laborer, charged in Department 46 of Superior Judge Jessie J. Frampton's court with possession of five capsules of heroin.

The first trial ended in a hung jury.

The arresting officers, John R. Sprankle and R. F. Campillo, narcotics squadders for the last six years, testified that last November they spotted Dyke at Central avenue and 42nd street.

They said he looked suspicious because he was standing still with one of his hands cupped and "his eyes roved rapidly."

Van Dyke said it was his second day in Los Angeles, having just arrived from Detroit to visit his parents here.

"I was waiting for a bus and I had my fare in my hand," he testified.

Van Dyke said that the first thing he knew the door of the police car flew open and six-foot Campillo grabbed him by the throat and started choking. Almost immediately, he said the other officer grabbed him by the nose.

Officer Campillo admitted choking Van Dyke for two and a half minutes and officer Sprangle testified that he held the suspect's nose for 45 seconds.

Van Dyke's attorney, Eric Julber, produced colored photographic slides, taken two days after the assault, which showed the whites of the victim's eyes were completely obliterated by blood clots.

A doctor testified that Van Dyke's eyes had hemorrhaged because of the neck pressure.

Officers Sprankle and Campillo asserted that Van Dyke attempted to spit out a small felt bag containing the five capsules of heroin while they were taking him to City Jail.

Van Dyke said he had never seen the small bag until it was shown to him at the police station.

"This sort of action by narcotics officers is usual practice," Dep. District Attorney Albert Lucas told the jury. "Speed is essential in one of these types of arrests to prevent the defendant from disposing of the evidence."

Julber responded that under those conditions "nobody is safe walking the streets of Los Angeles with his hand closed.

"I'd advise," he told the jury, "that none of you try to pop a peanut in your mouth, scratch your nose or try to stifle a yawn."

The case went to the jury, Friday. A verdict of "Not Guilty" in less than one and a half hours was returned.

Anderson and Henry Webb served as pallbearers for Alvin Echols.

Police Pallbearers

Police officers William Marks, Edward Hoxie, Leroy Kelley, Sylvester Griffin, Willie Jackson and Robert Polk from Newton street division, where Albert Echols worked for 20 years, served as pallbearers for the retired police officer.

The services opened with a rendition of the Jefferson Hymn by the famous Jefferson A Capella choir. Brice Taylor, a teacher at Jefferson, read the scripture. Marline Brunner, a fellow student of young Echols, read the obituary. The A Capella choir sang another number and Arthur Farnham, principal of Jefferson, and Robert Collier, a student, gave short tributes to Alvin Echols.

Rev. D. DeWitt Turpeau delivered the eulogy.

Long Funeral Procession

After the memorial services, a procession of cars over five blocks in length slowly made its way to Evergreen Cemetery for the interment services.

All during the services, Eloise Echols sat in frozen silence, shocked into an overpowering numbness by the loss of her husband and son.

The memorial service at Jefferson was opened with a prayer by Brice Taylor, member of the faculty. The A Capella choir sang "Balm in Gilliad." Ronald Brunner, a senior student, delivered a beautiful eulogy which was followed by a description of Alvin's influence on others as presented by Robert Collier, a fellow member of the Knight organization, honorary leadership organization.

The closing summation was ably given by Mr. Dyck, the boys' vice-principal and sponsor of the Knights. The student body as a whole paid its final tribute as the students stood while the choir sang the Alma Mater.

Establish Scholarship Fund

The students and faculty at Jefferson have established the Alvin Echols Memorial Scholarship Fund, in tribute to a young man who possessed those qualities of leadership, initiative, and refinement to a degree seldom found in persons of his age. The idea developed while students and faculty members were donating funds for flowers. They thought that a scholarship fund would be a living tribute to Alvin Echols, rather than flowers. Over $200 has been raised for the fund.

Persons wishing to contribute to this most worthy scholarship fund may send their donations to Jefferson high school in care of Mr. Arthur Farnham, the principal.

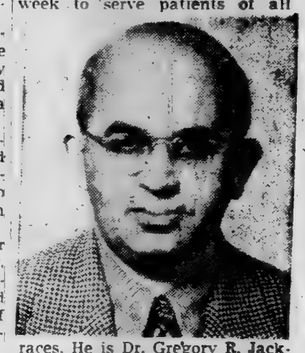
Trunk Yields Woman's Body; Seaman Held

NEW YORK—A Harlem seaman was charged with homicide last Saturday in the mystery death of a pretty, 16-year-old white girl, estranged wife of a Milwaukee Negro.

The body of Mrs. Joanne Barbara Scott was found jammed into a trunk on a palatial Connecticut estate more than two weeks after police said the death occurred.

Police said Mrs. Scott, mother of a 16-month-old daughter, probably died of narcotics poisoning, following a dope-inspired orgy. She had a long record of delinquency and use of dope despite her extreme youth.

Charged with homicide was Barry (Bernie) Robinson, 29, who, according to police, is a dope peddler.



Robinson was booked after day-long questioning about a "junk" or dope party in a Harlem apartment Feb. 13, the day Mrs. Scott is said to have died.

The girl's husband, Gerald Scott, of Milwaukee, had filed divorce action against his young wife.

Authorities believed the cold and snow in Connecticut had preserved the body. There was no explanation, however, as to how the trunk with its gruesome contents got to the estate where it was found or where it had been in the interim.

Southern Hospitals Set Limits On Negro Patients

NEW ORLEANS—A hospital survey of 18 Southern and border states discloses that Negroes have access to 32.4 per cent of the existing bed space in 676 medical institutions.

The administrators of 2414 listed hospitals in the region were polled by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, whose headquarters are in New Orleans. The results were announced Saturday by Aubrey Williams, fund president, at the annual meeting of the board of directors.

Of a total of 102,969 beds, it was learned that Negroes are admitted to 33,451, he said. Eighty-two per cent of the institutions accept Negro patients. Only 31 per cent permit Negro doctors staff courtesies.

"While the number of beds allotted Negroes may seem to be in proportion to census figures," Mr. Williams declared, "it should be remembered that prejudice, not actual need, often determines this number. Too many times a deserving patient is turned away because the bed space available is not in the ward designated for his color.

"Furthermore, in several states, a single large hospital offers almost half the number of beds listed as available to Negroes. The inconvenience and health dangers to people in distant areas can be imagined."

According to the survey, a segregated quota basis for Negro admissions is followed by 406 institutions and 125, with 23,062 beds, do not accept Negro patients at all.

Nearly six per cent of the hospitals practice segregation, but place no limit on Negro patients. An unsegregated, unlimited policy prevails at 68 institutions (10.5 per cent).

Federal establishments and specialized health centers were not incorporated in this section of the poll, which covered the following states: Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

Hospital administrators were also asked what racial policy they considered best suited for the health needs of their communities.

Of 711 who replied, 479 favored the admission of Negroes with segregation; 127 favored admission without segregation; 76 suggested the creation of separate hospitals for Negroes and 69 either did not answer the question or offered other proposals.

"We all know that there is a serious shortage of hospital space in the South and in the rest of the nation," Williams asserted.

Mrs. Norris also testified at the inquest that she had been paying Thomas to leave her alone. She showed a receipt for $50 dated September 9, signed by Thomas, after he got out of jail for that September affair.

Killed Father-in-Law

"I killed my father-in-law and I'll kill you!" Thomas told Mrs. Norris on several occasions. When they were living in the state of Oklahoma. Thomas often beat her and threatened to end her life, she said.

Witnesses to the incident were Emma Paxton of 760 E. 43rd place, who was the identifying witness; James Walker of 500 E. 47th street, who saw Mrs. Norris take the gun from underneath the stove and run to the front door; and Carrie Tatum, Mrs. Norris's daughter, who has known Thomas before the time he killed his father-in-law.

Saint's Statue Unveiled by Local Doctor

The unveiling of the statue of the Saint, Martin De Porres, was held at the Monastery of the Angels last Sunday, March 2, with Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton lifting the cover to reveal to those gathered the likeness of a great man, a healer, beloved by all, a Negro Saint.

While the Blessed Saint was considered by some as Spanish, the sculptress, Gemma D'Auria, who restored the 16th Century Dominican lay brother to life, reveals clearly in her art his Afro-Latin ancestry.

The statue, of terra cotta, which took 10 months to complete, shows the Dominican carrying over his arm the linen cloth with which he wrapped his fevered patients. His other hand holds the woven bag that contained the numerous herbs he used in his treatment of the sick.

Martin's father was Don Juan De Porres, a native of Spain. His mother, Anna Velaquez, a freed Negro woman from Panama. Their union was a "free-love" affair, not blessed by the church, and, after the birth of Juana, a second child, Juan and Anna separated. Don Juan refused to acknowledge his son and daughter, partly because the mother belonged to a lower cast and partly, according to a tradition, because the children resembled the mother.

It is believed to be because of his father's shameful actions that the "Wonder-Boy of Peru" dedicated his life to sacrifice, going through the country healing the sick and administering to the poor.

Miss D'Auria said she sought to show the great dignity that comes of the selflessness that was true humility of Blessed Martin.

Unusual Service at 92nd Street Church

An unusual service will be held at 92nd Street Church of Christ at 1478 E. 98th street. Rev. C. W. Arnold, pastor, has requested that all worshippers bring a small stone to church with them. After Rev. Arnold delivers his special message on Sunday morning based on a scripture in St. John 7 and 8 titled, "The Stone That Was Never Thrown," all who believe his message will be asked to deposit the stone in a special container.

The church, which has an undenominational congregation, has begun a new program revolving on the restoration of the New Testament with the church in its teaching, ordinances and life. The object is to unite all Christians, so that the world may believe in the words of the Bible.

SPEAKER—Rev. Daniel E. Reed B.D., contributing editor of National Baptist Voice, was guest speaker at New Hope Baptist church during last Sunday morning's service. Dr. B. Byrd is pastor.

Reunion Dinner At St. Patrick

The church guarantees fun for young and old. St. Patrick's feels old friends will be met and new ones made during the big event.

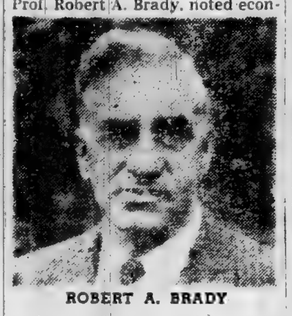
Peoples' Independent Plans Benefit to Aid Boys' Home, Hospital

Every year during the Easter Season, Peoples' Independent church, 1025 E. 18th street, presents an Easter fashion revue for the benefit of the boys' home of the church.



This year the presentation will include the West View hospital along with the boys' home benefit. It is felt that the completion of a hospital in the community is badly needed.

This year, West View Hospital and the Boys' Home will be saluted in a gala Easter Parade Sunday, April 13 at the Hollywood Palladium, 6215 Sunset boulevard. Top fashion designers, producers and personalities are working to make this one of the most outstanding benefits of its kind in the community.

Some plans include: a telecast of the Easter Parade over one of the major television stations; a twenty-four hour "Mercy Marathon" to feature stars of radio, screen and television on a gigantic show on a major television network; and also to crown the lady selling the highest amount of tickets and securing the highest amount of pledges to West View "Queen of the 1952 Parade." Aside from being crowned queen she will be given a screen test by a major studio and will appear as guest on some of the leading television and radio shows.

Canons of Catholic Church Held With Reverential, Dignified Rites

CONFIRMED—More than 80 confirmees received confirmation certificates at St. Patrick's Saturday afternoon. Among those were Margaret Lillian Waller, Suzanne Mingleton, Katherine Cade, Gail Kauffman, Harry Roseman, Margaret Sanders, Jackie McLeroy, Elaine Boutte, Sandra Minor, Jacqueline Moore, Donnis Jean Laremore, Myra Hutchinson, Sinda Gonzales, Elizabeth White, Rennie McLaughlin, Agnes Miller, Barbara McZeal, Richard Kauffman, Julius Morse & William Dorsey.

The holy rituals of the Catholic Church are as impressive as any religious ceremonies anywhere in the world. Beginning with Holy Mass for the group and extending down to the individual rites of the confirmation, the church's manner of worship is reverential, dignified and beautiful.

Holy Mass consists of prayer and action or ceremonies. The ceremonies, as observed in the Catholic Church today in celebration of the Mass, differ from those in vogue in the early days of the Church. In the course of time many changes have been made and the ceremonies have become more solemn, ornate and elaborate.

Catholics say that the first holy Mass was celebrated by Jesus Himself when He instituted the Holy Eucharist.

The main parts of the Mass were retained all over. But soon new prayers and ceremonies were introduced and Mass was not celebrated in the same manner in all countries. This gave rise to different rites or liturgies of the Mass, namely, the Western or Latin Liturgies of the Mass and the Eastern or Greek Liturgies of the Mass. In later centuries the Church made laws and regulations so that—some minor details excepted—the celebration of Mass became uniform throughout the Catholic Church.

The Latin or Roman Rites are used in almost the entire Catholic Church. The Rites are called Latin because Latin is the liturgical language; it is called Roman Rite because Rome is the center of the Church and many of the ceremonies originated there. It also goes by the name of Western Rite because the Catholics of the western countries of Europe followed it and still do as also of the Americans.

In some few Catholic Rites, however, Latin is not the liturgical language, such as the Slavonic and Armenian Rites; some others have both their own language and liturgy, e.g., the Syriac and Coptic Rites. The Ambrosian Rite is used only in Milan (Italy), the Mozarabic only in some churches of Toledo and Salamanca (Spain).

The Greek or Eastern Rites are used by those Greek churches which are united with the Catholic Church. They have the same doctrines as the Catholic Church but differ by their liturgy. It is called the Greek Rite because in the beginning Greek was the liturgical language; at the present day Greek is used only by a small portion of the Greek church.

The name Eastern Rite points to the fact that the people who follow it inhabit the eastern and southeastern parts of Europe and Asia Minor.

Roman Ritual—The ritual is the book which contains the sacred rites or ceremonies as also the prayers.

The Church has its own calendar or year, called the Ecclesiastical Year or Liturgical Year. It begins with the first Sunday in Advent and ends with the last Sunday after Pentecost. The first Sunday of Advent is either the last Sunday of the month of November or the first Sunday of December. The ecclesiastical year has sacred seasons, holy days or feasts.

There are two places that every good Catholic loves to talk about. One is his home, the other is his parish. At the parish, he receives holy directions from the priest, who conducts there the rituals.

Not all the actions which the priest performs are ceremonies—some of them have a practical purpose only; e.g., opening and closing the missal, covering the chalice with the pall, purification of the fingers, etc. Other actions are performed merely to preserve an old custom. The Church hestitates to change these venerable practices we have become accustomed to, and which also help to make Mass edifying and beautiful. Thus, at a time when the chasuble was quite long and heavy, it was a practical thing to have the ministers raise it at certain parts of the Mass. Today there is no particular reason for doing so, yet the server raises the chasuble at the Elevation and the deacon and subdeacon hold it at the solemn high Mass, when the altar is being incensed.

On Saturday at St. Patrick's church, 34th and Central, one of the most important rites of Catholicism was performed. More than 80 confirmess were given certificates of confirmation.

The most Reverend Joseph T. McGucken, D.D., Bishop of Los Angeles, who first distinguished himself while attending St. Patrick's School during the year 1905, officiated and assisted by Reverend Father Edward J. De Martini, pastor in charge at St. Patrick's church, as well as priests from St. Tribius, Holy Name and St. Odilia's Catholic churches.

SANTA ANITA — For the first time in the history of 15 years in the running of the Santa Anita Handicap, a winner was disqualified. Intent with jockey Jack Westrope had his mount one full length ahead of Miche at the wire but before the horse had rounded the club house turn the stewards had flashed the inquiry sign. After they reviewed the film it showed unquestioned interference in the stretch and the winner was placed second.

Ramsey

It was a duel all down the home stretch between Intent and Miche. Intent on the outside and Miche on the rail. Both moved from far back. Intent being 13th and Miche 12th at the half mile post. Both made their move at the same time, and in the battle down the stretch Intent crowded Miche at least twice. It was a sad ending for the hundred grander. The big disappointment was the way the favored Hill Prince ran. He was either sore or refused to extend himself.

So the fifteenth running of the famous Santa Anita Handicap goes into history and will be long remembered by the lovers of the sport of kings.

Santa Anita will close its season Saturday, March 8, with the running of the San Juan Capistrano Handicap. It carries an added value of $50,000 and the distance is one mile and six furlongs. On Wednesday, March 5 the feature will be the Christopher J. Fitzgerald Handicap at one mile and it carries an added value of $15,000.

I want to thank director of publicity, Mr. Fred Turner, Sgt. Eddie Reed, Miss Spencer and the official staff of the publicity department for all favors shown this writer during the season, and hope to see every one of you next season. Until we meet again. God bless you.

CALIENTE, In Old Mexico—The mighty Seabiscuit would have smiled if he had lived to witness his son and grandson capture two races at the famous border course last Sunday. It was his grandson that won the featured event. Shipped down from Santa Anita about three weeks ago Sea Don, the son of Sea Sovereign-Donstick finished second in the featured event two weeks ago. But it was a different story last Sunday when he just played with his field to score by four lengths, paying $7.20.

In the nightcap Sea Vengeance, 4-year-old son of the famous Seabiscuit, outgamed Meltonian and scored by a half length, paying $15.20. Spartan Melody, winner of the fourth race, and Milestone, winner of the fifth, the combination of the daily-double, paid $23.80.

Star-Spangled Reception and Dance Planned for Major League Stars

JUBILANT GIANTS—This scene of high joy came when Whitey Lockman's home run knocked the Dodgers out of the World Series and pushed the Giants in. The team will be honored March 20th at the huge Reception & Dance at the Elks ballroom.

Plans are under way by a citizens' committee to hold a huge reception and dance honoring the National League champions, the New York Giants, and Negro stars of major league teams, Thursday, March 20, at the Elks auditorium.

The St. Louis Browns, Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians, and the Giants will be playing exhibition games in and around Los Angeles during that time.

Invitations have been issued to the entire Giant team and manager Leo Durocher to be present to meet their fans, and receive placques for outstanding sportsmanship. Also invited to meet their fans are Satchel Paige, Larry Doby, Luke Easter, Harry Simpson, Sam Jones, and Orestes Minoso.

Branch Rickey, Al Lopez, Hank Greenberg, Paul Richards and Bill Veeck have also been invited as special guests.

A major portion of the proceeds will go to charity.

Autographed baseballs and bats will be given away as door prizes. Merchants in the community will present the players with gifts of merchandise.

The affair is being promoted by the Baseball Reception Committee, a group of sportsminded community leaders.

Don't forget the date, March 20, at the Elks ballroom. Be on hand to meet and greet your baseball heroes.

Comets to Meet Portland March 16

Emmet Ashford, general manager of the Comets, announced this week that the team had signed to meet the Portland Beavers Sunday, March 16, in an exhibition game in Riverside. Ashford also said that the team is still working out in Torrance, and is fast rounding into shape.

In a luncheon meeting with community leaders at the Biltmore hotel last Friday, Harry Leddel, president of the Southwest International League listened to arguments against forming and advertising an all-Negro team in organized baseball. In a meeting with the directors of the league at Leddel's urging, the league voted against limiting the team and advertising it as an all-Negro traveling team, and worked out plans for the team to be open to any and all players with a home park in Riverside and Ensenada. Half of the home games will be played in Riverside, and the other half in the Mexican city.

President of the league, Harry Ledell, said that he would like to see Negroes participate in management and ownership of organized baseball teams, and invites anyone interested in the Riverside-Ensenada Comets to contact him at 315 W. 5th, VAndyke 7106.

Long Beach Relays Attracts Top Stars

Uncle Sam's major contenders from Southern California for the 1952 Olympic Games in Finland this summer will be unveiled here this week end in the 19th running of the Long Beach Relays, first major track and field event in the nation. The event will be staged at Veterans' Memorial Stadium here Saturday, March 8.

Five national champions, a world record holder (Fortune Gordien in the discus) and oodles of topflight contenders from John Barnes of Oxy, the nation's top half-miler, to Dr. Steve Seymour of Los Angeles AC, second in the 1948 Olympic Games javelin throw, are entered in the meet.

Parry O'Brien, National AAU shotput champion, who beat out Jim Fuchs of Yale in a major upset last summer, heads a great entry of 60 athletes from USC Trojans; George Brown, National NCAA broad jump champion in 1951, tops a field of top stars from UCLA; Jack Davis, who won not only the NCAA high hurdles title, but followed with a victory in the National AAU low hurdles, shares the glare with O'Brien of Troy, while fourth in the national champion field is Dick Doyle, representing Montana A.C., who holds the National AAU discus crown, and Bud Held, National AAU Javelin Champ from San Francisco Olympic Club.

Doyle will serve, along with Sim Iness of USC, as the major threat to world discus record holder Fortune Gordien in the Grecian platter event, where not only the meet record of 167 ft. 7 1/8 in. is in jeopardy, but with all three tossing over 170 feet in practice, Gordien's world mark of 186 ft. 11 in. might get a severe test.

All the leading stars of the Pacific Southwest from USC, UCLA, Los Angeles AC, San Francisco Olympic Club, Arizona State (Tempe) and Occidental College, are enrolled for this major track classic, which will start at 12:30 with trials. First championship event is scheduled for 1:35 p.m.

Sutton Stars In Local Tourney

STATE COLLEGE—Algin Sutton, all-city guard on Larry Hanson's great Jefferson high cage team of '50, now playing for Cal Poly, was named on the California Basketball Tournament all Tourney squad.

In two games the flashy 6-footer hit for 19 and 14 points. Many observers rate Algin as one of the finest courtmen to ever wear a Democrat suit.

Charles Hill and Dean Johnson, ex-Jefferson stars, and the famed Ed Nichols were standouts for the Cal Poly five in the tourney.

Baker Reports

FULLERTON—Gene Baker, star shortstop of the Los Angeles Angels, reported to camp this week in tip top shape.

Jefferson Meets Glendale In Practice Meet Friday

By BRAD PYE JR.

They turn out for track at Jefferson High, like they turn out for football at Notre Dame. The mighty Democrats have been city champs for 14 out of the last 18 years, and have been unbeatable in dual and city competition since 1948.

Everybody loves a champion and everybody wants to be on the winning team. This was evident Monday afternoon when the interclass meet was held on famed Fulton Field, where the lowest sprint times in the city are common occurrence. There were more students on the track and field than in the well filled stands.

The flying green and gold team will face its first test of the season this Friday afternoon on the Jeff oval when they meet the thin-clads from Glendale High.

The shot put should prove the event where the Demos can pick up some valuable points with all-city footballers James Carey and Henry Webb and tenth-grader Harry Thomas, leading the way.

Carey, one of the finest high school linemen around these parts for the last two campaigns, placed in the city finals last spring. He has a best put of 53 ft. 2 in. Webb and Thomas aren't too far behind.

Leverne Smith, veteran high jumper from last season's squad, cleared the bar at 6 ft. 4 in. in the interclass meet Tuesday of this week and he should be in for a repeat performance.

Half-miler Willie McMahan, brilliant quarterback on Mike Mareinthal's city grid championship squad, hurdler Lewis "Popeye" Scott, sprinters Walter Barrett, Robert "Nose" Taylor, Rudolph Robinson, Fred Hunter, miler Frank Denkins, and hurdler Roland Harvey and Rosslyn Range, broad jumper and furlong standout, will be counted on to start the Demos out on the right foot for their 14th city crown.

Fans will get a look-see of the four boys that will run the 4-man 880 relay in the state meet because this will be the event that will take the place of the 8-man mile event. In the CIF it's their custom to run the shorter race, therefore, the Demos are going to be perfect hosts and do likewise.

The following is a summary of the interclass meet:

H. H.—1, Harvey; 2, Levi; 3, E. Robinson.
L. H.—1, Scott; 2, Harvey; 3, Levi.
100—1, R. Robinson; 2, Vaughn; 3, Hunter.
220—1, Range; 2, Vaughan; 3, R. Robinson. 22.4s.
440—1, Barrett; 2, R. Taylor; 3, Carter. 53.7s.
880—1, McMahan; 2, Jones; 3, Wilkerson. 2:06.6s.
Mile—1, Denkins; 2, Swan; 3, Burrell. 4:58.2s.
B. J.—1, Range; 2, Leavell; 3, Jackson.
H. J.—1, Smith; 2, McMahan; 3, Dotson; 4, Wyrick. 6ft. 4in. (The latter three tide for second at 6ft.)
P. V.—1, Rhodes; 2, Higdon; 12ft.
S. P.—1, Carey; 2, Holmes; 3, Webb. 51ft.

Grid Star Davis Heads Jeff Nine

Seven lettermen headed by all-league footballer Tom Davis, Harry Cal, Robert Jacques, Melvin Mickens, Al Robertson, Earl Wilson, and Charles Hyopolite are expected to form the nucleus of the squad.

The Demos open with their arch-rivals, the Jordan High Bulldogs, on their home grounds Tuesday, March 11.

Register now, so you can vote for low-rent housing June 3.

Prying Pye in Prep Sportdom

UCLA HAS MO(O)RE POINTS FOR THREE YEARS

The fans that jam-packed the Westwood gym over the weekend, to watch Johnny Wooden's UCLA basketeers waltz away with their fourth PCC Southern Division crown, are virtually of the opinion that the Bruins for the next three years will have more than enough points when the final gun sounds, as long as the sensational frosh star Johnny Moore is around. More points were literally the cry of Bruin rooters . . . and Johnny Moore, the fiery Indiana lad that possesses a bag full of circus shots, had the answer to their desires, as he hit the hoop for 19 digits in the contest Friday night against USC, and came back strong the next night to share high-point honors with 14.

PYE

BRUIN STAR STELLAR TIMBER TOPPER

Moore won all-state laurels as a prep in Indiana and I hear tell he is quite a fair high timber topper. It's reported he also placed third in the state finals in this sport. Cage season isn't over yet for the Bruins; they host the Northern Division champs, the Washington University five, at their home gym Friday and Saturday nights. Maybe Monday, in case of a tie, Ducky Drake, the Bruins' track mentor, could use a good hurdler and "More Points Moore" may be the answer again. He should be doomed for all PCC laurels for the next three years. I understand that Moore is a Kappa pledge and local fans may have a chance to see him display all of the tricks in his repertoire in the stellar frats cage series which is slated for the latter part of this month.

HERE AND YONDER

It was reported by Jim Scott, Berkeley sports writer, in his column, that Jefferson's two-time all-city halfback Jerry Drew "never had the slightest intention of entering UCLA."

"I don't know what prompted UCLA to announce that I was enrolling there," Drew reportedly told Scott. "I've always wanted to come to Cal. There's never been any other school."

Red Sanders, UCLA grid boss, declares that Jerry gave him his word in the presence of witnesses that he would enter UCLA. Red said that "I told Drew we didn't want to make any announcement until he was absolutely sure." "He told me on his word of honor he would enroll at UCLA and that we could go ahead and release the story." When it comes to making a big deal, it's impossible to beat Berkeley, observed Sanders.

Bill Ackerman, UCLA graduate manager: "The version of the Jerry Drew affair you got from Red Sanders is absolutely correct. Drew himself authorized Vic Kelley's release of the news that he was going to enroll at UCLA. What he told Jim Scott of that Berkeley paper was untrue."

Comment: Rocks and stones will crush your body and lies will always follow you.

HAWTHORNE TO BE USED AT TAILBACK

Spring practice got under way at full blast at USC Monday and the celebrated Addison Hawthorne, All-Southern Cal back from Pasadena JC, was operating from the tailback slot in fine fashion. The first full-scale scrimmage for the Trojans is set for the 22nd and the final one will be on the 29th.

Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, the most-valuable player in the National League last year, were reported suffering from injuries this week in Vero Beach, Fla., where the Bums are holding spring drills. Jackie has a sore shoulder and Roy is sidelined indefinitely with a sore thigh.

The Jefferson athletic department broke all precedents this week when it became the first school in the history of the Los Angeles city school system to add a female to its staff as swimming coach. Miss Murial Mellon, 1948 Olympic Games swimmer, will take over the duties of former coach Bert Watson, who is better noted for turning out some of the finest "B" football teams in the history of Jefferson. Bert will take over the duties of junior varsity baseball coach. Another addition to the athletic board is Ed. Shiffrin, new gym mentor of USC fame. The gymnastic sport at Jefferson is expected to get more interest under his guidance.

Vi's Column

By V. MOTEN BROWN
Society Editor

Forerunner of the Spring's most "social," most prolonged and most entertaining event—the Inter-Fraternal Basketball Series—is Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity's annual "Basket Ball." This year it's scheduled for Saturday night, March 15, at the Kappa Kastle, 2104 S. Harvard boulevard. Officially, the ball begins at 9 p.m. Unofficially, any time you get there, you'll be welcome to dance to the music of Py Taylor and his combo who are the current favorites of the collegiate set.

According to Alfred S. Moore who is giving this column its information on this deal, the Kappas already have selected a bevy of popular, pretty gal cheerleaders. They are Dorothy Cain, Mary Cantrell, Elaine Lindo, Joan Sothern, Mary Ann Vendange and Elaine Byas. These coeds will be presented at the "Basket Ball" and will present a preview of the Kappa Spirit of 1952.

Footnote

Kappa Alpha Psi has won 10 of the last 17 annual BB series! This is not a sports column, so whatever our reporters say, darned if we're gonna predict! What we'll talk about will be the fashionable gals who wear their ultra-fashionable casuals to this as-much-social-as-athletic series.

Among the best things we missed this week was Monday night's Penthouse Party. Really a wonderful set-up. Members only. Only the best people. It'll be a private club with only those guests brought in by those who "belong." Two of those to contact for details are Al Mills and Chester Washington.

On the Side

Happy birthday to the 17,400 Los Angeles Girl Scouts and to the 74,000 adult volunteers who make their program a living thing. In existence since March 12, 1917, the Girl Scouts in the nation now number a million and a half. Saturday, March 8, will see them out in force at the Shrine Auditorium—14,000 of the local ones. Morning for the Girl Scouts, afternoon for the Brownies. Two parties, yet!

Birthday coincidence: The two society editing Browns — Jessie Mae and this one—have the same March 18 natal day. 'Twis a surprise discovery after all these years of acquaintanceship.

Carrie Jackson, paternal grandmother of Kerry Jackson, one of the Eagle's "Undercover Hounds" marked her birthday on Tuesday, the 4th.

Seems real clannish, but the only other March date I'm sure of is my husband Julius' on the 25th.

Thanx to Vivian Bettes for a bid to the Charlite Social and Charity club's masked formal Mardi Gras ball a week or so ago.

Seems that the last Folkways Guild feature that we announced was off-schedule in so far as our publication date and their presentation date was concerned. We're sure of this one. Tomorrow night, they'll present Bryant French in an American Folk Song documentary. French will accompany himself on the guitar and reveal the original meaning of some American folk songs in contrast to the changes heard in current "revivals."

This Friday night's entertainment is scheduled for the guild's usual meeting place, The Friendly Barn, 5914 Barton avenue, near Santa Monica and Gower at 8 p.m. Food and talk, too.

Paging Hopkins!!

If, as you vow, you read us in Houston, Texas, we'll expect your guest column by Tuesday, March 18. Meanwhile, expect a note.

Benny Rodgers in St. Louis, we're checking on your reader loyalty, too. Send us a writin' address. Meant to put pen to paper months ago.

Guess it's quittin' time.' Bye for now.

Fine Program Planned for Hobart P-TA

The next meeting of the Hobart Blvd. PTA wil be held on March 11 at 7:30 p.m. Night meetings are held twice a year to enable fathers to attend.

Mrs. David Williams, program chairman, has planned an exceptionally fine program, featuring music by the school orchestra. Speaker will be Dr. Louise Wood Seyler, assistant superintendent of the Los Angeles Board of Education. Election of officers will be held.

BILL SMALLWOOD

On The Delightful Side

Mrs. Edward L. Duncan was luncheon hostess to a half dozen last Wednesday at her place. Honored guest was Mrs. Robert H. Bradley, visiting from Dallas. Bob Hall and Dorothy Bradley Allen's active Dad motored to Houston last Sunday; and, by the way, made faster time than the train! Speaking of Dottie, she and her mate Bob (he manages the Watkins, you know) will be moving into their own place in a month or so. It's a stone's throw from SC campus. Bob's sister, Constance, and her husband Hugh drove down from Berkeley for the weekend.

Delta Rhythm Boys toddle off for the Pacific NNorthwest next Saturday, so Travers Crawford tells us. Member Lee Gaines got in much golf during their stay here. Cal Bailey, back from S.F. in plenty time for a week's golf work-out prior to beating a path out to Rio Hondo Country Club along with the rest of us for the annual YMCA Amateur golf tournament as of tmorrow's a.m. Mae Castleman, who doesn't sub-

Mexico City in July: Glamorous scribe to any worn belief of suffering boredom in this life. She and husband Jack both enjoy every minute of it, in fact.

Lucille Roach birthdayed last week and was surprised with a cake which read "Happy birthdayto a glamour gal!" She holds her own in that category, too.

Lenore Winkler has travel plans. She'll go to DeeCee in mid-summer to visit her parents. Omaha's Mrs. Helen Mahammitt leaves Thursday for home. She and several others dined with capable hostess Nellie Smallwood last Sunday evening. Hortense Allen is hostess to her club Saturday. Zora Williams (she loves to entertain) is a Wednesday hostess. Mrs. Mahammitt, who spent part of the weekend with the former, shakes her head in bewilderment, saying, "How Angelenos find energy to go so much amazes me! I'll have to go home to Omaha and rest a week!"

From Bay Area

In town last week from the Bay area: magazine-conscious Jimmy Jones now with the unique-titled Colorfonia publication. He used to live here. Louella Dent, Sunday brunch hostess at her Pico-and-Western apartment. She gives rare "little brunch" parties, the type which are so relaxed and folk come and go, laze around, chat on into dusk. No one have we warmly welcomed back to town any more than good ole Bill Cummings! Bill and his brood (three of the most beautiful children you ever would meet anywhere) flew back to L.A. a fortnight ago to resume living here since their beloved Libby passed away in Mexico after her long illness.

He will buy a house here. I got a chuckle from his explanation of the new red convertible he bought the other day. With a combination grin and laugh he says, "We were muy trieste so we picked out the gayest car we could find!" Bill mentions Malcolm Thurburn moving on to South America via Haiti. Welcome home, Bill.

Frances Nickerson home again after surgery at Good Samaritan. Zenith Charity and Social Club had a bang-up success with their benefit cabaret last Sunday, even if the L.A. Orphanage did cold-shoulder their generous offer of a check covering the proceeds! Seems as if there's a general impression that worthy institution has long catered to thumbs-down policy on colored kids. Whether they do or don't, anyhow the bright fact remains the Zeniths came through with fashionable colors flying in the March wind, by golly.

Cliff Washington drove his red convertible down from S. F. for the weekend. He used to live here.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Thomas R. Peyton was among guest speakers during Mount St. Mary's College first annual Interacial Week observance which began Monday and ends tomorrow. It is sponsored by the interracial committee of the SWES Club (Social Welfare, Economic and Sociology). Funds for a scholarship to a deserving student were solicited.

Chorus Men Give Details Of Vacations

Most of the members of the De Paur Infantry Chorus, the famous Army chorus, which gives a concert in Philharmonic Auditorium on March 16 spent the past summer in school completing their studies under the privileges of the G.I. Bill of Rights.

At least 20 members of the chorus took special music courses in their summer layoff, several of them at Juilliard in New York, others with private teachers. Captain Leonard De Paur, gifted director of the chorus, spent most of his time searching for new compositions for the programs and commissioned several new works by contemporary American composers.

Philip Collymore went to Jamaica in the West Indies to be married. Joel Bray resumed his old place as leader of a church choir in Philadelphia. George Marshall, baritone, who sings "Eli Eli" on the current tour won an Arthur Godfrey talent contest and was suitably featured on subsequent Godfrey broadcasts.

Three members of the chorus, Clarence E. Jacobs, assistant conductor, George Willis and Abraham Feels, Jr., became proud fathers. George W. Fisher worked on a chicken farm for the exercise. William O. Davis, veteran of both wars, and dean of the troupe, rested. Joseph Lewis felt that he accomplished as much as anybody. He worked on a milk farm in New York state to put on weight—and did.

Wilfandel to Fete Contest Hopefuls

The public is invited to attend a reception honoring the contestants in the Wilfandel European Scholarship Contest Sunday, March 9, between the hours of 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. The reception will be held at the palatial Wilfandel Club House, 3425 W. Adams boulevard.

Dan Towler, Paul "Tank" Younger and Woodley Lewis, stars of the World Champion Los Angeles Rams Football team, will be among the guests present to inaugurate the contest and wish the girls good luck.

Mrs. Fannie Williams, chairman of the scholarship committee, announced that several organizations which have members in the contest have already made plans for social events honoring their colleagues; and that, each contestant will be sponsored by three members of the club.

Mrs. Bessie Burke, Los Angeles elementary school principal and world traveler, will describe the trip to Europe, the opportunities for study and the itinerary. Choices of schools selected by the second and third winners will be discussed also.

The entrants in the contest are: Mrs. Charlie Mae Washington;

Shirley Rose Alexander

Misses Danellon Mabry, Gloria Brandle, Dorothy Watson, Gladys Haynie, Lillian Ferguson, Fay Wagner, Marjorie Smith, Betty Brown, Marcella Turner, Shirley Rose Alexander, and Gloria Joy Hunnicutt.

Wives of Alphas in Busy Whirl

Mesdames Roger Mason, Elwood Saunders, and Dave Arbor will entertain Alpha Wives Auxiliary at the March 10 "Just for Fun" meeting, to be held at the beautiful home of the Roger Masons, 705 S. Serrano, at 8 p.m.

An equally exciting time as at the Valentine party is being planned by the program committee, Mrs. Robert House, chairman.

Enthusiasm is running high as the Newsletter Contest draws to a close. Someone will win a handsome prize for the best name for the two-month old publication which has become very popular with the members.

The Auxiliary is helping Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity in presenting its second annual "Celebrities on Parade," being given Easter Sunday at the Ambassador hotel.

Big Crowd At Zeniths' Talent Show

A capacity audience of this city's social elite packed the swank Club Alabam Sunday evening to witness one of the season's most successful events when the Zeniths Social and Charity club staged its unique "New Faces" cocktail soiree.

Newest and most popular of this city's numerous social and philanthrophic groups, the Zeniths in keeping with their broad dual purpose program, presented talented new finds sponsored by various organizations of the community.

Walking off with top honors with her classic rendition of "September Song", was Mary Baker. Miss Baker, awarded a $25 savings bond by the club, was hired on the spot by Clarence Moore and Joe Morris, proprietors of the "Alabam" to fill a week's engagement there. Sponsoring the youthful and talented young singer were the Twelve Swans of which Mrs. Eva Mae James is president.

Listed in order as runners up according to audience response were Paul Norwood, The Conquistadors, sponsors; Eleanor Brown, The Silver Slippers, sponsors, and Sterling Spivey, the Regular Fellows, sponsors.

Lending spice and variety to the evening's pleasure as guest artists were veteran stage, screen and radio artists Louise Beavers and Lillian Randolph; T-Bone Walker, who appeared through the courtesy of the Monta Lisa club of which his wife is president; the Delta Rhythm Boys, Claude Maxwell, formerly of the Cats and the Fiddle; Eddie Lynn; "Happy Feet" and Lorenzo Flennoy who gave generously of his time rehearsing with the contestants and preparing them for Sunday's event. Flennoy is currently appearing at Mike's Waikiki, while the Delta Rhythm Boys closed this Thursday at Larry Potter's Supper Club.

The Zeniths offered a sizeable check to the Los Angeles Orphanage from proceeds realized from the affair.

Sorority Marks 9th Anniversary

In Detroit in February 1943, 26 young women with a great vision organized the Phi Gamma Delta sorority. They have seen this sorority become a national incorporated unit.

Tribute was paid to these women who gave unselfishly of their time and talent to start a project and see it grow and prosper into a great organization.

So the Phi Gamma Deltas, with the feeling of their humble and responsible role in this great organization, are equally determined to see its continual growth to the desired ideas of scholarship, service, sisterly love and finer womanhood.

Honoring Founders' Day with a charitable thought, a basket of food was presented to a very nedy family, by Paulyne Coles, chapter financial secretary, and Mabel Saunders, chaplain.

Local Frat Observes National Founding

The three local chapters of Kappa Alpha Psi celebrated the 41st birthday of the fraternity last Friday night at the Kappa Kastle, 2104 South Hobart boulevard. Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity was conceived and organized by students at Indiana University in Bloomington under the leadership of Elder W. Diggs, now deceased. Several of the founders met at the 45th Grand Chapter held at Indianapolis during last Christmas week.

The banquet followed the induction of 11 new men, who, in turn, became the center of the entire banquet program. Spelma Love, chairman of the banquet committee, introduced Leon W. Steward of Los Angeles as toastamster, and the fellowship, fun, and program went along until midnight.

Kappa songs were led by Neophyte member, Lee Stewart. William V. Shields sang and the program got under way with a panel of testimony entitled "What Kappa Has Meant to Me" by Orville Diggs, who was inducted an hour before the last Founder's Day Banquet. David S. Reed, who will graduate in June; William Jones, attending law school at USC, and Dr. Emmitt Wyndon, who was initiated 33 years ago.

George Granberry responded for the neophytes. Other neophytes are Hal Morgan, Rodney Richards, Lee Stewart, William Collins, Earl Glenn, Pete O'Gara, James Smith, Raymond Scot, J. Franklin and Hug Coleman.

Provincial President Thomas Bradley presented a grand chapter scroll award to the Los Angeles Chapter for its work in purchasing a chapter house without assistance from the national housing fund. Robert Green, president of the alumni chapter, made the acceptance speech and the banquet was brought to a climax with the singing of the Kappa hymn and regular banquet song.

The committee consisted of Love, chairman; Steward, Jess Hutton, Clifton Walker, Orville Diggs, Gerald Strange, and Ulysses Griggs.

Thrifty 16 Installation Noteworthy

The Thrifty Sixteen Social and Charity Club chose the hospitable Bit O' Sweden restaurant on Sunset Boulevard as the setting for their surprise dinner party which was given for the husbands and sweethearts.

C. L. R. James, the noted British author and lecturer, who has just returned from New York City where he addressed the Columbia University Melville Centenary Celebration, will be the main speaker.

Dr. Frank C. Baxter, professor of English at the University of Southern California, will be the chairman for the evening.

The Melville Centenary Celebration commemorates the 100th anniversary of the writing of the great American novel, Moby Dick, by Herman Melville.

Dr. Albert Wm. Upton, Professor of English at Whittier College, is chairman of the celebration that is sponsoring this city-wide meeting, which marks a milestone in the cultural development of Los Angeles.

Other members of the celebration include such well-known known personalities as James Edwards, star of the movie, "Home of the Brave," Loren Miller, attorney, and publisher of the New California Eagle, and Norman O. Houston, president of the Golden State Insurance Company.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Melville Centenary Celebration.

Over the Weekend

Stopped in on a little gig given by the popular Anchorettes Cultural Club where the admittance was in socks only. After our gas masks were issued we proceeded to mill around in the crowd and look for excitement.

In exchange for excitement we got laughs listening to the loud guttural tones that pierced the ears of an innocent damsel in the form of a lame hype and emitting from the chapped lips of Rodney Gomez. . . . Was introduced to a brilliant young undergrad from the U of Redlands by his best gal, Barbara Garrott. . . . Thad Winston was definitely the spark of the party with his hilarious jokes and his ability to divide his time and efforts among three females namely Barbara Weaver, Camille Roane and Lestrita Nichols. . .

Popular Walter Norwood broke away from his harem long enuogh to say sweet words to Mary Ann Baumann . . . Ann Ann Bradford created quite a disturbance among a few of the local scallawags. For example, Stanley Casey, Donnie Patterson, and Johnny Carter. . . . Myrtle Davenport, from the looks of things, still regards Kelly Williams as tops. . . . Also noticed in this shoeless affair, that Mack Marrow and Nolan Johnson each have a severe case of athlete's foot. . . . All good things came to an end when the club officers presented us with our shoes. (We must say, it's a clever way to ask for your immediate departure.

Did You Know That—

Lover boy Bill English is back on the scene sporting a new car. Heard his most frequent passenger will be Joan Southern. . . . The academic semester has really begun. Got wind of the fact that Bobby Moody has been booted out of Pasadena C. C.

Take to the hills; the roads are no longer safe. (Have they ever been?) Nira Hardon has a car, Rony Cunningham and Walnita Dorsey have been seeing eye to eye lately, that is when they have on their glasses.

"The woman cries before the wedding, the man afterward." Polish Proverb. Ex-Playboy Wilfred Lamb has been reported to have taken steps that will make him and Frieda Hodge, one. . . . Hugh Coleman, neophyte Kappaman, was married a couple of weeks ago to lovely Vivian Williams. This came as a shock to many who had heard the rumors that he had left town. . . . Bobby Pounds and Johnny Moore, two sparks on the Bruins basketball team, are to be commended for their superb playing in the recent USC game.

Guess Who?

A certain party formerly married to a Delta soror, and a resident at the Red Hut, went BERSERK Friday night and in this fit of rage beat up one of his ex-gal's visitors, kidnapped and beat her, and is now cooling his heels in the LA county jail.

"Horrah for Our Team"

These words were probably uttered by Betty Normand, Loretta Lee, Maxine Kennady and Barbara Stovall when they received the news that they were to cheer Alpha men on to victory in the frat series which begins on March 22. Don't forget the "BASKET BALL" to be given by the Kappas on March 15.

In the Near Future

The Scrollers of Kappa Alpha Psi will take the spotlight again with another evening of dancing and fun.

Yep, the "Scroller Scramble" will be the first feature of 1952, and they hope 'twill be enjoyed by you, you and you. The date is this coming Saturday, March 8, at Kappa Kastle, 2104 S. Harvard boulevard.

Time's from 9 o'clock on. There'll be new and old faces, something to suit everyone.

Quite a few music lovers listened in on the Duke's concert over the weekend. We saw and remembered to put down the names of Frank Whitehead, B. B. Banes, Joan Moore, Earl Tatum and Charlie Godoy.

Look out! The Hounds are around!

There were over 500 guests, many of whom were former Oregonians, where the Maxwells formerly lived.

Barbecued turkeys, hams and pork, prepared in the marvelous manner for which Mr. Maxwell is famous, were served as the lavish dinner's main dishes.

A three-foot-high, tiered, white frosted cake topped with miniature figures of bride and groom, formed the centerpiece of an exquisitely appointed table. The couple's daughter, Christalle, designed and executed the cake.

Mrs. Maxwell's gown was of filmy gold chiffon. Chief style features were the full sleeves, the low-cut neckline and the sequin-studded bodice. Another of the daughters, Myrtle Pitts, created this modiste's masterpiece. All the daughters assisted in the celebration.

Mrs. Maxwell is a significant person in the community by reason of her many civic and social activities. In Oregon, she was a noted concert singer and still gives her friends the occasional treat of hearing her lovely voice.

A pleasant evening was spent Friday, Feb. 29, with the Little Club, at the home of Miss Hortense Allen. Guest prizes were won by Mrs. Byron Kenner, Mrs. Frank Harvey and Mrs. Paul Williams. Club prizes by Mrs. Henry Butler, Mrs. Walter Hines and Mrs. Robert Garrot.

Rustin Here

In town: Philly's eloquent speaking Bayard Rustin with the most amazing schedule ever I've read for a speaker on tour. In eight days he'll appear on some seventeen platforms in this area. He was once a tenor of note. And once served twenty-two days on a North Carolina chain gang after which he sat down and turned out a book about it. In '48 he was awarded the Thomas Jefferson Award for work against intolerance and visited India as Nehru's guest. The College Section of the Fellowship of Reconciliation sponsored his local presence. His guiding light is of course Philly's legendary Friends organization.

Ex-Angeleno Bobbee Black Borders and her medico mate Ted (they live in Ft. Wayne, Ind.), have passports all set to take a combination busines and pleasure tour of the Caribbean starting in late April. They'll go to Miami to join the American Medical Association party then fly to San Juan for clinic demonstrations, etc. After that Bobbee and Ted will relax and tour the Caribbean but leisurely. Her mother is Mrs. Lillian Black who lives now on Raymond.

There are many card players who consider "Bridge Players" just plain "off the beam." (Especially Canasta players). . . . Perhaps it is because most converts usually narrow their conversation down to . . . "I had six hearts headed by the K- Q- and three clubs with the A- J- . . . no let me see . . . maybe it was four clubs, headed by the K- Q- and Six Hearts A- J-."

This dribble goes on and on often 'way into the night, regardless of what other topics might be interposed during the interim. The True Bridge Fanatic will always revert back to the hand that contained the perfect combination, to make a top, if someone had held, or played some particular card. Crazy talk, yet bridge players love it. And since we are not and never will be real Canasta players, we will go on "jabbering" the language of the intelligentsia.

There are, however many sides to this crazy quilt. One is the ability to be honest yet perfectly dishonest at the same time. In the accepted legitimate way of course. Some call it Bridge Psychology, some call it playing your opponent, others call it plain cheating, what-ever terms you use, it means the ability to fool your adversary, and is loads of fun, and since the best laid plans of mice and men sometimes go astray, it does not always work because one's partner is sometimes fooled. Sometimes no one gets fooled but you. Anyway, if one is well versed in the art of this necessary evil, as to when to use this masterful touch . . . the odds are even that you will turn many a losing game into a winning one or vice versa.

After all the main object is to win at any cost, as long as your dishonesty is done in a perfectly honest way. . . . Like when some Eager Beaver goes to a makeable contract you make false card signals, or let him see certain cards in your hand so he'll give up the idea of finessing through you, etc.

We of Club Pacifico are eagerly awaiting the hour of 3 p.m. Sunday when Robert Lee Johnson will unveil some of the startling facts on "How to Use Deception" at bridge . . . perfectly legit. But crooked as ----

To those members and friends on the sick list we say "hurry and get well, we miss you."

Sunday's game was won by James Goree and D. Haughton. Leonard Black and D. Norman came in second. The game was enjoyed by all, as well as the lecture preceding by Mr. Johnson on "Squeeze," which, when demonstrated revealed another reason why so many of us lose at bridge.

Editorial

Mr. Alderson Hasn't Changed

We haven't said anything about it lately but Chief Alderson is still committed to a segregation policy in the fire department. His is the only municipal department where the color line is drawn and enforced. And the Chief simply won't listen to any arguments on the matter.

Mr. Alderson has the glib answer that his business is to run an efficient fire department. We agree with him. What he can't see is that a part of governmental efficiency is the scrupulous observance of the letter and spirit of the laws of this state. And those laws don't countenance segregation.

Behind California's refusal to sanction Jim Crow lies the fact that segregation inevitably leads to discrimination. That is true in the fire department. Under the Alderson regime a Negro fireman can't get a job, no matter where he stands on the civil service list, unless there is a vacancy in a "Negro" fire station. A few years ago it actually happened that three Negroes stood at the head of the list. There were no openings at any of Mr. Alderson's Jim Crow stations so the three men were called in and asked to "waive" their right to the next appointment. They did. They had to because they knew that if they didn't they would never get a permanent appointment.

The same situation bobs up every time an appointment is made where one of the first three on the civil service list is a Negro. That Negro is passed over, his qualifications are ignored and he doesn't get the consideration to which he is entitled. In reverse, the same thing happens to a white applicant when there are only "Negro" vacancies.

Mr. Alderson's apparent fear that Negroes and whites can't work together in the same fire stations is utterly without foundation. Nor is there any merit in his plaint that he can't afford to conduct a social experiment. There's nothing experimental about Negroes and whites working together in this state. That is an established way of life with us. Jim Crow is the exception, and not the rule.

We've pointed out before and we want to underscore the fact here that Mr. Alderson can't maintain his Jim Crow policy without the implicit sanction of the Board of Fire Commissioners and the Civil Service Commission. Both groups are helping him evade the law and their conduct is as reprehensible as his.

We still cling to the view that the quicker this policy is challenged in the courts the better for all concerned. There's no place for segregation in Los Angeles municipal government.

The South Knifes Alaska

Southern senators ganged up with a few reactionary Republicans last week to defeat the bill for Alaska statehood by a one-vote margin.

There's nothing new about the technique: the South has been playing that same game for more than a century—and for the same reason.

Prior to the Civil War the South opposed admission of northern states to the union out of fear that the addition of new senators would upset the balance of power it was able to maintain through the votes of its senators.

Alaska was refused admission because the South fears that its senators would join the liberal northerners in support of legislation opposed by the clique that runs southern affairs. Hawaii will meet the same treatment when its request for admission is presented on the Senate floor.

Now, as before the Civil War, the South's real motive is the maintenance of a system of race relations that redounds to the benefit of a few. Then it was the slave system, now it is the Jim Crow system. In each instance the majority of southern whites had, and has, no real stake in a device that keeps the Negro at the bottom of the heap but it is as true now as it was before the Civil War that the poor whites are hoodwinked into supporting the ruling clique by propaganda about white supremacy.

The South started blackmailing the rest of the states before the union was formed. They threatened to walk out of the constitutional convention unless their demands for the guarantee of slavery were written into the constitution. The other states complied. After the United States was born the South kept muttering the same threat and having its way until it finally tried to secede over the question of admission of the new western territories as free states.

A new day is in the offing. There are almost a million qualified Negro voters in the South today and within the next few years there will be more than two million. These voters are going to change things down in Dixie and the time isn't far off before some southern senators are going down to defeat not because of support of, but because of opposition to, civil rights.

That will be a good day for the country. It will mark the end of a system of political blackmail by which the South has been able to have its way at the expense of the best interests of the rest of the nation for more than a hundred and seventy-five years.

The Reds Don't Like Tobias

The Communists are gunning Channing Tobias because of the stand he has taken in the United Nations assembly. At the basis of their opposition lies the fact that he has had the task, and the good sense, to stand up and tell the Soviet Union off on some important issues.

But the Reds are too smart to pitch their opposition on the fact that Mr. Tobias has opposed Soviet foreign policy. They charge him with soft pedaling the story of discrimination against American Negroes.

The Tobias record is such that nobody can honestly accuse him of knuckling under on racial matters. His forthright stand on such issues even caused some of the more reactionary senators and publicists to accuse him of being soft toward Communism when his name was presented to the Senate by President Truman.

What he has done has been to attempt to present a balanced picture of what's happening to Negroes in the United States. It is all too true that racial prejudice is a going business in our country as witness the recent events in Florida. The other side of the picture is that a great many racial restrictions have been stricken down in the past decade and that there is decided trend toward continued improvement. The latter aspect of the matter is what Reds don't want told. They're after him because he has insisted on presenting America as it is, not as they would have it. The reason they're hell bent to paint America as a cesspool of racism is because that version is what the Russian foreign office is trying to sell in Asia and Africa.

How Many Votes Will They Get?

Supporters of both Senator Taft and General Eisenhower have stepped up in the past few weeks to insist that each of the Republican presidential hopefuls will name a southerner—read "Dixiecrat"—to his cabinet in the event of his election.

There is no reason to doubt those statements.

It is plain that both men are currying favor with the Byrnes-Talmadge-Russell southern Democrats and we're perfectly willing for either, or both, to get all the support he can from the Dixiecrats.

On the other hand, we can't see any reason for any Negro voter casting his ballot for a man who announces beforehand that he is willing to do business with Byrnes, Byrd or Russell.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

While America's propaganda walls come tumbling down and we stand ugly and naked on the issue of civil rights before the rest of the world, the die-hard Southerners and their disciples in the North and West march stubbornly and stupidly toward their fate, dragging the nation with them.

Senator Richard Russell of Georgia had hardly announced his candidacy for President before he was telling a Negro reporter that he thought the civil rights program was a program of "civil wrongs" and that he was opposed to every single bill in the package.

We all know Russell and we did not expect him to say anything else, but how does it look to Asia and Africa and the nations dependent upon Asia and Africa for a man to be running for President of the United States who openly advocates inequality and who preaches and practices white supremacy? How does such a thing look to South American countries and to Mexico? We have just suffered a major diplomatic defeat in Mexico on an arms program, largely because of our arrogance and our "white" psychology.

Richard Russell is not making any friends for America in France which is faced with a blazing color-line war in Indo-China. Richard Russell's candidacy is making it easier for the Communist propagandists in China and is raising no hosannas in Southeast Asia. There might have been a time when these places were not important to a white Georgian, or even to the average white American, but they are of the greatest importance today. The sons of Senator Russell's constituents are fighting and dying in far-off Korea today against a foe who is inspired by the tales of what Senator Russell's kind of world would be.

Our foes in Korea and the hundreds of millions in Asia who hate America do not intend that ever again the vicious doctrine of white supremacy shall blight their lives. They may stumble in their progress and some may starve, but never again will they bow to a man because he is white. Nor, it may be added, will they choose for their friends and their favors any "democracy" that enforces a color line.

Yet in the interest of preserving Jim Crow in Waycross, Ga., Meridian, Miss., Mobile, Ala., Columbia, S. C., and numerous other way stations in Dixie, we in 1952 are rock-headed enough to proclaim the racial doctrines of 1852. We vow not to change the pattern of Peachtree street in Dick Russell's dear old Atlanta.

Well, there is news for the Russells. The world ain't the same as it was in 1852, or 1902, or 1922. Some changes have been made. Some of the peoples who were down are now up, and those once up are now down. If America wants to stay up it will need the friendship and assistance of black and brown and yellow nations who will decide the balance of power. Those people do not care for the quaint folkways of Birmingham, Hattiesburg, and Memphis. They do not appreciate the flip "statesmanship" of a Russell, the poison of a Byrnes, or the rantings of a Talmadge. The South San Francisco disgrace and the Moore bombing in Florida suggest that time is running out and Dixiecrat democracy and Russellism had better be crushed before they crush America.

THIRTEEN AGAINST THE ODDS
By Edwin R. Embree

As the author says, "success against the odds is an American ideal." Here are thirteen prominent Negro Americans who became successful despite prejudice, poverty, and educational handicaps. They range from a great scientist, an outstanding teacher, and a famous modern author to leaders in the sports world and the arts. These are "success stories" that will completely refute many of the racial prejudices of the past.

GEORGE WASHINGTON CARVER
By Rackham Holt

Today, a generation is beginning to look on Dr. Carver as a modern American hero, for his pioneering work in scientific agriculture and the development of hundreds of new chemical products from the growing things of the earth. But this book is not so much the tale of his accomplishments as it is the story of the man himself—an artistic, talented, practical figure, who in his education and his life embodied the finest qualifications of a man of purpose and integrity.

QUEST FOR DIGNITY
By Thomas Roy Peyton

In a land of ever-increasing opportunity, a distinguished physician, in telling his own story, gives point to the problems still being faced by Negroes in their quest for professional and personal development. Without rancor and with gusto, Dr. Peyton writes of a life spent far afield in pursuit of his studies and the means to pay for them—and as a thoughtful American, outlines his hopes for the democratic goals still to be reached in his native land.

HIS EYE IS ON THE SPARROW
By Ethel Waters

Long on the best seller lists, this wonderful document of human aspiration, as warm as the great actress who wrote it, has won a place in the affections of the reading public as great as its author has achieved with theater audiences. Particularly vivid are the pictures of Miss Waters' childhood of poverty in Philadelphia. Sometimes brutally frank the book always is moving and compassionate. This is one of the fine theater autobiographies of recent years.

THE WAY TO SECURITY by Henry C. Link.

Discussing the social, emotional and economic problems which trouble us today, Dr. Link offers spiritual as well as practical advice on absolving our fears. Security begins in the home, not through overprotection, but with the right kind of educational guidance. The larger insecurities, such as the atom bomb, financial worries and fears about growing old are discussed and in demonstrating what to do about these anxieties, the author guides the way toward a return to religion.

THE CAPTIVE WITCH. By Dale Van Every

Adam Frane, one of the captors of Vincennes, was quite a boy with the fair sex, yet he dreamed of Cynthia, a beautiful aristocrat back in Virginia. When he found her again, it didn't do much good, at first, since she held herself aloof. But Adam rescued a half-wild girl from the Indians and the first thing Cynthia knew, she was facing a rival in a free-for-all fight for a man (of course, she wanted Adam all the time, but you have to have a plot, don't you?) Anyhow, guess which girl won, or, better yet, read the book, if you enjoy colorful historical tales and frontier backgrounds.

OVER A BAMBOO FENCE. By Margery Finn Brown

The wife of an army officer accompanying her husband to occupied Japan, Mrs. Brown was able to get a job on a Japanese newspaper and thereby gained an insight afforded to few outsiders into the everyday Japanese man and woman as they face the confusions of reconstruction. How the average inhabitant of Tokyo and Kyoto fares under American rule and what he is thinking about in the chaotic new world of Asia comprise an informal, modest, but penetrating book.

Advises Crawling

Dear Sir:

I note you are flexing your talons at Mrs. Dora Moore of the Sentinel because she don't go along with the N.A.A.C.P. Mrs. Moore is to be congratulated for a sensible decision. The N.A.A.C.P. is bent on social and racial aggression for political reasons egged on by the Moscow stooges as in Korea.

The Negro people cannot expect to create good will and peace as long as they persist in using the Moscow method and its stooges in Hollywood and New York.

If you want peace, act peaceable, instead of making your people hated by one overt act after another. I read in your paper about all the prominent Negroes—most of them trying to climb on the white man's bandwagon by force or political chicanery—not one word about Negro rich trying to build factories or various industries so their people can work in peace and independence rather than being the dupes and dopes of their own leaders in league with white opportunists.

Lincoln was supposed to free the Negro from slavery, yet your own leaders would deliver them right up to the Pharoahs and to shine their boots in eternity.

Agitation, aggression and aspersions never created anything but strife and slavery for the hapless.

Throw away Joe's Hammer, get a pick and shovel and start laying the foundation for the colored man's freedom not his abortion. Today everyone is riding the crest of prosperity—but like a Roman holiday, it can't last unless there are more jobs, then normal and for the Negro to expect the white bosses to discriminate against their own people to furnish jobs to Negroes is folly. What would you do if you had to make a decision for or against your own pepole? Negroes who have been educated in the white schools should use their brains to build rather than that which they did not create, there can be peace—plenty and cooperation instead of agitation and aggressions.

It's later than you think and Freedom is a two way street.

A.C.

ED. NOTE: You should have attended a few Negro History week programs and learned that Negroes, too, did their share to build America. They want to share what all Americans, of all races and creeds, have built on the basis of ability and without reference to the accident of race. That's what the NAACP is striving for. We're for that and we just can't understand why all Americans don't take the same view.

DISAGREES WITH ALASKA STORY

Dear Sir:

I would like to clear the public mind of the misleading information given by Mrs. Stevenson about Anchorage, Alaska. I am sure her mind was not on Anchorage but on some place else where she had lived—perhaps Florida, but certainly not this city. In the first place, her facts are twisted: it didn't get 55 degrees below zero here this year; her aunt couldn't have been here 55 years because this city is only 37 years old and there are no marine and navy bases here; workers here don't live in shacks and there isn't a "white only" sign in the whole city.

As for the want ads stressing "white only" that just isn't so. Negroes do all kinds of work here, including driving buses.

I would like to suggest that in the future when Mrs. Stevenson tells people about what happens in Alaska that she confine herself to the truth and that she should not spread stories that are absolutely untrue. This letter isn't written to make her look bad but to tell the truth about wha is happening.

Samuel L. Richberg,
USAF, Alaska.

WE THOUGHT SO TOO

Dear Sir:

I would like to express my admiration and appreciation for the good job that your reporter, Miriam Christian, did in reporting the trial of the deputy sheriffs who burned the two prisoners in Firestone station. I want to congratulate her and to say to her that I wish her much success.

I think your readers should also know that Judge Thomas L. Ambrose conducted the trial in a very fair manner and that Deputy District Attorney Joseph Carr did a very good job. The men weren't convicted but I think the trial was very good for the city because it proved that the district attorney has the courage to prosecute all law violators.

Mrs. Viola Searcy.

Civil Defense

Dear Sir:

Mr. Green's splendid article on the Block Warden Division of the Los Angeles Civil Defense and Disaster Corps printed in the "California Eagle" of February 21, 1952, has been brought to my attention.

This was an outstanding job of bringing Civil Defense to the attention of citizens in a constructive manner. You are to be commended for this fine approach to a very important problem of today.

Thank you for your excellent support on behalf of Civil Defense.

Sincerely,
Americ Hadley, Chief
Block Warden Division

Civil Rights

WASHINGTON. — Demanding an end to minority rule in the Senate and enactment of civil rights bills, 900 delegates from 35 states representing 52 national, church, labor, fraternal, civic and minority group organizations met in the Nation's capital recently for a two-day Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

The Conference, initiated by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and co-sponsored by half-a-hundred other organizations, focused attention on the fight for civil rights at a time when many politicians of both parties would prefer to drop this issue. The delegates, however, made clear their determination to press for revision of the notorious Senate Rule 22, which encourages filibusters and makes it impossible to enact any measures opposed by the Dixiecrats and their allies in the Senate.

BVA Barn Dance Set for Sunday Night

People and Places

BENNY CARTER, the suave gentleman with a swing horn, will hold forth at the 5-4 ballroom this week. Carter is renowned for his sweet music, and his genius for whipping together a group of musicians that play gobs of rhythm is no secret to the lovers of tunes easy on the ear-drums.

GERALD WIGGINS, a gifted Washington piano player whose artistic fingers have run down many 88's in some of the country's most exclusive music parlors. He is charming the listening patrons at Stuff Crouch's new Turban Room nightly. Incidentally, Sidney White is causing the daytime crowd that flicks in and out of the room during high noon. It's good to have him back on the avenue. He is one of your and my favorite bartenders.

PARADISE LOUNGE is a place, says Al Austin, where you can knock yourself out on his 35 cent highballs. Veteran barrailers will tell you a night out is not complete without looking in at the 55th street establishment.

GUMBO, with accent on the famous New Orleans dish, is being served daily at the Chez Leon where Maurice Sanders is in charge of the steaks and chops dept.

WILLIAM (Red Hut Broiler) DAVIS waving his hands frantically like a rookie cop directing traffic at entrance of the Hollywood freeway. Says they are gonna expand the joint to entertain the many customers they are forced to turn away nightly.

ATTY. WALTER GORDON, one of Los Angeles' best dressed barristers, looked really smart squiring two lovelies, one from Seattle, another from Tacoma, Washington, around in his new '52 olive green Cad. The young ladies visiting were Mrs. Helen L. Shaw and Mrs. Lee Thompson who helps hubby run Tacoma's smart Olympian Tavern.

THE BIG FIX—that's what the local 43rd & Central avenue clockers are calling the Santa Anita $100,000 winner, Miche. However, personable ABE YARAS, who operates the Ballpark Liquor at CEntury 2-8688 and "we deliver too," isn't beefing. Has no right to because he had the field and Stormy Cloud, but a cloud hung over the stewards who ruled Intent out.

HERE IS A HEEL—Charles Sifford, a two-bit hustler out of Pittsburgh (they could have kept him) was picked up for possession of narcotics. Nothing was wrong with that; to each his own. The law says it is wrong and if caught, the price must be paid. This heel was caught and in pleading for a reduced bail in Judge F. Ray Bennett's court, he just about indicted every Negro professional golfer in attempting to tell the honorable judge that he played professional golf and was one of the selected Negroes to play in the Arizona open. It left a bad taste when the judge happened to know that Negro golfers here in Los Angeles were waging a fight to be considered in a PGA-sponsored tourney. From what happened in the courtroom you bet every Negro golfer will face the embarassment of having to show his bags to officers from now on.

SPEAKING OF golfing, we learn from Leonard Reed that he is now taking money to continue the golfing fight. According to him the only one that has the loot to follow the tourneys slated deep down south is Joe Louis. He was forced to make an important trip east accompanied by a model named Dalphine. We can't recall the champ ever appearing in a mixed schedule boxing bout down "home." However, Jack Johnson fought several times back in the rough days.

HAMBONE is the latest jukebox hit that is getting plenty of workouts.

MABEL SCOTT, the torchy song stylist, just waxed a new tune titled "No More Crying Blues," was introduced by Charles Trammel over the Dolphin's of Hollywood disc show.

IDELLA OWENS is a nice package that smiles sweetly to patrons of FOOD KING, a Wall street neighborhood store. Her pleasing manner has won for her the distinction of being one of the best liked in the shopping center.

WILLIAM (FOOTS) OVERTON, a smooth operator out of Pittsburgh, had a way out birthday party at the 448 E. 43rd place address. House of Lorde and

Floor Show, Guest Stars On Program

The Benevolent Variety Artists announced this week that they are giving their fourth annual barn dance Sunday evening, March 9, at the Cotton Club, 50th and Broadway. The hours of this highly popular affair will be from nine until.

Daniel Vrizar, manager of the popular night spot, has turned the club and entire floor show over to this group of hardworking young women. Featured during the night's festivities will be Mabel Scott and the music of Sherman William's band.

Charity Organization

The Benevolent Variety Artists, popularly known as the BVAs, is an organization of former show girls dedicated to help the needy people in show business. It was organized in 1947, and has given numerous affairs to raise funds for a home. To date they have given over $4000 to destitute show people.

Of all the affairs given by the organization, the barn dance is theo ne that seems to be most popular. Guests are invited to come dressed as rustics. Door prizes and costume prizes will be given away.

Adding to the regular floor show and the music of Sherman Williams, outstanding artists will contribute their talent to make this affair an outstanding success. Every top-notch artist in town usually appears on the program of a BVA affair, as they consider it their duty and privilege.

President Suzette Harbin said, "I know that the girls have gone all out to make this barn dance the best one in our short history. I know everyone will have a grand time."

Maggie Hathaway, chairman of publicity said, "I want to publically thank Mr. Vrizar for donating the club and the show for this affair. Speaking for all the people in show business, I want him to know we appreciate it."

Myrtal Fortune said, "Everyone can be a star at this party. Just show up and have a ball, and you'll be helping a good cause."

AT ELKS SUNDAY — Camille Howard, talented pianist will appear with Roy Milton and his Solid Senders at Elks Sunday night.

The general public is asked to lend a helping hand to meet the need and save this beautiful park which houses many Negro families. Tickets for the show can be purchased at the following: Webb Pharmacy, 48th and Central, Willie Brown's Florist, 48th street, Nola Beauty Shop, 4762 Central, and Gordon Gowns, 4519 Avalon.

Joe Adams Receives Sales Award

Radio producer-announcer Joe Adams, currently broadcasting over the NBC Network nightly from a local club, has been voted a special award for "outstanding accomplishments in the field of radio advertising and sales promotion" by the Los Angeles Sales Club.

The annual "Scroll of Achievement" award was made after careful selection of possible candidates, according to club spokesmen. Leon Hardwick, LASC president, and Carnation Milk Company representative, stated, "The splendid record Mr. Adams made in promoting the products of his sponsors, has served to open doors of opportunity for young Negro salesmen entering the field, as well as bring to the attention of manufacturers the importance of the Negro consumer."

Betty Martina Dancers Score in Show for Vets

Betty Martina, famed Spanish-Moroccoan dancer and head of the classic dance school that bears her name at 10302 Graham avenue, was the star attraction of an entertainment group which appeared Monday night at the war veterans hospital at Sawtelle. On the bill with Miss Martina and some of her stellar pupils was the rapidly ascending group of ex-GI singers, known as the Knowles Singers, current students at the University of Southern California.

Miss Martin's Beguine number proved an outstanding "best seller." The clever routine group known as the Exotic Terpsichoreans who appeared in the dance suite with Miss Martina, also came in for wild acclaim. The girls were Mal (Peaches) Walker, Darlene Moore, Shirley Higgenbotham, Dalyce Curry, Mable Walker and Gloria Perez. Also appearing from the Marina school were children Sandra and Gail Smith, Janice Toomes and Eva Hawkins.

Texas Hoppers Big in South

Eddie Atkinson Parlayed an Idea Into a Success Story

By WENDELL GREEN

Tall, handsome J. Edward Atkinson, owner of the Elbow Bend cocktail lounge and liquor store, and operator of a string of juke boxes, is one of the most successful young businessmen in Los Angeles today. A star athlete in high school and college, Atkinson in conjunction with his partner, Philip McGee, parlayed a good idea and a small investment into several mushrooming enterprises by the dint of hard work, imagination and application of the Golden Rule.

Eddie Atkinson was born in Denver, Colo. His parents moved to California when he was an infant. He attended St. Thomas parochial school, Loyola high school, Loyola University, and studied law at Loyola law school for two years.

Textbook Mind

"I guess I had a textbook mind, and not a legal mind," smiled Atkinson. After struggling with law for two years, I knew it just wasn't my field, so I gave it up."

At Loyola high, Atkinson ran the dashes and played end and fullabck on the football team. In his senior year he was captain of the track team and ticked off several 9.8 100-yard dashes.

He received a scholarship to Loyola U. where he continued to star in football and track, until Tom Lieb took over as head football coach. "Lieb made all the footballers quit track and concentrate on football. He produced some of the greatest football teams in the history of Loyola."

Almost Beat USC

Slightly graying, Eddie Atkinson had a small smile of pride as his mind drifted back to his collegiate days. "In 1932 and '33 USC were national football champion. They had such outstanding All-Americans as Tay Brown, Ernie Smith, Orv Mohler, and Cotton Warburton. We played them to a standstill and in the '32 game they won in the last three minutes due to a disputed play." What hard-running fullback Atkinson modestly called a disputed play, was the subject of a raging controversy in the metropolitan papers. Some sports writers came right out and said that the officials gave the game to USC to save its national reputation.

Atkinson played with Al Duvall, another Loyola immortal, in 1934. Atkinson was a senior and Duvall a sophomore.

When Atkinson graduated from Loyola, the California Football League had just been organized. He joined one of the teams, but broke his leg in the first game, and that ended his active playing career.

In 1935 Atkinson formed a partnership with Antionette Gamble and went into the juke box business. "It looked like a good deal as a lot of new cocktail lounges were opening on the Eastside. We purchased five boxes and had no trouble finding spots for them. Curtis Mosby had just opened a place where the Memo is now located and we put one in there. Same for the Elks, and Finley's, the popular eating place, had never had one, and we put one in there."

Married Partner

At the peak of their operation, Atkinson and Miss Gamble operated 94 boxes with Eddie and one electrician servicing all of them. In 1937 Atkinson married Miss Gamble. They have two children, a boy, Eddie, 13, and a girl, Joy, 5.

When the request machines came in, Atkinson didn't convert as to him it seemed too complicated an operation, so he sold his machines and route to a company that Phil McGee worked for as service manager. After a brief splurge of popularity, the request operation began to fall, so a year after he went out of the business, he was in again with McGee as his partner.

The business prospered and at one time they had 109 machines in operation serviced by two men besides McGee. They have now cut the route to 64 machines and one man services the entire operation.

Opened Elbow Bend

Atkinson operated the business by himself while McGee was in the service. When McGee was discharged in 1944, it was impossible to expand the business as new machines weren't available, so they opened the popular Elbow Bend cocktail lounge at 52nd and Avalon. In 1949 they opened the liquor store next door.

When asked what he thought was the key to his success, unassuming Atkinson replied, "I just try to treat other people like I want to be treated."

Atkinson has an avid interest in property management and real estate, particularly housing units. "I think it is a fascinating field. That's what I really like to do. Every chance I get I buy income units. What started out as an avocation with me has almost become a vocation. My property investments and business now almost equals my liquor and juke box business.

Sports Enthusiast

While still a sports enthusiast, Atkinson confines his physical participation to golf. "I play golf at least once a week," says Eddie, who is still as trim as he was in college days. "I also attend all football games, especially pro games. There is a thrill about college students with all the students and spirit, but for real perfection you can't beat professional football."

Young Eddie at 13 is already following in his famous Dad's footsteps. He is a standout basketball player and swimmer at St. Gregory's parochial school.

In addition to his business and sports interest, Atkinson takes his civic responsibilities seriously. He is an active member of the NAACP, the YMCA, and the Los Angeles County Conference on Human Relations. He just completed a term as Board Member of the Loyola Alumni Association, is a Kappa and a member of the Pacific Town Club. He regularly attends St. Gregory Catholic church.

Atkinson feels that any young person who doesn't have a special talent or a proficiency for a profession, should take some business courses and prepare to enter some of the many fields that are now open. "In the past we have restricted ourselves to certain small businesses such as restaurants, pool halls, and liquor businesses. The field is wide open in all phases of small business and the community needs service. Young people should feel that they can go into any field and make a success, and prepare themselves to do so.

Just Beginning to Grow

"In Los Angeles we haven't begun to grow yet. It is almost like virgin land here. There are boundless opportunities for those who have the foresight, daring, and equipment to take advantage of them."

Eddie Atkinson is a lot like Los Angeles. He has begun to grow and is an excellent example of the progressive young businessman who seizes opportunity to carve out a productive and useful life.

Popular Couple Arrested on Dope Charge

Charging that the narcotics found in her home at 1961 W. 29th street were the result of the operations of a "plant" or a stool pigeon, Mrs. Howard Barnett, young former UCLA co-ed and socialite denied any knowledge of the large cache of narcotics found in her home.

Mrs. Barnett was surprised by raiding officers while taking a bath. She hastily attired herself and pointed out to officers a certain suitcase they were looking for. The suitcase was full of marijuana.

Attorney Curtis G. Taylor led the comely young matron through her tearful account of the embarrassment of the raid, and her account of lack of knowledge of the narcotic in her house.

Officers reported that they found Barnett in the neighborhood driving home, and that there were reefers in the car he was driving.

In response to questions from the press, Atty. Taylor said that it looked like a carefully thought out scheme to embarrass and ruin the popular young couple.

Mrs. Barnett was released on $1000 bail. Her husband was remanded to jail for inability to post the $2500 bail set for him.

Beacon Handles Quality Auto Tires

Every automobile owner wants on his car the kind of tire that gives long service, will stand up under constant wear and tear but will not blow out or cause dangerous skids. Such a tire is the Armstrong Rhino-Flex, a smart durable rubber product in all wheel sizes that is factory distributed in Los Angeles by the Beacon Tire Sales Company, 1273 E. 23rd street.

The famed Armstrong tire is moderately priced on the retail market. But at Beacon, only factory direct distributor in the local metropolitan area, the tire is offered at still another saving to the public — wholesale prices. Which means that the customer is saved the cost of the middle man, surely an attractive feature to any purchaser during these times of high prices and taxes.

Beacon fully backs up any statement made under its trade name. Its ad or claims are never based on false advertising but rather on facts and figures. See the Beacon ad on page .... of this issue of the EAGLE, or better still call at the store on East 33rd street for your tire needs.

The old Judge thought he'd drop by and see his old friend C. A. King III, the bail bondsman and real estate broker on Sixth street. As he hit the beautiful sunshine, the Judge thought he would walk. After all his paunch was getting a bit paunchier, so the exercise would do good.

As the Judge strolled down Main Street, old landmarks stirred old memories. Main street gym where he used to sneak in and watch George Godfrey, Jack Thompson, and other greats—what memories. Sneaking off from Jeff in the afternoon to catch the show before the prices changed. The sad orchestra in the pit (excuse me Baron Morehead) and the tired old bags that looked fine to young, straining eyes. The slickers that always were in the latrine, trying to start a crap game, and the "queers" smirking and offering to ease the tensions brought on by the girls.

The mysteries of the Main Street joints. The Blowsy floosies with knees crossed showed scarred legs, and life-scarred tired faces. As the Judge peeked into the joints, they still seemed the same, only a little color added to the scene.

Fabulous Fifth street, the street of sin, mused the Judge as he paused, undecided whether to walk Fifth or Sixth. Roaring, hell - raising, desperate Fifth Street, Skidrow, the kids used to call it. The Judge's mind harked back to the days when on Saturday night instead of going to some sad house party, a bunch of the boys would sneak down on Fifth, peeking into the joints and listening to the honky tonk music, letting their imaginations run riot, then home to bed and a sleepless night. "Those were the days," sighed the Judge as he recounted his "dangerous" youth. Boldly taking the plunge, the Judge walked rapidly down Fifth.

The first thing he noticed was that the creeping tide of color had reached Los Angeles. "Dog-gone," muttered the Judge, "it used to stop at Towne. I don't know if it is an improvement or not."

The Judge turned down Gladys and sight of the St. Agnes hotel brought back a flood of memories of wild oats. "Those were the days." murmured the Judge as he hurried pass before Mama looked out and recognized him.

Reeling in King's well appointed office on Sixth street, the Judge took a long sniff of the good scotch his gracious host had provided, leaned back, and started pontificating. The Judge was concerned with the high incidence of drinking with domestic troubles. "Seems like almost all fights between husband and wife, either start over money or the result of drinking. "What else?" asked King with an expansive wave of his hand. "I see you've got it all locked up. A liquor store on one side, and a pool hall in between. Seems like a better set-up than a preacher, doctor and undertaker in the same family.

"I'll show you what I mean by John Barleycorn causing domestic rows, with a few concrete examples," said the Judge.

Juanita Fean, 1218 E. Adams, got angry with her husband and called him a you-know-what. His blood pressure in turn rose. To lower it, he hit her across the face with a shoe, knocked her down and beat her with his fist. "I guess soap in the mouth is a little old-fashioned," sighed the Judge. "No barleycorn here, but that's the exception that proves."

John Young, 802 E. 6th street, was dancing with his girl friend at 2220½ S. Central when a fight started. He tried to get out of the way, but was stabbed in the derriere and conked on the head before he made the door.

LARRY DOBY TO UNDERSTUDY EASTER AT FRST

TUCSON—Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians this week was tinkering with the notion of using "the holdout man" Larry Doby as a reserve first baseman.

Big Harry "Suitcase" Simpson spelled Luke Easter at the first base slot last season . . . but Lopez states that he's planning on restricting Harry to the outfield.

EAGLE SALUTES

John Thomas

EVERY CHICK A CHAMP

Young John Thomas is a living example of how to achieve success in two fields. Born 28 years ago John was the youngest among the boys and was a big admirer of his older brother M. C. Thomas, who was launching his career as a boxer. John followed so closely in the footsteps of his brother that he was considered one of the best looking boxing prospects to ever develop at the 22nd Street Playground. He won all lightweight amateur titles and after turning professional he ran a string of 32 straight ring victories before a single defeat.

KO'd by "Uncle"

The army caught up with the classy California boxer and he went off to his tour of duty. The Army took something out of the brilliant boxer and after his release he was never the same although he won many ring victories. John retired from the ring and since has been operating the John Thomas Poultry Market. Success in business didn't come easy with John and as in boxing, he experienced many ups and downs.

Inspiration to Youth

However, always pitting good clean living and fair play against his pressing problems, he has been able to reach an achievement that rates him one of the most outstanding young businessmen of the community and the Eagle Salute.

BANKING BLUES — Ernestine Mays and James C. Moncton, both of the Security First National, get the plaudits of the depositors for their speedy and efficient manner in which they operate. Roach Seeks Reelection As County Supervisor

Leonard J. Roach, whose supervisorial district includes a large number of Negro voters, announced this week that the will seek re-election in the June 3 primary.

In a lengthy statement reviewing his record, Roach said that he has "given a full measure of devotion to my position as a public servant."

Roach was appointed to this non-partisan office by Governor Warren in January, 1945, and was unopposed for election in 1948.

Roach, a graduate of the University of Southern California College of Law, and an active member of the State Bar of California, has had extensive experience in business as a real estate developer. He is a member of the Coliseum Commission and was first president of that body when it was reorganized in 1945. He is past-president of the S. E. Kiwanis Club, past-president, Iowa Association of Southern California, an Elk and was a member of the 1937 county grand jury.

As supervisor he is chairman of the following important county departments: Auditor, County Clerk, County Counsel, Courts, Grand Jury, Justices of the Peace, Marshal's Office, Parks and Recreation, Patriotic Hall, Soldier Burials, and Pound Department.

In his district, Roach has been acclaimed for his outstanding alertness to the needs of the people. Community improvements and Veterans' affairs are a large part of his every day thoughts and actions.

Kilpatrick In Assembly Race

Assemblyman Vernon Kilpatrick in announcing his candidacy for re-election as a member of the 55th Assembly District this week declared that any tax reductions be made across the board, giving al ltaxpayer groups a break.

Kilpatrick says that he decided to enter the race for re-election at the request of many friends in the newly located district who defend his anti-discrimination policies and voting record for Veterans' Defense, Child Care Centers and labor and liberal pension policies. He also states that he has received state-wide support on his widely publicized investigations of filthy jail conditions, including brutal handling of prisoners.

GREEN'S FURNITURE OFFERS TOP BARGAINS

One sure sign of a sound business is an establishment's record for a great number of years in a single location. By that yardstick, Bill Green's Vermont Furniture Company, 2826 S. Vermont, is as solid as they come. The store has been in its present location for more than 31 years.

During that period, it has come to be known as a fair dealer offering the lowest prices on the best known brands of furniture, household appliances, radio and television sets.

The popular lines handled at Bill Green's include such famed names as Kroehler, Maytag, Simmons, Kelvinator, Packard-Bell, Zenith, Motorola, Sealey, O'Keefe and Merritt, Wedgewood and Carpt and Johnson.

Bill Green's furniture store on Vermont boasts of being an ideal place to shop. Also the store is proud of the fact that the buyer who trades there is saved a lot of unnecessary embarrassment and some money.

For at Bill Green's the buyer deals directly with the owners of the reputable furniture house, not with finance companies or banks. That explains perhaps why the store can count among its huge patronage so many satisfied customers.

Parents Fear 36th St. School Unsafe

Inspection Follows Students' 'Holiday'

Parents of children at the 36th Street School, alarmed at reports of tumbling plaster, unsafe stairs and the poor condition of the school building, this week decided that immediate action was necessary to correct what they consider a critical situation.

As if with one voice, parents kept approximately 300 of the school's 500 children at home Monday.

"We don't want to wait for a catastrophe," one of the upset mothers told the Eagle.

"How do we know where the plaster will fall next?" indignantly asked another. "Next time our children might be buried under it!"

Need New Building

"We need a new building. At the time of the last school bond issue, we were told that if we worked hard to see that the bonds were passed, we'd get new buildings. And we worked hard. But we didn't get a new school. This is nothing but a big, old barn."

"We parents feel it is a fire hazard," said another. "It should be condemned. Plaster fell down. The rain came in. Boards are loose. The halls are cold and damp like an ice box.

"We want a state inspection, and we're determined to get it!"

Boiled Up

The situation boiled up and over at a meeting of parents with school officials.

About 25 fathers and mothers were at the school Monday morning. There they were met by Dr. Louise W. Seyler, assistant superintendent of the Central District for the Board of Education; Principal Miss Ella Helder; Board of Education and City Fire Department investigators.

Carpenters were already at work repairing the damage. One stairway was blocked off temporarily, as were also two sections of the upper hall and one classroom.

Reassured

Parents were assured that the school is safe, and that, even with one stairway blocked off, it meets with minimum fire regulations. After the inspectors had insisted that the children would not be in any danger, the parents agreed to send the children back to school Tuesday.

At the same time, they went ahead with plans for obtaining a state inspection. Petitions bearing the signatures of 10 per cent of the parents have to be submitted to obtain such an investigation.

The petitions were on hand at Tuesday's PTA meeting.

Child Injures Head in Fall On Blacktop

The hour was 2:30 p.m. last Thursday when Geneva Hickman, 13-year-old of 257 East Vernon ave., was playing at a game of kick ball with 14 of her young mates in the Carver High schoolyard.

A few minutes later she was sprawled limply on the ground, unconscious. She had tripped and fallen when the ball struck her in the stomach. Her fall was only about three feet but her head had hit the black top (asphaltic concrete) of the schools' playground.

An ambulance rushed Geneva to Georgia Street Receiving hospital where doctors said she had received a light brain concussion and nasty bruises about the head. She remained unconscious for several hours.

The accident that befell the Hickman youngster at Carver High is not the first such casualty to injure children while playing on black top playgrounds of local schools. School authorities report no less than five of the kind a day.

For Geneva, a B-7 student, it was her second such accident. She had been previously injured in a similar fall last year at Willowbrook school. Her accident at Carver occurred during a gym class.

Geneva has only a faint recollection of what went on after her fall last week. "Everything then looked funny and zigzaggy," she remembers.

Today Geneva still has scars to show for her ill luck. Her head bears a small knot and hurts everytime she tries to comb her hair.

Geneva is one of a family of four sisters, two brothers and a father. Her mother is dead. Sister Faye, also a student at Carver, was called out of her class to ride in the ambulance with Geneva to the hospital.

The injured child was released from the hospital to her eldest sister, Mrs. Joyce Taylor, after she had remained there for one and a half hours. She is again attending classes.

Assembly Asks President Act On Bombings

SACRAMENTO—Assemblymen Augustus Hawkins of Los Angeles and Byron Rumford of Oakland were among 20 assemblymen listed as authors of a resolution urging President Truman to order a full scale investigation into racial violence in Florida. The resolution was referred to the Rules Committee of the assembly.

The resolution called attention to the bombing of Negro homes, Catholic churches and Jewish synagogues and to the murder of Harry T. Moore Christmas night. Prosecution of all who aided and abetted any of the crimes was requested.

Husband Acquitted By Jury

A sordid triangle involving an uncle, his nephew, and his nephew's wife, erupted into violence and death early Saturday morning when the two men had a midnight duel over the woman.

Tom W. Green, 28, 778 Senate drive, San Pedro, met his 32-year-old uncle, John D. Burton, 949 W. 48th street, in the living room of Green's Banning Homes apartment, as his uncle kicked the door in, and stabbed, jabbed and sliced him seven times, leaving his uncle a bloody, unrecognizable mass, and the living room looking like a slaughter pen. Burton staggered from the house and died almost immediately on the front lawn.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide at a hearing Wednesday morning.

Green testified at the coroner's inquest that he had been having trouble with his uncle molesting his wife for about three years. He said that during a period of separation from his wife, Margaret Green, in 1948, she told him she had an affair with Burton, but when they reconciled, it was all over.

Seduced Wife

About a month and a half ago Green stated he left home again, because he had suspicions that his uncle was still having an affair with his wife. Two weeks ago the young couple were again reconciled. Green testified that his wife told him that Burton had forced his way into the house during their last brief separation, and forced her to accompany him to the mountains where he seduced her.

Mrs. Green testified that she didn't have an affair with Burton, but admitted going out with him several times. Burton's

Housing Top Negro Issue, Says Granger

Greet Lester Granger

Stiff Fight Seen To Beat Down Race Barriers

Housing is the number one problem confronting American Negroes, with employment, conditions in the armed services, and education taking subordinate places.

That is the considered opinion of Lester B. Granger, executive secretary of the National Urban League, who is here to speak at the League's annual meeting at Jefferson high school Friday night. Awards for distinguished community service will also be made at the meeting.

Keep Segregation

"Despite the Supreme Court's decision outlawing judicial enforcement of race restrictive covenants, there is more effort than ever to tighten racial restrictions," Granger told the Eagle Wednesday. "The pattern of segregation still obtains in all large northern and western cities and there is a determined effort to maintain and extend that pattern." He points out that such restrictions may be voluntarily observed.

The balding, pleasant-voiced Granger said that the only democratic housing pattern that has emerged is in public housing, but he thinks that it would be a grave mistake for Negroes to be forced to resort to such housing entirely. "The vast majority of all Americans will always live in private housing," he thinks, "and it is essential that restrictions on such housing be eliminated."

Employment

Turning to employment, Granger said that there has been no wholesale return to old exclusionary practices in industry that existed before the war, and he points to an almost 300 per cent gain in clerical and white-collar occupations in the past ten years as bearing out his belief that Negroes have made substantial progress in employment. He also remarked that there had been tremendous increases in the number of skilled Negro workers and in the number of Negroes employed in supervisory capacities in industrial plants.

"There is a decided difference between states which have FEPC legislation and those which do not," he maintains. "Many employers have obeyed such legislation without any compulsion whatever, and I think that many

Angry Spouse Arrested for Murder Try

By Eddie Lee King

"If I'd had my pistol tonight, I would have gotten both of them." Those were the angry words Theoplis Jackson, 38, 8412 Virginia road, roared at police in the wee hours Saturday morning when he was arrested on charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Jackson said he went to Opal Jackson's apartment, 3806 West Adams boulevard in regards to a radio, just to see if she was home. When he arrived, he saw Harold Matron's car parked out front. He kicked in the front door, rushed to the second floor to his wife's apartment and kicked in her door. He found her and Matron, who lives at 3834 W. Adams together. He beat Matron up and chased him into the street. Mrs. Jackson ran to some neighbors. He left and returned a few minutes later.

"I'm going to kill you," he reportedly told his wife as he approached her with an eight inch kitchen knife in his hand. Mrs. Jackson attempted to defend herself and received numerous cuts about the hands and arms.

When the police arrived on the scene the apartment was littered with broken glass, clothes were cut to ribbons and furnishings were broken up all over the place.

Jackson admitted that he took the knife from the kitchen and said, "No man's going to play around and make a fool of me. If I'd had my pistol tonight I would have gotten both of them. Yes, I did have a knife that I got out of the kitchen, but I was just going to use it to cut up the bed. I know my wife is going around, but she had better not fool around and let me alone."

Jackson and his wife have been separated for a few weeks and are not living together but still have dates together.

'Damage Suit' Covenant Test Before Court

The attempt of the local white community to prevent Negroes from moving into "white" neighborhoods by means of damage suits is being challenged in a legal case now before the District Court of Appeals.

Briefs have just been filed in the Barrows vs. Jackson case involving property on East 66th St.

The struggle there, as elsewhere, according to Atty. Loren Miller, one of the lawyers, is an attempt on the part of the white residents to nullify the effects of the Supreme Court ruling by bringing damage suits against whites who sell to Negroes.

In a similar case decided in Lansing, Mich. last week, the Michigan Supreme Court decided in favor of the Negroes.

The court ruled in a Highland Park, Mich. case that the fact that Negroes have moved into a neighborhood is not sufficient grounds on which to base a damage against the person who sold the property, even if the sale was in violation of an existing race covenant agreement.

"We agree with the lower court that liability to suits for damages for breach of a reciprocal racial restriction constitutes an indirect method of enforcing the restriction."

The signing of covenants is legal, but the Supreme Court has held that enforcement of the covenants by the courts is unconstitutional.

Jim Crow In Public Schools Ruled Valid

RICHMOND, Va. — A three-judge federal court headed by Circuit Judge Sterling Hutchison this week held that Virginia's school segregation laws are valid but that colored schools in Prince Edward county are not equal to those provided for white children. It ordered the school board to equalize facilities "as speedily as possible."

NAACP attorneys, who represented parents of the children fighting to end the segregation, presented an outstanding group of expert witnesses from the fields of psychology, psychiatry, sociology, anthropology, education, and statistics. On the last afternoon of the five day trial, the plaintiffs presented four rebuttal witnesses to refute statements made by witnesses for the State. One of these, a statistician, gave evidence to demonstrate that at the rate of equalization proposed by the Commonwealth of Virginia, facilities for Negro children could not be brought to a level of those provided white children until 1979.

NAACP Attorney Oliver W. Hill declared in his closing statement that "there isn't a single city (in Virginia) where Negro children have equal opportunities." He noted that for every dollar presently invested for white high school facilities in Virginia, only 18 cents is provided for facilities for Negro high school children.

Preston Heads Walker Appeal

The Citizens Committee for the Defense of Lawrence Walker today announced that John W. Preston, former Supreme Court judge, has joined council representing the former airforce sergeant convicted for murder in a lengthy trial in Riverside.

Channing Tobias to Discuss Foreign Reaction to Bias

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, member of the United States delegation to the United Nations General Assembly in Paris, will speak over the NBC network Saturday morning, March 15, 9:15 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., Los Angeles time.

Dr. Tobias, who has just returned to the United States from Europe, will speak on the impact of racial prejudice in this country on our international relations.

The talk is scheduled for a nation-wide hookup sponsored by the NAACP. Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, will introduce Dr. Tobias.

Battle Expected as Council Debates Rodger Young Fate

As the future of Rodger Young Village, veterans low rent housing project, headed for a showdown vote in the City Council today (Thursday), residents of the village continued the battle to preserve their homes.

A widely sponsored mass meeting is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. this Sunday at the village. Among the sponsors are the Veterans Coordinating Council which comprises 13 veterans organizations, the NAACP, the Community Service Organization, the AFL and the CIO.

Pitched Battle

A pitched battle was expected Thursday morning when the hotly contested issue comes up for debate.

Two reports face the council. One report, signed by four of the combined six - member Public Housing and Recreations and Parks Committees, recommends continuation of the project for another two years.

This is the solution strongly urged by the residents of the village, who point to the extreme hardships that would result if the facility is closed.

Minority Demands

A minority of two, both uncompromising foes of public housing in any form—Councilman Earle D. Baker and Ed J. Davenport—recommends that no vacancies at Rodger Young be filled, that limited operation be continued only until the end of the present school year, and that the situation be reviewed in July.

In asking for the two-year extension, veterans and families of servicemen now in Korea insist that an urgent housing need still exists.

In a report compiled for presentation to the City Council and Mayor Fletcher Bowron, the residents ask that the "educational schedules of the over 3500 children in the village be regarded; the security and morale of the families of servicemen now in combat in Korea and stationed overseas as well as those in the reserves who may at any time be called back into service be given attention; and

Firemen Find Burned Body

The scorched body of Johnny Jones, 49, was found by the fire department early Wednesday morning in his small one-room home at 544½ S. Gladys street. Jones had died from burns which resulted when his clothing caught fire while he slept.

Known to his friends to be careless while cooking and smoking it is believed that Jones fell asleep with a cigaret burning near by. The wood furniture, crowded about the room, absorbed the flames before Jones could escape. His body was facing the door when the firemen broke in.

Mary Ellen Bradshaw, 1556 E. 92nd, was the last person to see Jones alive. She reported that he walked her to the bus line Tuesday evening and promised her to return home. Mrs. Bradshaw told the police Jones was a heavy drinker and was burned a year ago in a similar accident.

Donald Robinson, 542 S. Gladys street, was the first to notice the fire and called the department. Found in Jones apartment were several pairs of women's shoes and purses. A post card, mailed to him from Louisiana, was believed to have been sent from his wife who separated two years ago.

NEGRO PRESS POWERFUL MAGAZINE WRITER SAYS

NEW YORK—The Negro press of the nation may be the deciding factor in General MacArthur's political future, according to an article in the just-out April issue of Pageant Magazine. The article, entitled "Our Protesting Negro Press," asserts that the political potency of Negro newspapers is a national influence of which most of the nation is not aware. "Opposition by most of the Negro press to MacArthur may spell his doom politically," says Pageant.

What is the Negro press? "Primarily," says the article, "it is a protest press demanding the correction of injustice to a specific minority group. But it does more than protest. It prints news about Negro advancements, social activities and cultural achievements that are largely neglected by the white press."

What do Negro editors publish? "Many of their stories," says Paegant, "are simply more detailed versions of what the general press publishes about Negroes. Closely followed are the activities of Negro notables like Joe Louis, Sugar Ray Robinson, Marian Anderson, Lena Horne, Josephine Baker, Juanita Hall, Katherine Dunham, Duke Ellington, Pearl Bailey and Louis Jordan. Only in Negro newspapers can Negro society news be found."

The Negro press does not advocate intermarriage of the races, points out the Pageant article, and sometimes even denounces Negro leaders who marry white women. But it headlines news of such unions and contends there should be no law against them. When Sergeant James Creeks of Chicago became the first colored Yank to marry a white fraulein in Germany, one paper published a picture six columns wide of the ceremony.

While the Negro press agitates for a better break for the Negro, it also attempts to make him a more acceptable citizen. Every newspaper publishes at least one feature designed to improve the manners of its readers.

Though Communists have sought adherents among the Negroes, even nominating one for Vice-President, they have had little success in the Negro press, states Pageant. No important Negro newspaper favors the Communist party editorially. "We are not going to fight any battles for the Russians," Pageant quotes one Negro newspaperman as saying. "We have enough of our own."

TO PRESENT URBAN LEAGUE AWARDS—Motion picture stars Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell will present the Los Angeles Urban League's annual awards to nine distinguished citizens and firms who have done most to further interracial relations during the year, in Jefferson high school auditorium, Friday 8 p.m. Occasion is the 32nd annual meeting of the League.

Housing Top Issue, Declares Granger of them are relieved to find that they no longer have to consider race or religion as a factor in employment."

Bright Spots

The Navy and the Air Force are the bright spots in the armed services, Granger said. He served as adviser to Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal during World War II and deserves a large measure of credit for the change in its pre-war pattern of confining Negroes to the mess branch. "I'll tell you how much the Navy has advanced," he grinned, "why they even have white boys serving as messmen." The Army is moving more slowly, he thinks, but even there advances are being made.

As for education, he is profoundly impressed by the fact that more than a thousand Negroes are now studying in graduate and professional schools and that there hasn't been a single unpleasant incident. Arkansas, he has found, is in the forefront of southern states in a changing pattern in schools.

What it all adds up to, Granger said, is that there have been tremendous advances in the past ten years but that there is still much to be done and he is completing a nationwide tour of Urban League branches to help them plan programs to meet these problems.

Authority

As special adviser to Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal during World War II, Granger traveled extensively in the United States and the Pacific theater inspecting naval facilities and service conditions affecting Negro naval personnel. His recommendations played a major part in the abolition of segregation in the Navy. For this service he was awarded the Navy's "Distinguished Civilian Service Medal" and later the President's "Medal for Merit."

President Truman appointed him as a member of the five-man Committee on Equality of Treatment and Opportunity in the Armed Services. This committee is credited with the post-war integration of Negroes and other minorities into the armed forces on a non-segregated basis.

Granger is also president of the National Conference on Social Work, a member of the Joint Committee on Social Reconstruction of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church and the National Citizens Committee for the Public Schools. He is a trustee of Hampton Institute and a corporator of Springfield (Mass.) College. In 1946 he received from Dartmouth College (his alma mater), and from Wilberforce University the honorary doctorates of humane letters "for leadership in promoting interracial understanding and cooperation."

His articles on economic and social aspects of race relations have appeared in Survey Magazine and the Social Work Yearbook. A native of Virginia, he was educated in New Jersey public schools, Dartmouth, and the graduate schools of New York University and the New York School of Social Work.

The Annual Awards to the persons and firms whom the League's Awards Committee felt have done most during the year to improve community and interracial relations will be a feature of the Annual Meeting.

Movie stars Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell will present the Eugene Kinckle Jones Perpetual Trophy to the Los Angeles Period Furniture Company for the integration of its factory and office personnel on the basis of ability. The trophy was presented to the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company in 1950 and to the Los Angeles Rams professional football team last year. The Stanley Foundries will receive an award for their democratic hiring practices.

Individual awards will go to Robert Buckner, producer of "Bright Victory" starring James Edwards and Arthur Kennedy. This motion picture dealt with the readjustment problems of blinded war veterans.

Also receiving awards from the movie stars will be George Leslie Thomas, executive director of the Los Angeles County Conference on Community Relations; William E. Pollard, executive secretary of the Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Union; M. Earl Grant, rancher and president of the Watts Savings and Loans Association; Mother Laura Rector, USO and community relations worker.

Dr. Leonard Stovall, Director of the Outdoor Life and Health Association and Umpire Emmett Ashford will also be honored with awards.

The public is invited to the meeting. There is no admission fee.

Expert Advice Offered To Jeff Pupils

More than 350 recent graduates and seniors of Jefferson High School will secure expert advice on future careers Thursday, 1 p.m., March 20 in the school's auditorium at 1319 E. 41st street.

A boy and a girl student will win a cash prize of $10 at the Vocational Clinic which is a feature of the Urban League's 20th Annual Vocational Opportunity Campaign observed by League branches throughout the country.

In addition to securing expert counsel the students will compete for the cash award for the best essay on "Why I Chose My Career." A $10 cash prize to the boy who writes the best essay is being awarded by Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and a similar award will be given the best essay by a girl by Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Doyle Opens Congress Drive

Edward S. Hardwick, prominent Los Angeles attorney and a resident of the southeast area for the past 20 years, was named early this week as chairman of the Clyde Doyle campaign in the 55th Assembly district. The veteran legislator is seeking a third term as representative from Los Angeles' 23rd Congressional District.

Headquarters were officially opened on Monday morning at 1666 East 103rd street simultaneously with the announcement of the names of distinguished community leaders who will serve as key aides on a handpicked "steering committee."

Pledging unanimous support to the Doyle campaign as Hardwick's partial list of committee aides are the Rev. John J. Hicks, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church; Mrs. Fannie Leonard, Dr. W. L. Smith and the Rev. James L. Jones.

Form New Negro Labor Group in N.Y.

NEW YORK — Representatives of 75 anti-Communist unions organized a national organization to be known as the Negro Labor Committee, U.S.A., at the Theresa Hotel here last Saturday.

The new organization, sanctioned by both the AFL and the CIO, is regarded as a declaration of war against the National Negro Labor Council, which held its founding conference in Cincinnati last fall, and which is regarded by the CIO and AFL as Communist dominated.

Approximately 350 delegates were present at the meeting, including James B. Carey, secretary of the CIO; Lewis G. Hines, representing AFL President William Green; A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters AFL; and Willard Townsend, president of the United Transport Service Co.

Dr. Channing Tobias, United States delegate to the Sixth Assembly of the United Nations, was one of the speakers.

The organization's constitution bars membership to "Communist or Communist-dominated trade unions and all other anti-democratic groups." It is pledged to fight for the economic and political equality of Negroes, together with the objectives of the organized labor movement.

Co-Chairmen

Elected co-chairman of the new organization were Randolph and Townsend. Frank R. Crosswaith, general organizer of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, was elected honorary national chairman.

Carey, in his talk to the conference, outlined the objectives of the CIO in the field of civil liberties as follows:

1. "Economic equality, the right to get a job at equal pay for equal work, with equal opportunity to be promoted in accordance with skill or merit.

2. "Political equality, the right to share equally in participating at the ballot box in selecting the government, national or local, under which we live.

3. "Equality of opportunity to share in the services of the community, such as a room in a hotel, a meal in a restaurant, medical care and a seat for a child in a schoolroom."

Resolutions adopted by the conference called upon the United States Senate to abolish its infamous "Rule 22," which enables Dixiecrats to prevent passage of civil rights legislation; and proposed a Federal law providing for payment of $50,000 to relatives of any person lynched, and strengthening of the Department of Justice to deal with violators.

Trial of GI's Branded Unfair

WASHINGTON — The trial of two Negro GIs convicted of the rape-murder of a white civilian employee on the Island of Guam was lacking in fundamental fairness, Attorneys Frank D. Reeves and Robert L. Carter charged this week, in filing a writ of habeas corpus in the United States District Court here.

They are applying for the writ on the grounds that the convictions of Robert Burns and Herman Dennis were based on perjured testimony, illegally secured evidence, and coerced confession, and that the whole atmosphere of the trial was one in which an impartial decision could not have been made.

More About School Safe

proximately three inches of rain, children came home from the school to tell of the falling plaster, the leaks, and the cold.

That brought the issue, which has been a sore one for some time with a number of the parents, to an immediate head.

Mothers began conferring with each other over the telephone. The idea that the school was unsafe and that the children should be kept home seemed in everyones' mind. Volunteers undertook to communicate with every mother they could reach. They did the job over the weekend. On Monday morning, close to two-thirds of the children were absent.

The parents' committee had also been formed and had arranged for the meeting at the school.

Slays Uncle

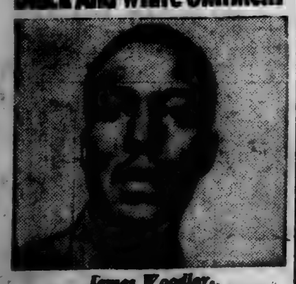
widow, Leona Burton, didn't testify and told Eagle reporters that she knew absolutely nothing about the whole affair.

Green told the coroner's jury that on Saturday night a light from a car flashed in the window of his apartment, and Burton called to his wife. When she didn't answer, he began throwing small rocks against the window, and then tried to open the door. When no one answered Burton, who evidently was unaware that Green was present, shouted, "I guess you want me to come back later," and left the porch.

Broke in House

Green said that he went into the living room and got the bayonet. Burton returned about five minutes later, and when he didn't receive an answer, broke the door down entering the apartment.

There was a slight struggle, and Burton hit him over the head with a wrench. Green testified that he then stabbed his uncle with the bayonet. Burton hit him again with the wrench, according to Green, and in the bloody fight he lost his head and stabbed Burton several times with the weapon.



Burton staggered from the house, reeled to the top of an incline, collapsed and then rolled to the bottom. During the fight, Mrs. Green climbed out of the window, went to the apartment of neighbors and asked them to call police.

When police arrived they found Burton dead, with the wrench and a flashlight under him and a screwdriver in his pocket. Green was waiting for them in the house. He was arrested and taken to the hospital for treatment of a wound on top of his head.

Mary Louise McDaniels, 3855 S. Arlington, sister of Burton, testified that she knew of the trouble between the three for about a year, and implied that the affair had Mrs. Green's consent, but Mrs. Green took the stand and testified that she never had an affair with Burton. She said that for a long time Burton had been trying to go with her, and on two occasions beat her up because she wouldn't have an affair with him.

The coroner's jury returned the verdict of justifiable homicide in less than 15 minutes.

Urban League Aids Placing Children Of Broken Homes

A broken home spells tragedy for all concerned. But the tragedy is especially poignant for children. What becomes of them? Where can they find the care, affection and consideration so necessary for their development?

Especially, where can they find the warmth and protection they need if they happen to be Negro?

Barred Negroes

There are many institutions in Los Angeles which still give homes to children, but as the Urban League found out several years ago when it was confronted with the problem, there were very few such places that were open to a child if he happened to have a dark skin.

They found only one place in all the city that would welcome Negro children. That was the Boys' Home of the Independent Church of Christ. All other doors were closed.

That was in January, 1950.

Sought Solution

The Urban League felt that if the great need were brought to the attention of existing institutions, a way could be discovered to find homes, temporary or permanent—whichever was needed—for the unfortunate youngsters who otherwise would be parked on unwilling relatives or, despite the fact they were very young, would be left to fend for themselves.

The League appointed Mrs. Loren Miller as its representative to present the problem to the city's Welfare Council. Her report was instrumental in bringing into existence the Welfare Council Committee, with dynamic Mrs. Eugene Rubin as its chairman.

Persuasion

Mrs. Rubin has grappled with the situation resolutely, but armed with persuasion instead of a sledgehammer.

"Knowing that institutions are able to care for additional children," she said, "we think it is better to use an individual, educational approach to these agencies rather than compulsory legislative measures."

It was only a little over two years ago that the committee was set up. But instead of one agency that will accept Negro children, there are now 14 such agencies. These are:

Co-operating Agencies

Boys' and Girls' Aid, Church Home for Children, Convent of the Good Shepherd, David and Margaret Home, Hathaway Home, LeRoy Boys' Home, Rancho San Antonio, Rosemary Cottage, Spanish American Institute, Nazareth House, Little Sisters of the Poor, St. Boniface, Optimist Home and Los Angeles Orphanage.

The work of the committee has not been limited to the institutions. Work has also been done with the placement agencies that have the responsibility of referring children to institutions. Individuals and organizations wishing to place children are urged to call Joseph W. Walker, Health and Welfare Secretary of the Urban League, at ADams 5128 and/or Welfare Information Service, MIchigan 8821.

Agencies which participate in these activities are: Bureau of Public Assistance, Harriet Erickson and Elizabeth Robinson; Catholic Welfare Bureau, Mary E. Corliss; Hathaway Home, Maxine Elliott; Probation Department, Mrs. Mary Tassis and Patrick Palace; Children's Bureau, Mrs. Ernestine Wood; Rosemary Cottage, Virginia Fenwick; U.S.C. School of Social Work, Professor John Milner; Auxiliary of Vista del Mar, Mrs. Eugene Rubin; State Department of Social Welfare Council staff, Mrs. Marian Peterson; and Urban League, Mrs. Inch Payton and Joseph W. Walker.

Dr. H. Claude Hudson, national NAACP executive board member, will be the principal speaker. The meeting is being widely supported by labor, church and community organizations of the beach area.

Participating in the meeting are Father Thomas Berry of the Long Beach St. Barnard Parish, Rabbi Elliott Gaflin of Israel temple, Rev. Joseph Jacks of Bethel AME church, Rev. Emmerson Hanger of the First Congregational church, Rev. John Kirkpatrick of New Hope Baptist church of Long Beach.

Easter to Head GOP Committee

W. A. Easter, prominent South Los Angeles realtor, was named chairman of the new fifty-fifth assembly district republican precinct drive March 7 during a Twenty-third congressional district precinct workshop meeting in the Civic Auditorium at South Gate.

The appointment of Easter was made by Glendon L. Tremaine, chairman of the Los Angeles County Precinct Committee, with the backing of Oscar V. McCracken, congressional precinct chairman. The appointee, will have the responsibility of thoroughly canvassing the 170 precincts located largely in the Watts-Willowbrook area, with scatterings in Firestone, Graham, South Gate and Lynwood communities.

IPP Picks Two To Lead Party

NEW YORK — A Progressive Party committee this week recommended Vincent Hallinan of San Francisco and Mrs. Charlotta Bass of New York as party nominees for President and Vice-President.

Hallinan, 55, is an attorney. Mrs. Bass, a Negro, is the former publisher of the California Eagle.

The selections were made by the candidates committee, which called on the party's State groups to meet to vote on the two. The two names will be presented formally to the party's national committee in Chicago, March 29-30.

Florence Stores Employ Negroes

New progress in ending discrimination in employment in the Slauson - Florence - Manchester area was reported this week by the Florence Fair Employment Practices Committee. A Negro cashier is reported to have been hired by the Avalon Food Center at Avalon and Florence and a Negro clerk is now working at Frank's Food Market, 77th place and Hooper according to the fair employment campaign leaders.

"We are happy to see the business men in this community take the initiative in ending the Jim Crow policy which unfortunately prevailed for so long here. It has always been our conviction that fair employment was not only good Americanism but that it was also good community relations and that most business operators could see the logic of this through friendly discussion," the committee said.

Judge Dismisses Burglar Charge

Police Officer Robert Hutson's complaint that Raphael Lacefield had burglarized his automobile last Jan. 27 came to naught last week when Superior Judge Phillip Richards ordered dismissal of the charges against Lacefield. Lloyd C. Griffith, Lacefield's attorney persuaded Judge Richards that testimony given at the preliminary hearing last Feb. 13 was insufficient to connect his client with the crime.

Hutson said that he saw the lad near his car and that he afterward discovered that a window glass in the front door had been cut with an instrument but admitted that he did not see Lacefield enter the car. Under cross-examination he admitted that the boy's probation officer has called the arrest "a roust arrest."

Urban League Head Chosen to Dedicate Child Care Center

Wesley R. Brazier, executive director of the Los Angeles Urban League, will deliver the address at the dedication of the Child Care Center of Victory Baptist church, 48th and McKinley, Sunday, March 16, at 3 p.m.

The church's child care center is supported entirely by contributions of church members, according to the Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor.

They set up an organization, and are incorporating as the Val Verde County Water District.

Officers and board members elected at the first meeting were: S. Franklin, president; E. Brooks, secretary; Ed Myers, J. Roseborough, A. Stephens and Dr. Lawrence.

The project will cost approximately $100,000 and Gertrude Barksdale, civic and business woman, has been elected head of the committee to raise funds to start the project. Willie Covan will produce an All Star Vanity show, April 30, at the El Sombrero ballroom to aid in the project.

Mrs. Barksdale urges interested parties to contact her at the BB Market, Rt. 3, Box 108m, Saugus, Calif.

Chance to Honor League

The Los Angeles Urban League's annual meeting Friday night serves to call attention to the hard and persistent work that agency has done in this community.

The Urban League's job isn't as spectacular as that of some of our other organizations and it doesn't rate the headlines as they do but the job it does is equally as important.

All through the year the League does a painstaking job in the field of employment and community relations that needs doing badly.

Its files are full of instances where it has persuaded employers to drop old color barriers and where it has prevailed with labor unions to wipe out customs and practices that have stymied the employment of Negro workers.

On a community relations level the League has done good work in persuading social agencies to extend their services to Negroes and in seeing to it that recreation and health services are expanded in areas in which Negroes live. There is no way to estimate the benefits that these kinds of activities have brought to all of us but only the blind can fail to see the results.

The Urban League's services on a national scale parallel those that it performs on the local level. Every Negro in the United States enjoys a fuller measure of freedom for what it has done and for what it is doing.

Chief architect of the League's national policy is Lester B. Granger who will speak at the local League's annual meeting Friday and we're certain that the report he will bring will be of importance to all of us. (Only modesty prevents us from mentioning that he is one of the Eagle columnists but if you will glance across the page you will see that he is with us every week.) And now that we've mentioned names we might as well pause here and say that Wesley Braizer, the Los Angeles secretary, is primarily responsible for the excellent work that the League does here.

What we started out to say is that Friday will be an excellent time for the citizens of the community to turn out and pay their respects to an agency that has made Los Angeles a better city.

The Right Thing to Do

The San Pablo Negro contractor who insisted on his right to occupy the home he had purchased in that Oakland suburb showed far better judgment than the Chinese who took a vote of his neighbors on his right to live in his own home in South San Francisco.

The Constitution, as we have pointed out before, gives every American the right to purchase and occupy property wherever he wills and that is a right that ought to be exercised. There is no constitutional difference between the exercise of the right to choose a home and the right to cast a ballot. Neither should depend on the whims of a handful of prejudiced neighbors.

We'll venture the guess that San Pablo residents will soon find out that their new neighbor is just as concerned as they are about making the community a decent place in which to live. In six months all the hullabaloo will have been forgotten and democracy will have been vindicated.

Help the Red Cross

The Red Cross annual fund drive ought to get the active backing of every resident of the community.

The Red Cross is on the job year in and year out whenever and wherever disaster strikes. Its assistance is extended without regard to the race or the creed or the color of those who are victims.

We haven't always seen eye to eye with the Red Cross on some of its policies affecting race, particularly with its old policy of segregating the blood of blood donors but happily that practice has been abandoned in all but the most backward communities in the deep south.

We know that almost every week brings a new plea for aid from some group and that it is hard for the average citizen to sort out the charities and select the right ones.

The Red Cross is one American institution that deserves all the support it can get from every American.

Booby Prize for Nixon

California Senator Richard Nixon went on record last week with the assertion that Georgia Senator Richard Russell would be the most difficult Democratic candidate for the Republicans to beat this fall.

Whether that statement marks Senator Nixon as naive or just indulging in wishful thinking isn't clear. What is clear is that he deserves the Booby Prize of the week.

Senator Russell couldn't carry a single large important northern or western state without the Negro vote and it is a cinch that he couldn't get a handful of Negro votes. He has been one of the worst Negro baiters in the Senate and one of the chief obstructionists in the fight for civil rights legislation.

If Nixon's plug for Russell indicates that California's junior senator has a sneaking admiration for his colleague from Georgia he ought to come out in the open and say so. If he thinks that the South can elect a president he is singularly lacking in political judgment.

Yorty Deserves Support

Congressman Sam Yorty's announcement that he will be a candidate for Congress from the newly created Twenty-Sixth District will meet with the general approval of voters in the Sixty-second Assembly District.

Mr. Yorty is just finishing his first term in Congress and he would be the first to admit that he hasn't been able to do all that he wanted to do. The important thing is that he has been on the right side of every issue that has affected the voters of this community.

We don't know what kind of opposition he will have in the primary election or in next fall's general election but we think it is safe to hazard the guess that he will get a large majority of the votes cast by local voters.

Ike Cops Out

General of the Army Eisenhower, who is also a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination on the side, has told newspaper correspondents that he has no jurisdiction to interfere with segregation of Negroes in the European theater.

This pass-the-buck attitude on Jim Crow in the armed forces is consistent with Eisenhower's outlook on the whole matter. He weaseled out of giving a direct answer when he was queried before a Senate committee a few years ago. What emerged from his testimony was something to the effect that segregation isn't consistent with our democratic ideals but that he, Eisenhower, was afraid that if it were abolished Negroes wouldn't get their fair share of officers.

Negro voters aren't going to be satisfied with the kind of statements that the general is making on this highly important matter. At a time when we are spending billions to contain Communism in Europe and Asia, Negroes have a right to expect a forthright opposition to Jim Crow from a candidate for the presidency.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

The contrast between the actions of Sing Sheng, the Chinese who was "voted" out of his home in South San Francisco, Calif., by his white prospective neighbors, and those of Wilbur D. Gray, a Negro navy veteran, who refused to budge from his home in Richmond, Calif., highlights an interesting facet of race relations in America and methods of attacking prejudice.

Mr. Sheng performed a service to crusaders against bigotry when he placed his trust in a secret vote of the neighborhood to decide whether he should have his home or not. The vote, which went against him, gave American democracy a black eye around the world. The Kremlin propoganda machine grabbed it like a bass snapping a fly and in a matter of hours the story was racing over Asia. Senator Knowland and his fellows are raving against the Truman foreign policy, claiming it has lost China for us. Senator Knowland is barking up the wrong tree. The policy that lost us China, and perhaps all Asia, is the color line policy. The people who did the deed are not in the White House, but in Senator Knowland's political backyard—California. Some of the most eager little helpers live in South San Francisco.

But, while he dramatized the situation, Mr. Sheng wound up without a home. Navy veteran Wilbur Gray, over on the other side of San Francisco, settled for a home, let the propaganda chips fall where they may. Gray, like most Negroes who decide to move into a neighborhood hitherto all white, refused to put his rights to a vote. Once having made up his mind, he struck. If the neighbors did not like it, well that was just too bad. His wife did not expect to entertain many of them at tea, anyway. Gray stood pat on his right to buy the home. He knew better than to rest his decision on a vote of other people's prejudices. In a democracy every man is supposed to be equal before the law. The law is supposed to be for all and is not supposed to embody the personal prejudices of one group toward another. In fact, the whole struggle for civil rights is one to prevent private and personal prejudices from becoming the law of the land. The struggle is not to prevent people from having their pet hates, but to stop them from making their personal feelings the over-riding law.

All over the land Negro Americans have been battling for better homes in better neighborhoods. They defied restrictive covenants and bet their life savings against Negro exclusion clauses. They stood up to mobs hurling rocks and bombs. They refused bribes to get out. They ignored hostile neighbors and nasty children. They stuck tight. There is hardly a city in America of any size where the natives won't point out houses or streets which marked successive "deadlines" against Negro occupancy.

After the first bitterness has been expressed and the whites find that the Negro is not going to budge, either the neighborhood changes peacefully to all-Negro occupancy, or the Negro family becomes a respected member of the community. In many cases the Negro family develops the best house in the area, or the best garden, or most beautiful lawn. In one case whites who had threatened a Negro dentist for "invading" their neighborhood in the short space of three years were sending their children to him for dental work.

The next time anyone says Negroes won't fight, remember the Sheng case and the Gray case, both in sunny California. Sheng helped the general struggle with his referendum, but lost his home. Gray also helped the general struggle, but kept his home.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

By Lester B. Granger

SEATTLE, Wash.—Seattle looked very good to me upon my arrival here, after a running battle with "flu" in Chicago, notice of cancellation of my plane flight, a seven-hour train trip to Minneapolis to try connections there, and finally a take-off at 2:00 a.m. and a landing six hours later on the shore of Puget Sound.

After that, any place that offered a hot breakfast, a visit to the doctor and a warm bed would have looked good, but Seattle's charms were of higher quality. I like the town. It's a clean place for a city of its size—close to half a million people in the city proper, and well over that it its metropolitan reaches. It's a beautiful place, lying between Sound on one side and Lake Washington on the other, with the Cascades Mountains standing snow-capped close at hand.

And Seattle is a friendly place, too. Long before civil rights laws hit the West Coast—back when Negro New Yorkers found themselves sitting behind posts in theaters and unable to catch the waiter's eye in restaurants—Seattle was known as a place where the Negro citizen's money was accepted as American currency in places of public accommodation. Even the bitter anti-Oriental agitation of California's pre-World War II shame softened markedly as it moved up the Pacific Coast toward the "gateway to the East."

Of course there was a catch to all this. Negroes used to say sardonically: "Yeah, we can spend our money wherever we want, but try to earn some!" The fact was that jobs which Negroes were accustomed to doing in other places without question were unaccountably barred to them here—for instance, dock work, restaurant jobs, cooking, etc. The Boeing Airplane plant was as near lily-white as an industrial enterprise could be.

Changes have been made—more Negroes, more pressure for opportunities, more awareness of injustices, more skillful planning and spokesmanship. The Negro population has grown from 4,000 in 1940 to 17,000 today. A business and professional leadership has supplemented the old fraternal lodge and civic clubs. An unusually alert and resourceful Urban League is in operation. The job situation has greatly improved; housing problems are being worked out; the whole atmosphere of racial change that includes Japanese, Negroes and Chinese is much smoother than in most cities.

Not that Seattle is any Eden, not by any means. There are the rabble-rousers and hate peddlers. There are enough unsavory situations for Communists to find first-class exploitative possibilities. A rustle-bustle recently took place around an attempt by Communist-front groups to bring public "Negro History Week" observances into school auditoriums. Negro leaders agreed fairly unanimously that they did not want Negro History, Communist-style—did not, in fact, want Negro history pushed down their throats one week a year. They wanted Negro contributions and achievements to be considered as typical American achievements, so recorded in history and so taught in classes. The school board was impressed and promised action on the recommendation.

Out at the Boeing plant there are now 20 young Negro engineers employed, and many hundreds of other members of their race at various jobs. A hundred new homes for Negro buyers were built outside the run-down area where a majority of their race previously lived. There is a free exchange of opinion and a freshness of outlook here that makes Chicago seem like a bad dream. That's why Seattle looked good to me.

The Eagle is glad to publish your letters. Say anything you want to say, whether it is critical of our policies or in approval of them. We'll print what you have to say if you will keep your letters as short as you can. And you'll help us if you'll type your letters. If you can't type them, please write legibly on one side of the paper. Thanks.

WE'RE WITH YOU

Dear Sir:

I've decided to be a candidate for reelection to Congress from my district which has been renumbered 26 and extended to include voters I have not heretofore had the honor of representing, although retaining a large part of my present district. The decision has not been easy as most would suppose and is based upon a desire to be of service rather than on personal consideration.

In a legislative body which moves slowly, and which can prove frustrating, it has been my good fortune to be in a position to help preserve vital rights of the people of our state, of people whom I am extremely proud and to whom I feel a deep sense of loyalty as well as inexpressible gratitude for their confidence in honoring me with four terms in elective public office.

The Congress of the United States is a partisan legislative body, much more partisan than our state legislature, and yet in matters of peculiar interest to California I have felt gratified and inspired by the support, encouragement, and kind commendations received from many citizens and newspapers of divergent political persuasion. This fact has played a large part in shaping my desire to remain in Congress in order to carry forward the tasks which I have undertaken.

So fast has time raced by, that I feel my work here has barely commenced. Yet it is election year again, and while I probably will not be able to spend very much time campaigning in California, I am confident that the voters of my district will understand the reasons for my remaining here while we are in session.

Politics being what it is I suppose the usual distortions of facts will enter into this campaign, as in others, I know, however, that my friends have to disseminate the truth upon which political decisions like all others, should ultimately rest.

Cordially yours,
SAM YORTY

DOESN'T AGREE

Dear Sir:

I am a reader of your paper; I find its editorials and news content most interesting.

This letter is being written with the express purpose of voicing my position regarding your permanent, or constant attack upon the managing editor of the Los Angeles Sentinel in regard to the Sentinel's position or policies pertaining to our community, state and nation's problems. And regarding the silence, or the failure of the Sentinel to support our recent NAACP Rally held at the Shrine Auditorium Feb. 21 last, which of course was one of the most successful meetings that our local branch has ever held in Los Angeles.

Let us be realistic about matters, and things, and about people. I feel that your consatnt attack in the open press upon any member of the race, especially upon a community leader, or upon any publisher is bad taste, and does not serve the purpose for which it is intended.

Yes, I have supported our NAACP for 40 years, and firmly believe that every true American should support its program and policies. But I can see no logic in entering into a public quarrel with my neighbor just because he or she does not share my views, I believe it would be much better to sit down at the table with my neighbor and strive to convince him that it is helpful and beneficial to both, when we support the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League or any truly democratic organization that seeks to rid our country of Mob Rule, Lynch Law, the KKK, the Communist Party, and other subversive organizations that seek to destroy our "temple of democracy" which has cost us nearly two hundred years of "toil, work, sweat, blood and tears" to build.

Why not bury the hatchet, and let us make a more peaceful or harmonious approach to the subject matter? Let us not forget: "United we success, divided we fall."

Yours truly,
MARTIN BROWN,
A Legionnaire.
2122 W. Jefferson Blvd.

Editor's Note: Do you think we should "unite" in opposition to FEPC? Or in ignoring and attacking the NAACP? Of course, you don't. How can there be unity with those who advocate what are essentially an anti-Negro program.

THE CISTERN AND THE FOUNTAIN
By Jean Matheson

A pleasant Scottish lady, deserted by her scoundrel husband, decides to turn her lovely 18th century home into a guest house. Little did she suspect that the guests would include a murderer, a thief, and a woman who communes with the Evil One. With the aid of the local minister, the Evil One is routed, and all ends well. Refreshingly different with a deft touch of characterizations.

I AND CLAUDIE
By Dillon Anderson

An amusing tale of two likeable nomadic rascals who prefer not to work in one place or at one job after it palls. They work their way through Texas and Louisiana with carnivals, side shows, revivals and politicians, with Clint doing the talking and furnishing the ideas. Claudie the young giant, does the work but he isn't as stupid as he seems, especially when it comes to the ladies. Good humor.

OLYMPIC PROSPECTS

Perhaps the largest number of Uncle Samuel's Olympic Games cinder prospects from the Pacific Coast will emerge in the Long Beach Relays Saturday—the meet which was slated to be the curtain raiser was washed out last week due to heavy rains. . . . This should add more zest to the relays because of the major universities will be idle that day and many more junior colleges are slated to enter. . . .

MAL WHITFIELD

Local fans will have a chance to see UCLA's famed George Brown and Rod Richards in their first step toward an Olympic Games berth. . . . George, who was heralded the greatest broad jumper in the world last campaign, should, if he is right, win the gold medal in this event. . . . Californians who should be strong candidates for the Olympic team as this column conductor sees it are as follows: Guy Blackburn, Leamon King, the 15-year-old wonder from Delano High, Ollie Matson, '48 Olympic Games 800-meter champ, Mal Whitfield, also an ex-Jeff champion, Johnny Barnes, Billy Anderson, Dick Attesey, Gil ex-ELAJC star, Eddie Macon, Gary Green, Lang Stanley, Lawrence "Teddy Bear" Williams, Steve Turner, Bob McMillen, Otey Scruggs, and Jack Davis, Bob Mathias, Willie Dancer and Herman Wyatt. . . . Check these names around the latter part of May and see how far I missed the boat. . . . Californians won six gold medals in '48 and scored 90½ of the United States' 198 digits. . . .

BASEBALL'S ROW—

Reports have it that Willie Mays, the New York Giants great rookie of last year, is sometime in the clubhouse suiting up at 8 o'clock. . . . Mays, a hustling youngster of 19 from Alabama, doesn't know how long he's got before he hears from his draft board and he doesn't want to waste a minute. . . . Dodgers' headman, Charlie Dressen, this week tabbed Ben Wade as the pitcher most likely to take up the slack left by Don Newcombe's departure for the Army. . . . It's said that Dressen also has great hopes for rookie Joe Black. . . . Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians stated this week why his athletes are going to win the American Loop Flag. . . . Al expects a lot of help from Sad Sam Jones, the big fireballer from San Diego. . . . Jones has been playing all winter in the Cuban League, Lopez is reportedly keeping him on the shelf for the present time . . . but Lopez says himself that it looks as if he'll have to find a place for Jones as a starter. . . . Lopez states that he feels sure that he's going to get a lot of hitting from Luke Easter and Larry Doby that he didn't get last campaign. . . . Here at home, according to Charlie Park, Stan Hack of the Angels is of the opinion that his brilliant and sometimes erratic shortstop Gene Baker could reap his best season in '52 because of a new glove.

HERE AND YONDER

Don Gray, stellar halfback on the Hollywood High football team is being picked by the Western League experts for both hurdles titles barring injuries. . . . Bernard Bruce and Bob Owens are two fine halfbacks on the Fremont High eleven and the past season are rated by Southern League prognosticators as definite threats to Jefferson's flock of sprinters. . . . Rufus Johnson, ex-Jordan High and Compton College athlete reportedly walked into the Hollywood Stars camp the other day and asked for a tryout. . . . In one practice session he drove one over the left centerfield wall at the 390-foot mark. . . . Fred Haney says he can't ignore power like that . . . my client Augustus G. Brown who asked me to relay to him the channels to go through in securing a tryout with the Angels, the best suggestion I've to offer is to take a lesson after Johnson. . . . Willie Naulls and Earl Battey, all-city cagers of San Pedro and Jordan High respectively were on hand when the Bruins and Huskies met for the PCC title over the weekend. . . . Both of the lads are reportedly ticketed for Westwood. . . . Naulls and Battey will be making strong bids for all-city laurels this spring as horseshiders. . . . According to Ben Ayers, former policeman of the Ben J. Bowie Post, American Legion Junior baseball team, is in need of a sponsor. The club needs $600 to carry them through the season up to the Junior World Series. . . . The club has plans to play before the Angels and Stars in preliminary games. . . . The first game will be played Sunday, May 30, if the club can secure a sponsor. . . . The American Legion Junior Baseball teams have turned out many of the present day big leaguers and I should think a sponsor of this club would be giving many of the community's youngsters a break.

This column conductor believes it's very befitting and proper to commend VIC KELLEY, UCLA's stellar athletic publicity head, for his outstanding job in handling the working press situation at the PCC championship games over the weekend. VIC and his well-versed aides were real congenial and helpful in making it possible for the sports staff of this sheet to get a complete coverage of the play-off games.

Baseball Reception for N.Y. Giants and Major League Stars Getting Big Response

The gigantic reception and dance, honoring the New York Giants, National League champions, and Negro major league stars, has created a tremendous response among local baseball filberts. Interest in the affair has been heightened by the fact that this may be the last time the major league teams will train in California.

Set for Thursday night, March 20, at the Elks auditorium, early ticket sales indicate that baseball fans will throng the Elks to meet Leo Durocher and his fighting Giants, and such stars as Satchel Paige, Luke Easter, Minnie Minosa, Hector Rodriguez, Sam Jones, Larry Doby, and Harry Simpson.

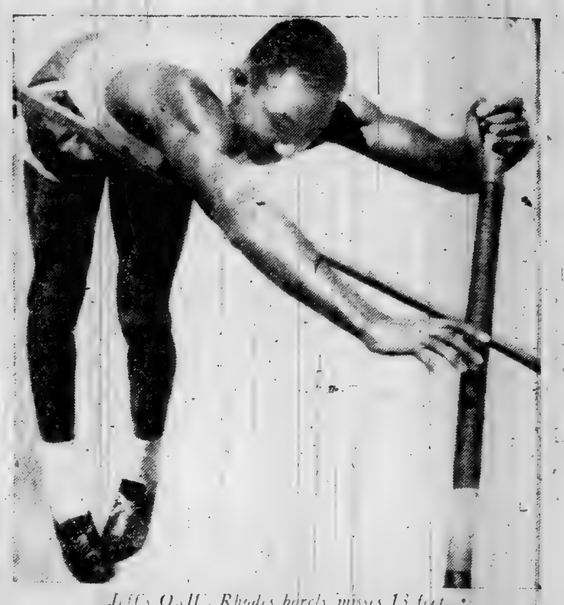
Receive Placques

A sports-minded citizens committee is hosting the reception where the Giant players and the major league stars will receive placques for their outstanding sportsmanship during the last year.

R. Bently Strather, secretary of the Central Avenue Chamber of Commerce, stated that Central avenue merchants are going all-out to show their appreciation of these heroes by presenting them with merchandise awards.

A large portion of the proceeds will go to an outstanding community charity.

Tickets for this great affair can be obtained at the West Coast Public Service office in the Dunbar Hotel, 43rd and Central, or at the California Eagle office.



The gala night will start off with a special dinner for the players and a few honored guests at the Clark Hotel. From there they will be escorted to the Elks auditorium where the players will meet their fans, and autograph baseballs and bats.

At approximately 10:30 the formal presentation of the awards will be made to the players by outstanding community and sports leaders.

Special Invitations

Special invitations have been given to Branch Rickey, Bill Veeck, Al Lopez, Paul Richards, and Hank Greenberg for the outstanding job they have done in bringing democracy to baseball.

Early ticket sales indicate a sell-out house. Herman Hill, one of the sponsors of the affair, urged sports fans planning to attend the affair to get their tickets early and be on hand early to greet the players in fashion that champions and outstanding athletes should be greeted.

JEFF TRAMPLES GLENDALE

By BRAD PYE JR.

FULTON FIELD — Estel Johnson and Joe Barry's Jefferson High Democrat tracksters continued on in tration here Tuesday humiliating the CIF co-Champs from Glendale High by the record score of 102 to 2.

The field eventers literally stole the show from the runners as Jeff's second place state winner in the pole vault, O. W. Rhodes, turned in the top mark of the meet with a 12ft. 6in. effort. He barely missed the 13-foot standard. Shot putter James Carey, all-city tackle, and fourth place winner in the city finals last year, in this event got off a fine put of 50ft. 7in. His all-city teammate, Henry Webb, wasn't far behind.

The powerful Demos, state, city, and league champs for the past three years, made a clean sweep in ten events and nabbed the first and second-place spots in the other two races.

Robert Taylor, "the nose," ran a speedy 52.1s quarter as his relay mates, Walter Barrett and Robert Carter, followed him to the wire. Rosslyn Range, state broad jump placer, was a double first place winner, he rambled to a swift 22.5s. furlong victory and leaped 22ft. 4in. for the blue ribbon in the broad jump.

LaVern Smith, one of Jeff's city champion candidates, got over the bar in the high jump at 6ft. 2in. LaVern did 6ft. 4in. last week.

Roland Harvey also doubled in the high and low barriers with times of 15.3s. and 20.5s. Bob Brown and George Kelley of Glendale picked up their team's 2 digits by placing third in the 100-yard dash and 120-highs respectively. Willie McMahan, star QB, zipped to 2.08s. half mile win.

Eagle's Miller Cub Trackman

CUBDOM—The '52 edition of the Los Angeles City College spike team will feature some of the top prep performers in the town.

Heading the list is Eagle scribe Hal Miller, second place all-city high jumper in '50. Hal is the nephew of Eagle publisher Loren Miller. Gerald Taylor, city 100-yard champ from Jefferson along with another great sprinter, of Jefferson, Lawrence "Teddy Bear" Williams, and Cornell Smith, ex-Jordanite, and Fred Johnson of Jeff should win berths as sprinters. Taylor and Williams are capable of 9.8s. century marks.

Al Moore, city 440 champ from Jeff, should be an adequate replacement for the ineligible Gary Green, heralded as one of the top 400-meter prospects in the land.

Sorry as heck to hear about painful injuries to Joe Terry and Harriet Cunningham in an auto crash last week. Joe is spending his days and nights at home with torn ligaments in one of his legs. Harriet, one of the attractive waitresses at Dynamite Jackson's, was hospitalized for several days.

Maidie Norman came through a serious operation at Methodist Hospital okay, but within a few days after her homecoming had to take to her bed again. Complications. She's improving, but slowly.

The last sentence applies also to my dad, Prof. J. S. Moten. Thanks to Helen Ferrel, Essie Charles and many others for their constant inquiries and concern about the state of his health.

Another auto crash — nothing injured but the car. This one happened when Calvert huckster Ted Albritton's automobile was pushed into one ahead of it in one of those "long line" bumps. Seems there were about six cars each rammed into the vehicle ahead of it.

Ted's daughter, La Verna Hunter, tells us that the Sequins will give a cocktail party at the Alpha Bowling Club on the evening of March 22. La Verna and her husband, Henry, gave a going-away party for Bessie Franklin and her son before the latter pair's departure for a visit to Denver. Some of those present were Vance and Odessa Jones, Sherman Jones, Hazel and David Humphrey, Ben Franklin, husband of the honoree, Willie and Mattie Hunter, Margaret Thomas and Clovis Scott.

Somehow or other, the name of Georgia King of the Sunshine Cheer committee of the Thrifty 16 Social and Charity club was omitted from last week's story which listed 1952 officers and committee heads.

Announcement received from my cousin, Etta Moten Barnett, and her spouse, Claude, of the impending marriage of her youngest daughter, Etta Vee, to Alvis Lee Tinnin. The ceremony is set for Monday, March 31, at 6:30 at Graham Taylor Chapel, 5757 University avenue, in Chicago. The reception will follow at the Skyloft Room, Wedgewood Towers, at 64th and Woodlawn avenue.

"Little Etta" spent quite a few years overseas as a Red Cross worker. She's the youngest of three daughters and, fittingly, the last of the three to marry.

Gotta mention Dynamite's night spot again to call your attention to the terrific pianist, Amanda Ambrose, who thrills patrons with her artistry.

Want Mamie Jackson of the Silver Spurs Riding club to know that we didn't show up at that organization's "Night in Monte Carlo" last Sunday only because her nice note didn't reach us until Monday. We understand that five columnists from dailies, Fred Fox, Tom Coffey, John Grover and Paul V. Coates, were expected.

The Silver Spurs hope to ride in the next Rose Bowl parade. Hope you make it, kids.

That was quite a birthday party that Cody Bond's wife, Esther, gave for him Sunday night in their attractive Exposition boulevard home. There was no shortage of food, drink or congenial company. Among the many guests were Messrs. and Mmes. William Robinson, Miller Barber, Arthur Brooks, James Brown and Julius Brown (no kin); Mmes. Elizabeth Gahn, Anna Mae Williams, Dorothy Benjamin, Misses Susie Leak and Nancy Thomas; Messrs. Edwin Stevens, Gifford Phillips, Felix Nelson and Milton Smith.

It was Edwin Stevens' birthday, too, so hostess Esther provided a second beautifully decorated cake for him in addition to the one made for Cody. The place was crowded with March natal day celebrants. Esther, Elizabeth, Julius and I all will gain another year within the next coupla weeks.

Dunbar and Eleanor Hunt are expecting their fifth child any day now, so that may add another one to "our" month.

National top man of the Urban League, Lester Granger, will be houseguest of the Loren Millers during his current stay here.

Pardon me while I run around the corner and cut my head off. Gotta toothache!

900 at T--G Formal

The Town and Gown Club held its "Prelude to Spring" formal at the beautiful Elks auditorium recently. Atty. James Reese introduced the girls who strolled through a cortege provided by the Van Courtland Boys, who were their hosts for the evening.

The new officers for the year 1952 are Mattie Tarvin, president; Mable Brown, vice president; Eula Mack, financial secretary; Vereachia Gibson, treasurer; Virginia Marmillion, business manager; Geraldine West, corresponding secretary; Daisy Grey, parliamentatian, Bessie Spight, chairman of sick committee; Climentine Robertson, public relations.

The club was organized in 1941 as a charity, civic and soical group. The members usually donate yearly to the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

Q-Ettes Enjoy 'Social'

The Q-ettes met Wednesday night, March 5, at Omega Psi Phi Fraternity House, 2069 S. Oxford, with Mrs. Verna Jackson as gracious hostess.

The president, Mrs. Robert Motley, asked for reports on the affairs giving during the Omegas' 12th district meeting.

A round of applause was given Mrs. Harry Penn on her chairmanship of the banquet and cocktail party given by the Q-ettes. Mrs. Charles Thrash, business manager, and Mrs. Penn reported.

The members had been notified of the departure on the 8th of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Calbert for Liberia. Calbert, a chemist at the Universary of Southern California, is being sent by the Government on a very important job. They will be gone for two years or more.

The club gave Mrs. Calbert a surprise handkerchief shower. She held the office of sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Clarence M. Wiley was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Allen Woodard won first prize in a word-writing contest and Mrs. Wiley won second prize.

Symphony Goers

That was Mildred Blount and Mrs. Henry Lewis in the Saturday morning audience of the L.A. Philharmonic Symphony concert. They were the guests of Mrs. Arthur Wallenstein. Symphony member Henry Lewis Jr. is, as you know, the son of Mrs. Lewis. And he did a solo on Saturday's program. Conductor Wallenstein is enthused genuinely over young Lewis and never misses opportunity to encourage him with his fine career. When Todd Duncan was here he was knocking on wood because luck had been right along with him on his rugged tour. He hadn't even a sniffle. Alas, Todd must have forgotten to rap wood since then he was laid low by flu in New Brunswick last week, three of their concerts cancelled. Weak and wobbly, he was able to continue onto Boston later.

Due: Mrs. Ruth Caston Mueller, Executive Director of the National Council of Negro Women, on a month's tour on which she's visiting fifteen local councils in eight states. UNDERCOVER hounds

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

That popular "Barons Social Club," with Mr. COOL himself as president, hosted the set at their colossal affair Sat. at the Alpha Bowling. The only standing room available was outside in the street. We couldn't penetrate far enough into the dance floor so we took to the skylight through which we noted Gene Taylor with his best gal, Betty Mack. . . . Clarence Kennady and Bret Harte Smith made a handsome pair. . . . As usual, Sam Langford was chasing all of the little girls around the place and seemed to have particular interest in Gene Sexton. . . . Also saw Lee and Clarence Lofton, along with Darl Webster, Buddy Redd, Marie Hurst, Robert Boyde, Gloria James, Louis Grant, Irma Patterson, Deloras Willis and Othella Porter.

SCROLLER SCRAMBLE:

Giving the "Barons" the extent of competition Sat. night was the talked-about club of the SCROLLERS. The Kappa Kastle was the setting, the SET was the cast, and the pledges were the promoters of this gala affair.

Caught in an illegal entry through the back way was Earl Glenn, accompanied by Hurricane Michelle, the flashy dresser. . . . William Johnson and Walker Bruce were stepping lively as they came down from the "Soda Fountain." . . . Alfred Elliot, as usual, attracted most of the female attention. . . . Billy Tyree swore up and down that he saw a "fish" on the dance floor.

Dorothy Cain and Mary Cantrell, Kappa cheerleaders, looked very "SATISFIED." . . . Noticed Herman Ward making eyes at Vivian Jones every time Robert Armstrong turned his back. . . . Nira Hardon and Wardell again made it a twosome. . . . Fernandez Goode brought his lovely from San Gabriel, Sheela Montgomery. . . . Alice Fresno, newcomer to town, created quite a disturbance among certain fellows, namely Herbert McCluster, Cecil Clay, and Bob Dillberry. Greeted luscious Pat Anderson and a guy they call Ernie Lindo. . . . And to call a few more names, let's mention Austin Nicholas and Charlotte Johnson, Mary Ann Vandagen, Leon McCarty, Jo Ann Leonard, and Elenore Duncan.

THIS, THAT, AND THE OTHER:

Melvin Mansfield is to undergo surgery soon and Betty Normand seems to be quite concerned about his recovering soon afterwards. . . . This isn't even a rumor! Leon McCarty has been spending his spare time (and some that isn't spare) making eyes at Elaine Lindo. . . . Tanis Fortier and Barry Kelly are now honeymooners as of last week. . . . Just back from a strenuous weekend in Frisco are the "Happiness Boys," Tony Sheen and Walter Smith.

We're wondering why Le Roy Matthews and Don Benjamin aren't such great friends any more. . . . It seems to us that due to the manpower shortage many of the city's lovelies are staking out at the Red Hut.

This weekend we saw Connie Delgado, June Mathis, Jerry Williams and Barbara Smith. . . . What is this? A love triangle between Bill English, Joan Southern, and George Brown? . . . Some people say that Alpha cheerleader Loretta Lee has been spending her evenings with Jerry Hirshman.

People are talking about the great UCLA basketball player who will not be playing in the coming frat games because of his inability to withstand the hazing administered by a certain frat.

LES BELLES AMIES PRESENT:

For a complete weekend's entertainmena be on hand at the Belles Amies St. Patrick's Day dance. It's traditional to wear green but if you're GREEN, stay away, because there'll be more fun than the law allows. The date is Friday, March 14, at the Park View Manor. Come one, come all, where there will be Jollies galore and plenty more.

BALL AND BALL

Can you imagine a frat game without a basketball? Then you can't begin the series without the "Basket Ball." This is the official opening of the frat series, although the games begin on the 22nd. The Kappas play host at their beautiful Kastle this weekend, March 15. This is something you can't miss! So join the ball all you all.

Betty Ross Flowers left Sunday to join her husband, Edward, in North Carolina.

As the saying goes, all good things must come to an end. So it is with regret that we of "Club Pacifico" must say goodbye to Robert Lee Johnson, for last Sunday ended the series of lectures that we have brought you for the past ten weeks.

However, because we know the potent value of having such able instructions if we are to find our place in the sun (bridgely speaking) it is our aim to bring him back again and again. If not Mr. Johnson, someone of his class.

In the meanwhile we will endeavor to make hay by continuing our Sundays plays. Due to the Harmony Club regional, a men's pair and women's pair being held in our club rooms this Saturday and Sunday, we will not have our regular play. But next Sunday, March 23 at 3 p.m. sharp all members and friends are invited to take part in these plays. Make them your Sunday afternoon habit. Club Pacifico has many heart-warming plans for you which you will probably receive via the mail route. If not, we will gladly send to you if you will call AD. 1-2497. Here in the Angel City we have decided to make the Wilfandel Club on West Adams their new meeting place. On Monday at 8 p.m. Should be quite a step forward for this young, determined group. Lots of luck.

Sunday's game was smooth as usual. And no wonder with so many smoothies listening in on the "ins and outs" of how to fool your opponents by Mr. Johnson. Yours truly went straight to the table feeling quite sure and was the first to get fooled. I. Hamilton was the culprit, and between you and me, the next time I meet him I shall certainly try to repay him for tricking me so quickly. Ah well, it's part of the fun in this game of games and only goes to prove how one must at all times be alert if one is to be in the winning circle.

After the race, however, he opened my eyes for the rest of the play. And, I was lucky enough to come in winner by 3 points thanks to my partner Deloney Norman. C. Ennis and Leonard Black were a close second. Don't know what happened to Mrs. Fritz and her partner. Couldn't be they were stage frightened by the Kibitzer Mr. Johnson. Well, better luck next tme.

It was also nice to have Mrs. M. Swanson and her bridge partner T. Burries play with us. Better luck to you next time also.

Claude Barnett, home from Europe, says integration of colored and white in our army is a farce if what he saw on his recent trip is supposed to be evidence. The Dr. Wm. Add Josephine Baker in Mexico: The altitude put her in bed her first two days there. The Dooley Wilsons were wed twenty-six years last week. His cerebral hemorrhage in N. Singing their way across the globe is the distinction accorded the famous de Paur Infantry Chorus, and on one leg of the journey will be the stop in Los Angeles on March 16 when this celebrated organization gives its concert in the Philharmonic Auditorium.

The de Paur chorus is a group of veterans who sang for American troops from Iwo Jima to Berlin, giving more than 2,000 concerts for the American armed forces under the auspices of the United States Army. They visited every theatre of the war during the course of their travels.

People and Places

DEBBIE ANDREWS, a Duke Ellington discovery in the singing department, doesn't have a bargain in her press agent. That is TONY VANCE, a likeable ex-Detroit newspaperman, isn't getting the young lady singer the west coast publicity she so badly needs. We chatted briefly with Vance via phone and accomplished little as the so-called experienced newspaperman haggled about spending a lousy $7.50 for a publicity engraving. It's high time the eastern Negro press agent realized the peasants on the west coast aren't fools about their music. Unless they learn the value of advance publicity, they can leave the likes of Debbie Andrews home. We recall the stormy box-office appeal that Billy Eckstine, Nat (King) Cole and many other top name stars had in their climb. Timely publicity did the trick. It is a known fact that one hit record isn't the answer to box-office fame nowadays. Clever publicity is the answer and the newspaper is your best bet.

WRONG GUESSES

Nearly everybody in town put the wrong construction on that item of two weeks ago in People and Places about the prominent west side young lady allegedly picked up by police officers. We apologize for the wording that gave off the impression that the person involved was the daughter of Architect Paul Williams. Definitely, she was not involved. We're sorry if that construction was put on the item. Incidentally, the other names that have been guessed were just as wide of the mark.

POLICE BALL—Warrant Officers DUNBAR HUNT and ROBERT HANNIBAL are wishing that their many friends contact them for their ducats. That goes for SONNY HOWARD, GEORGE HYMAN, MOSE STEVENS, SONNY MADDOX, DR. WELLES FORD, DR. JOHN COLEMAN, ETHEL SISSLE, IVAN CANNADY, BETTY HOWARD, and a few of the realtors. THE SOUR NOTE—of the successful Zenith's affair at the Club Alabam recently: ERNEST WHITMAN, straight-man on the BEULAH show, told the members that he didn't get enough publicity out of the affair and he would not appear. However, Lillian Randolph, star of the famed radio show came, and added new laurels to her already famous name. We look to see the name of Whitman slide into oblivion.

GRADY SHANK is taking up housekeeping elsewhere since his wife claimed to the judge that he was much too cruel. THE PLUNGE, or the swimming pool set, is expecting fireworks when a so-called blueblood daughter announces a not too blessing event. THAT young widow with equally attractive daughter better check her horoscope for the dashing young man in question may not be after her. It easily could be the daughter. Those after school pickups are not as innocent as they appear. GRAMMAR SCHOOL, that elementary affair with the chick in the shining light limousine is making a lot of eyebrows raise among the Virginia Road neighbors. They say our kids are wild these days!

HIGH SCHOOL CHATTER—La Julianetts, a teen-age group sponsored by Mrs. Earlene Robinson, had a gala slumber party at Rocolla Gart's, 1788 W. 25th street home Friday night. Those who went slumbering were Irene Hart, president; Bertha Jones, Alfreda Holt, Vessie Porter, Larraine Anderson, Noreen Gant, Artis Ward, Nola Smith, Betty Sanky, Fannie Sparks, Janet Harold, Shirley Walker, Rosie Wingfield, Gloria Jackson, Jackie Jackson, Jackie Alexander, Marlene Reed, Nancy Latimore, Judy Allen, Marion Hicks, Cleo Baines, Patricia Washington, Barbara Wade and Barbara Lawson. WHAT'S HAPPENING DEPT.—Harold Kimball and Emily Little? Is it so that the Matthews-Hammond campus romance has hit rock bottom? SOMEONE please pull Fannie Parks' slip so she might realize that Ernest has "deme there eyes." BETTY JO MORRIS and Alum Berry went skating; they are still picking splinters out of you know where. EVELYN MITCHELL and Melvin Taylor get a bang out of life just being alone together. LEROY WADE and Jean Cullens are lovers no more. MANUAL ARTS' number one gal is ELNORA JOHNSON. YOUNG debutante Mildred Blackburn gave a baby shower in honor of Pearl Nealy. YUMA, ARIZ.— is the hitching post and Irene Hart and Aaron Anderson made the trip Saturday. We have been keeping numbers on Walter Hart but can't come up with but two figures: Joyce Bates and Janie Nelson. TWO NICE PEOPLE are Bertha Jones and Alfreda Holt, both Jeff High students. Alfreda's mother Mary operates the Studio of Beauty at 2515 Central.

CHARLES (THE HEEL) SIFFORD called in person at the EAGLE office. We guess he came to protest about our writing about things happening in Judge F. Ray Bennett's court. We wagered him 5 that could get him 10 if we were wrong. He made a country break as if to get some loot from his pocket. We asked the phone number of two detectives that no doubt were familiar to Señor Sifford. Upon hearing their names he made a bee-line for the office door and Lloyd La Beach would have had trouble catching up with him. Our boss requires us to deal in facts. No rumors or hearsay go in this pillar.

BILLY STRAYHORN, Duke Ellington's arranger and one of the best in the nation, dropped in our office carrying a fifth of his favorite and cups were arranged in record time. BLOCKADE RUNNER—Mark Stevens protects Angela Lansbury with his revolver in a tense scene from "Mutiny," saga of the American ship in the War of 1812.

'Mutiny' at Three First Run Theaters

"Mutiny," filmed in Technicolor, action-full King Bros., production backgrounded against the exciting events of the War of 1812 and starring Mark Stevens, Angela Lansbury, Patric Knowles and Geno Evans opens today at the Ritz, United Artists and Vogue Theatres.

Historical fact and fiction combined to reveal the exciting incident of an American vessel running the British blockade with ten million in gold bullion from France to the United States to help our nation's desperate battle for survival against the powerful British navy.

"Waco," which stars Wild Bill Elliott, is the second feature on the all-action bill at the three theatres.

Music I Hear

The Allied Arts group, Mrs. Ivan Johnson III, president, were fortunate to have as their honor guest Martha Daughn-Locker, soprano, at their monthly meeting which convened at the home of Mrs. H. C. Bauman, 3614 Budlong avenue. The objective of the group includes the presentation of literature, music and the related arts by the creators themselves when possible.

An anthology of the opera was presented by Netta Paullyn Garner, and the different schools of opera, the Italian, German and French, were illustrated by the artist, Mrs. Locker. An aria from the better-known operas were given with a resume of the opera following each rendition.

Martha Daughn has a national and international reputation as an artist and was formerly on the roster of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York City. Her marriage at the peak of her career to Benjamin Locker, successful businessman of California, was the incentive for deserting her musical career. This season is the occasion for her return to the concert field. We were indeed fortunate to have the privilege of hearing her with an intimate group.

Mrs. Locker's voice is large and warm with an abundance of resonance and a clarity of enunciation which is all too seldom revealed by most singers. While the arias were sung in the foreign languages, namely German, French and Italian, the personality of the artist added to our enjoyment of each number and left nothing to be desired. She sings with intelligence and distinction. The heritage of each racial group could readily be followed in her approach to the various schools.

Mrs. Locker has a rich academis and aesthetic background. Dr. Ezra Throop, her grandfather, was the founder of Throop Institute, now known as the California Institute of Technology, located in Pasadena. H. C. Daughn, her father, was for many years one of the important men in the impressario field in Boston, Mass.

This column included announcements of Martha Daughn-Locker's concerts on the Pacific Coast this season and will give further information regarding her coming Los Angeles concert.

Adolph Halsted added sympathetic accompaniments to the artist.

Negro in Movies: Post-War History

By L. DAVID

So, in 1947, the important Guilds and unions of Hollywood joined hands in a four-point agreement to advance the cause of the Negro in Films (California Eagle, Feb. 28). The special Guild Committee of the Screen Actors Guild on this problem of the Negro actor was disbanded.

However, little if any change was noted during the year. 1947 was the year of the first pro-Negro film, "Burning Cross," a small, independently made movie about the Ku Klux Klan, starring Joel Fluellen. The picture received minor attention from the public but was an honest, positive movement forward.

Two other events happened in 1947 which seemed to set a pattern for Negro employment and "handling." The first was the casting of Suzette Harbin, local Los Angeles actress, in a featured role in "Foxes of Harrows." Miss Harbin, with Kenny Washington, the football professional, opposite her, was given the first-degree treatment afforded exciting newcomers. There was great publicity and country - wide announcements. But not only was Miss Harbin dropped flat after the picture—most of her best film was left on the cutting floor and she was not shown to advantage on film.

Secondly, Paulette Goddard was set to star in a picture called "Hazard," at Paramount Studios. "Hazard" was based on a book written by Roy Chanselor. In the novel, Chanselor had written a rounded Negro character. In one particular scene, this character and the heroine (Goddard) were arrested and locked in jail. When Miss Goddard was released, she refused to leave until her friend, the Negro was also released. (The Negro character was that of an old janitor.)

Paramount cut this scene from the script. Miss Gdodard, in accordance with the newly passed four-point Industry resolution, went to her Guild, SAG, and protested. For a few days, Miss Goddard took the position that she would not appear in the movie unless this scene was put back into the script. She pointed to the four-point resolution which specifically prohibited Paramount from scissoring this scene from the picture.

The details of the argument were never made public. Miss Goddard conferred with Paramount again after the studio had conferred with the Screen Actors Guild. Then the studio announced Miss Goddard would continue with her role AND THE SCENE WOULD STAY OUT OF THE PICTURE.

It is safe to assume that Paramount was able to convince the Screen Actors Guild that the role would not be "within the public taste." Those two quoted words appear in the four-point resolution and were used as a loop-hole in this instance.

For the rest of 1947, little was heard regarding the four-point resolution. It seemed to make little difference in the actions of the Movie Industry. Crowd scenes were filmed without Negroes, minor roles were filmed without any attempt to match Negroes in these parts. Josh White, the ballad singer, appeared in a Columbia movie, "The Walking Hills," but only because he brought his guitar along. At M-G-M, Jessie Grayson, a Negro actress, was given a full name for the first time in 23 years of appearing in maid parts. She was called "Mrs. Higby" in "Cass Timberlane," for the simple reason that Sinclair Lewis wrote the character that way. (Up until then, Miss Grayson had been "Molly," Henriette," etc.)

So, at the annual meeting of the Screen Actors Guild that started off the year 1948, Joel Fluellen (now president of the Negro Art Theatre) introduced a resolution that was backed and further extended by Marsha Hunt. Mr. Fluellen's resolution voted on by the entire membership of the guild, stated:

ON THE SCENE

With EDDIE LEE KING

Esther Silvey of 3794 South Western avenue informed us that her brother, James Hardy, who is in the Army, left the scene this week for Korea. May God's blessings go with him until he is once more ON THE SCENE.

"HAVE A HEART"

Four recordings of Tele-Tone Records were handed to your ON THE SCENE reporter for Joe Adams, Hunter Hancock, Al Jarvis and yours truly. On one side is "The Love We Shared Was Mine" and "Have A Heart" on the other. Have a Heart is one of the best tunes I've heard in many a moon. Written by Czajkowski and McAdams, recording the Don McKay Trio with Toni Allison on the vocal. I've been told that you may be able to select these two numbers at your favorite record store.

Roscoe Cruzat, son of the local prominent physician appeared ON THE SCENE in L.A. to open a business. Hush-hush plans are being made but friends believe real estate and insurance will be the big deal.

EAGLE SALUTES

A COMMENDABLE CITIZEN

Suave, youthful and well groomed Dr. D. Overstreet Gray, whose rapid rise in the greater east and westsides of Los Angeles, during the short span of three years, is attributed to tedious application, active community participation and unwavering adherence to the "Golden Rule."

HIGHLY QUALIFIED DENTIST

Although Dr. Gray's debonair, athletic appearance, seemingly abounds with teenage enthusiasm, his educational accomplishments are extensive. Graduating with honors from Lincoln University, Gray likewise continued study at Meharry Medical College and Cornell University.

D. OVERSTREET GRAY, D.D.S.

ANOTHER HORACE GREELEY

Establishing residence in 1948 in the City of Los Angeles, the opportunity capital of the world, Dr. Gray conducted an extensive survey throughout Southern California, personally acquainting himself with its numerous problems prior to opening offices in 1949 at 1111 East Vernon Ave.

A FACTOR IN COMMUNITY

As the father of a charming daughter, Reatha Denise Gray, age 2½ years, Gray is greatly concerned with all problems relative to youth. Chairman of the Small Businessmen's Association's Red Cross Fund Drive and life member of the N. A. A. C. P., Gray is a positive example of the invincibility of America and the tenacity of its largest minority.

Vet Housing Battle

the relocation problem of the minority groups of combat and disabled veterans be considered."

Low Incomes

Although the Veterans Emergency Housing was instituted to provide much needed dwellings for servicemen and veterans' families without restriction as to income, disclosures in the report based on official surveys state that nearly 90% of the current resident families (averaging 4½ persons per family) fall into the low income bracket.

"The fact is that the proposed ousting of these vets," states the report, "will incur serious hardships on over 6500 persons now living in the units."

Another aspect brought out in the report is the fact that "not only those now residing in the Village, but the over 1600 families now on the eligible waiting list for this Veteran Emergency Housing have found it difficult, if not impossible, to find suitable private dwellings.

In his announcement of the meeting, Robert Brown, chairman of the Rodger Young Community Emergency committee, declared that "the citizens of Los Angeles will have an opportunity to see Rodger Young Village for themselves and meet its residents, to discuss the future problems and prospects of housing for our veterans, to review the anticipated recommendation of the City Council, and to urge immediate action by the Park Department."

Timberlake to Speak

Councilman L. E. Timberlake and other members of the City Council will be among the speakers at the rally. Others will include George E. Kennedy, president of the Veterans Coordinating Council; Charles Wilson, housing chairman of the 23rd District of the American Legion; Adrian Mayer, veteran of World War II; and representatives from the CIO, AFL, and civic groups. Rev. Norman Taylor, minister of the First Methodist Church of Southgate will deliver the invocation.

Parents Demand Illinois School Board Ouster

CAIRO, Ill.—In the first legal action invoked in the Cairo school case, lawyers for the NAACP have filed suit demanding an end to racial separation in the schools, dismissal of the city superintendent of schools, and the withholding of state aid to the Cairo public school system.

The action, filed on behalf of 18 Negro parents and 40 children, charges Leo C. Schultz, Cairo superintendent of schools; Miss Lucy McPherson, county superintendent of schools; and the seven-member board of education, with maintaining and operating 7 elementary schools, two junior high schools and two senior high schools on a segregated basis. Negro students, the petition points out, are unlawfully excluded from four of the elementary schools, from one junior high school and from one senior high school, solely on account of their race and color.

This practice of racial segregation, the NAACP attorneys said in their suit filed in the Circuit Court of Alexander County, is contrary to the laws of Illinois and in violation of the 14th Amendment.

Truman Urged To Run Again

NEW YORK—President Harry S. Truman today was urged by a group of nationally-known Negro leaders to stand again for election next fall. They based their plea upon his championship of the cause of civil rights and his program for defending the free world against communism. Los Angeles signers included Allen C. Woodard and Assemblyman Hawkins.

The joint statement was released here by Elijah L. Crump, New York State Assemblyman. Among the prominent signers are Mary McLeod Bethune, Washington, D.C.; W. H. Aiken, Atlanta; Marshall Shephard, Philadelphia, and Dowdal H. Davis of Kansas City.

Thrifty Drugs Announce Contest

The opportunity of winning more than $10,000 in prizes was offered to the people of Los Angeles by the Thrifty Drug Stores and the National Broadcasting Company.

M. A. Borun, vice president of Thrifty Drug Stores announced this week, that hundreds of prizes would be awarded lucky winners in this huge contest.

To enter the contest neighbors of Los Angeles need only to drop into their local Thrifty Drug Store and pick up an entry blank.

The contest, to be judged on merit, originality, appropriateness and sincerity, requires that contestants name their favorite NBC radio or television program and in 25 words or less tell why they prefer the particular program named.

Contestants are permitted to enter the contest as many times as they desire. Contest blanks should be returned to any Thrifty Drug Store where they will be cast in a special ballot box.

FIVE BILLION CONVERSATIONS

This huge number of telephone calls a year is the important responsibility of 73,000 men and women in the West.

Five billion conversations! By day and night, in cities and towns, across valleys and over mountains, the West's telephone lines are busy carrying the calls that in a year total more than twice the population of the earth! Some calls are routine, others may save a life, but each call is vital to capable telephone people everywhere as they work at the wide variety of telephone jobs needed to serve you and the nation well.

This telephone team, for instance, is pinpointing the location of a buried cable which needs repairs. The cable will be fixed quickly . . . and calls will flow again. Meanwhile, your long distance calls are re-routed to get them through with little or no delay. This is just part of the complex job of maintaining and expanding the West's vast telephone system—a job which now requires the skills of some 27,000 well-trained telephone men and 46,000 alert telephone women here in the West. 'Round the clock, they're on the job to keep America's telephone system the finest in the world . . . able to do its full share of the important task of keeping America strong.

Bombed Street a Beehive

By WENDELL GREEN

South Dunsmuir avenue between Adams and Washington boulevards is a quiet, tree-lined street, flanked on either side by modest, brightly colored bungalows almost monotonously alike. Now and then a triplex or a duplex breaks the pattern of houses built almost exactly alike, all carefully set back 15 feet from the street.

You get the impression that nothing much has ever happened on Dunsmuir and that the people who live there go to work, to church, to the neighborhood movie with regularity.

I turned onto Dunsmuir at Venice and drove south early last Sunday morning. Dunsmuir was asleep. That is, it was asleep until I got to the 2100 block. And then it was alive. Alive with knots of people milling around. Knots of Negroes here. Knots of whites there. In almost military turn each knot walked up to 2130 and then turned across the street to 2135. The talk was low, hushed. Nobody wanted to be quoted by a newspaper man. The shadow of a dynamite bomb lay heavily on Dunsmuir avenue. The houses at 2130 and 2135 gazed sadly across the street at each

Grief Crazed Mother Tries To Kill Tot

A divorced mother who didn't want her three children to "grow up like me" shot one of them early Tuesday morning before she changed her mind about killing all of them and then committing suicide. The tot, Walter, age 4, shot by Mrs. Hazel Walker of 2307½ W. 30th Street, was not seriously wounded. Letitia, 5, and Reginald, 1, were asleep. The mother told Police Sgts. J. F. Thedens and J. L. Dykes that she was brooding over the fate of her three small children when she decided to shoot them too and then kill herself. She loaded her gun and fired one shot into Walter's body.

The explosion of the gun shocked her into realization of what she had done and while the children wailed she called the police. The lad was taken to Georgia Street hospital.

"There wasn't any laughter in our home and I just couldn't stand it," Mrs. Walker wept. She was booked on charge of suspicion of assault but police indicated she would be turned over to psychiatrists for treatment. The children will be placed with her former husband, Walter Bryant, a truck driver.

Slain Man No 'Peeping Tom' Jurors Find

Judge Kates, who shot and killed William Glenn in Ross Snyder Playground March 4, and then justified the shooting by branding the slain man a prowler or peeping tom, found himself facing a murder charge this week when the district attorney issued a complaint against him on the recommendation of a coroner's jury.

The jury held an inquest into the shooting at the rear of Kates' property, 1624 E. Santa Barbara avenue, Wednesday, March 12, found that Kates was probably criminally responsible for the murder of 53-year-old Glenn, 636 E. 90th street. Kates' story was disbelieved by the jurors. He will face preliminary hearing Friday morning at 9 o'clock in Division No. 4.

At the inquest, some connection between Kates and the dead man, hinted at by friends and neighbors, added to the fact that conflicting stories of the shooting were told, and that Kates had bought the death gun only the day before the shooting militated against the man who had told police that he "shot a prowler."

On advice of his attorney, Kates and his wife refused to give evidence at the inquest.

Glenn's widow said that her husband once pointed out a neighbor of Kates as an intimate friend of his. It was Mrs. Wilson, whom Glenn pointed out to her as his close friend, Mrs. Glenn testified. The Wilsons are neighbors of Kates. All de-

Grand Jury Probe Of Police Brutality

Citizens of the community who have been victims of police brutality will have a chance to tell their story to the Los Angeles county grand jury, it was learned this week when Foreman Raymond C. Thompson announced the intentions of the jury to probe into brutality charges.

SCIENTIST TO SPEAK—Dr. Percy L. Julian, director of research for the Glidden Company, and one of the top chemists in the world, will be presented in Thorne Hall, Occidental college on Tuesday evening at 8:15 by the Interracial Scholarship Fund.

Jimmy Witherspoon, nationally famous blues singer, who charges he was brutally beaten by officers Wesley Crawford and Jack Ruggles, January 23, when they stopped him for speeding, is expected to be one of the first to accept the grand jury's invitation.

Packed Hearing

At a jam-packed hearing on police brutality held by the Los Angeles Police Commission in the City Council chamber, charges of steadily increasing brutality by police in making arrests were made by the Los Angeles County Conference of Community Relations and a number of persons representing other organizations.

When Atty. Everette R. Porter, chairman of the legal redress committee of the NAACP attempted to present some specific cases to the commission to show the pattern of increasing police brutality against minority citizens, he was stopped by commission president Bates Booth, who stated that they would hear specific complaints at another time.

Porter placed the blame for such abuses squarely on Chief William Parker. He said policemen would not engage in brutality if they were under strict orders not to do so from their commanding officers who, in turn, would give such instructions if obliged to by the Chief of Police.

Booth's ruling that specific cases would not be discussed, caused what might have been an important meeting, to degenerate into a blowing off steam session.

Milton A. Senn, chairman of the police committee of the Community Relations group declared: "I am convinced that there are too many officers who hold the

BULLETIN

As the Eagle went to press, it appeared that the residents of Rodger Young Village had won a resounding victory in their fight to prevent evictions from their homes.

The City Council had reportedly called off the scheduled open hearing to be held Monday and had agreed to extension of the lease on the veterans' housing project for another two years, with the proviso that the situation be reviewed in July, 1953, to determine if the housing emergency still exists at that time.

The red-hot Rodger Young housing issue is slated for a tempestuous public hearing in the City Council on Monday.

So heated has the controversy become over the contemplated closing of the veterans' housing

Kills Hubby In Quarrel Over Woman

By EDDIE LEE KING

"I killed my man because I like Florence. For killing him, I know I'll go to Tehachapi, but I don't care." That was the statement of Ethel Mae Williams, 38, 525 S. Central avenue, while being questioned at City Hall homicide for the butchering to death of her common-law husband, Ben James, 45, Sunday afternoon. She was held for murder and an inquest is slated for today (Thursday).

Mrs. Williams said that about 12 noon Sunday, she was outside of her room in the hotel on the second floor standing at the top of the stairway looking for her four-year-old son. She didn't want to go down because she had left her three-month-old son in the room alone. Florence Elizabeth Goudeaus, 27, came out of another room and asked her to go to the liquor store and get her (Mrs. Goudeaus) a jug of wine, she said. James came out of his room and said, "I

Reception of the funds was decided on after the Eagle office had been deluged with calls from persons desiring to assist and requesting information as to where they might make contributions.

Money sent to this fund will not be used for any other purpose but will be held in trust for the specific purpose for which it is received.

Bomb Threat Hurled At Another Family

"Get out in 90 days or you'll be bombed out!"

That was the warning telephoned to Mrs. Bertha Pitts of 1207 W. 64th street, late Tuesday evening. Her home is located at the corner of 64th street and Budlong.

Mrs. Pitts said that the voice that uttered the warning was a man's and that she had never heard it before. She immediately called police authorities who assigned a squad car to keep guard on her place. Detectives from 77th Street Station interviewed her and took the facts, Mrs. Pitts said.

Mrs. Pitts, who lives at the West 64th street address with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Blue, said that she moved there about 90 days ago. There have been no untoward incidents of any kind during her occupancy. Three small grandchildren ranging in age from nine months to seven years also reside with Mrs. Pitts.

The children attend the Budlong school and have been well received by parents and fellow students. Both Mr. and Mrs. Blue are employed at the General Hospital.

Bombed Vets to Tell Story

William Bailey, World War II veteran and head of the science department at Carver Junior High School, whose Dunsmuir Avenue home was bombed last Sunday will tell his own story of what happened at a mass meeting slated for Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. at Second Baptist Church, 2412 Griffith Avenue, by the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

All law enforcement officials of the city, including Chief of Police Parker, District Attorney S. Ernest Roll and Acting United States Attorney Walter Binns, have been invited to attend the meeting, according to Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the NAACP. Invitations have also been extended to Mayor Fletcher Bowron and other civic officials.

Ominous Pattern

"The Sunday bombings follow an ominous pattern that has spread across the United States in the past few months," Dr. Robinson said. "There have been similar bombings in Miami, in Dallas, in Chicago, in Atlanta and in Cicero, Ill. All of them are designed to prevent American citizens from exercising their constitutional rights. Airforce Veterans Rally to Buddies

A dozen young men lounged around the small back bedroom at 2130 S. Dunsmuir. Some were leaning against the wall, others sat or stretched out on the bed.

There was animated conversation, laughter and gesturing. Like all pilots when they get together, the topic was flying and the boys were getting in some barracks time.

However, this group was a group set apart from ordinary pilots. They all had something in common. They had received their flight training at Tuskegee Army Air Base. They were all veterans of the famous 332nd Fighter Group, the "red tails" that the Germans feared, and American bomber pilots loved because when the "red tails" flew top cover, the only thing to worry about was the flack.

They had faced danger and knew the value of teamwork. They had learned to fly together and to fly to protect each other. They were now a little older, and a little heavier, and a little wiser.

They continued talking of their flying exploits, putting in a little yeast that is the prerogative of all pilots, and occasionally taking a sip from the loving cup.

Suddenly the phone rang and as the conversation ceased, William Bailey answered the phone. "It's for you, Roger," he said as he flipped the phone to Roger

Neighborhood Kid Tells Fears for Pet Parrot

Chucky Felish, 10 years old, lives at 2201 Dunsmuir avenue and he has a parakeet which perches on his shoulder wherever he goes.

The parakeet's name is General Tweetie Pie and do you know what?

"Why General Tweetie Pie was asleep in his cage when that bomb went off and it knocked the bird cage right onto the floor. Those guys might have hurt General." That's what Chucky said early Sunday morning.

"You know," he said, "I been up since about 5 o'clock and boy did that dynamite make a noise! I bet a real bomb wouldn't be any louder."

Chucky goes to the Marion Avenue School. He's in the B-5 and there are a couple of colored kids in his class and some others in the school. Some of them are okay but some of them are dopes.

Did Chucky know anybody who might want to set off a bomb? "Naw. But there's one guy in our school who ain't real bright, but I don't think he would set off a bomb. He's real dumb in spelling."

Chucky said he liked the neighborhood pretty well but that his mama was going to move away. "She's kind of scared since the bombings for me and my sister. My sister's about 17 or maybe 18 and my mama don't want anything to happen to us."

Chucky doesn't want anything to happen to General Tweetie Pie.

Threat of Another Bombing Follows Blasts at 2 Homes

Dunsmuir avenue that had just been sold to Norman Duncan by Bernard Hartstein. Ralph Martinez and John Potts were living at that address. Bailey and Duncan are World War II veterans who were pilots in the 332nd fighter group. The explosion came at about 4:05 a.m.

New Vandalism

Even while bewildered law enforcement officials were making pledges of swift action to bring the bombers to justice, a wave of rumors swept across the La Brea-West Adams area that new violence was on its way. By Tuesday, Mrs. Ruth Powell, real estate broker of 2838½ Hillcrest avenue, who had been active in listing property on Dunsmuir avenue, found garbage piled on her automobile and sand in the gas tank of the car which had been parked in front of her home.

Although nobody was killed or injured in the bombings, Bailey narrowly escaped injury. About 4 o'clock his wife asked him to get his dog off the couch in the front room. He removed the dog and had just returned to bed when the explosion came and literally destroyed the couch where the dog had been sleeping.

Damage Done

Considerable damage was done to the triplex at 2129 Dunsmuir avenue, which is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Moore, who said that they had been the target of threats and petty annoyances when they moved into their home late last year. Also damaged was the home of Mrs. Akeb Amerian at 2126 Dunsmuir avenue. The force of the explosion shook the neighborhood for a 12-block-square area.

Police experts agreed that the dynamiting was the work of skilled professionals who placed the bombs to do a maximum of property damage and who carefully timed the two blasts to go off almost simultaneously. Police began what they described as a systematic door-by-door check of the neighborhood to ascertain if near neighbors were involved.

Sunday's dynamitings were the culmination of a long and determined effort to keep Negroes and other non-Caucasians off Dunsmuir avenue. When a Japanese dentist bought a home at 2433 Dunsmuir last July 25, the house was bombed with damage estimated at more than $2000. Another bomb was exploded at 2308 Dunsmuir avenue. Police failed to make any arrests.

"We Bomb Your Home"

In December, home owners in the neighborhood received a series of crudely printed post cards through the mail which said:

"Sell to colored. We bomb your home. If you that crazy for $ we make you sorry. We have bombs ready and eye on you."

Literally dozens of these postal cards were turned over to the Wilshire police division but no arrests were made and residents of the area said police contented themselves with issuing warnings.

A warning note threatening violence was found after the explosion in the mail box belonging to Bailey. Police who took it were loathe to discuss its exact wording and refused to say whether or not it bore finger prints.

One Witness

One witness was picked up by the police early Sunday morning, the Eagle learned. He was said to have told the officers that he saw an automobile pulling away from the scene just after the explosion and was identified as being a resident of the neighborhood who was on his way home at the time.

A rumor that a pregnant tenant of the Moore triplex had a miscarriage as a result of the explosion throwing her from her bed was baseless, the Eagle learned. The woman in question suffered no apparent ill effects.

When the two bombings occurred last July, Chief of Police Parker promised immediate action. "There'll be no Cicero here," he said. "We have leads and we are following them." Apparently the leads never materialized.

When word of the bombings got around, people began flocking to the scene and before nightfall more than 2,000 people had come to the scene. An impromptu meeting was held in the afternoon at which more than $180 was collected to aid the Baileys. Later that night another meeting was held in the nearby American Legion hall and additional funds of nearly $200 were collected.

Among those who addressed the afternoon meeting were Rev. Clayton Russell, George Beavers, Jr., chairman of the Board of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company; Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the local branch of the NAACP; and Roger Terry, investigator from the district attorney's office.

Monday morning found another crowd gathered in the vicinity of the Bailey home and some of them ultimately found their way to the mayor's office and city council, where they urged that law enforcement officials take forthright steps to apprehend and punish those who were guilty of the bombing.

The Sunday bombings followed the pattern of the July 25 bombings in that in each case two bombs were set off and that they exploded almost simultaneously.

Neighbors said that firemen who were first called to the scene of the Sunday bombing advanced the theory that the explosion was due to an exploding gas main. The same theory was advanced to account for last summer's bombing. Explosives experts flatly refuted this theory.

On the Job

The Los Angeles branch of the NAACP was right on the job early Sunday morning in the Dunsmuir bombings. Dr. E. I. Robinson, branch president, was one of the first on the scene and Everette Porter, chairman of the legal redress committee of the local branch, and Loren Miller, member of the national legal committee, arrived soon afterward. All victims of the bombings accepted the NAACP's proffer of assistance and by Sunday noon a mass meeting for next Sunday had been arranged. Early Sunday afternoon Dr. Robinson had made formal demands on law enforcement authorities for immediate prosecution of the guilty parties.

nied knowing the dead man or ever seeing him before.

They told police that they had noticed Glenn acting peculiarly on the side of the playground fence closest to the Wilson house for 20 minutes that evening before Kates got his gun and shot him.

Houston C. Miller, 700 E. 50th street, told the court that he had known the dead man since 1945 and that he was ill and for that reason frequented the playground.

"That man wasn't no prowler. That was just plain, cold-blooded murder," Miller shouted.

Glenn had been arrested for suspicion of burglary in 1947, but was released when the charges were dismissed the next morning. No complaint was even filed and no prosecution was conducted.

Blasts Spur Nationwide, Local Protest

Alarm, fear and anger spread rapidly through the city and the country this week following the murderous attempt to bomb two Negro-owned homes in the West Adams area before dawn Sunday.

The NAACP has called a mass meeting, scheduled for next Sunday at the Second Baptist church.

The American Civil Liberties Union has posted a reward of $500 for apprehension of the criminals guilty of the bombing.

Citizen Action

Nationally, in Washington, the American Veterans Committee, through its national chairman, Michael Straight, called for police protection, and also called for "organized action by citizens" to protect the victims.

Locally, the City Council on Monday passed a resolution seeking "full protection of government" for all persons living in this area, regardless of race, color, or creed.

The Greater Los Angeles CIO Council, through its secretary-treasurer, Albert T. Lunceford, sent telegrams to local and national law enforcement officers demanding immediate action.

Ben Bowie Post

Ben Bowie Post No. 228 of the American Legion demanded an all-out hunt for the bombers and set up a three-man committee to formulate a program of action for the legion in cooperation with other community organizations to seek a permanent solution of the problem.

Members of the committee are Atty. Vince Monroe Townsend Jr., chairman; Martin Brown and Edward Hawkins.

The reward offered by the American Civil Liberties Union is for "information leading to the arrest and conviction" of parties guilty of the bombings, or of any "misdemeanor or felony against the person or property of any member of a minority race in the process of taking possession of a residence in Southern California, or against any party planning to sell or in the process of selling to a member of a minority group."

The Elks Civil Liberties Department of the Golden West Lodge No. 86 was alerted on Sunday. Adolphus B. Clay, director of the Civil Liberties department, contacted various city councilmen, with a view to getting council action on Monday. He accompanied Councilman Kenneth Hahn to the scene of the bombing for a complete investigation.

Members of the Second Baptist church, at their Sunday services a few hours after the bombings, issued a challenging appeal to "every fair-minded, law abiding citizen, every white citizen, the F.B.I." and city officials, calling attention to the "changing pattern of attempted racial intimidation in which the bomb has supplanted the lyncher."

Insist on Rights

They declared further: "We renew our contention that with the removal of the restrictive convenants by the Supreme Court of the United States, we have and shall insist on exercising our rights, as decent, law-abiding American citizens, to live in any and all parts of Los Angeles where our means allow.

"We make it unmistakably plain that acts of violence simply will not intimidate us.

"We summon attention to the fact that at the very hour our sons are dying to safeguard democracy in Korea, their families are subjected to the most un-democratic treatment at home."

The appeal was signed by the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson; Dr. E. I. Robinson, chairman of the Board of Trustees; and Vernon J. Dunlap, chairman of the Board of Deacons.

It is the Second Baptist church which has offered its facilities for the NAACP mass meeting Sunday afternoon, to be held at 3 p.m.

Among the political leaders who have already expressed their determination to end these murder attempts are Gov. Earl Warren, from Sacramento, who declared that "such hoodlumism must not be tolerated in California"; Congressman Samuel W. Yorty; and District Attorney S. Ernest Roll.

Atty. Roll has assigned Deputy D. A. Adolph Alexander and investigator Jack Livingston to start working on the case immediately.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the mass meeting the local NAACP issued a statement in which it announced that it has enlisted the assistance of a large number of organizations to help it in its announced fight to "see to it that those responsible for these bombings are apprehended and prosecuted." The committee will also take "positive steps to utilize this unfortunate incident to improve human relations," the announcement said. Listed among cooperating organizations were American Jewish Congress, Anti-Defamation League, Japanese-American Citizens League, CIO, National Urban League, the American Council on Human Rights and American Civil Liberties Union. Other organizations have been invited to participate.

Communist and Communist front organizations have been "rigorously excluded" from all participation in the committee, the NAACP announced. Victims of the bombings were quoted as saying that they had "not sought, do not want and will not accept the support or cooperation of any Communist organizations." Loren Miller, west coast counsel for the NAACP and chairman of its local board, is heading the committee. Also slated as speakers at Sunday's meeting are residents of the community in which the Baileys lived and the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of Second Baptist Church. Musical numbers by local artists will complete the program.

Residents Ask Protection of City Officials

"We Negroes want to know whether we can eat, live, sleep and work wherever we want in the United States and in your city, Los Angeles, Mr. Mayor.

"Will you make a statement giving us that assurance?"

A young Negro woman asked the question of Mayor Fletcher Bowron at a stormy meeting at his office Monday morning, following the bombing of two Dunsmuir avenue homes early Sunday.

Fearful of events to come, residents of the area continued to gather around the two debris-filled homes the day after the blast. Someone suggested that they go to the City Hall in a body and present the case before the Mayor and City Council.

More than 75 people crowded into the Mayor's office, wanting to know what was to be done, especially to protect the city's minority people.

Mayor Heckled

They were met by the Mayor, Chief of Police William H. Parker, head of the Police Commission Bates Booth, and Commissioner John Somerville.

The Mayor heard a few speeches, then got off on the wrong foot. He implied that at least some members of the group were Communists and were trying to utilize the bombing incident for propaganda.

Heckling began, protest following protest. Repeated demands were made that the mayor make a statement for the press.

Promised Statement

The Mayor pointed out that he had already made a statement, that he wasn't going to be pressured, but said that yes, he would issue a statement to the press, but in his own words and at a time of his own choosing.

The delegation, however, was given assurance both from the Mayor and from the other officials present that full investigations were already under way, and that everything possible was being done.

Down the corridor in the City Council chambers, the delegation that assembled there met with success in its mission.

A resolution promising full protection was introduced by Councilman Kenneth Hahn, seconded by Councilman Ed Roybal, and passed unanimously. Councilman Harold Harby, in whose district the bombing occurred, expressed concern that he had not been contacted to introduce the resolution.

Among those in the audience who took the floor to urge action by the council was Atty. Loren Miller, Eagle publsiher.

On the same day, Dist. Atty. E. Ernest Roll met with a delegated group to discuss the bombings. He gave assurance that everything possible is being done to ferret out those responsible for the crimes.

Judge Grants Probation to Dr. Jay Moss

Dr. Jay Weaver Moss, popular local chiropractor who was found guilty of performing an abortion on Mrs. Cecelia Alitalo, August 16, received a suspended sentence from Judge Jess Frampton, and was placed on three years probation.

Dr. Moss, whose office is at 1387 E. 56th street, is well known in civic and social circles. He was convicted by an all-woman jury in a surprise verdict, February 20. Many courtroom observers and spectators thought he had convincingly disproved the charges against him.

Attorney Crispus Wright, who represented Dr. Moss, said: "I feel truly gratified at the action of Judge Frampton in refusing to impose sentence, reducing the charge to a misdemeanor, and granting probation. This case has worried me greatly, because I felt that a grave injustice would have been imposed on Dr. Moss if his brilliant career had been interrupted by, to my way of thinking, a very dubious case.

Terror Strikes L. A.; Bombs Wreck Homes

BLAST HEARD FOR BLOCKS—Residents for blocks around Dunsmuir avenue, scene of the dynamiting of two homes at 4 o'clock Sunday morning heard the blast. Alarmed at the unknown cause of the shattering detonation, residents from the whole neighborhood quickly rushed to the scene. They began converging on the wrecked homes immediately following the explosion, and continued to come throughout the day. The criminals who ignited the dynamite planted it under the home of William Bailey, Carver science teacher, 2130 Dunsmuir avenue. The other blast took place across the street, at 2135, a building which another Negro Air Force Pilots, of the 332nd fighters, Roger Duncan, had arranged to purchase.

TRAFFIC JAM — Despite the heavy downpour, streets in the whole vicinity were jammed for blocks surrounding the bombing area. Policemen were rushed to the scene to direct traffic. Members of the crowd roamed over the premises, walking in and out of the shattered rooms, inspecting the site of the bomb holes and other areas, without interference. Picture at left is a partial view of the heavy traffic which was blocking Dunsmuir avenue from dawn throughout the entire day. During the afternoon approximately 1500 people crowded into the vicinity, formed an impromptu meeting. Money was collected to help pay the cost of repairs. Carpenters offered their services free of charge.

BROKERS EMERGENCY MEETING—Over 60 brokers and salesmen of the Consolidated Realty Board held emergency meeting Tuesday noon to consider action to be taken to prevent future disasters. In spontaneous move, $420 was raised for NAACP investigation of bombings. Eagle publisher Loren Miller is shown addressing group. (Picture at far Right)

Hamilton Expands Church to Serve Its Community's Youth

Church

MIRIAM CHRISTIAN, Church Editor

By Miriam Christian, Church Editor

Now in progress at Hamilton Methodist church, 1376 E. 18th street, is one of the greatest expansion movements witnessed by local churchgoers in a long period of time. Currently, Hamilton, pastored by Rev. D. DeWitt Turpeau Jr, is canvassing its congregation of time and financial aid and is emerging the constructor of a large educational and recreational center in the Washington-Central area.

This building improvement is not new to Hamilton. It was an outgrowth of an similar one in October 1903 when a small Sunday school was organized. W. H.

Rev. D. Dewitt Turpeau

Prioleau, H. C., Emma and Bessie Cummings were the early pioneers of the religious establishment.

First Name

The name, Mason Chapel, was first used by the energetic group. It was accepted in the year of 1904. Rev. H. J. Harnett was appointed its first pastor.

Other ministers were Rev. H. C. Cooper, Rev. J. W. H. Pinkeny, Rev. H. L. McKinney, Professor Charles L. Eason, Rev. Vance M. Cole, and Rev. Samuel Miller Beane. Rev. Beane served as pastor for 26 years and it is through his efforts that the expansion is continuing.

All of the ministers, through inspiration, comfort and sincere interest of the welfare of the church, were responsible for its solid foundation today. The minister, who now serves the congregation and public is a young handsome person with a vibrant personality and the ambition to assist his members in making Hamilton a religious sign post in the community.

Directing Activities

Modest Rev. Turpeau is directing the activities in line with the building program. With some of the best qualities man is endowed, he is respected as an authority on problems in the Christian world.

Born in New Orleans, son of a minister, he received his Biblical training under the supervision of his father. His family later moved to Pittsburgh where Rev. Turpeau Sr. was appointed pastor of large Warren Methodist church.

While attending the University of Pittsburgh, he lived the life of the average collegian with interest in sports, particularly basketball. From his experiences as a boy, he has learned the wants and desires of youth and is constructing his findings to advance the children of his church and community.

Attended Duke

He attended Duke Theological college in Madison, New Jersey and was the first Negro to graduate from the Akron University Theological department in Ohio. Upon graduation, Rev. Turpeau ministered to a congregation in Upper Bronx, New York. He later moved to Evanston, Ill. and continued a pastorate.

The Turpeau family portrait includes his wife, Corrinne Cloud Turpeau of Cinncinatti, D., Dewitt III, seven years old and Nona, aged fourteen.

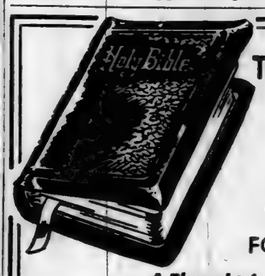
Important Speaker

Many programs are scheduled for the building campaign. This week Dr. George A. Warmer, district superintendent and executive secretary of the Los Angeles City Society will be guest speaker.

At 3:30, Rev. J. A. Washington, his radio choir and congregation from Bethel Church of Christ Holiness will lead in worship. Dinner will follow the morning service.

With affairs of religious and social significance, Hamilton is making continous and rapidly moving paces in completing its new development, the Samuel Miller Beane Building which will be located on the corner of Washington Blvd. and Naomi Blvd.

NEW ADDITION SOON—Hamilton Methodist church, 1376 E. 18th street, will soon add an educational and recreational center to its edifice. The corner lot on Washington and Naomi has been purchased for that purpose and gigantic building plans are under way. The center will be dedicated to Dr. Samuel Miller Beane, former pastor of Hamilton.



BUILDING COMMITTEE—Many members are giving every available source of time and income to push the fund drive over its goal post. Pictured are a few members including Mrs. Julia Lee, Horace Gordan, Ruth Garr, Charles Jones, Albert Jones, Rev. Turpeau, Octora Tyler, Jesse James, Dr. Leonard Tibbs, Mary Grimes, Alma Edan, Joseph Woodson, Dennis Kemper and Jewell Roberts.

Performing on the program were the Greater New Hope Gospel Singers, Songs of Melody, Silver Trumpet Jubilee Singers, Spiritual Airs and Youth Choir of the Calvary Hill Baptist church. Three male vocalists handled the solo roles. They were baritone Fletcher Higgins, M. Frazier and V. Strait. The latter two were accompanied by Mrs. R. L. Preston who, along with them, is a member of the noted Victory Baptist Choir.

Acting as hostesses for the Polio Sunshine Association program were the ladies and officers of the group. The officers are Mary G. Rubin, founder-general director; Philleece Johnson, general secretary; H. A. Collins, treasurer; Mrs. Enoch, financial secretary; Mrs. Oca Best, historian; Lee Butler, welfare board chairman; Alma Steele, recreation chairman; Ed Williams, chaplain; Frank Kirk, messenger and Lorenzo Bowdoin, general advisor.

Mr. Bowdoin, secretary-treasurer of the Angelus Funeral Home and a prominent local citizen, delivered an address on the program, encouraging the Association along in its project.

The Association is planning an Easter egg hunt for crippled children at South Park between the hours of 12 and 4 p.m. on Easter. Mr. Bowdoin, director of Southeast Division of March of Dimes, is assisting the group in planning the program.

Dr. Leonard Stovall Speaks on Health

Dr. Leonard Stovall, founder and leader of the Outdoor Life and Health Association, disclosed in a speech at the First A.M.E. Church last Sunday the plans for an energetic community-wide drive to increase membership in the group and a campaign to build more housing facilities at the Association's sanatorium in Durante for sick patients.

Recalling the group's original attempts to build a sanatorium for tubercular patients back in 1919, Dr. Stoval made mention of the fact that there were no private sanatoria at that time in this area which would admit Negroes.

The future plans of the Outdoor Life and Health Sanatorium as was pointed out by Dr. Stovall in his address, include the building of facilities for not only for patients with chronic diseases but for the aged as well.

Appearing on the program with Dr. Stovall as guest soloists were Miss Ella Hilson, soprano, and Mr. Howard Gamble. Rev. Alvia A. Shaw, pastor at First A.M.E., was born in Duarte near the present site of the satatorium and is close to the idea of the project. He expresses keen interest in it and has promised to give his wholehearted support to its coming drive.

A field of 82 were able to tee off on time, due to the expert workmanship of the landscapers, who put the course and greens in order.

Nadine Cole and Candine Hines handled the starting assignments, and got the tournament off to a fine start.

Al McDaniels was again the winner with a 71, four strokes better than runnerup Milan Qualls, who finished with a 75. Wilson and Bob Willard tied for third with 77's. S. Cummings finished with 78 and Ed Shaw was right behind with 79.

Among the women competing, Madree Jackson topped the field with an 89. Behind her were Martha Clisby and Thelma Cowans, tied with 95's.

In the flights, winner in A was Johnnie Dunn, 76. Bill Foster was runnerup. Class B Benoit Reamor won with 79. Dr. Bradford was second. The Class C trophy was won by Edward Singer with an 83, and 89 was enough for C. Cannon to top the D group.

H. Rodgers was the winner for the women in the A flight with 105. Hilda Joyce was second.

Catfish Tagged

The tagging of some 3,000 catfish with red plastic discs is the initial goal of a three-year Statewide program begun this month by the California Department of Fish and Game.

Return of the tags by cooperating anglers will help find answers to the fishery's present trouble—declining sport and commercial catches.

ON THE TURF

NEW CALIENTE in Old Mexico—With the back roads and auxiliary roads under the bridge flooded and impassable, a crowd of more than 4400 faithful lovers of the sport of kings were on hand last Sunday and witnessed 12 thrilling and exciting races. The big upset came in the feature event when Prairie Song, a long-shot, scored by three lengths, paying $21.20. Establishing all her own pace, the daughter of Ted-Easy-Lady Hockbeger stalled off the challenges of Kay Em Count and So La Ci to be a handy winner. Only three races ago Prairie Song was performing for a $1,000 claiming tag. Then she won two route races and moved up in class. The track was sloppy and wet. The weather was on the cold side, but the fans didn't seem to mind.

Kemsley

There was a double payoff in the daily-double, Sheriff Jim, winner of the fourth race and Campus Chatter and Tryst deadheaded for first place in the fifth. Sheriff Jim to Campus Chatter paid $18.80 and to Tryst $39.80.

The Quiniela backers of Royal Decree and Jenover, who finished in that order, received $363.20. This Saturday eight races are on the card and the feature will be The Spring at one mile. On Sunday 12 races, with two big features. Main event will be The Julian, one mile and a sixteenth. Co-feature, The Ramona, at six furlongs. Post time for Saturday, 2 p.m.; on Sunday, 1 p.m.

Baseball Reception and Dance for N.Y. Giants Postponed to March 29

Monte Irvin Leo Durocher Willie Mays

Postponed by a sudden switch in team schedules due to the recent bad weather, the giant reception and dance planned for the New York Giants, and major league stars will be held Saturday night, March 29, at the Elks Auditorium, instead of Thursday as previously announced.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants expressed his keen interest in meeting the many Giant fans in Los Angeles, as did other members of the team. Luke Easter, Larry Doby, Harry Simpson and Sam Jones also stated that they will be on hand for the festivities.

The Giants and Cleveland are playing at Wrigley Field Saturday and Sunday, March 29 and 30, and the rivalry between the two teams with four Negro varsity players each, has heightened interest in the reception.

Door prizes of baseballs and bats will be given away to lucky ticket holders. The players will be on hand to give their autographs, and shake hands with their fans.

The Giant team will receive a plaque for their outstanding sportsmanship and team spirit as evidenced by their thrilling stretch drive into the World Series. Merchants in the community will present the players with awards of merchandise.

Herman Hill, chairman of the citizens committee organizing the affair, stated that while the affair will last from 9 until 1 o'clock, the players will have to observe a midnight curfew, so he urges that the fans get out early to the affair so they won't be disappointed.

Saturday night, March 29, at the Elks Auditorium, is the chance to meet and greet Los Angeles's favorite big-league team and players.

Inter-Frat Series Starts Saturday Nite

The interfraternal basketball series gets started this Saturday night at the Loyola gym, with the Alphas clashing with the Omegas, and the Sigmas testing the Kappas.

A turnaway crowd is expected at this colorful event, that is social as well as athletic. The Kappas are favorites, with a bench laden with talent and depth.

The Sigmas, Alphas and Omegas follow in that order. However, this series never runs to the chalk, and any frat might walk off with the championship.

The games start at 8 o'clock sharp.

Dillard Continues Winning Ways

NEW YORK—Harrison Dillard, the famed ex-Baldwin Wallace track flash from Cleveland, whipped to a one yard victory in the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.4s. here in the Knights of Columbus track meet Saturday night.

Dillard, who was the United States' No. 1 timber-topper in '48 but due to an unfortunate mishap in the finals failed to make the team, but he took to the 100-meter race to win the Gold Medal.

The youthful Ollie Sax Jr. pulled the biggest upset of the meet in beating the favored George Rhoden and Charley Moore of Cornell in a blazing 1:11.2s. 600-yard dash. Mal Whitfield, ex-Los Angeles Jefferson and Olympic champion, ran second.

East LACC Relays Friday

The biggest meet of the local track season comes up Friday afternoon at 1 p.m. when the Third Annual East Los Angeles Relays are held in the Huskie stadium.

Track teams from eight different Metropolitan Conference colleges will collide in this traditional gathering which gives the fans a preview of the Metro meet.

ELA has emerged victorious in both previous relays held in 1950 and 1951 with Bakersfield's Renegades finishing second on each occasion. This year the Huskies and Renegades will again be in the thick of the fight but should be hard pressed by Long Beach and Valley. Also entered are San Diego, Santa Monica, Harbor, and El Camino.

The hosting ELAJC Huskies finally managed to get some action between showers last week and in a double duel at Glendale they broke even, losing to Glendale 80 1/3-41 2/3, and downing Pasadena, 64 2/3-57 1/3.

Ronald Sibley looked great as he won both sprints with a 10 flat century and a 23.3 in the 220, but he had to share top honors with Frank Chong, who took firsts in both broad jump and pole vault.

The Boy Scouts of America have honored 2,861 of its members since 1910 for saving the lives of others.

Blackburn Picked For Olympic Games

BERKELEY — Brutus Hamilton, University of California track coach, recently appointed head Olympic Games mentor, thinks that his Guy "Flash in a Dash" Blackburn from Los Angeles Jefferson High has a good chance of qualifying for the Olympic squad in the century dash.

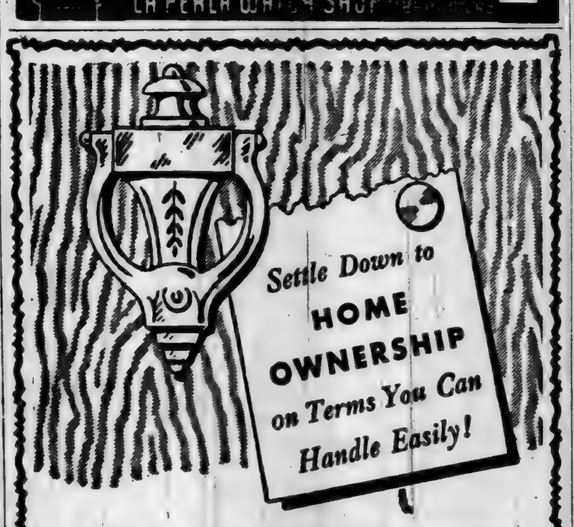
Pint-size Guy, holder of the city record in all three classes of the Los Angeles city 100-yard dash, as a frosh last year established a new university record at 9.5s.

Sepia Sprint Star Seeks World Record

Jim (The Jet) Golliday, Northwestern University 19-year-old sophomore sprinter has been tabbed sure-fire U.S. Olympic team

Powerfully built Golliday is a graduate of Chicago's Wendell Phillips High School. As a freshman last season he equalled the world mark of 60 yards and the U.S. standard at 100 meters.

This season he will be seeking his fourth straight sprint victory and may set a new Big Ten and American record for the distance this week at a meet with University of Illinois.



Win Championship

Winning the district Catholic Youth Organization's basketball championship were St. Patrick's Boys. Under supervision of coach Richard Adams, the team will enter finals next week.

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye Jr.

JERRY DREW WRITES

I'm taking this opportunity to thank you for keeping the "community" so well informed of my personal progress, although I must admit many of the things that you have said have done me a gross injustice. I would greatly appreciate it, Brad, if you would print my version of the scandal.

As you know when my friend "Thelton Henderson" went up a semester ahead of me, we had our personal agreement that I would join him immediately following my graduation. Although I must admit I discussed my educational and athletic future with several institutions of higher learning, I still retained the memory of my first agreement with Henderson.

It seems now that out of all the schools throughout the country that I talked with, UCLA was the only one to jump to the conclusions about my entrance. Brad, since you and I have discussed many things together, I'm asking "you," must I be blamed for the way certain people have turned my well meaning intentions around.

Brad, as you now, my mother, Thelton and I took a trip to the campus, and my mother after one glance at the beautiful campus, the efficient staff of instructors, and coaches, was sold. Nothing more entered my mind than these two things, namely my mother's desire and Thelton's recommenndation from his personal experience.

Brad, I'm well aware of the fact that you can take this letter and re-write it in such a manner as to make me further appear an unscrupulous character. Understand, Brad, that I write this letter in full faith of your desire to present an unbiased view of the existing situation. "Don't let me down." . . . Incidentally, Arthur Stewart (ex-Jeff half-miler) is showing tremendous promise. . . . John George, a Tuskegee transfer, promises to push Guy Blackburn, (the ex-Jeff High city record holder in all three classes) to great achievements this season . . . yours truly Thelton and Jerry.

THE PRYING PYE'S ANSWER

Receiving this letter reminds me of the lyrics to the popular hit of yesteryear, "It Ain't What You Do, It's the Way That You Do It." . . . Local grid fans know Jerry Drew as the two-time all-city back from Jefferson High, who was one of the most sought after backs in the history of that school. . . . Drew told this writer, and reportedly told his Jeff High mentor Mike Marienthal, UCLA grid coaches Henry "Red" Sanders, George Dickerson before Vic Kelley, the University's fine athletic publicity head that he was going to enter UCLA Feb. 18. But instead he slipped off up to Cal during the break between semesters without telling anyone at UCLA of his change of heart. . . . Horace Johnson, an alumnus and one of UCLA's finest backers went all out along with Jeff's great athletic minded VP Henry Dyck, who wrote Jerry a letter of recommendation in an effort to make him eligible to enter UCLA.

DREW SAYS

Drew states in his letter that I did him a gross injustice in my column of three weeks ago, when I merely stated the facts without devating at all. . . . He also asked me if I think that he should be blamed for the way certain people have turned his good intentions around. . . . The good intentions he speaks of I can assure you I'm not enlightened about. . . . But I know and he knows that he told me at the football banquet at Jeff, Jan. 29 that he was going to enter UCLA on the Feb. 18. . . . The same week we ran a banner story on this fact . . . and the part that perturbs me is that he put this sheet on the spot. . . . The same day we came out with the story "Jerry Drew to Enter UCLA" the dailies came out with the story "Cal Snares Jeff's Drew." . . . If as he declares in his letter that he and Thelton Henderson, all-city back for Jeff in '50, had a personal agreement that he would follow him to Cal is true, pray tell me why didn't he tell everyone concerned before accepting gifts from Alumni of UCLA of this agreement and everything would have been lovely dovey.

SWAN SONG

It has been a great joy and a thrill in bringing you my journalistic efforts for this sheet since our great publisher Loren Miller took it over as of the April 3 issue of '51 . . . but as you know we have a policing job tobe done in Korea and Uncle Samuel thinks that I can be of service and he sent me greetings the past Friday to fetch it on down Wednesday, March 19. . . . As you read this I'll be a one day old private in the Army. I also like to add, it has been a joyous kick working with such a competent staff as Waller, Vi, Clyde, Wendell, the two Bobs, Hal and Kerry and my associates Herman Hill, Fleming Enix, Long John Thomas, Mike Marienthal, Estel Johnson, Joe Barry, Lewis Williams, Booker Jackson and countless others.

Incidentally my good friend Flemming Enix tells me that the red letter date for the popular Vancourtlandt social club this month is Saturday night, March 22, when they present their annual Tacky Party. . . . The place is located at 5829½ So. Broadway. . . . Music for the stellar affair will be furnished by the Cal Lucas and his Jazz exponents. . . . As of now this is three O until we meet again and may God bless us all.

P. S. . . . To my darling wife Eunice and her mother Mrs. Ethel Douglas, my dear mother Isabelle Robertson and brother Robert and Mr. Willie Winston and family I am sorry that I can't find the words that will appropriately convey to you how much I will miss you. . . . Good bye for now.

POLICE BRUTALITY HEARING—George Thomas, executive secretary of the Los Angeles County Conference of Community Relations, Everette M. Porter, chairman of the legal redress committee of the NAACP, Milton A. Senn, chairman of the police committee of the Community Relations group; and Edward W. Mehren, chairman of the group, were some of the speakers at the L.A. Police Commission hearing on police brutality.

belief that minority groups must be kept in line."

He recommended that the commission begin an intensive study of the Police Department's Internal Affairs Division, particularly in its handling of cases where police abuses are charged.

Somerville Silent

Dr. John A. Somerville, only Negro member of the police commission, sat in silence all through the hearing, while representatives of Negro and Mexican organizations hurled charges of prejudiced officers giving vent to their bigotry by brutally beating manacled prisoners.

The commission ended the meeting by passing a resolution setting up procedure to hear directly complaints against the police department.

Housing Suit Trial Slated For April

DETROIT — The long-delayed suit to end segregation in public housing in Detroit will come to trial next month, United States District Judge Arthur F. Lederle announced at the conclusion of a pre-trial conference during which attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and for the City of Detroit presented their respective views on the issues involved in the suit.

Trial may be averted, Judge Lederle indicated at the conference on February 29, provided the city officials voluntarily proceed with the abolition of the present policy of imposing racial restrictions on occupancy of projects operated by the Detroit Housing Commission, the local authority.

Only two issues will be considered at the trial, Judge Lederle indicated: the city's justification for its policy of racial segregation in public housing and the extent of injury suffered by the complainants and other Negroes who solely because of their race, have been denied opportunity to occupy vacancies in "white" projects for which they are eligible.

Winners Announced at St. Patrick Dinner

Lucky winners of elaborate prizes were announced at the St. Patrick re-union dinner held in the church hall at 1046 E. 34th street last Sunday.

Robart Ravard, 1633 E. Santa Barbara won a Kenmore washing machine; M. Zambrano, 722 E. 31st street was the recipient of a 35-piece dinner set and a living room chair was won by G. Kayser, 1136 E. 47th street.

Alfred Johnson In Fifty-fifth Assembly Race

The advent of Alfred V. Johnson, Willowbrook civic leader as an aspirant for the newly created California Assembly seat in the Fifty-fifth district, gives promises of a stiff fight for the Republican party nomination at the June 3 primary election. Already in the arena is Rayfield Lundy.

Johnson, a county health department employee, told friends he had decided to enter the race upon insistence of the Willowbrook delegation to the 23rd congressional district committee, which he heads. The young political aspirant appeared highly confident that the voters will support his candidacy at the polls.

Pigeondrop Suspect Acquitted

Audrey Wilson, 38, of 4105 So. Broadway, was found not guilty of grand theft by a jury in Department 44 of the Superior Court, Judge Neeley presiding. Wilson was accused of working a pigeon drop bunco game on Mrs. Crosby last September 26, at which time Mrs. Crosby lost $420.

Mrs. Crosby testified that while coming from the bank at 8th and Central avenue, Wilson approached her and after a conversation called her attention to a man who was supposed to have found a pocketbook. Wilson then called the man over to where he and Mrs. Crosby were standing on the street. The unidentified man, who was not apprehended, then opened the pocketbook and displayed a large sum of money. Mrs. Crosby then testified that the unidentified man told her that she would have to show his boss that she had enough money to support herself for sixty or ninety days and then he would split $2,100.00 that was supposed to have been in the found pocketbook, with her.

She further testified that Wilson encouraged her to withdraw all of her money from the bank so that she could show this money to the man's boss. Wilson was supposed to have a $1,200 check that he was going to show to the man's boss. She drew her money, all she had, from the bank and gave it to the unidentified man to show his boss. The unidentified man and Wilson left together, with Mrs. Crosby's money to go to the boss. She waited on the corner for them to return, which they did not do.

Defense counsel Earl C. Broady put Wilson on the stand and much to the surprise of everyone in the court room, he admitted under attorney Broady's examination everything Mrs. Crosby had said, except that he testified that Mrs. Crosby called his attention to the fact that the unidentified man, lost all of his money in the transaction, and was simply an innocent victim of a bunco scheme. Attorney Broady argued that it was as reasonable to believe the defendant's story as it was to believe Mrs. Crosby's story in that all matters brought before the court were fantastic. The jury was out three hours and brought in a verdict of not guilty.

HAPPY — These three seem to be pretty happy as they discuss the annual meeting of the Urban League held at Jefferson high school last Friday. Left to right, Louis Mandelbaum, chairman of the Awards Committee; Lester B. Granger, national executive secretary of the League and George A. Beavers, chairman of the board of the local League.

Urban League Reports Show 1951 Progress

America can't make democracy a workable system unless it finds solutions for the country's racial problems, Lester B. Granger, national executive secretary of the Urban League, of the local League at Jefferson high school last Friday. Marked progress during 1951 in Urban League work was reported by Wesley Brazier, executive of the League.

Awards for distinguished community service were given to Mrs. Laura Rector, Emmett Ashford, Murray Hoard, Dr. Leonard Stovall, George Thomas, William Pollard, Robert Buckner, M. Earl Grant and the Los Angeles Period Furniture company. Presentations were made by Screen Actors Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell.

Study of racial bias in hospitals, continuation of real estate workshops, sponsoring of small business clinics, and increased emphasis on vocational guidance were listed as among the League's 1952 objectives by George A. Beavers Jr., chairman of the local board.

Lynching of Sharecropper By Mississippi Mob Told

JACKSON, Miss.—Details of a murder of a Negro citizen during National Brotherhood Week—the mob murder of Tobe Faulkner, 60-year old Negro tenant farmer—were revealed for the first time this week.

During that same week, Robert Cobb, 32-year old Negro, who defended himself against a white landlord, was hunted down and killed by a mob of 400 whites near the town of Columbus. The mob was led by state highway patrolmen and town and county officials.

The second mob murder took place in Lawrence, town of about 100 residents.

More than 1,000 white people came from all sections of Newton and Scott Counties to the town to join state police and other government officers in the "hunt."

Faulkner was being sought by the mob after he had allegedly wounded a white man slightly following an argument about a cow which had been eating Faulkner's flowers.

The mob "poured a steady barrage of fire and tear-gas bombs, for a period of several hours" into Faulkner's home, according to news reports. "More than 25 state highway patrolmen, other officers, and Lawrence and Newton citizens crouched at vantage points around the building and started showering it with a withering blaze of gunfire, using every weapon from sub-machine guns to .22 calibre rifles," newspapers reported.

Faulkner, who had barricaded himself in his home, held off the mob for more than an hour before they killed him.

other. Each had been wounded. That was plain. Each had a great gaping hole in front. They looked stunned and saddened as if wondering what had happened, what had made men suddenly try to destroy them.

Officers Busy

Police officers were busy with that show of activity that always surrounds the scene of a crime. They weren't talking either. Had there been other bombings? Well, yes. Where? Why? Oh somewhere in the same block. How long ago? A year maybe. Any arrests? No, not yet.

Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the Los Angeles branch of the NAACP, was there earnestly probing into what had happened, assuring everybody that the NAACP would take appropriate steps. He would leave in an hour or so and the next day Los Angeles newspapers would carry his demand that law enforcement authorities take swift action to "halt this pattern of violence that is spreading across the nation."

There were newspapermen too, swarms of them, flashing bulbs, asking questions, plainly surprised at what they saw and trying to look cynical. Neighbors tramped in and out of the dynamited houses at will. Nobody stopped them. Nobody said be careful or you will destroy the evidence. Nobody seemed to be paying much attention to what anybody was doing.

Quiet-voiced William Bailey wandered around his wrecked living room. There was wonder in his eyes and a touch of fear, and a grim, determined set to his jaw. Yes, he'd stay. "Why," he said, "I bought last December. But I had to paint up first. You know how women are—my wife—why I just had this front room all painted and fixed up, and now . . ." He glanced around at the wrecked, charred furniture.

Won't Leave

Across the street, Mrs. Mamie Moore, whose house had been severely damaged by the blast, was calm and cool. She had been the first in the neighborhood. "They can't scare me out." You knew she meant it, too. They won't scare Mamie Moore out or Henderson Moore, her husband. They're there to stay. The explosion? Yes, it seemed to her that there was just one blast. Others said two, but she said there was just one.

Always the careful housewife, Mrs. Moore later went into the house and emerged with a broom and dust pan to sweep the glass off her front porch. "Well," she said, "I have vandalism insurance. I bought it when I came here. They can't drive me away."

The little knots of people kept forming and re-forming. Some came and looked and went away. Others came and went. They kept coming. Looking at the houses with the great gaping wounds. Shaking their heads. Walking away. Little knots of Negroes. Little knots of whites. They looked friendly enough. Sympathetic too, to each other. But a dynamite bomb lay between them driving them, setting them apart.

Dunsmuir was quiet and peaceful as I looked back when I turned east off it and onto Adams boulevard—a quiet tree-lined street with little bungalows.

K and K of HOLLYWOOD Scores Again!!!!

Two Startling New Discoveries

"FORMULA XX"

and

STA-PRESS

Cherie Turner, fabulous floral fashioner, states:

"FORMULA XX is the finest scalp and hair conditioner I have found to use on my long, lustrous hair, as it has quickly restored all of the natural softness, sheen and curl. I highly recommend FORMULA XX for any quality of hair."

Hair that is hard, dry and tough to manage is an age-old problem for the woman who wants to appear well-groomed at all times or the man who finds it good business to be sharp and look sharp regularly. People like that need a hair preparation that can give them results, quickly and efficiently.

SMOOTHNESS A REALITY

For several decades now, scientists and laboratory experts have been trying to fill that bill with a product that can change kinky hair to hair that is smooth and soft within a matter of minutes. Today the search is over. The answer has been found in a startling new discovery called "Formula XX," finest scalp and hair conditioner on the market. It is a product of K and K of Hollywood, manufacturers of two other remarkable hair products: "King Konk," the popular hair straightener, and "Sta-Press," the lustrous pressing solution.

HIGHLY EFFECTIVE

"Formula XX" with Lanolin is made of a secret mixture. Used on the hair, it penetrates each tiny part of hair channel and gets to the follicle and papillae, thereby enriching and re-vitalizing sluggish roots. The amazing preparation prevents and removes excess dandruff and stops itchy scalp. It is sold at leading drug stores and sundries at the same moderate prices offered on all K and K products.

Like "Formula XX," "Sta-Press" is also made with Lanolin. It is especially compounded to give the hair a high gloss and sparkling sheen.

ANOTHER K and K BEST SELLER

"King Konk" makes hair straightening an easy task for women, since with the preparation they no longer have to use hot combs. But not only is the product of great use to women, men find it highly satisfactory too. Particularly is this true among servicemen.

GIs throughout the world have found that "King Konk" gives them unusually handsome results that stand up under many different climates and conditions. Such customer satisfaction cannot be claimed by any other hair straightener on the market today.

A Fashion Favorite!

SHIRLEY HOLIDAY, famous Hollywood model, displaying the latest "POODLE" hair style, says:

"After trying most of the rest . . . I received the best results from "STA-PRESS" Pressing Oil . . . and "FORMULA XX" Scalp and Hair Conditioner."

V.V.'s Column

By The Society Editor

'Swunnaful!

Life, I mean.

Within the few days before and after birthday, we've heard from most evvabody. And t'anks, youse guys.

My brother, Frederick Moten, sent a card (plus a fabulous gift) that expressed what all the rest of you said in effect.

"May what you want
Be what you get
To make this day
Your finest yet—
And may the year
Right from the start
Bring all that's dearest
To your heart."

Far as we can see those are the best kind of best wishes—wanting the recipient to have what he or she wants—not what YOU think he or she should have.

Close friends from days past: Ruby Mason and Corrine Adams in Chi, Bennie Rodgers and Melba Ficklin Sweets of St. Loo, Rev. Hermes Zimmerman from all over Illinois and Wisconsin—so good to hear from you.

Thanx, too, to Clinton Macklin (whom we're anticipating meeting) telephoning greetings from Chicago. Macklin runs on the road and was commissioned to call "Happy Brihtday" when he hit this town. Did it, too. Mission accomplished.

Can't go on telling all the nice things that happened to me on my birthday—what's this column supposed to be—ennyhow?

Mentioned the Sequins last week. They're having a cocktail ball at Alpha Bowling this Saturday night, what wasn't said is that it's invitational. And right purty invitations they are, too. Eva Verdun's president of this brand new organization. The dance will introduce the club.

'Twas with regret that we had to take a rain check on the Medical Auxiliary's invitation to attend their Tuesday night meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Cooper. Ditto the Saturday shower for mother-to-be Mickey Sneed.

'Nuff stuff.

Baby Shower

Friends of Mickey Sneed gave a baby shower for her Saturday afternoon. No wedding date has been set for Fredi Washington and Dr. Hugh Bell of Greenwich, Conn., whose engagement was announced recently. That's Al Hathaway in that russet and gray (upholstery to match) Pontiac Catalina you just saw ease by, coolly. It's a pretty safe bet well-tailored Al will add a russet and gray sports outfit to his large wardrobe to go along with the car.

Portland-born concert pianist Bill Allen, here in Jan., returns from the East by highway in early May for a West Coast summer of it. He will sort've commute between Oregon, the Bay area and L.A. Bill rates high atop the eligible bachelors list, too. Girls, girls, please, no pushing! The man will be here all summer. Chums of Sugar Ray Robinson agree he's put out at not getting an honorary commissionership back East. By the way, did you know he was responsible for the recent job given to the father of the first colored Congressional Medal of Honor holder?

Surely no bride-elect of the season is having a more profound testimonial of her popularity than Haroldine Browning! Friends are more than eager to fete her as the days tick off. And it couldn't happen to a nicer person, Allah knows. Last Saturday's linen shower given by Angelique Bratton, Ethel Bell and Dorothy Johnson at the La Salle St. home of Juanita Williams was a gay turnout of some 40 ladies. St. Patrick's Day was the menu motif. Then, Sunday, Yvonne Cole Springfield and her mother were hostesses at a novel closet shower. This Sunday, Antoinette Atkinson is giving a luncheon for those who have entertained for Haroldine and also members of her bridal party. And the last affair (a can shower) will be given by the junior Leslie Kings (she's a bridesmaid) on the twenty-ninth. The lads will join the girls later for a dancing party.

And through it all Haroldine is as ever serene, sparkling and graciously grateful.

Florist Artisan

Harold Odum, the Bev Hills florist artisan, puts that much-discussed Malta Cross display of his on window display any day now. Add N.Y. items: Bill Chase okay again after a week in bed with virus. Newsman Ted Yates will wed Dorothy Garland Wharton in mid-May.

Hades Party

Flo Wysinger Allen's Hades costume party bid (flaming red) reached us in the rain-soaked mail from up S.F. way and I'm betting the shindig last Sun. was riotous despite the weather. The costume idea was aimed at what smart folk are wearing in Hades this season! Leave it to Flo for originality with fun. And I wonder, on sudden thought, how her book is progressing. Due momentarily for a visit: Atlantic City's Dr. and Mrs. Lucas.

You will of course be at the Sunday brunch being given (ten til three)) at Mme. Lorenza Jordan Cole's by members of the local branch of the National Association of Negro Musicians? Silver offering. And quite a wealth of listenable entertainment they tell me.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

The crimson and cream boys stole the crowd this weekend or, at least, on Saturday night for the basketball at the Kappa Kastle. e e

Among those there we noticed Earl Glenn, Uly Griggs, Florella Pierson with Bill Tyree who registered a smile from ear to ear, Lorenzo Wallace, "Ichabod" Ward, Newton Harris and Theresa Matthews and Dan Pullem and Dolores Aiken.

Mary Ann Vandange and John Moore made quite an interesting couple as did Walker Bruce and P.S.T.

Louis White, Herbert Wood and Wallace Pugh all seemed to be trying to make a hit on June Mathis. Leroy Matthews was left hanging off of the bar by his fingernails and held on, stammering, "Set 'um up, Joe!"

Gerald Moore, Percy McIntyre, Barbara Street, Gilbert Nunn and Preston Johnson made their periodical trips upstairs to the soda fountain to visit mixmaster Orville Diggs.

Elaine Lindo, Jimmy Moore, George Granberry, Jo Ann Leonard, Johnny Moore, Marvelle and Henry Fins, Dexter Loudal, Jimmy McMickens, Beverly Kirkwood, Chester Jones, Lover Boy Wilson Robinson and Harry Mallett were moved by those crazy sounds from Py Taylor's combo.

Other merrymakers included Sandra Bain, James Cantrell, Barbarba Bradley, Cecil Clay, Elaine Lindo, Stanley Parkfield, Jackie Gray, Bruce and Gwen Pussey, Betty Jean Wilson, Leon Bridges and Paul Mitchell.

On a Saturday night an individual can stand in front of the Red Hut and observe almost anyone or anything in town.

Last weekend we made it a point to do just this. We didn't uncover anything too important, but we did see Don Benjamin and Jean Sexton, Clarence Kennady and Bret Harte Smith, Betty Norman and Barbara Stovall greasing their faces with the Hut's choice eats.

Who Could This Be?

A certain coed whose lover just left for overseas duty is unaware of the fact that he had made plans to marry her arch rival.

And another instance of irregularity is that of the gal that's going out with a man old enough to be her father (or somebody's father—maybe yours).

Speaking of being jilted, a certain R. T. is mumbling in her soup over her boy friend who ran off down South and got married.

Hearsay and Whatever

In a mathematical equation, we find that the elements are equally balanced. The correct way to write this formula is probably "Arthur Lewis equals Maxine Kennady minus Zoe Wise.

Our keen observation detected that Gerald Strange and David Reed have taken stock in the charming Kappa cheer leader Elaine Byas.

Have you noticed Benny Prescott cruising around in his fire engine red '52 Ford convertible?

Happy Birthday

Getting older and probably more worldly wise are two of the city's most charming ladies who have virtually got the men at their feet. Pat Anderson and Loretta Lee celebrated their annual aging this week by making new conquests in the field of love. (You think we're kidding!)

That modern sound artist, Dave Brubeck, is attracting the set by hundreds. Journeying to the Surf Club over the past weekend were the couples of Peggy Sue Terry and Walker Bruce, Geneva Fields and Leon McCarty.

Belle Ami

Four belles and all's well.

At 4 a.m. the after party broke up. The ladies of the Belle Ami social club started for their respective homes, fully aware of the fact that their dance, which was presented at Park View Manor, came off in fine style.

Frank Morgan's combo along with more potent things kept the crowd in good spirits.

The music was wild and so were the people. Especially the gals who seemed to throw all caution to the winds to the delight of John Haynes, Leon Aldridge, Calvin Lawrence and Carl Clay.

We spied on Gwen Lott and Marsha Owens with her date of the evening who was nursing a bottle of Acme beer. Betty Mack, Seletha Huff, Alma Johnson and Wanda Govan added spice to an affair which might otherwise have been utterly void of real way out people.

BEWARE

When darkness falls and shadows creep,
The Hounds awaken from their sleep
To spy on you, to gather news,
To cover the town and hear the blues.
So be aware when you hear this sound,
"Look out! The Hounds are around!"

The heavens opened up, last week end over this wonderful city of the angels with the winds blowing furiously, thunder roaring overhead, and lightning flashing the sky, while the rains beat down in massive gobs. Still, if you were one of the lucky ones who play that game called Bridge, you did not have to settle down to a long week end snooze or take out your favorite yo-yo after boarding up all the portholes.

Instead, you could have taken the nearest street car, your car or anybody's car, or walked or run over to the W.C.F. Bridge club, and let the rains . . . rain . . . With so many folks about you'd never know.

Bridge players will never be content to stay at home, when there is a chance to match skill with the masters. That's exactly what happened Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, when the Harmony Duplicate club held its men's and women's pair regional. Needless to say the sponsors of this affair do and should feel quite proud of their accomplishments. . . . Especially of R. C. Henson, who with his assistants, directed a very, very smooth game, and who will be greatly missed when and if he turns over that department to someone else, as expected. . . . Why? Yours truly can attribute the low and poor score to the (bridge player's chant) . . . my partner. . . . However, we had a most enjoyable game and will be right in there pitching the next time, trying again.

We played with the Angel City club last Monday night. It was nice to see so many tables playing. Looks like the makings of another major club in the city, in spite of the many setbacks—keep up the good work!

Mr. Dugan, who is a member of the A. C. club, was telling how he missed the Sunday lectures that ended last week. We do too. . . . But since we will be having our weekly play each Sunday, I am sure Mr. Dugan, members and friends, we will all be seeing each other soon. . . . Just remember the time is 3 o'clock, the club is the PACIFICO, the place is the W.C.F. club, the DATE is your SUNDAY HABIT!!

Ambassador Chosen for Alpha Show

The Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity's Annual Easter show will be staged this year in the luxurious setting of the Embassy Room at the exclusive Ambassador Hotel. The Alphas have selected Easter Sunday, April 13, from five to ten p.m. to present their traditionally popular affair.

According to Dr. Roy Andrew, chairman of the affair, the greatest names in show business have been lined up to bring the greatest entertainment that Los Angeles has seen. At no time in the history of Los Angeles has a show of this magnitude attempted. All the glamour and color of a Hollywood premier will prevail as Los Angeles swings to Spring with the Alpha men.

The coveted Alpha Gold Award will be presented on this occasion to the artist who has given most of his time and talent to the furtherance of the many worthy projects sponsored during the year for the benefit of recognized and deserving charities. Last year's first place award went to Arthur Lee Simpkins, while the second place award went to the beautiful and vivacious Dorothy Dandridge.

Alpha Man Edward Henderson is ticket chairman this year. He has placed tickets in the hands of all Alpha men and at the Golden State Drugs, Giddings Pharmacy, Davidson's Variety Store and Dolphins of Hollywood.

Regular deadline for all social news is Tuesday of each week at 1 p.m. Pictures and articles must be in the office of the Eagle by 1 o'clock

Camp Fire Birthday Celebration

Camp Fire Girls of Los Angeles and the nation, celebrated their 42nd Birthday March 17. Utilizing the National Birthday theme, "Deisgn for Friendship," many activities were carried out by Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, and Horizon Club members.

Following the annual tradition of the Los Angeles Area Council, Camp Fire Girls participated in Church Weekend, bringing personal emphasis to the first part of the Camp Fire Law, "Worship God." In the Watts area, Ta Eha Ta Camp Fire group of 102nd Street School, Mrs. Ashley Burch, attended San Miguel Catholic Church and Oki-Hi-Luta Camp Fire group attended Grant Chapel, A.M.E. with their leader, Mrs. Marietta Nelson. Each year Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups in the area will attend a different church during the celebration of Camp Fire Birthday Week, taking in all the different denominations.

Camp Fire Girls devoted much time and effort to telling their community about special group activities on March 17.

Wednesday, March 19 all Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups in the Watts Area wore their service costumes to school. Service to the school and community was the theme for that day.

The newly organized Bobolink and Blue Bonnet Blue Bird groups of Compton Avenue School had parties to celebrate the occasion. The leaders of these groups, Mamie Graves, Etisha Hentrel, Mable Conner, and Doris Winstead interpreted to the girls the purpose for having such a party: to make better friends within the groups by having fun together, through understanding and appreciating one another. The girls invited their mothers and sponsors to the parties to also make their contribution to the "Design for Friendship."

Camp Fire Girls, a national organization for all girls, seven to eighteen, welcomes all girls to the program, regardless of race, religion, or economic background, and guides the girls toward adult responsibility and community.

The Eagle's Guest

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This week, the Eagle's Guest is a resident of Houston, Texas. The visiting back and forth between that city and Ellay means that lotsa us know lotsa them. Even got an aunt there ourselves, Essie (Mrs. Sherman) McNeil. Hopkins, from whom we may expect future columns, has a name for his offering . . . TOPPING THE TOWN) . . . vmb.

By ROY L. HOPKINS
2216 Maury St., Houston, Tex.

OUR NEIGHBOR OF THE WEEK:

Last week in a Houston paper we saluted Mrs. Ola B. Mitchell as our unsung hero; this week we take another section of the city and find a lady whose best friends are among the leading young people in Houston and there are reasons for this. First of all she made friends with all the young people of her community by not criticizing their young and foolish hearts, but trying to teach them to think on the higher things of life while making the mistakes common to youth.

Better than all, she had a life to offer as an example; she loved education, friends, work, and her family. She stood out in our community as a shining example of "Finest Womanhood." I remember her best by this one thing she told me: "Never think of growing old; and above all, don't grow old jealous, envious, grouchy, mean, and dishonest." I have found these to be most outstanding traits among people right here in what is called the "Heavenly City."

People are jealous because their friends have moved on "Sugar Hill"; because one can make friends easier than others; because one can sing, play an instrument, preach, teach, better than others. But as the Master of Galilee said, "What is that to you? Follow Me."

The influential lady of whom I speak is Mrs. Rose C. Jones, affectionately called "Madam." To know her is to love her and to love her is an ideal because she has something to offer youth . . . a life . . . rich and full. Mrs. Jackson is a member of Antioch Baptist Church, wife of Dempsey Jones, a member of the pioneer family of Toney's. We offer our orchids to her this week.

Names in the News

Sgt. Buster Deramus gave a farewell-er at the Peacock Dining Room last Thursday night. He is fixing to answer his Uncle Sam's call back to the Army. He has served as recruiting officer in this area. Houston turned out to celebrate with Deramus. Bands and floor show artists donated their time and talent. Don Robey graciously donated the Peacock. Seen in the merry party were: Lois Wells, Rachael Cooke, Cammie Caruthers, Charles and Lillie Alonzo, (lest I forget, there is a baby girl over at the Timothy Parrs) Ethel Martin, Floyd Deramus, brother of the honoree, Artemis Kennedy, who was master of ceremonies, and countless others who were on hand for the party.

All the officers from the local army recruiting station were on hand also. Sunday the fellows got together and gave a smoker for Buster. He is the hubby of Lois Davis.

The local Samuel Houston Alumni gave a fashion show at the palatial home of Mrs. J. Will Jones on Holman, Sunday evening. President Robert Harrington of Samuel Houston was guest. Ladies displayed pretty styles for the spring, and other toggery that caught the eyes of their many,many guests.

School circles were shocked Friday morning over the sudden death of Roger Lights, a member of the faculty at Yates High Schools. Mr. Yates had worked all the week and was ready for school when the end came. He is a member of one of the oldest families in Texas. His late father once pastored Antioch Baptist Church. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Janie Lights, and other members of his family. We offer our sincere sympathy.

Mrs. Anna Dupree, after giving $10,000 to Texas Southern University last week, is very busy with last minute plans for the show to be given at the Music Hall for the benefit of the Eliza Johnson Home for the Aged. This home, named for Anna's mother, will soon be ready for occupancy.

Martin Mayfield and Keyatlas Washington finally told us they were married in December. The P. W. Seals were on hand for the Mardi Gras festivities in New Orleans last week. Pansy Johnson, sister of Helen Johnson, and Mrs. Bethel Smith of Los Angeles will return to the Angel City soon. Ann Robinson, who usually plays hostess to Los Angeles' Leontyne King, has opened Houston's newest hotel, located in the downtown district.

Organ Recitals

There were three organ recitals in the city last week. Yours Truly appeared at Payne Chapel Church, Dr. Cadd at Sloan, and we failed to get the name of the artist at Texas Southern. Organ music is taking full sway for the spring season.

The Gents are busy with plans for the spring formal. Invites will be scarce. Better get in the know with those fellows. Phi Beta Sigma has chosen May 9 for their annual ball. Mrs. M. G. Purnell, wife of Felton Purnell, is the newly elected president of the Sigma Shadows, auxiliary to Phi Beta Sigma fraternity. They organized at the home of Gladys and George Simon last Monday night. Gladys served a chicken dinner to the ladies and the few Sigma men who were on hand for their first meeting.

Winsome Maxine Nelson and Thomasine Davis appeared in a two-piano recital last week and people are still raving over their performance. They are both music majors at Texas Southern. Now that the Deltas' Ball is over the AKA's will stage their annual hop soon.

Zetas announced Miss Ellie Alma Walls as their "Woman of the Year." Miss Walls is a teacher on the staff at Wheatley High School, an AKA, and a leader in too many activities to mention. One of the best loved women in the city. She taught me at one time and I coughed too much one day, so she brought a bottle of cough syrup to school the next day. No, I have not forgotten it. CONGRATULATIONS.

Thanks to Mrs. Mary L. Jones-Johnson for this very nice letter. If we have made one heart happy over our words of praise to the deserving, we, too, are happy. The Links celebrated their anniversary at the newly remodeled home of Dr. and Mrs. G. P. A. Forde. Dr. Walter J. Minor takes the cake for the "jitterbug" of the week. "Our World" magazine featured this light and jumping fellow doing a royal number.

Pvt. Cecil Brown writes from Camp Roberts that he is well and in one of the divisions of training school. Eula Mae Cotton celebrated another birthday last week. There will be a big pageant at New Pleasant Grove on the 31st. Mrs. Ella Evans-Turk is at the helm of affairs. . . . So spring is here and many hearts will turn to the open doors of nature and enjoy the beauty thereof. . . . So, with a heart as light as the weather . . . I'LL SEE YA' . . . LEELAND.

Wilfandel Honors Contestants

Appropriate piano music was played by Reginald Fisher at the reception held last Sunday afternoon honoring the contestants in the Wilfandel European Scholarship contest at the well-appointed club house on West Adams boulevard.

More than 100 persons stopped by to wish the girls "good luck" and assure them of their support. The cordial hospitality for which Wilfandel is noted was very much in evidence.

Mrs. Paul Williams, club president, greeted the contestants and promised them the wholehearted support of the membership. Mrs. Fannie Williams, club founder and chairman of the scholarship committee, reviewed the rules of the contest. Mrs. Bessie Burke, elementary school principal, described the trip and the educational possibilities. Mrs. Seth Lee and Freita Shaw Johnson gave advice on successful campaigning.

Pasadena Entry

Miss Jean Buggs, 177 Clinton street, Pasadena, was a late entry who is expected to figure prominently in the contest. Miss Buggs attends L.A. City College and is very popular in the City of Roses.

Other contestants presented Sunday were: Diane Watson, Fayetta Wagner, Gloria Brandle, Gloria Joy Hunnicutt, Shirley Rose Alexander, Celia Banks and Marcella Turner.

Welfare Group Plans Benefit

The Youth Welfare Service Group met at the 28th Street branch YMCA on Saturday, March 8, to discuss plans for the elaborate benefit Pre-Easter Tea and Fashion Show to be presented at the branch Sunday, March 30, from 4 to 7 p.m. Outstanding social clubs will furnish the models, Mrs. Jessie L. Terry and Mrs. Isabel Robinson are in charge of this activity.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames Flora P. Carter, president, Yolande B. Hutchinson, Fay Allen, Marion Clark, Arnette Brown, Ethel Bryant, Miss Irene Williams, Rev. Tillie E. Lewis, Messers Bernard C. Carter, Kenneth Morris and Morris M. Ewing.

Editorial

Reaping The Whirlwind

On August 2, 1951, the California Eagle carried an editorial in which we said:

"The attempt to intimidate property owners from making further sales of real property to Negroes, or other non-Caucasians in the Dunsmuir area should draw immediate prosecution."

We made that statement in connection with the bombing of the home of a Japanese-American occulist on Dunsmuir avenue.

In that same issue of the Eagle we carried a statement in which Police Chief William H. Parker said:

"We are taking the two cases very seriously. We have leads and we are following them."

On August 16, 1951, we pointed to the chief's promise and took the position that:

"The best guarantee that Los Angeles won't have a 'Cicero' riot is the arrest and vigorous prosecution of those who insist on taking the law into their own hands in an effort to enforce residential segregation."

Nothing happened.

Nobody was arrested.

In September, vandals burned a fiery cross on a Negro home owner's lawn and we said on September 20:

"We think it is high time that Chief Parker hauled some of these vandals to court. Continued immunity from prosecution will result in more and more daring on their part and the first thing we know we will have a really serious mob . . ."

Nobody was arrested.

Nothing happened.

On October 18, 1951, we wrote another editorial urging action by the chief.

Nothing happened.

Nobody was arrested.

On December 20, 1951, we wrote an editorial which was entitled, "The Road to Violence." We said:

"It is high time that some of our local law enforcement officials stepped in and took some effective action to halt the concerted efforts to harass Negro home owners . . . unless some action is taken it is only a question of time until Los Angeles will have . . . violence."

And we included this prophetic statement in that editorial:

"When that happens, law enforcement officials are going to fall over each other getting into print to chorus that they disapprove of what's happened . . ."

Nothing happened.

Nobody was arrested.

Last Sunday two homes were bombed—on Dunsmuir Avenue!

By Monday evening, law enforcement authorities had fallen over themselves to "chorus that they disapprove of what's happened."

We're not recalling the validity of our predictions to gloat over our foresight, or to sneer at Chief Parker or other law enforcement authorities.

We do want to point out that Los Angeles has reaped the whirlwind of serious violence through the failure of law enforcement authorities to ferret out those responsible for earlier violations of the law.

Those who planted Sunday's bombs were encouraged by the laxity or incompetence of our police force.

Everybody else was getting away with it.

They figured they could do the same thing.

Unless the Dunsmuir bombers are caught, and caught promptly, and sent to prison where they belong, next month or the next will bring an even more serious outbreak.

Those bombers won't be caught by the slip-shod methods the police have employed in the past.

They won't be caught by high-sounding words or righteous platitudes.

What Los Angeles needs, and needs right now, is some first-class police work.

"We repeat what we said on November 29, 1951:

"We see no reason why the police can't do a better job than they've done and we hope that responsible city officials will call them on the carpet and insist that they do so."

We need action. The time for talk has passed.

Red Booby Trap

Few Americans, either white or Negro, take the Progressive Party seriously. Most of them know that it is a stalking horse for the Reds. It follows every twist and turn in the Communist Party line.

Currently the Progressives are beating the drums for "peace" but the peace they are talking about is a peace on terms that will suit the needs of the Russian foreign office. They want the United States to get out of Asia and to withdraw its aid to Europe. A defenseless Europe and Asia mean opportunities for the Russians to move in and establish more "People's Democracies," such as Rumania or Poland or Hungary, which are mere satellites of the Soviet Union.

Of course, the Reds can't sell that kind of a line to the American people so they're hard at work trying to disguise their intentions by painting their stooge Progressive Party as a party of peace and as a vehicle for the realization of other legitimate desires for social reform.

That's the real reason why the Progressives are planning to nominate Mrs. C. A. Bass as vice-president. She's bait for the Negro voters. Within the next few months they will parade Mrs. Bass up and down the country and every Negro who will listen will be told that her candidacy offers an opportunity to cast a vote against Jim Crow and in favor of the right to participate in the political life of the nation.

We don't think that many people will be fooled by the tub thumping and breast beating that is in the offing. If there are those who are inclined to listen, we suggest that they look behind the scenes.

Job For The FBI

We hope that the FBI follows through on its announced plan to look into police brutality in this city. One of the few areas in which the federal government can operate effectively to protect the citizen against violence is that in which law enforcement officers use their positions to inflict violence on prisoners.

Even in the South there have been successful prosecutions of law enforcement officers who have beaten, and in some cases, killed Negroes. And if southern juries are willing to convict in cases of that kind we're sure that northern and western jurors will take similar steps.

One of the cases in which a federal prosecution should be launched without delay is that in which sheriff's deputies at Firestone Station turned a fire extinguisher on two helpless Negro law violators.

The fact that a soft-headed superior court jury freed the chief offender and that he was restored to duty by an incompetent county civil service commission is no barrier to a federal prosecution for the offense which he committed. Those who aided and abetted him should be indicted along with him and all of them should be convicted. We don't see how the civil service commission could keep them on their jobs if the government clapped them in a federal prison where they belong.

The wave of police brutality which is now coming to light is the direct result of failure to discipline that minority of law enforcement officers who substitute violence for intelligence. Public indignation may curb these lawless law enforcers for a moment; the only thing that will halt them permanently is a few prison terms.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

The evidence is increasing that conditions in Washington, D. C., our nation's capital city, are improving for Negro Americans. That is not to say that the Dixie-flavored Washington is as yet anywhere near where it ought to be, but there have been some changes for the better.

Like many another city in the land, the Jim Crow pattern of Washington has been uncompromisingly rigid as to restaurants, theatres, hotels, schools, and residential areas. Today the pattern is not so rigid. Cracks have been made in the walls of segregation. The restaurants are holding the color line pretty well. It is still "safer" to eat in the Union Station restaurants outside Negro areas. There are a few other spots like the U. S. Supreme Court restaurant, the downtown YWCA, the AVC clubhouse, and one or two other islands in the sea of prejudice, but the run of the mill restaurants still bar Negroes, no matter how eminent, how rich, or how distinguished their white companions might be. An attack has been made on the eating places and the courts are now wrestling with a test case under an old law. It may be that before too many months an American citizen who is not white may be able to eat a meal in a public dining room in the capital of world democracy. Some people got terribly excited a few weeks ago because one big department store which gets millions of dollars in Negro spending power, finally opened up its lunch counter to Negroes. I could not work up much enthusiasm over this "victory."

Clearest progress has been with the hotels. There was a time when not a single Washington hotel, from first grade to flophouse, would accept a Negro. Walter White used to "pass" and stay at Hay-Adams, but when a national magazine published a story about his being there, he was asked not to come back. Today there are Negro guests in at least a half-dozen good Washington hotels, no questions asked, and no special arrangements necessary. Very quietly, during the war, the Statler hotel began accepting Negro guests without any announcement or apology. Today other top-grade hotels are following that lead and before long all the good hotels will finally give in.

The long fight over theatres has just been won. A contract was signed last week for legitimate stage shows to go into the National theatre with no segregation of the audience. For this victory, Negroes of the District and of American owe a debt of gratitude to Actors Equity Association and the Dramatics Guild who by vote of their members forbid any actor to perform in a play in Washington where Negroes were segregated. This kind of action by a trade union shows what can be done if the union membership and leadership are sincere.

As for the Jim Crow school system, it is under close scrutiny and direct attack, with indications that it is not nearly so sacred as many people had come to believe. I am not a Drew Pearson, but a fair prediction would seem to be that Jim Crow schools in Washington do not have many more years to run, say, five or six at the most.

If present pressures and progress continue, by 1962 the capital of our country may be as American as Seattle or Denver.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

By Lester B. Granger

SAN FRANCISCO, California—In New York, people out for a good time go to a show, concert or night club. In Seattle they go fishing. In Los Angeles, they jump into a car and go picnicking. In San Francisco they go looking for a new place to eat.

Here, at the Golden Gate, local folks discuss a new restaurant they have discovered with all of the enthusiasm that a Dodger fan displays in describing a new and promising Brooklyn Dodger pitcher. Here they've got all kinds of restaurants—big and small, pretentious and cozy, French style, Italian style, Spanish style—all kinds except really bad restaurants. A local saying is that it's hard to find a bad meal in San Francisco and impossible to pay too much for a really good one.

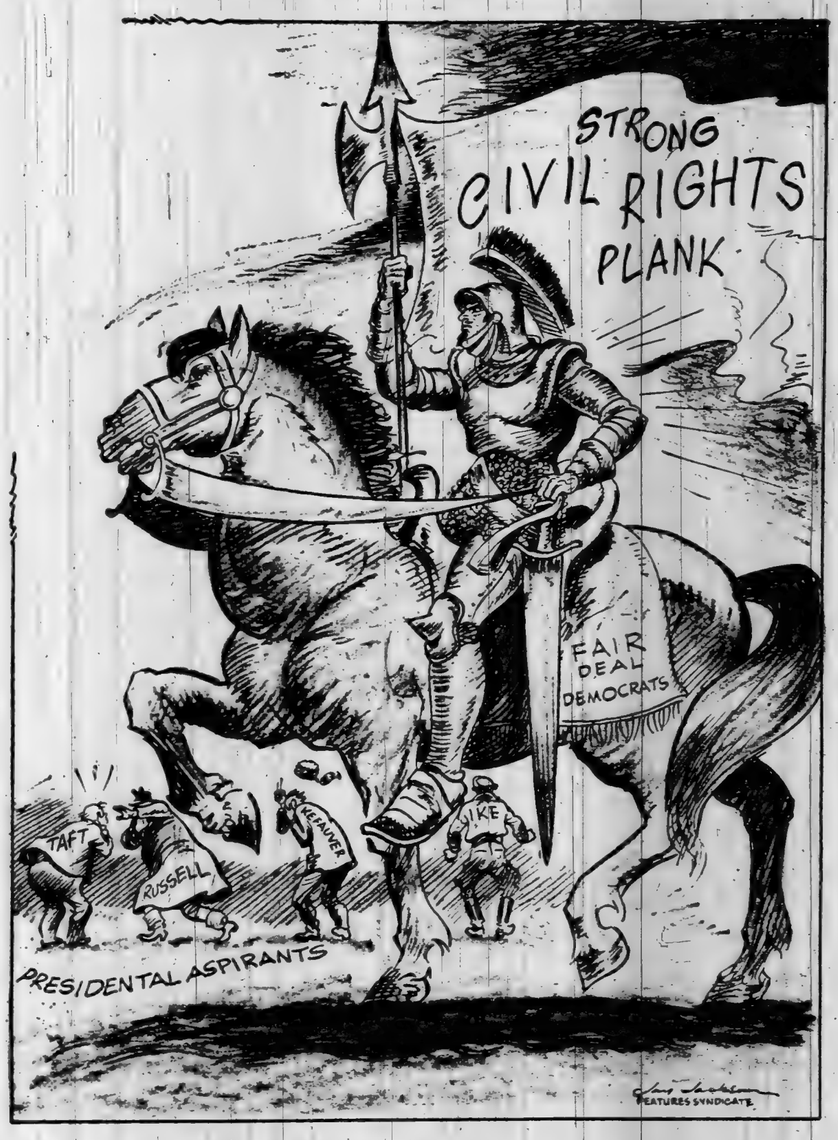
San Francisco is a town where people build houses on hills that were never meant to be climbed, run streets up to reach the houses and then drive cars up those impossible hills. In San Francisco it's cold and disagreeable in July and golden warm and beautiful in October. This is the city where colored Americans used to be able to move around in public places and completely forget their color—until they sought some job that back east members of their race were used to practically monopolizing.

San Francsico is the town which prided itself on interracial amity and cosmopolitan broad-mindedness, and generally lived up to its reputation—until just recently. The war started the deterioration. The Japanese were "evacuated"—kidnapped by the government and tossed down in concentration camps. (This was under "the kind, humanitarian New Deal.") Negroes moved in during the absence of Japanese citizens. The racial structure of the community underwent radical alteration. Anti-Japanese feeling slid smoothly into anti-Negro, anti-Chinese feeling. A sentiment to grow for keeping these "lesser breeds" in their place—that place being anywhere except where whites might want to be.

I came to San Francisco just after the San Pablo crowd stoned the house of Navy veteran Wilbur Gary, a Negro property-buyer who refused to "stay in his place."

The town was still talking about the case of Sheng, the Chinese innocent who polled white residents of Southwood, another lower-middle income neighborhood, to see if they wanted him as a neighbor. Of course he lost the vote. He invited what he got by inviting people to vote on their own prejudices. But even though Sheng asked for it, San Franciscans are thoroughly ashamed of the fact that he got the turn-down. Just as they are ashamed of the San Pablo riot.

Maybe both these incidents were good to have happen. Maybe they were needed to shock responsible leadership into awareness of what has been happening in this town. Too much smugness is a dangerous condition these days especially, and this cosmopolitan community has smugly over-estimated the actual amount of its cosmopolitanism.



At any rate, I have found a receptiveness here, to ideas I have been expressing about jobs and housing and other living opportunities for Negro Americans — a receptiveness that wasn't apparent the last time I was here. And fundamentally San Francisco is one of America's better cities—better in community spirit as well as lively beauty and exciting charm. I'm glad both the incidents happened. Wilbur Gary is secure in his home; he'll get along with his neighbors from now on. And even the Southwood situation probably completed the American Education of the Chinese-American inevolved. He has learned that you don't ask your neighbor's permission to exercise your basic American rights.

Alliance Seeks To Halt New Loyalty Tests

WASHINGTON—Welfare Director William C. Jason, Jr., of the National Alliance of Postal Employees last week filed suit in U.S. District Court here against Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson, four members of the Post Office Loyalty Review Board and 26 members of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board, all whites, to stop the newest "postal purge" which got underway in January.

GUNMAN BRAND
By Thomas Thomspson

When gambler Sam Templin picked Milo as the new marshall of Oro, he naturally expected to have the law on his side. He found, instead, that Milo took his badge seriously and used his gun for justice alone.

ABC OF INVESTING
By R. C. Effinger

A handy book for the investor, amateur or otherwise. We won't guarantee you anything if you read this book, but if you're planning to invest or interested in the possibilities of evenually conserving and adding to your money, you will find htis guide useful and enlightening.

AND RIDE A TIGER
By Robert Wilder

Pike Yarnell rode a tiger of self-incrimination as he could have prevented the suicide of his fellow airman, Donald Beasley, but he had encouraged it. In Donald's home town the circumstances of his death are not known and monuments have been erected to his memory. Pike falls in love with his lovely young widow. The resolving of this dilemma holds the reader's interest to the end.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE RICH
By Allan Herrick

The wise management of a small income can, in many cases, lead to a sense of security as rewarding as any engendered by great wealth. The author traces the career of a person of moderate means from high school to old age and shows that comparatively little money is needed for a thoroughly satisfactory life. Saving, homemaking, travel, investment, medical expenses—all the contingencies faced by most of us in the moderate income group are covered here. There is an excellent chapter on the problem of unexpected dependents and another on the financial guidance of children.

HOW TO BUY MORE FOR YOUR MONEY
By Sidney Margolius

Even if prices have gone up since this book wsa written in 1947, it's still a common-sense guide to spending money on the things you buy in stores. This is a book that is not afraid to mention bran names and specific stores; in addition, it covers more general topics like what to watch for at a sale and how to judge values in food and clothing. There's never been a book of this kind that didn't tell you something that you knew already, of course, but on the other hand this is the kind of book that never fails to give some new angle on making the money go further.

HOW TO LAY A NESTEGG
By Edgar Scott

Amusingly written in an endeavor to present the financial facts of life to young girls, this instructive and painless presentation of the basic facts of finance is suitable for everyone. Incidentally, most of the writers on the humorless subject of economics or finance would profit if Mr. Scott rewrote their material in his entertaining and intelligible style.

THE SHEPHERD'S CROOK
By Paul Frischauer

Discovering that her father had died a martyr to the Huguenot faith, Isabeau, a spirited and beautiful orphan, left the court of Louis XIV for Cevennes, where the Huguenots kept their religion alive and safe from Catholic authorities. For love of Isabeau, Marquis d'Alais joined the exiles and saved her against the full might of the Inquisition. Intelligently and interestingly conceived, the story escapes the routine historical romance to spin a tale of dangerous times and their effect on those involved.

THRE WEKS TO A BETTER MEMORY
By Brendon Byrne

You can become a memory expert in twenty-one days by using the devices and exercises in Brendon Byrne's new book. At least so he promises. Mr. Byrne believes that memory is a skill and is to be acquired like any other. His suggestions are in the main psychological and his exercises and memory helping games are fun to do. If you remember to ask about it, you'll find the book in your library, along with several other good ones on memory training, the titles of which we can't for the life of us recollect at the moment.

MRS. McGINTY'S DEATH
By Agatha Christie

Hercules Poirot, somewhat bored with his retirement, lends his efforts to save an innocent young man from the gallows. It was the late Mrs. McGinty's purchase of a bottle of ink that put him on the trail of the real culprit.

PASTIMES FOR THE PATIENT
By Marguerite Ickis

Everyone sooner or later faces the tedium of long convalescence. Here are suitable hobbies for this wearisome period, which can lead to lasting pleasure later on.

People and Places

The private affairs of HERMAN (Lush salesman) BRUCE, MILLIE, his lovely actress wife; ACE GRAHAM, a sportsman with a sleek looking fleetwood and shapely JACQUELINE DELAVALADE JACQUET, ex-wife of Illinois (Jazz) JACQUET. The lid blew the Bruce's cozy little love-nest sky-high the other a.m. just outside of Bill Davis's popular Red Hut Broiler. Heated words were exchanged between Jacqueline and Millie. Each accused one another of all sorts of things, such as going hiking with some other man other than the right one.

Natch, Jacqueline had the better of the words when she pointed out in a few "motorcycle" phrases that she was free, single and unattached. About this point Millie exploded in not too lady-like manner using also a few motorcycles in between to make herself clear that was common knowledge Jacqueline was running around with her husband HERMAN.

Jacqueline countered that Millie was keeping the same pace with ACE GRAHAM. This HERMAN no doubt knew for some time and was willing to forgive and forget.

Word got around to ACE that his business was very much in the street. Natch, he didn't feel kindly toward Jacqueline who was accused of putting it there. So he ups and smacks Jacqueline and she fell flat on her pretty "you-know-what." Leonard Mcclain let it be known to Mister Graham, with two of the sweetest left hooks to the head and body which floored the smacker, that he was opposed to men going around hitting his lady friend.

This joyful group broke up with Jacqueline threatening arrest and filing a damage suit. However, they talked her out of that. Now it is rumored that McClain is tabbed to be rubbed out. This would happen to five nice people that live a life full of excitement.

VIVA ZAPATA, latest 20th Century flick about a Mexican General is just about one of the best coming out of the Pico Street studio. Incidentally, Darryl Zanuck pulls a real clever one in using Frank Silvera, a sepia star,

Negro in Movies: Post-War History

By L. DAVID

(Part Four)

Because the employment position of Negroes did not improve in 1947, Joel Fluellen, at the annual meeting of his union, the Screen Actors Guild, in 1948, proposed this resolution:

"Now therefore be it resolved, that the Screen Actors Guild use all its powers to oppose discrimination against Negroes in the motion picture industry;

Be it further resolved ,that a special committee be set up at once to implement this policy and to meet with representatives of the Screen Writers Guild and the Screen Directors Guild and the Motion Picture Producers Association in order to establish in the industry a policy of presenting Negro characters on the screen in the true relation they bear to American life;

"Be it further resolved, that the committee mentioned shall be a permanent committee . . ."

On the ballot mailed to all its members requesting a vote on this resolution, the Board of Directors of SAG asked that the Fluellen motion be defeated. Their reasoning: "The Board is most sympathetic to the problems of minority groups, but it does not believe that the Guild, for the first time in its history, should establish a permanent standing committee which . . . would supersede, in the field of race relations, the fundamental and policy-making authority of a board elected by the entire membership.

"The Board has been in the past, is now, and will be in the future ready at all times to consider and act on those minority problems which come within the province of the guild. This is the province of the Board of Directors and should remain so.

"There is no certainty that a majority of the members of the

YWCA Teenage Group to Present Program of Topflight Jazz Stars

The Teenage department of the YWCA Woodlawn branch announced this week a gala lineup of top-flight stars for their first annual jazz concert at the Golden State Insurance auditorium, Saturday night.

Some of the outstanding stars scheduled to appear on the program are: Mable Scott, Bill Day, Sherman Williams' band, Jos Lutcher's band, Pete Collins' band, Percy Mayfield, Pee Wee Crayton, Les Brown, Maxwell Davis, Stan Kenton, Smokey Lynn, Foxx and White, Bennie Carter, Joe Liggins, Twilight Davis, Marcella Porche, and Billy May's band.

A sax battle between Wardell Gray and Dextor Gordon promises to be one of the rare treats of the evening.

To present the all-star show to the public in a manner befitting the outstanding talent, the top disc jockeys and announcers in the entertainment world have volunteered their services. Joe Adams, Charles Trammel, Gene Norman, Hunter Hancock, and Bill Sampson will present these topflight stars.

Advance tickets can be obtained at the Woodlawn branch.

TELEVISION STARS P. J. Sidney (left) and Emory S. Richardson, have both won widespread acclaim for appearances in plays shown on NBC Television. Sidney's most recent portrayal was the historical role of Cato in "The Plot To Kidnap General Washington." Richardson, who lately interpreted Abraham Lincoln, was praised by the public as being "one of the most impressive and realistic actors ever to appear on television."

Floyd Dixon Going Great

Floyd Dixon and his Texas Hoppers, direct from Sunny California—are wowing dance lovers throughout the south. They just closed an engagement at the W. C. Handy theater in Memphis and are set for a big battle of bands in Little Rock, Ark.

After playing dates in San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and other Texas cities, the band did a stint at the Dew Drop Inn in New Orleans and subsequent one nighters in Shreveport and Alexandria.

The Texas Hoppers are set for a return engagement at the Elks ballroom here on March 31.

Le Jazz Hot Honors Garner

Erroll Garner was voted the favorite pianist of jazz fans in France in the annual poll just conducted by Le Jazz Hot, Paris publication. Garner's choice is especially significant, inasmuch as the bulk of the winners on other instruments were long-time jazz favoritesof many years—including Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong, Nate Cole, Coleman Hawkins. Garner is the "baby" of the winners. This is the third award aGrner has won in France, having ben honored in 1949 for his own composition, "Play Piano Play."

Stars Help Raise Funds for NAACP

NEW YORK—A total of $20,000 in cash and pledges was netted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at the first annual NAACP'S GREAT NIGHT, the mammoth entertainment that packed Madison Square Garden to the rafters on March 6, Rufus W. Smith, director of fund-raising, reported today.

Mr. Smith said that although the star-studded show, which was described by Oscar Hammerstein II (co-chairman of the event with Lena Horne) as "the best show in town tonight," will have grossed around $50,000 when all receipts are counted, production costs dug deep into the proceeds.

Big Names Featured

There was no denying that the show, which featured many of the top names in show business, was a resounding success. Producer Dick Campbell was enthusiastically acclaimed for putting on a top-flight entertainment. Emcees Steve Allen and Johnny Faulk kept the festivities running smoothly for four hours as they brought onto the great stage such stars as Tallulah Bankhead, Canada Lee, Celeste Holm, The Mariners, Juanita Hall, Camilla Williams, Maria Tallchief, June Havoc, Muriel Rahn, The Hotshots, Barry Gray, Lil Hayes, Howell and Bowser, and a host of others.

LIGGINS AT LINCOLN—The new policy of a big stage show at the Lincoln every Sunday, Monday and Tuesday started off with a big bang last week. This week another great talent laden show with Joe Liggins, Pee Wee Crayton, Mable Scott, the High Hatters, and Leonard Reed among the many stars, will be presented.

PEARL PRIMUS TROUPE TO DANCE HERE IN APRIL

Direct from Africa are several of the unusual dances to be presented by Pearl Primus and her well-trained company in the Philharmonic Auditorium on Saturday night, April 12, under the auspices of Mary Bran.

The distinguished American-born dancer gathered her material at first hand when a grant from the Julius Rosenwald Foundation enabled her to spend an entire year in Africa.

Her studies of native cultures led her through Liberia, Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Senegal, French West Africa, Belgian Congo, French Equatorial Africa and Angola.

These studies and travels have given her work new zest and will bring novel facets of dance artistry to the dance lovers of Los Angeles.

Miss Primus has given many lectures on African culture with special reference to the dance. She also is now completing her doctorate in anthropology at Columbia University.

Duncan. The cover on the bed shifted with the motion, revealing a 30-30 Winchester rifle with telescope sights and a bandoleer full of cartridges. Beside it was a 32-caliber automatic with a box full of cartridges near it.

A careful study of the carefree young men lounging around the room revealed large bulges under arms and on hips. There were enough arms and ammunition in the room to turn back a small army. Bailey and Duncan's flying buddies had heard the news and joined formation with them to help them in a fight for the same principles they had flown and fought together for before.

The happy, carefree conversation carried on and much barracks time was logged. Only an occasional shifting of a pistol or a glimpse of the rifle brought to mind the grim reality that Bailey and Duncan's homes had been bombed that morning, and the purpose of the assembled group.

The tourists were out front, gaping at the concussion-wracked living-room. This determined group was waiting for them to clear out so they could get on with the business at hand, maintaining an all-night vigil to protect their buddies against the return of the dynamiters, and wishing they would show up!

Husband Killed in Fight Over Woman told you not to fool with her. You know how messy she is."

Got Liquor

Mrs. Williams went to the liquor store and returned with a jug of wine, several bottles of beer, a half pint of whisky and went into Mrs. Goudeaus' room. They drank while the Goudeaus twins, born March 7, lay on the bed and while an 18-month-old daughter and a five-year-old son played in the house. Her common-law husband, Albert Whitley, was out in Watts.

Mrs. Williams claims that when she unlocked the door of Mrs. Goudeaus' room and walked out, James was standing on her doorstep with a 12-inch butcher knife in his hand. "I told you not to fool with her," James shouted.

Mrs. Williams said she answered, "I can't do anything to her, she just had a baby. Besides, women don't make you have babies and the run off and leave you to take care of the kids the best way you can."

Took Knife

Mrs. Williams claims that James lunged at her with the long-bladed butcher knife. "And I took it away from the little swimp and kept jugging at him with it."

James then ran into the kitchen and fell. One blow of the knife went clear through his heart.

When Radio Officers W. H. Keefer and E. Olson of Central Police Station and a California Eagle reporter arrived on the scene, James was dead. Underneath his body blood was running like the wine Mrs. Williams had been drinking. Police found Mrs. Williams in Mrs. Goudeaus' room fondling Mrs. Goudeaus.

Mrs. Williams claimed she didn't know what became of the knife, but it was found in the kitchen.

During the questioning of Mrs. Williams by a California Eagle reporter and police officers she stated that the only reason she ever had anything to do with men is for money.

"I Love Florence"

"Men I hate; women I like; Florence I love. I hate men because of my first husband. He left me as soon as he found out that I was going to have a baby."

"I killed Bennie because I wanted her so bad.' She and I have been living in that hotel for a year and a half now and she knows how I love her.'

Whitley stated that he knew nothing of the relationship between his common-law wife and Mrs. Williams and he refused to believe it. "I was in Watts at the time of the killing, trying to get my car, and I don't know anything about the whole thing!"

Mrs. Goudeaus was released and went home with her husband. As she left Mrs. Williams said, "All of this happened because of her and I won't ever have her any more."

CLEVER STYLIST — Iris Hodnett Taliaferro has an unusual flair for hair styling which she puts to use in her modern two-booth beauty shop.

Modern 2-Booth Beauty Shop Opens

The Snooper wishes you to meet a charming young lady who has opened about as lovely a two-booth beauty shop as he has seen anywhere in the city. (And he sees just about all of them.) The young lady is Mrs. Iris Hodnett Taliaferro and the shop in question is situated at 8901 S. Central avenue, in a brand-new building.

Mrs. Taliaferro is a native of Los Angeles. She very early decided that she wished to work in the beauty field. After going through the public schools and Los Angeles City College, she met and married Paul Taliaferro and shortly after began the study of cosmetology.

The zeal and interest which Mrs. Taliaferro took in her work at Henrietta's beauty school was in part revealed by the fact that having obtained an operator's license in June, 1950, she continued her work in the school and secured a certificate as instructor the following February.

Incidentally, the Snooper discovered also that the school granted her highest grades and special commendations upon her graduation.

Her unusual flair for hair styling resulted in an offer by the Hal Roach Motion Pictures for her services as hair stylist for them. However, the young beautician stuck to her plan to prepare for the opening of her own shop, which she did last September.

The second booth of this very attractive and modernly equipped shop is being operated by Mrs. Inez Davis, another graduate of the Henrietta Beauty School.

"What's wrong about integration? It's the way I operate, too!"

Many businessmen have made comments like this: "The way I figure it out, this 'integration' you big companies are attacked for is just a matter of doing more than one part of a job. So what's wrong about that? It's the way I operate, too!"

In answering this question let's consider first what the word means. "Integration" means simply carrying a job through several steps. Integration can't make a good company bad. It's a method any business may use as it competes for your patronage, increasing its efficiency and benefiting you by keeping prices down. Let's look at the similarity between our operation and that of another integrated fuel-producer whose system is centuries old:

A woodcutter goes into a forest and fells trees. Standard drills into the ground and brings up oil. If the woodcutter sells the logs then and there . . . and if Standard sells the crude oil to some buyer at the well . . . there's no integration. Each has performed only one part of the job.

Now if the woodcutter takes the next step and cuts the logs into fireplace size, he has become an integrated business. Like him, Standard works to turn the product into the forms you use. We refine our crude oil into gasoline, lubricants, fuel oil, and other products. So we're integrated, too.

When the woodcutter hauls a load of firewood he extends his integration. He's now in the transportation business . . . as is Standard when we use our tankers and pipelines to transport oil from well to refinery, and the refined products from there to areas where they'll be used.

And if the woodcutter finally sells the firewood to you, his operation is fully integrated. Ours is, too, when we sell you fuel oil . . . or sell you gasoline at Company-owned service stations. So is integration wrong? Not at all. And we make best use of it to bring you better products at low cost.

Negroes In Movies: Post-War History

proposed permanent committee would be able to attend a committee on a "specific problem in shorter time than such problem could be discussed and acted on by the board itself.

"Or is it the idea . . . that the proposed committee meet daily . . . to handle any complaint or problem regarding minority groups?

"The Board believes that if (this resolution) is put into effect at this time, it might undo some of the progress which has been accomplished for our Negro members as a result of the resolution on this subject which was voted at year ago.

"The very splendid efforts of the special guild committee on the problems of the Negro actor must be given sufficient time to have the desired effect of providing more acting work for our Negro members. If we immediately return to the producers and foment this matter, the net result might be to actually hurt our Negro members and to endanger their chances of employment.

"Complete solution of the problem involved can only come through long-range education abetted by diplomatic effort.

The Board reiterates its sympathy with the problems of minority groups of actors. It does not believe that this matter should be taken from the Board and authority delegated to a permanent standing committee . . .

"For these reasons the Board asks for a "No" vote to (the Fluellen Resolution.)."

The Fluellen Resolution was defeated as was an amendment to it proposed by Marsha Hunt which broadened the resolution to mention other minority groups.

This action at the 1948 membership meeting was the last general action taken by the Screen Actors Guild in relation to the plight of their Negro members, or members of other minority groups. Publicly, at their annual meetings, there has been no follow-up to the 1948 Resolution, either as a demand for renewal or a report of further activity.

The question that must be asked and answered then, is: Has there been an advance in the status of Negro actors and in the presentation of Negro actors and in the presentation of Negro characters on screen since 1947 (the year the Industry-wide resolutions urging improvement of Negro presentation and employment was passed at the instigation of the Screen Actors Guild)?

5 EX-JEFF TRACK STARS TO SPARK E.L.A.J.C. TEAM

A quintet of ex-Jefferson High trackmen hold the success or failure of Los Angeles City College's 1952 spike hopes in their collective palms.

The "Fabulous Five" are sprinter Lawrence (Teddy Bear) Williams, a Democrat prep standout two years ago; Gerald Taylor, dash artist and low hurdler; Bob Holland, broad jump star; Arthone Elster, high and low hurdler; and Albert Moore, flashy quarter-miler.

Coach Wendell Smith has built his LACC machine around this quintet, plus his lettermen from last year — quarter-miler Wade Shoemake, half-miler Dick Jones, and miler-half miler Wilbur Williams.

Then, too, there's Jackrabbit Joe Tyler who Cub fans hope will tear down the national junior college two-mile record held by former LACC great Gabe Cazares. Tyler, ex-L.A. High miler and city cross-country monarch, ran 9m 33s competing unattached at the 1951 Compton Invitational meet. Cazares' 12-year-old record is 9m 31.1s.

Moore and Taylor both won city championships last year, the former copping the 440-yard dash in 50s flat and the latter taking 100 honors. Moore later ran 49.8s in the state meet (non-winning) and Taylor had best times of 9.8s for the 100 and 19.9s for the 180-yard lows.

Holland also finished in the money in the city finals, taking third in the broad jump. His best leap for the season was 22 ft. 5¾ in. Williams ran 9.8s and 21.9s in '50 until injuries shelved him in mid-season, while Elster won the Southern League high hurdles, but fell in both the highs and lows in the city finals.

Other stars around whom LACC backers are pinning their hopes are Jerry Cole, 50-foot shot-putter from Hollywood High; Dick Cunningham and Alvin Ball, versatile high hurdles-high jump-broad jump nifties from Polytechnic nad L.A. High, respectively; Floyd Smith, 6 ft. 2 in. high jumper from Dorsey; and Ed Brown, 12-foot pole vaulter out of Polytechnic. Cunningham has a mark of 22 ft. 11½ in. in the broad jump.

Elbow Bend Slashes High Liquor Prices

War of a very unusual nature has been declared at the Elbow Bend, the popular house of good drinks and excellent food at 5231 S. Avalon blvd. It's an all-out war on prices, a thing almost unheard of during these days of runaway inflation.

The swank Elbow Bend, in appreciation of its large patronage and in answer to a growing demand of hte public, is now offering drinks of whiskey, gin and rum at tremendously cut prices. A shot of good bourbon whiskey, gin or rum can be had at the unbelievably low price of 30 cents, a double shot of the same selection for just 50 cents.

The war on prices is not something completely new at Elbow Bend where Eddie Atkinson and Phil McGee are proprietors. For a long time now, the favorite spot has offered its customers the best in a long line of foods at the most reasonable rates.

Consolidated Offers Brokers New Service

The newly elected officers and board of directors of the Consolidated Realty Board met Wednesday, Mar. 5, at a luncheon to discuss ways and means for rendering better service to its members.

The board of directors passed a resolution granting the new president, W. J. Fairchild, the authority to proceed with a program outlined in detail, on ownership service, which will enable board members to obtain ownership of various properties by merely phoning the board office. Fairchild stated that all such ownership requests phoned in before 12 o'clock noon will be released between 4 and 5 p.m. the same day, if desired.

This service will enable brokers and agents to create a better relation between property owners and board members through the multiple listing service which is given by C.R.B.

The board of directors gave the newly elected president a rising vote of thanks for his effort to obtain financial support for the mutiple listing services. This support came from the Standard Mortgage Company in the amount of $100 per month for a period of three months with the possibility of the board to getting additional support after the expiration time.

Rodger Young Vets Win Housing Fight

project that the City Council has taken the exceptional step of arranging to have the proceedings taken down by a court reporter.

Tempers of the councilmen, who are opposed to all public housing, flared at this decision and at Mayor Fletcher Bowron's open support of continuation of the village.

Angry Response

Councilman John C. Holland was quick to condemn Monday's hearing on the grounds that it would be "nothing but propaganda favoring public housing."

Councilman Ed J. Davenport, vitriolic housing foe, exploded: "If the mayor wants to keep that slum going in Griffith Park in perpetuity, I say let him do it."

Angered by the statement that their plea to preserve their homes is nothing but "propaganda" and incensed over the repeated assertions that the veterans in the project are trying to get something for nothing, are chiseling, and are generally no-goods, residents of the Village retorted: "Why are they afraid of airing the facts in public? We've collected facts, and we're prepared to present them. Do they think their smokescreen will evaporate when they have to document claims about all the houses they tell us are available at reasonable rents?"

3000 at Rally

Last Sunday afternoon approximately 3000 people braved the cold and the rain to attend a public rally at Roger Young Village to hear Mayor Bowron, councilmen and veteran, labor, church and civic leaders support the villagers' demand that the threat of eviction be lifted.

The residents are demanding that the lease on the village be extended for another two years, or until the housing crisis ceases.

The rally was called by the Residents Committee, headed by Robert N. Brown, chairman. It was co-sponsored by many veteran, labor and civic groups.

Speakers, in addition to the mayor, included Councilmen L. E. Timberlake, Ed Roybal, and John Holland; George E. Kennedy, president of the Veterans Coordinating Council; Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, president of the Los Angeles Citizen's Housing Council; John Noblet, of the CIO; Susan Adams, AFL; veteran leader Gene Mathias; Rev. Norman Taylor, of the First Methodist Church of Southgate, who delivered the invocation.

Holland, in whose district Rodger Young lies, and who had previously not indicated his stand publicly but who is opposed to public housing, said he knew of no Councilmen who are in favor of abandonment of the project and added that he had the "utmost confidence" that the Council will recommend a two year extension of the lease.

Warren Hits Race Bigots

Franklin Williams, regional director of the NAACP and Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins of Los Angeles and Byron Rumford of Oakland.

"The Attorney General and I discussed the San Pablo incident last week, and I'm sure he will give prompt attention to the matter.

"Likewise, I am sure he will assist the law enforcement officers of Los Angeles, if necessary, to bring the culprits to justice," Warren said.

Warren personally telephoned Chief Investigator Harold Robinson of the Attorney General's San Francisco office, urging him to inquire into the stoning of the San Pablo home.

Los Angeles and San Pablo's violent outbreaks were preceded last autumn by the burning of a home owned by a Negro minister in Santa Cruz. Earlier this year a Chinese family was asked to leave a South San Francisco housing development after a "democratic" vote of 175 neighbors.

In the conference with Benard, backed by Rumford, Williams charged that the Contra Costa Sheriff failed to provide proper safeguards for the San Pablo family.

In the presence of deputies, said Williams, rocks were hurled through the war vet's house. Yet no arrests were made.

"We've had to hire a private policeman," the NAACP officials reported.

Earlier the Rev. John C. Mickle, pastor of the South Berkeley Community Church, revealed a fear held by the NAACP.

"In South San Francisco," he said, "a majority of the residents of a tract voted against allowing a Chinese to own a home in their neighborhood. We're afraid folks will get the idea that the U. S. Constitution can be overruled in this fashion."

Weather is never a problem when you electric-dry your clothes on washday. At the flick of a switch you can get your clothes fluffy-dry, and just for pennies, too. Electric drying is so economical because electric rates in Los Angeles are among the lowest in the nation.*

You can enjoy electric living at little cost because electric rates are actually lower today than in pre-war, pre-inflation times. New electric facilities are being built to make sure you always have ample dependable power. Your municipal Power System is entirely self-supporting, despite low electric rates.

Leaflets Flooding L. A. Area

The headquarters of one of the city's "hate" mills which supplies inflamatory anti-Negro literature to more than a dozen neighborhood groups was located by the Eagle this week.

For the asking, you can get from this headquarters the name of the "key" individual in your area who is feeding to property owners leaflets designed to frighten Negroes out of "white" districts and others aimed at spreading the poison of discrimination.

The person who planted bombs under two homes on Dunsmuir avenue March 16 may have been a "crackpot," a hardened murderer or a degenerate, but the prejudice which motivated the act is exactly the same as that being distributed throughout the city by these advocates of "white supremacy."

Excerpts Shown

The address of the "hate" mill is known to the Eagle, as is also the name of the individual who operates it.

Excerpts from some of the literature you can obtain there are shown in montage to the left.

Kidnaper Assaults Small Girl

A six-year-old girl was kidnaped, held prisoner for 24 hours and criminally assaulted by a man who was supposed to be a friend of the family, Monday.

Earline Wiley, 2271 E. 105th street, whose husband, Arthur, is a soldier stationed at Camp Roberts, reported to police Monday afternoon that her small daughter, Olivia, was missing. Seventy-seventh Street Division police immediately instituted an intensive manhunt for the child. It was determined that the child was last seen on 103rd street in the company of an adult. Further investigation revealed that the girl was in the company of Fred Lee Harris.

Mrs. Wiley said that Harris

Crowds Jam Protest Meet On Bombings

By GRACE E. SIMONS

How does it feel to have your home bombed out from under you? And what can you do about it?

"There's nothing I can do but to stay," William Bailey, head of the Science Department at Carver Junior High School, Air Force pilot who served in the Armed Forces for more than two years during World War II, told approximately 2,000 people who filled every seat in the Second Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon.

"I'm not especially brave," he added modestly, then commented, "Instead of driving Negroes out, it looks as if they are going to drive them in."

Told of Blast

Bailey told of the pre-dawn bombing of his home on Sunday morning, March 16. He was the principal speaker at a protest meeting called by the NAACP and supported by labor, veteran, civic and church organizations throughout the city.

"I bought the home because I liked it," Bailey explained. "It was a nice little home on a pleasant street. I even liked the name — Dunsmuir. There were Negroes and other minorities living in the area.

"I didn't buy the home to defy anyone. I'm not a member of a secret society bent on pushing white men into the ocean.

Ralph Porter Dies Suddenly

Ralph Porter, well known local florist and social figure, died suddenly early Wednesday morning in his home, 1816 S. Western avenue, from a heart attack.

Porter hadn't been feeling very well for the past few days, but didn't think it was serious.

A pioneer Los Angeles businessman, Porter was born in Texas and came here as a small boy. He opened florist shops in key spots on Central avenue. At the time of his death, his business was located at 1816 S. Western.

He is survived by a son, Ralph Porter, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Kinkle Spencer.

Porter was a Mason and a member of St. Martin Episcopal church. At press time memorial services had not been set.

Church Council Hit On Jim Crow Policy

NEW YORK—Charging that the National Council of Churches in Christ was "evading" the issue of segregation in churches, Abyssinian Baptist Church, largest single congregation in the world pastored by Rev. A. Clayton Powell, New York congressman, Sunday voted to "withdraw" from the Council. The action came after a Council committee report committing member churches to abandon all segregation was set aside by the Board.

The Rev. Powell called the withdrawal of the resolution "an open breach upon the true tenets of Christianity."

Bishop D. Ward Nichols of the African Methodist Episcopal Church issued a statement Monday "roundly condemning the failure of the National Council to take positive action on racial segregation," but said his church would not withdraw from the Protestant organization. He explained that his group would "fight from within for elimination of reaction in religion."

The resolution drafted by the council's Divison of Christian Life and Work was set aside Friday by a vote of 27 to 15th.

Dr. Samuel McGrae Cavert, general secretary of the council said, however, the council's constitution limited membership to national denominations, not local churches. As a congregation, the Abyssinian Baptist Church in Harlem can withdraw support in the council, but not membership, he said.

"The postponement, in my judgment, did not signify any unwillingness on the part of the general board to face the issue," Dr. Cavert said yesterday. "Many of the board members share Dr. Powell's point of view.

"The resolution is only postponed until the next general board meeting in Chicago, June 11, at the request of members who have not had sufficient opportunity to study the 4,000-word text. The matter is taken so seriously that members who had not studied the report sufficiently did not want to act without doing so."

Dr. Cavert said the Council would issue a policy statement on racial segregation at the Chicago meeting.

Seventy-five African Methodist Episcopal Church ministers met yesterday at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, 132nd Street and Fifth Avenue, and adopted a resolution calling for reconsideration of the question by the council before the June 11 meeting.

Bekins Donating Living Room Set To Baileys

As a magnificent gesture of protest against the bombing outrage on Dunsmuir avenue, the Bekins Storage Co., Furniture Sales Division, at the corner of Pico and Crenshaw, has undertaken to donate a complete set of living room furniture to William Bailey; the front room of whose home was demolished by dynamite Mar. 16.

When contacted by the Eagle, the Bekins company welcomed this opportunity to assist the victims of the hate-inspired disaster.

Offer $3,750 In Rewards to Find Bombers

Rewards totalling $3,750 for information leading to the arrest of the Dunsmuir avenue bombers were posted this week, while the Police Department was told firmly to ferret out those responsible for the outrage, and to spare no efforts to see that this is done.

Demands for decisive action, meanwhile, came from ever widening circles.

Monday at a conference attended by representatives of 25 organizations, Mayor Fletcher Bowron stated firmly:

Continuous

"I'll make it my business to see the Police department does everything it can to apprehend those guilty of these bombings. The investigation will not last just a few days but will be continuous."

In an effort to prevent similar attacks and further intimidation of minorities, the Mayor suggested the setting up of a consultative committee, and requested Loren Miller, Eagle publisher, and George Thomas, of the County Conference on Community Relations, to take the leadership in helping to form such a committee.

Joint Action

Miller told the Eagle that the matter will be placed before the joint steering committee of the labor, civic, church and fraternal organizations which collaborated with the NAACP in last Sunday's protest meeting, and that a group will then be set up to confer with the Mayor.

The Wilshire Police Station, in whose district the bombings occurred, has advised that leads are being vigorously followed up, that they now have eight detec-

Judge Kates Exonerated In Slaying

Judge Kates, who shot and killed William Glenn in Ross Snyder Playground March 4, was exonerated in a preliminary hearing before Judge Dana McClain in Division 20, Municipal Court, last Friday.

Atty. Earl C. Broady, who represented Kates, argued that in spite of the testimony of neighbors implying that 53-year-old Glenn, 636 E. 90th street, had business with someone in the house, the actual fact was that Glenn was prowling in the dark with a flashlight in his hand in the rear of Kates' property, 1624 E. Santa Barbara.

Broady pointed out that the screen on the back door had been torn, and that Kates had a basic right to protect his property, and when he shot Glenn he was acting as a reasonable man would under the circumstances.

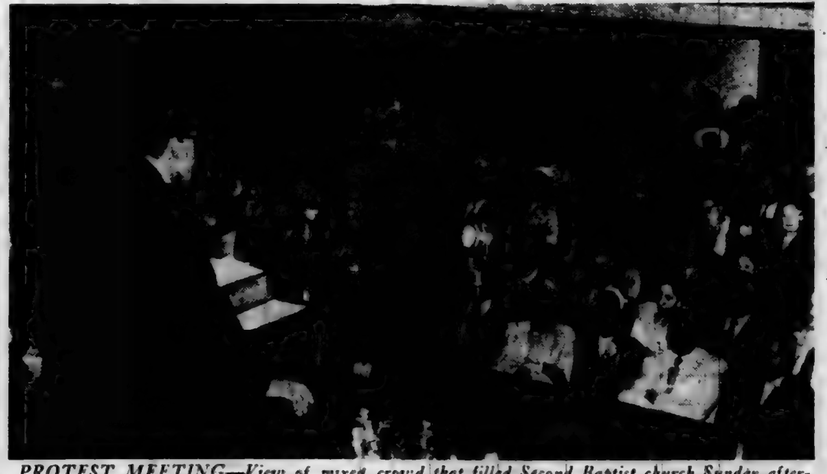
Local Telephone Numbers Changed

Plans for changing all CEntury-2 telephone numbers to ADams-4 numbers on April 1 were announced this week by Frank L. Staves, district manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Staves said that the prefix of nearly 10,500 CEntury-2 telephones will be changed to the ADams-4 prefix so that all telephones served by the central office at 501 East Vernon avenue will conform to a uniform numbering plan being implemented for Southern California.

As an example of the prefix change, he pointed out, CEntury 2-2499 will become ADams 4-2499 with the last four digits unchanged.

Want to Help? Eagle Collects Aid for Bailey



The Eagle is still collecting funds to aid William E. Bailey, Dunsmuir avenue bombing victim. And he needs a little help, too.

Money is already being sent to the Eagle to assist the victims in repairing the damage to their home.

All funds sent to the Eagle for this purpose should be directed to the Bailey fund. There will be a strict accounting of all funds received.

The Baileys need some assistance. What happened to them might have happened to you.

Won't you help?

Third Time's Charm! Jailed on Old Charge

By EDDIE LEE KING

The third time looks like the charm for Mrs. Alberta Jones of 836 Crocker street, who was arrested Friday for the killing of Arthur Lee Spears, 41, of 405 S. Hewitt street. Spears was stabbed by Mrs. Jones on Jan. 6 and was arrested shortly afterward but was freed when Spears declined to prosecute. He died on Jan. 29 and Mrs. Jones was arrested again but released when the coroner had some difficulty in determining the cause of death. She was ordered held for murder by a coroner's jury Tuesday.

This time the arrest will stick, according to Det. Lieuts. H. H. Hudson and H. L. Haizen, who said they have accumulated enough evidence to hold the woman for trial. A tangled story of unnatural love of Spears for Mrs. Jones' boy friend was unfolded by her as an explanation of the quarrel that terminated when she stabbed Spears in the back at 636 E. Fifth street. She claimed self-defense.

A check of Mrs. Jones' previous arrest showed that she had been arrested about 27 times for robbery, offering, burglary, assault with deadly weapon, drunk driving an automobile without the owner's permission, and several other crimes.

During the coroner's inquest Mrs. Jones refused to testify on the grounds that she might incriminate herself. She has twin girls 12 years old living in Oakland with her parents. Her parents are Al and Sally McKenzie of 1942 E. 25th street.

Local Sailor Wins Award

Jerry Rickerson Jr., photographer's mate, second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rickerson of 1344 East 55th street, won first place in the Service Life category of the third Annual Inter-Service Photography contest.

A member of Patrol Squadron 61, based at San Diego, he is in charge of the photo department of the squadron's public information office.

Little Girl Hurt By B. B. Gunshot

Gloria Thomas, 4, of 418 East 117th St. is recovering after she was accidentally shot in the eye Monday with a BB gun, police said.

Police said the gun was fired by her brother Nathaniel. The little girl was taken to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital and was released after treatment.

Don't miss the big baseball reception and dance for the New York Giants and the Cleveland Indian players, to be held Saturday night at the Elks auditorium. Civic leaders, stars of Hollywood, outstanding boxers, and just plain Joe Baseball fan will be on hand to meet the fabulous Giants with Leo Durocher, and stars from the Cleveland team. Promise Repairs on 36th Street School

Answers to recent protests of a group of parents on structural conditions that threatened the safety of children at the local 36th Street School have been received by the committee representing the parents in the form of reports from city and state school officials.

The reports, prepared by members of the City Board of Education and the State Department of Education, were addressed to Mrs. Cyrus Cooper, president of the school's P-TA, and outlined essentially the same plans for correcting the conditions in the school building. She said her group is studying the reports.

Falling plaster from the ceilings in the 36th Street School on March 7 was the chief reason for the parents' protest and had caused them to withdraw their children from classes for a full day.

The City Board of Education report noted that the falling plaster was caused by a leaky gutter which runs around the entire building, a condition that it promised to repair "without delay."

The board also promised to "correct some minor deficiencies in the roof framing of the older portion of the building and to repair slight damage to sheathing boards in the attic."

Plans are already complete, the board states, to replace the old stairs at the north end of the building.

A formal inspection of conditions at the 36th Street School by the State Division of Architecture was once promised by the Board of Education's chief structural engineer, Harold Omsted, but he later retracted his promise.

"I find," he observed in his report to the parent group, "that the law requires the signature of 10 percent of all parents in the entire school district before such talking," said Bailey, "and imagine that it is your living room that has been shattered by a bomb explosion, the front wall of your home that has been blown out, your furniture that has been torn to shreds."

He told how he was gripped with fear when he was awakened by the explosion, how his first impulse was to run to his boy's room to see if he was safe. At first, he said, he thought the blast may have been caused by the floor furnace.

Then he smelled the acrid fumes of gunpowder. Alone he went to investigate, saw the gaping hole ripped in the floor of his living room, the sofa in bits, furniture hurled across the room, his TV set amidst the debris.

Part of Pattern

He said he had no clues as to who might have anything against him. He had received no threats, there had been no friction with any of his neighbors.

He had come to the conclusion, he said, that the attack had not been made because of anything he had done, but because he is a Negro, that the bombing was part of a pattern.

Loren Miller, Eagle publisher, who was master of ceremonies, set the tone of the meeting when he stated that "So long as one man's constitutional rights are threatened, no one's rights are safe."

Pooling Strength

Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, who made the church available for the meeting, welcomed the audience and pointed to the need of pooling the strength of all groups seeking to defend civil rights and channelizing their efforts through the NAACP.

Guests on the platform were Gene Mathias, Jewish War Veterans; John Dial, president of the Southern California Area Council of the NAACP; Edward Atkinson, head of the NAACP membership drive; M. Brown, of the American Legion; Mr. Niel, American Veterans Committee; Anthony Rios, vice chairman of the Community Service Organization, whose beating at the hands of police set off the current Grand Jury investigation of police brutality; Rev. DeWitt Turpeau, who led the invocation; Dr. John A. Somerville, member of the police commission; Atty. Everette M. Porter; and Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the NAACP.

DONATED CHURCH . . . Rev. J. Raymond Henderson donated his spacious church to the bombing protest meeting Sunday.

Officials Absent

Conspicuous by their absence were city officials and heads of the police department, who had been specifically invited to attend.

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the Independent Church of Christ, took up a collection for carrying on the work of the association in its fight for the rights of Negroes.

Wesley J. Fairchild, president of Consolidated Realty Board, contributed $450 to the fund.

Hundred dollar donations were given by the Peoples Independent Church and Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd Smith; $80 from the Golden West Real Estate Board; $50 each from Rev. E. A. Anderson, of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church; Bernard C. Herndon; Lewis Realty Company; $25 from the Marine Cooks and Stewards, Samuel DuBose, Dora Helford, B'nai B'rith, Interracial Corps, AVC, Japanese-American Citizens League; and donations, large and small, from many scores of other individuals and organizations.

Jonas S. Moten Dies After Lengthy Illness

Funeral services for Jonas S. Moten, 82, were conducted Monday at St. Martins Episcopal Church, with interment at Evergreen cemetery following the rites. Mr. Moten died Thursday at his home at 2507 East 111th street, after a lengthy illness.

The Rev. Father Llewellyn Williams, vicar of St. Martins, officiated. He was assisted by Father. Arthur Steinbridge and Father Alfred Norman.

The Rev. Frederick Jordan, pastor of Ward A.M.E. Church, read the burial lesson at Monday's funeral mass.

Special Honor

In attendance at the services were Bishop Robert Gooden of the Los Angeles diocese, who confirmed Mr. Moten; Father M. Wilson, of St. Mary of the Palms; and several other dignitaries of the A. M. E. Church.

Pallbearers were W. E. Charles, F. P. Waller, David Mahler, Philip Stanley, Dr. E. A. Bailey, and Frederick Britton.

At the funeral were his wife, Cora Ball Moten; his children, Frederick P. and Violet E. Brown; a niece, Mamie Boyden; a brother, Rev. F. F. Moten, of Kansas City, Mo., and a sister, Mrs. Willie Connors, of Berkeley.

Other Survivors

Other survivors are: Etta Moten Barnett, niece, noted concert singer; four brothers, Dr. Pierce Moten, Birmingham, Ala.; Isaac Moten of Giddings, Texas; Clarence Moten of San Antonio, Texas; and Ernest Moten of Chicago; and a sister, Mrs. Effie Irvine, and a niece, Mrs. Hazel Williams, both of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Moten was the second child and first son of the nine children born to Pierce and Amanda Wilcox Moten. He was born on his father's farm in Bastrop County, Texas, June 6, 1869. His father was one of Bastrop County's early post-war independent land-owners, who not only farmed his large farm, ginning and marketing his own cotton, but serviced the other farmers of the community.

Inspired by his father's example, young Moten graduated from Prairie View State and taught for a few terms while studying law on the side. As the result of a brilliant examination record, he was admitted to practice before the Texas Bar and, under the firm name of Murchison and Moten, opened law offices with T. M. Murchison in San Antonio.

Attracted Attention

A fast-growing and successful practice attracted state-wide attention to the young attorney and resulted in nomination to the State Legislature. Failing of election, he was appointed to a clerical position in Washington by the congressman from his district, J. D. Sayers.

While in Washington, young Moten broadened his horizon by earning an L.L.B. degree at Howard University. He married Miss Cora Nero, a fellow government employee from Kansas City, Mo. Shortly thereafter, the great Bishop H. M. Turner persuaded the young benedict to take over the rehabilitation of Payne University in Selma, Ala., a financially and prestige-ailing school of the A. M. E. connection.

Five years of outstanding success with Payne were rewarded by a call to the Chair of Mathematics in Lincoln Institute at Jefferson City, Mo. During his tenure of service there, Mr. Moten's first wife died and he resigned to enter the business world. During this period he married his second and surviving wife, Miss Cora Jean Ball, a teacher of Quincy, Ill.

Christmas Trip

Two children, Frederick P. and Violet E. (both now married and living in Los Angeles) were born to this union. Family responsibility and employment background led Mr. Moten into the educational field and he finally completed his allotted years of public service as a principal in the Kansas City, Mo., public school system from which he retired with his wife to her native home in Illinois.

A Christmas gift trip from their son Frederick to visit him in his home in Los Angeles resulted in their decision to buy a home here. Later an illness of Mrs. Moten brought their daughter Violet from Chicago, who married and remained.

JONAS S. MOTEN

Mr. Moten's 82nd and last birthday was fittingly celebrated by a party given for him by his daughter, Violet (Mrs. Julius Brown), last June. It was attended by over 30 of his old students from Lincoln. In a happy frame of mind, he faced a major operation the next day at White Memorial Hospital.

Despite his own good cheer, the devoted care of family and friends, the full and long years of his life had exacted their toll. Jonas S. Moten's eighty-two years, nine months and 26 days of life ended much as they had been lived. On March 20, at his home with his wife, Cora, he quietly spoke her name and passed.

Solons Demand Probe of Police

Assemblymen Kilpatrick and Hawkins and twenty-six other legislators stepped into the Los Angeles police beating affairs a few days ago by introducing a resolution in the State Assembly directing the Attorney General to investigate the widely publicized police beatings in the Los Angeles City Jails. He was asked to place the blame on the guilty officers, or clear their names if the criticism is not justified, and to report the findings to the Legislature and make such recommendations for changes in the law as will prevent such occurrences in the future.

Boy Falls Out Of Fruit Tree

Willie Charles Woodward, 6, of 219 East 52nd place, received a fractured elbow when he fell out of an apricot tree in the back yard of his grandfather's home.

His grandfather, Brantley Shelly, 306 East 115th st., said he heard the boy screaming and found him lying beneath the tree. He told his grandfather that he had fallen from the top of the 10-foot tree.

He was treated at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital and released to his grandfather.

Texas Educator On Golden State Directors' Board

Ralph O'Hara Lanier, 51-year-old president of Texas Southern University, Houston, and one-time United States Minister to Liberia, has been elected to the Board of Directors of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles. With the announcement, officials of the firm disclosed that he is the first non-resident of California to be added to the board.

Lanier fills the vacancy created by the death of Director Simon P. Johnson in March, 1951, and gives representation on the policymaking level to the mutual firm's large number of Texas policyowners. The California concern also opeartes in Illinois.

Internal Revenue Collector's Dismissal Draws Protest

NEW YORK—A "full, unbiased investigation of the summary dismissal" of Monroe D. Dowling as Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District of New York was demanded this week by the NAACP.

In identical telegrams to President Truman, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, and Commissioner of Internal Revenue John B. Dunlap, NAACP Executive Secretary Walter White said that "responsible New York newspapers have telephoned this office . . . asking for corroboration of information they had gathered which in their opinion indicates suspicion of a frame-up.

"It is well known in New York that some quarters bitterly resented that Dowling forced delinquent taxpayers, who were able, to pay their obligations to the government," White's wire stated. "Within six months of being appointed in August, 1951, Mr. Dowling collected $85,000,000 of a backlog of $165,000,000. It is also known that his efficiency in the office created resentment.

"This Association," the telegram continued, "holds no brief for any malefactor regardless of race. . . . But we are at the same time fully aware of the resentment of certain politicians and other persons against the appointment of Dowling and his predecessor because they are Negroes. This is a most unhealthy situation which we ask to be investigated thoroughly and honestly to prevent not only injustice to Dowling but the smearing of fifteen million American citizens of Negro descent."

Negro Problem Shifting North, Editor Claims

NEW YORK—So many Negroes are leaving the South that, by 1960, almost half the Negro population in the U.S. may be living in the northern and western states. This is the prediction of Hodding Carter in an article, "The Negro Problem Moves North," in the issue of Look magazine just released.

Mr. Carter, Pulitzer Prize-winning editor of a Greenville (Miss.) newspaper, asks if the Northern cities are prepared to welcome the newcomers with adequate housing and schools for their children. "Do the great cities of the North," he inquires, "have carefully considered programs for integrating these bewildered, sometimes belligerent and generally unprepared strangers so that they can be more complete citizens than they were (in the South)?"

Carter believes that racial tensions will grow worse in the North as the Negro population increases.

Doctors Provide 24 Hour Service

"A system to provide 24 hour private physician service during the week, holidays and Sundays has been made available to the public," Dr. Welles E. A. Forde, President of the Charles Drew Medical Society, announced this week.

According to Forde, this medical group, whose membership consists of physicians from the local community, set up the Rotating Call System as a public service so that faster and emergency service could be obtained.

"This service," he continued, "is operated through a medical telephone exchange, adding that all the participating physicians are endorsed by the Society.

"Persons in dire need of medical help who are unable to reach their family physician may call the exchange, DUnkirk 4-1177—this number is listed under the name of the Charles Drew Medical Society.

AVC Holds State Meet

Inspired and weary, delegates representing all AVC Chapters in California to the 6th State Convention, began their journey home after continuous meetings, planning the coming years program. The Convention ended on a high note after hearing a challenging recording from William Bailey past Chairman of Wendell Willkie Chapter whose home was bombed recently.

Strong resolutions supporting the Central Valley Project, FEPC, and Public Housing were approved by the body. Continued action on the part of authorities investigating the bombings in Los Angeles and San Pablo was called for by the delegates.

The delegates saw the birth of another AVC Chapter in Fresno which is under the leadership of Attorney Hugh W. Goodwin and Clifford Kelly both formerly members of Wendell Willkie Chapter.

Herbert James, chairman of Wendell Willkie Chapter asserted, "This is a challenging program we have undertaken and we realize it. I am confident that we will do everything to achieve our objectives."

The following officers were elected, Erwin Klaus, PAR Chapter, Chairman Carl Grip, Vice-Chairman North Berkeley Chapter, Lee A. Merriwether, Vice-Chairman South, Wendell Willkie Chapter, Williams Raynolds, Secretary, Richmond Chapter, James Clark Treasurer, Wendell Willkie Chapter, Ralph Foster SEC member, Wendell Willkie Chapter, Attorney Thomas Neusome, State Counsel, Wendell Willkie Chapter, Joseph Genser, Associate Counsel, Richmond Chapter and Mrs. Genser, Assistant Secretary. The convention voted to accept the bid of the Wendell Willkie Chapter to host the 1953 Convention in Los Angeles.

School Case Appeal Planned by NAACP

NEW YORK—The decisions handed down by special three-judge federal courts affirming the validity of segregation in public elementary schools in Virginia and South Carolina will be appealed to the United States Supreme Court within thirty days, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the NAACP, announced last week.

In the Virginia case, NAACP attorneys sought to gain admission of Negro children to the "white" schools of Prince Edward County. In this case, as in the Clarendon County, S.C. case, the judges held that segregation is constitutional. On order of the United States Supreme Court, the South Carolina case was reviewed by the lower court in light of the report submitted by local school authorities on equalization of facilities ordered by an earlier decision of the lower court. In that first decision, Judge J. Waties Waring dissented on the ground that segregation is in itself discrimination and, accordingly, unconstitutional. Judge Waring did not participate in the review of the case.

"The issue is now clearly segregation," Marshall said in making his announcement. "It is on this basis that the appeal will be made to the U.S. Supreme Court in each of these cases. Our aim is to establish the unconstitutionality of segregation in public education."

Two Negroes Will Attend Youth Meeting

NEW YORK—Two Negro youth leaders were among four elected March 16 by the Young Adult Council, coordinator of America's major youth organizations, to represent the United States at the Dakar, Africa meeting of the World Assembly of Youth to take place in July, 1952. They were Walter Carrington, Harvard '52 of the Youth Council of the NAACP, and George Carter, Lincoln '49, of the YMCA.

To develop close ties with African and Asian youth leaders, too long neglected by international youth programs, will be a primary goal of the American delegates.

Idaho Negroes Rap YMCA On Jim Crow Policy

POCATELLO, Idaho—The Pocatello League for Negro and other Minority Rights picketed the local YMCA Saturday, March 16 in protest against the Y's discriminatory practices. Negroes are not allowed to use the swimming pool, the gym, and are not admitted to membership. This despite the fact that the Negro community contributes generously to the Community Chest, which gives substantial support to the "Y."

Already the picketing has resulted in an invitation by the "Y" to the Pocatello Ministerial Association to attend a meeting of the Y's board of directors "in order to straighten matters out." The Ministerial Association has been attempting to arrange such a meeting for two years, but until public attention was focused on the issue they were unsuccessful.

The League was recently formed in Pocatello as a result of what one colored minister at the League's first meeting termed "the worst situation for my people that I've ever seen anywhere." The first step in the League's plan for improving the situation was the Saturday picketing of the "Y."

Slum housing, inadequate sanitation, job discrimination and lack of recreation facilities are some of the conditions in the Negro community which the League claims should be eliminated.

Man, Shot by Sheriff, Freed Of Assault

A Pasadena man, crippled from a shot fired by a deputy sheriff Sept. 2, 1951, last week was acquitted of charges that had been filed against him, and immediately made plans to file suit for $100,000 damages.

Twenty-three-year old Lawrence C. Jones, of 688 N. Raymond avenue, Pasadena, had been charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The weapon was Jones' automobile, which allegedly crashed into the car of Deputy Sheriff Gerald E. Shears.

Jones, still on crutches as a result of the shot which lodged near his spine, was defended in the assault case by the Monrovia NAACP branch, which retained as his attorneys Herbert Simmons and Charles Johnson, of Pasadena.

The case was dismissed for insufficient evidence when it came up before Superior Judge Kenneth C. Newall last Wednesday. It was the third time the case had been before the courts, having been returned to the Pasadena jurisdiction from the District Court of Appeals.

Deputy Shears charged that Jones went through a red signal on Sept 2. The deputy, who was driving his own car but was off duty, claimed that he then gave chase to Jones near Temple City, and that he finally stopped Jones after the latter had made three efforts to force him off the road.

No Negro Scabs If Steel Union Strikes

Possibility that the nation's huge steel plants would slow to a halt on April 8 loomed large this week following virtual repudiation of the Wage Stabilization Board's recommendations by Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization.

If the strike takes place, 1,300,000 men will walk off the job. More than 20 percent of those men will be Negroes.

Woodrow Redo, president of the U. S. Steel Products local of the United Steel Workers of America, CIO, local No. 2172, told the Eagle this week that the Negro workers would be in that walkout solidly with their white brothers. "There will be no scabbing by Negroes," said Redo.

Union Agrees

The Wage Stabilization Board last Thursday by a vote of 12 to 6 (labor and public members voting against employer members), advocated settlement on the basis of a 17½-cent-an-hour increase and recognition of the union shop.

The union has indicated that it is ready to accept these terms, but the steel companies balked.

Wilson, learning of the WSB action, declared in Washington that if the recommendations were adopted it would be a "serious threat" to efforts to stabilize the country's economy.

Most of the fireworks has centered around the wage increase demand, but fought equally by the steel companies is the union shop demand.

In the Los Angeles and Southern California area, there are some 25,000 steel workers, of which about 2,500 are Negroes, according to Redo.

had been over to her house that morning and had an argument with her and she had asked him to leave her house.

Mrs. Rosalie Bradley, 10228½ Juniper street, told investigating police she saw Harris holding the child by the hand. He told her he was the child's father, and went down to catch the Watts car.

Police intensified their efforts when the child had not been found Tuesday. All known hangouts of Harris were checked and a house-to-house search in the Watts area was in process Tuesday afternoon when Harris drove within two blocks of the child's home, let her out of the automobile and sped away.

Picks Up Child

The child told officers that Harris met her at 105th and Kalmia and told her that her mother said for her to go with him to his home for the night. The little girl said they caught the Watts car and several other street cars. They went to several different houses and watched television.

Then he told her he was taking her to his home for the night. When they arrived, he told her to undress, and then criminally assaulted her.

They went to sleep and the next morning he took her to the house of "Mother Opal" where they had breakfast. That afternoon he drove near her home and let her out of a green car.

Statewide Search

A statewide search is now on for Harris. He is a laborer who used to box under the name of Henry Davis. He was wearing a brown sport jacket, brown trousers, a beige hat, and brown alligator shoes.

He is 32 years old, five feet ten inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, medium build, black hair, brown eyes and dark brown complexion. He has a scar on right cheek and right side of upper lip. He is said to be driving a 1941 red or maroon Buick.

Editorial

The Root of the Evil

Although nothing can excuse the persons who actually set off the dynamite charge on Dunsmuir avenue on March 16, their blame is shared by others too. There can be no doubt that the ground was prepared by the constant agitation for residential segregation that has plagued Los Angeles for the past quarter of a century.

California's courts which enforced restrictive covenants from 1919 to 1948 (in violation of the federal constitution as it turned out) bear their share of the blame.

The Los Angeles Realty Board, which gave backing and blessing to such covenants and then popped off in 1948 with a proposal to amend the constitution to permit their enforcement played its part too.

America Plus, with its yapping for a "Freedom of Choice" amendment which would give legal sanction to covenants, merits some of the blame.

But the most blameworthy groups are the so-called neighborhood associations which have been flooding property owners with frantic pleas to maintain residential segregation for the past year. These outfits are now financing an appeal to establish the proposition that damage suits can be maintained against white property owners who exercise their constitutional right of choosing their own buyers. In order to drum up funds for that case these outfits have whipped up feeling against Negro home buyers and have castigated white sellers.

The most important task of the moment is to apprehend and punish the dynamiters but we will be derelict in our duty if we don't utilize the situation to plan and conduct an educational campaign designed to root out some of the prejudice that is so deep rooted where Negro home occupancy is concerned.

The NAACP has sought and secured the assistance of many civic organizations in the dynamiting case and these organizations can, if they tackle the job, carry on the kind of an educational program that must be conducted. We're convinced that they are ready to do just that.

We believe that the setting up of an official race relations group by the city would be very helpful. Los Angeles has never had an effective committee of that kind. There was such a body during the war but it either lacked status or was unwilling to shoulder its responsibility and made almost no contribution in the field.

We must seize the opportunity that is now here to remake our city into one in which public sentiment is put squarely behind the thoroughly American proposition that every citizen has the right to own and occupy a home wherever he chooses.

The Supreme Court Hedges

Another three-judge federal court has upheld segregation in public schools with the ruling that Jim Crow does not offend the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

While these lower courts have been busy upholding the South's Jim Crow laws the Supreme Court has been just as busy dodging the issue. Only Justices Black and Douglas have voted to review the lower court holdings in these school cases.

In the midst of evading the issue of segregation in public schools the Supreme Court also weaseled out on the question of whether or not Negroes can be restricted to certain days in their use of golf courses in the South. It held in a Florida case that the state court's rulings to that effect was based on state laws and did not involve federal questions. Again Justices Black and Douglas dissented.

This new Supreme Court attitude of quibbling on cases in which segregation is involved indicates that the high court is ready to backtrack on the liberal record on racial matters that it established during the past decade. Where it once readily agreed to look into segregation cases it now wants no part of them.

Legally speaking, public opinion plays no part in determining what the Supreme Court does or doesn't do but we're inclined to hold with many distinguished sociologists that the court is responsive to what the people think and what they want and that it can be induced to reverse its stand if it can be demonstrated that the people don't want it to straddle. Public disapproval of the court's present course will get it back on the right track.

No More Whitewashing

The average citizen who wants efficient law enforcement without police brutality will welcome the decision of the Police Commission to sift charges of lawlessness against police officers.

The vice of the system that has been followed for many years is that it has entrusted the investigation of policemen to other police officers. Even where these investigations are fairly conducted they leave the way open to charges of whitewashing by the department. And the truth of the matter is that in all too many instances, human nature being what it is, the scales have been weighted in favor of policemen who have offended.

Nobody has more to gain from honest and scrupulous investigation of charges against police officers than policemen themselves. They can't do a proper job of law enforcement unless they have community confidence.

They can't get that confidence through failure to punish after such orgies as the Christmas Day beating of six Echo Park youths. All too many officers participated in that beating and all of them should be punished. The majority of officers who didnt' participate and don't approve of the incident will be benefited as well as the citizens of the city.

Get Ready to Vote

There isn't much ttime left to register for the June 3 primary and a good many people are going to find that they can't cast their ballots if they don't get their names on the rolls within the next few weeks.

The American Council on Human Rights, composed of Greek-letter organizations, has been spearheading the drive to register voters in the community. It points out that if you failed to vote, or if you have moved since you last voted, or if your name has been changed through marriage or if you want to change your party affiliation you must register again. And of course if you've never registered you must do so.

It doesn't cost a dime to register or vote in California. All you have to do is to find a registrar to get on the voters' lists.

Those who are registered can't count their own duty done until they do their utmost to see to it that their neighbors and friends are also registered.

Democracy can't work, and won't work, unless all of us take part in selecting the public officials who conduct our affairs for us.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

The most dramatic news of the week has been the summary dismissal of Monroe D. Dowling from his post as Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District of New York, an area embracing all of Manhattan north of 34th street, one of the two or three richest collection districts in the entire United States.

In Washington the Bureau of Internal Revenue announced Mr. Dowling's resignation had been requested because of an "irregularity" in his personal income tax return. No other details were given.

The Dowling dismissal has all the earmarks of a frame-up, with an extra twist added perhaps because Dowling is a Negro. People outside New York can appreciate the situation only when they have some background. For many years the Third District office was held to be a "white Catholic job." Then came Negro Collector James W. Johnson who held on until last year when he was virtually forced out, not because of dishonesty, but for allegedly poor administrative ability. Feeling was so strong then among Negro voters about appointments that the higher authorities did not feel that they could replace Johnson with a white man and remain safe politically. So Mr. Dowling, a veteran of World War II, and an extremely capable public servant, was named.

Washington officials did take the trouble to state that Mr. Dowling's dismissal had nothing to do with his conduct of the office, that is the efficient operation of it. But there is more than a suspicion that the real reason for his dismissal was exactly the efficiency with which he conducted his office and collected the government's taxes.

Why was it that an irregularity in Mr. Downing's returns was not found until March, 1952, seven months after he took the oath of office? All his returns were checked by government investigators before he was appointed. His entire life's history was examined. Since he was to be a tax collector it is reasonable to suppose that special scrutiny would be given his own personal income tax returns. Nothing was found. He was given a clean bill of health. He was appointed by the President and sworn in.

What happened between last August and this March to cause someone to put the skids under Monroe Dowling? In fact, what happened between January 14, 1952 and March 18, 1952? It was on January 14 that all collectors from over the United States met in Washington and heard the Commissioner of Internal Revenue single out Mr. Dowling for special praise for the conduct of his office.

The only reasonable answer is that Dowling offended some "big shots" by insisting on collecting all the taxes due Uncle Sam. These important people made complaints to the politicians. The politicians in Washington, considering the heavy fire on the Internal Revenue Bureau for scandals, could not very well fire a collector because he was honest and efficient. So they framed him. They "found out" that he had an "irregularity" in one of his own returns.

As a last twist they told him everything would go off quietly, but even when they were promising this they were issuing a statement to the press about Dowling. They double-crossed him, but good, and then tried their best to cut his throat. What could Dowling have done to warrant this treatment? The answer seems to be that changes he instituted for the handling of collections and his efficient clean-up of scores of millions of dollars in back taxes spelled his undoing. Could he, wittingly or unwittingly, have broken up a system so dear to the politicians that his dismissal was arranged and handled on one of the very high levels in Washington?

Battle Axe & Bread

PORTLAND, Oregon—When I first visited this principal city of Oregon State seven years ago, World War II was rushing to a close. Portland, 1945, was a boom town, the western capital of the fabulous, warborn empire of Henry J. Kaiser.

Portland's pre-war population of 324 thousand had jumped by 125 thousand more. The Negro population increase was proportionately even greater—from 19 hundred to around 30 thousand—scattered through Portland proper, Vanport and Vancouver, across the Washington State line. About 80 per cent of the Negro increase came from Oklahoma and Texas, most of them "country cousins" in the countriest sense of the word. It was a swarming, disorganized newcomer-group that they presented, and their establishment in Jim Crow style in Vanport and other war-housing projects, intensified their "social unassimilability." I saw little hope in 1945 that Portland would lick a growing race problem in a hurry.

I came back twice, in 1946 and 1949. Each time there was surprising progress to be seen. An Urban League, established in the spring of 1945, had developed a strong following and initiated an enterprising program. There had been a flood in Vanport on May 30, 1948, and that flood did more in 20 minutes to wipe out a racial ghetto than could have been accomplished in 10 years of "re-housing" programs.

There were 23 thousand people rendered homeless in those 20 minutes after the dikes broke and flood waters rushed from the river to inundate the war-housing community. An emergency demanded emergency measures. Edwin C. Barry, Urban League executive, played a key role in shaping those measures. There were not enough Negro homes to absorb the Negro homeless. "Integrated shelter" was the answer, and the Red Cross was intelligent enough to accept this prescription—which was, for many of its workers, their first experience with non-segregated services. One Negro family quartered with white hosts, adjusted so amicably that they stayed for three years! The Family Who Came To Dinner.

Today, Portland is no longer a boom town. The Negro population has levelled off at around 10 thousand, but this is still five times the pre-war figures. And 10 thousand are no longer "country cousins." They are learning city ways, from holding city jobs, learning new skills and getting acquainted with the city outlook and citizen responsibilities.

Hotel and restaurant accommodations used to be barred to the Negro customer all over town. Today it's the exceptional (and usually second-rate) establishment that offends. No more do you see "white only" signs in restaurant windows. Colored girls are being placed in office jobs and colored men in skilled positions almost as fast as they appear, qualified. Social agencies lead the way with fair employment staff practices and non-segregated service facilities. A state fair employment practice law, recently passed, is now being set up administratively.

This doesn't make Portland the "best city" in America, necessarily, but it does put it in the front rank of cities giving better race relations "the old college try." There are probably more citizens, proportionately, interested in racial progress in this city than in any other of its size anywhere in the country. That interest is bound to produce results because it's well led—largely by the Urban League—and well-supported, by an impressive cross-section of interracial Portland. Watch this city on the Pacific shore. It's working up a fine lesson for the rest of America.

THE HAPPY HOME
By Agnes E. Benedict and Adele Franklin

This excellent guide to rewarding family living is especially strong in its suggested hobbies for the whole family. Families nowadays are held together by television or radio or other home entertainments; but none of these are equal to an active hobby as an aid to balance and mental health. The authors consider the ways creative expression in the home may involve the whole family; they depict gardening as a family project, the lure of home crafts, the fun of planning changes in the house itself, carpentry, music, modeling, and many other hobbies. The book is one of the best statements available of the vital contribution hobbies can make to successful family life.

THE BOOK OF INDOOR HOBBIES
By Emanuele Stierl

The author points out that dwellers in city apartments or small homes need hobbies as much if not more than do those who are comfortably remote from the bustle and noise of great cities. For the sake of dwellers in confined spaces, here are fifteen interesting hobbies than can be pursued indoors. Included are window-box gardening, collecting cacti, aquariums, terrariums, making miniature or dish gardens, and a number of crafts ranging from soap carving to bookbinding. Perhaps your apartment is too small for a dog, but the chapters in this book on canaries and parakeets, to say nothing of fishes and turtles, may convince you that these pets can be companions too.

MONEY MAKING HOBBIES
By Joseph Leeming

Sometimes a fascinating hobby can be utilized as a way to add to the family income. Mr. Leeming explores a hundred ways to earn extra money while following a not too difficult hobby. They include carving, woodworking, leathercraft, decorating, knitting; raising of various animals for profit such as chinchillas or rabbits (one woman even earned a living raising snails—in an aquarium); and many hobbies rising out of entertainment, such as photography, magic, stamp collecting, etc. In short there is something here that nearly everyone can do.

LET'S WHITTLE!
By Leroy Pynn, Jr.

It used to be that no small town general store or other main street center was complete without its inevitable philosopher who sat and thought or sat and just whittled. Whether whittling helped our forefathers to decide the burning issues of their times is perhaps debatable; at any rate this fine old American tradition has fallen upon evil days. One possibility exists, however, for its revilival: it can be a pleasurable and profitable hobby as Mr. Pynn indicates in this book. Intended for the beginner, the book presents in clear language, with excellent diagrams, the various objects and toys which may be whittled and how whittling can be developed into a profitable business.

HERE'S YOUR HOBBY

For a happy life it is well to start the hobby habit in childhood. This is a book for children and teenagers and summarizes many pleasurable hobbies suitable for all ages. Some of these are making things, others are collecting, while still more treat with the care of animals and the pleasures of the out-of-doors.

SHELL COLLECTOR'S HANDBOOK
By A. Hyatt Verrill

It can be a gift from the Caribbean that starts the collection or a beach picnic or an inheritance from the great-aunt's mantlepiece—but the pleasure of examining the delicate shades and precise shapes of seasheels remains the same. This is an introduction to any sort of collection, and it makes a dusty assortment rescued from a grimy attic as fascinating as a few fragile specimens brought home carefuly from one's own peditions.

THE ART OF CLEAR THINKING by Rudolph Flesch.

Some people regard the emotionalism and loose thinking of an election year with a shudder and wish that more people, including politicians, had a concept of the most rudimentary logic. Dr. Flesch, author of the very popular "Art of Readable Writing," here does what he can to stem the flow of vicious circles, arguments, and other fallacies that may be heard every day. He shows how thinking may be improved by an attention to the language we use—how to avoid easily misunderstood words or too many adjectives. Everyone will find the book useful, and one wishes that it could be more widely circulated than it will be.

I LIVE AGAIN by Ileana, Princess of Rumania.

Modern princesses rarely live fairy tale lives, and Ileana, daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania, was no exception. Born in troubled times, it was her task to bring solace to her people during the war and Communist occupation. From the traditional existence of pre-war royalty and the viccissitudes of world upheaval, to her final escape to America where she is supporting her family on the proceeds of the sale of her diamond tiara, here is a fascinating story of indominable courage.

Huge Reception for Giant and Cleveland Players Slated for Elks Saturday Night

Baseball Fans To Welcome Star Players

A huge crowd of baseball fans is expected to throng the Elks auditorium Saturday night to meet the New York Giants, and members of Cleveland's baseball team at the lavish baseball reception and dance for the Giants and Negro major league stars. Such stars as Leo Durocher, Willie Mays, Monte Irvin, Luke Easter, Larry Doby, Harry Simpson, Hank Thompson and Sad Sam Jones have been oiling up their pen hands in anticipation of the many autographs they will sign for their fans that night.

The Giants and Cleveland play at Wrigley Field that afternoon, and after the baseball contest on the field, they will attend the reception to see which team rates the highest among the Los Angeles fans.

Award Plaques

A beautiful placque will be awarded to the New York Giants for the fine sportsmanship exhibited in their thrilling drive down the stretch to win the National League championship.

A cup will be presented to Willie Mays in honor of his achievements in winning the title "Rookie of the Year."

A host of celebrities and civic figures will be on hand to give these fine athletes a real Los Angeles welcome, and extend to them the Keys to the City.

Civic Leaders

Louise Beavers, Ernest Whitman, and a score of Hollywood luminaries will be on hand. Council Ed Roybal and Kenneth Hahn will also attend representing the city government. Supervisor Leonard Roach, one of the leaders in the fight to bring big league baseball to the Coast, will also be on hand.

Jimmy Carter, lightweight champion of the world will be there along with other stars of the boxing world such as Henry Armstrong, John Thomas, Chalky Wright and many others.

The Central Avenue Chamber of Commerce has pitched in and shown their support of such community ventures by giving merchandise prizes to all the players.

Some of the stores who have already contributed are: United Sporting Goods, Hobbs Haberdasher, Robert Lee, B. and B. House of Style, Fleishman's Department Store, Jim Clinton, Sobels, and others too numerous to name.

Door prizes of autographed bats and balls will be given away to lucky ticket holders.

The doors will open promptly at nine o'clock Saturday. The players have a midnight curfew, so while dancing will continue until one, the players will have to leave in time to make the curfew, so everyone is urged to get there early.

The formal presentation of the players and the presenting of the awards will start at 10:30 sharp.

CALIENTE in Old Mexico—Running the fastest route of the year here, C. R. Armstrong's So La Ci strummed through the stretch to win by two open lengths in the Julian Handicap, featured attraction on last Sunday's program. A crowd of more than 7000 lovers of the sport of kings responded to the first clear skies in 10 Sundays. Jockey Merlin Volzke gave the six-year-old son of Reigh Count-Kindergarten one of the best rides seen at the Caliente course in many months. Prairie Song, the most improved fillie on the grounds, set the early pace to the middle of the stretch, but gave away to the challenge of So La Ci, who stood the cyclonic rush of Moon Songe. The time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:44 3-5. So La Ci paid in the mutuels $11.

Another popular local horse to score was J. O. Long's Miss Cross S., who won the secondary feature at six furlongs. Coming from fourth position in the stretch, the daughter of Cross S-Faithful Maud scored over the favorite Red Junior by two lengths, paying $12.80.

DESTINATION MOON—Might soon be the tune of the sky-high jumping LaVerne Smith whose initial leap of 6' 5" led Jefferson's devastating Democrats to a fat 90 to 14 victory over Roosevelt in the state's great Southern "cinder" date. Follow Smith's flight tomorrow, Friday at 2:30 p.m. against Manual Arts at Jefferson.

Capacity Crowd At Frat Series

This year's interfraternity basketball series began with an over capacity crowd. The fraternities, Kappa Alpha Psi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Omega Psi Phi, and Phi Beta Sigma, gave a magnificent performance to make this season very impressive.

The first game was between the Alphas and the Omegas. Though the Omegans won, the Alphas were quite impressive with the board control of John Barber and the usual ball hawking of the Hill twins. The Omegas showed ball control and shooting accuracy to win the game 58 to 38. John Barber of the Alphas has high point honors with 20 points. Ivan "the terrible" Robinson got 16 points for the Omegas.

The Kappas and Sigmas got off the second game with a slow start. The score see-sawed from one to the other until the half, the Kappas were ahead. The second half was completely dominated by the Kappas. The game marked the playing of recent Kappa neophyte Pete O'Garro who played spectacularly and walked off with 15 points for high point merits.

The magnificient playing of Ernie Powell accounted for 14 points. The Sigmas outstanding player was Douglas Shaw who took scoring honors for the game with 16 points. The final score was 67 to 31 in favor of the Kappas.

Next week's game put the victors, the Kappas and the Omegas against each other and the Sigmas against the Alphas. Another exciting performance is expected for another over capacity crowd.

TITLE ON BLOCK—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter defends his title against Lauro Salas Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium. The classy New Yorker will be a heavy favorite over Salas, who holds the California featherweight crown.

Cosmo Golfers Slate Tourney

Having copped top prizes at both the Phoenix and YMCA affairs this year, members of the Cosmopolitan Golf club will stage their first sweepstakes of 1952 at the Los Serranos Country Club in Chino. Play will be held in three flights on Sunday, April 6th with the first tee time set for eleven o'clock. Defending champion Al McDaniel gave evidence of being in peak form in winning the YMCA Open last week with a par 71 over a rain-soaked course. Milan Qualls was runner-up and will rank as a co-favorite at Chino. Pasadena's veteran Oscar Clisby won the Desert Mashie Club's annual Invitational affair for the third straight year in February at Phoenix and was runner-up to McDaniel last year at Los Serranos.

Other contenders include Dr. C. A. Bradford, Theophilus Smith, Fred Cumbess, Archie Hariston, Anderson Howard and Milton Rayson. Entry is limited to fully active Cosmoplitan club members, two net trophies being competed for in each flight plus the low gross championship cup.

Baseball Reception

Hottest thing coming up this week is the big reception and dance at the Elks auditorium Saturday night, for the New York Giants and the Negro Major League Stars. Baseball fans will flock to be on hand to show the major leaguers that they are rooting for them all the way. Sponsored by civic and community organizations, the affair is a tribute to these fine athletes. Be on hand early to meet and greet your favorite major league star.

The inter-fraternal basketball series got off to a fine start Saturday night. As traditionally is the case, the game was secondary to the great sport of eyeballing. The way the pretties fell in, a great night was had by all. Seems like the Kappas and the Omegas are the class of the lot.

Ashford to Coast League?

Emmet Ashford is expected to move up to the Coast League sometime this season as a arbiter. He really takes his work seriously. He will start this season in the Southwest International League breaking in a rookie from Art McGowan's umpire school in Florida. Incidentally, Emmet received an invitation to attend, but figured he wasn't a rookie, and he didn't think that Florida sunshine matched California's not to mention hospitality.

Brewers Comets

Dropped by Ross Snyder Playground Saturday and watched Chet Brewer's new team in the Southwest International League work out. They really looked like a bunch of hamfats. I was hastily assured by one of the officials that this was just a workout for some of the boys who wanted to try out. Brewer is importing a first-class team from all over the country to play for the Riverside-Ensenada Comets. If they could get a franchise to play in Watts, the team would get rich. Rumors are flying that Eddie Atkinson is seriously considering buying in and will be president of the club.

Charles Neal is considered one of the greatest young first-base prospects in the game. Only fault is, he can't hit a curve. He was all lined up for the Comets, but Bisbee, Arizona, wouldn't let him go, so he's trying to step into curves in Arizona.

Television Treat

A real boxing treat this evening on television. George Woods, 200-pound heavyweight champion of the 11th Naval District from the El Toro Marines, meets Kirby Seals, 193-pound champion of the entire U. S. Navy. Seals was two times L.A. Golden Gloves champ and 4 times from San Diego. Both boys punch hard and take a good punch. The bout will be televised over station KNXT, channel two, Thursday (today) from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Jeff's Greatest Team

The usual post office, police department alumni turned out Friday to watch what is probably the greatest track team in Jeff's history. Always strong in the sprints and hurdles, Jeff is three man deep in the field positions. In a dual meet, they can beat many colleges. They have surprising strength in the shot put, mile, broad jump, and pole vault.

LaVerne Smith set a new school record of 6ft. 5in., while O. W. Rhodes was doing the same in the pole vault at 12ft. 10in. Four of Jeff's jumpers bettered 6ft. 1in.

Rumor has it that Jordan also has a terrific team, but Jeff's main competition will come from Manual Arts in the Southern League. Jordan and Jeff in the city should be terrific.

TITLE BOUT

Jimmy Carter, lightweight champion of the world, puts his title on the block Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium against California featherweight champion Lauro Salas. Salas reputedly got a chance at the lightweight title over his showing against not-sold golden Aragon. All we can say, is that as hard as Carter punches, there are some real cold-blooded people in the fight game.

See you Saturday at the reception for the Giants and the Elks auditorium.

Another recent member of the race to make a track letter at USC was Jim Benjamin, high jumper during the '45 season.

John Bowen, a star distance runner, is the last member of the race to win a cinder award at Troy. Brice Taylor, USC's first All-American footballer, present Jefferson High athletic coach and Howard Drew were champion sprinters for the university.

If you aren't registered, you can't vote. Register today, so you can vote in June.

On The Delightful Side

Dr. Arthur Booker checked out of Good Samaritan last weekend. You knew congratulations are in order for Robert V. Edwards and Jimmy Lucas? They wed on March 8. They're at home out on Palm Grove but blissfully. The Sunday at-home of the Scruggs family welcoming the head of their house was a four-star social triumph for all concerned. Among the throng was Dillard U. head Dr. Dent, in town for that recent Ford Foundation meet. This Saturday the Girl Friends (Mrs. Scruggs is a member) will play welcome home hostesses for Maj. Scruggs. It will be a closed affair for members, husbands and escorts. G.F. member Laura Fowler's home is the scene.

Dr. Percy Julian, his wife and mother arrived by car Monday via their Phoenix home. They're guesting with the Jerome McNairs. After the Tuesday lecture the latter received for their houseguests at their home across from Occidental. Links set up a Phoenix chapter. Fashionable Gothamite Mollie Moon, Urban League Auxiliary head but tirelessly, winged into town last week on business for a few days. She had the Biltmore as her address. In town quietly she boarded her eastbound plane before many folk always alert to entertaining even knew she had been on the scene. Lullabye Guild have their annual May meeting and installation (election is in April) at Bullock's Wilshire in one of those intimate dining rooms.

Ethel Bell and Mae Myers, convalescents both, just about okay again. Luvercha Bray, in bed awhile, is much better, too.

Miller Measles

The last-born son of the Loren Millers upset his household. Measles, no less. Twenty-fifth annual observance of the founding of the Southern California Medical, Dental and Pharmeceutical Auxiliary will be held Sunday, 4 'til 7, at Wilfandel. The local National Musicians, etc., affair last Sunday at Mme. Lorenza Jordan Cole's was artistically successful as well as well-covering the aim of co-hostesses Ora Lee Scott, Bessie Woodson and emcee Jo Cooper.

Hotel Watkins to have a cocktail lounge, Is that new society column a brainchild of versatile Betty Howard? Billy Strayhorn returns to town briefly. J. D. Leonard birthdays today (Thursday). Freddy Banks in town last weekend from Omaha. Coralee Trawick has cause to beam, her Jimmy is making tremendous strides toward getting well. Ivan Harold Browning busy with Easter sunrise service plans for Val Verde. And don't you think his daughter's very handsome wedding invitation is a beautiful job?

Earl Griffin Back

Tall, red-thatched Earl Griffin back in the States from Ankara, Turkey. Earl swears he'll never live again in L.A. Never-too-late: 63-year-old Capt. Hugh Mulzac after a decade of going to sea turned to oil painting as a hobby a year ago. Now he's having his first one-man show. Critics hail him a find among the new primitives. He ignores portraits, sticks instead to ships and tropical scenes. And he's to do a book in the near future.

And of course that recent mention here of the Horton Dancers should've read Carmen DeLavallade and not Angelle. C. G. Price buried an aunt in Texas. Back at Camp Cooke after the recent fabulous wedding reception on Long Island for his November bride, Leola (Kiah Sayles' sister), and himself, Anti-Aircraft Artillery Reservist Joseph Cole's local friends expect him and his wife in town during her two- to six months' presence out here. She's an exec. with Avon Products.

DeeCee item: Dr. Clark Carson passed. Alas, that eager pencil-poised femme scribe is off slightly on her always accurate reporting. She misjudges Lillian Sharpe Hunter's due-in-town

YW Teenagers Seek Orchid Girl of Year

Voting was heavy throughout the Watts-Willowbrook Area this week as hundreds of YWCA teen-age girls cast their ballots for the "Orchid Girl of the Year."

The search for the most representative YWCA teen-ager in the metropolitan area is being sponsored by the Los Angeles Young Women's Christian Association. Mrs. C. B. Moten, chairman of the Watts-Willowbrook Adult Comittee, said 6 Y-Teen clubs in the Watts-Willowbrook area are in the process of nominating a candidate for the Watts-Willowbrook area finals, March 29.

When found, Mrs. Moten said, the Orchid Girl will become the center of attraction for YWCA Orchid Days, April 18 and 19, when thousands of YWCA teenagers and young women will sell orchids to raise funds for the YWCA conference and camp program.

She will also play a prominent part in the local observance of National YWCA Week, April 20 to 26.

To be eligible for the Orchid Girl title, girls must be in the 10th, 11th or 12th grade of high school and have been active in the YWCA since February, 1951, or in a Y-Teen Club since September, 1951.

Mrs. Moten said judging in the area finals and the All-City finals will be based on the candidate's participation in church, school, YWCA and community affairs and on character, poise and grooming.

In addition to the special recognition planned for the Orchid Girl, Mrs. Moten said suitable honors are also being planned for each area winner.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Of course, (with the exception of the Inter-Frat games) and without a doubt the highlight of the past weekend was the March Club's coming-out affair for many of the city's most eligible young ladies.

Among this assortment of beautiful debutantes, plus their escorts (people we usually overlook) we found attractive Shirley Johnson with that suave Cecil Clay (man what a flashy dresser) . . . Theresa Matthews was able to get Newton Harris into a grasshopper suit . . . Elaine Lindo surprised the "HOUNDS" when she showed up with Gerald Strange instead of our expectation, Leon McCarty . . . Angelita Nicholas and Clyde Winston appeared and left together but don't think for a minute that a little goofing wasn't done by each . . . Myrtle Davenport and date of the eve Johnny Carter almost had us convinced that Kelly Williams is fading out of the picture.

There were others on hand that couldn't make us adhere to popular belief that they are just now coming out. We know better. These included (let's keep their names under the "HOUNDS'" hat).

Those representing the better half bore titles like Larry Greene and Fannie Moore, Lestrita Nicholas and Mac Marrow, Rodney Gomez and Shirley Johnson, Nira Hardon and Ronnie Fleming, Janice Shelby and Donald McCallister.

Most all of us guys found ourselves without dance partners when the band rolled out "I Love You Truly" 'cause that's when the Paws waltzed away with their daughters. But we believe that "he who laughs last, laughs best," and to turn the tables, many a dad returned to find us dancing with his wife.

Out of the lavish display of delightfully attractive gowns we picked out those worn by Elaine Bias, Carole Matthews, Sandra Shields and Arlene Provost as the most eye-catching. And as a matter of formality we must mention their respective beaus, Donnie Brown, Ray Scott, Bob Splain and George Price. Although the dance ended at two this crowd retired to the home of one of last year's debs for refreshments and to watch the sunrise.

Saturday Night Hambone

Three hams lay cooling on the table; everyone present marveled at the aroma that was drifting through the rooms, and then in staggered the villain, Irvin Clark, who walked straight to the table and snatched one of them off and shouted, "Hambone, Hambone, where have you been?"

The guests finally subdued him and the party given in honor of Air Force bound Lloyd Nelson, Sam Langford and Gene Taylor proceeded on into der wee hours.

Everyone was having a good time, especially Eugene Broady, Bill Johnson and John Chase, who by an ingenious method, pilfered the greater part of the lush. Others who got their share of the jollies included Deloras Williams, Iris Taylor, Wanda Govan, Robert Armstrong, Betty Mack, Argie Brown, John Nelson, Meredith Nelson and Barbara Brown.

Hearsay and What Have You

We're wishing a speedy recovery to Percy McIntyre who fell over a stove and is suffering from minor burns, and also to Wiesta Tompson who has just returned from an appendectomy. . . . George Jones, a Kappa man from Denver, has fallen under the spell of local gal Peggy Sue Terry . . . We NOTICED that Eddie Allen is sporting two black eyes which he received from an unidentified female . . . Paul "Tank" Younger applied for his marriage license recently . . . Heard that Pat Anderson dyed her hair fire engine red . . . Frank Braxton and Betty Bridges are tying the knot soon. We wish the best of luck to just about the swellest people we know . . . Basketball star Pete O'Garro had his eye on Kappa cheerleader Mary Cantrell as well as the basket the opening frat game . . . Doloras Roberts has decided that making it alone has more advantages than going out with Carl Clay. (Now, now, don't be too hasty, Deloras) . . . Our pal Gene Ramos, who is attending Xavier University, sent us some pictures of his conquests. When's the next train leaving for New Orleans? . . . Eddie Roberts was recently discharged from Unc Sam's Air Force and can be expected home any day now . . . Alfred Elliot, now wheeling a crazy short, is suspected of wanting a certain Elaine as a riding partner.

Sometimes we mention names and sometimes not. In this instance it would hardly be appropriate. A well known gal-about-town can't seem to get her business straight. It seems that she has twisted the mind and morals of an Alpha Frat man and now she is telling the world about the way she turned him out. We really don't think that is nice at all.

Getting a change of company and scenery is sometimes very

It seems like more relatives have poured into the now famous JACQUELINE, MILLIE, GRAHAM brawl. Why doesn't someone call a halt before that joke gets to the blood stage? Everyone in the act is wrong. The sooner it is dropped the better.

RED HUT BROILER — Lights went out the other A.M. and so did one of those waitresses. We guessed the cause was too much current passing through the same socket; if you want to call it that.

S.F. Station Hires Negro Announcer

In keeping with the National Broadcasting Company's policy of fair employment practices, NBC San Francisco radio station, KNBC, has announced the appointment of Wallace G. "Wally" Ray of Los Angeles, and former Manual Arts high school student, as vacation relief staff announcer. KNBC is the first raido station in the San Francisco bay area to hire a Negro in such a capacity.

George Greaves, KNBC program manager stated that Ray will be in charge of KNBC's all night broadcast period, announcing a program of classical and semi-classical music from midnight until six a.m. five nights a week.

Ray comes to KNBC well equipped for his job. Until hired by NBC, he served assistant manager of station manager KBLF in Red Bluff. His duties ran the gamut from news reporting to fashion shows. As an announcer, he aired news and commentary, sports events, and both popular and classical music. Ray also wrote continuity and scripts for KBLF. He holds a broadcast engineer's broadcast license.

Born in Los Angeles, September 5, 1921, Ray saw service as a anti-air gunner in the Marines during World War II. Following his discharge from the service, Ray studied at the Don Martin School of Radio in Hollywood.

Ray expresses great enthusiasm for his new job at KNBC, and says he is looking forward to working and living in San Francisco. He is accompanied by his wife, the former Gladys Nelson, also of Los Angeles.

HAITIAN DANCERS—Jean Leon Destine, Irene, Merva and the exciting Haitian Dance Troupe will appear in the fifth annual international dance festival, Saturday evening in the Philharmonic auditorium. The groups will give a full recital at the Wilshire Ebell Theater Wednesday evening, April 9.

Pearl Primus Concert to Feature African Dances

Stirring rhythms and striking colors imbue the authentic African dances that will be interpreted by Pearl Primus and her superbly trained dance group in the Philharmonic Auditorium on Saturday night, April 12, 8:30 p.m., under Miss Bran's auspices. Pearl Primus is the young dancer who all alone went into the heart of the African jungle and lived with the people there for over a year.

From Nigeria to the Congo and then to Liberia news of her arrivals and departures was speeded across hundreds of miles by the talking drums.

Many Africans believe Miss Primus to be the returned spirit of one of their own people, and so accepted her unconditionally into their way of life. Several of the tribal chieftains went so far as to adopt her as their own daughter.

The story of her trip is one of the most fascinating in the history of the dance. This entire venture was financed by the Rosenwald Fund whose president gave Miss Primus their largest grant.

man of the affair was young Peter Jackson. We wonder if he took that occasion to start the dismissal of one of Ralph's hired hands?

ERNIE HURD a pretty fair vocalist entered NBC vocal school for some serious voice lessons.

"SCRIBES SIP"

FRANCIS ANDRE—Candle and Cocktail Party was a way-out affair for the scribes. His unique W. Jefferson Blvd. studio is decorated in oriental and tropical atmosphere.

BILL SAMPSON disc-show is labled as the most listened to music program on the ether. That is a real break for a guy who really tries to please.

ROGER YOUNG — some of the peasants out in this peaceful village are using car license number 2-R-8995 for crap games to avoid the house cut.

SIGHT-ITEMS, shapely Mamie Lewis office manager of the Consolidated Realty Board sporting a full length pink suede coat.

DR. OVERSTREET GRAY escorting attractive Emily Woody, our favorite teacher, to the NAACP meeting.

Andre Vaughn handsome broker chauffering Emily Johnson and Florence Nukes to same affair.

Officer John Thomas picking up checks for tickets sales for the forthcoming Police Ball.

BRAD PYE, young Eagle sports editor trading his 1937 Chevy for a 1952 Army Jeep, a trade he would have liked to have passed up.

"RING SIDERS"

LLOYD LA BEACH, the Mrs. and mother-in-law taking in Jim Mitchell night at the Hollywood Legion as were Chuck Jackson and his fashionable wife Jerry.

NAMES OF NOTE

ALICE KEYS taking orders at Jack Blooms in a Louis Armstrong voice resulting from a cold she would like to get rid of.

MAURICE SAUNDERS, turning out her famous Sunday's special over on Figueroa Street.

LENORE LEWIS getting set for the inter-frat basketball series.

NOAMI DOWNS visiting here from Seguin, Tex., and waiting to be a grandmother.

JOE (49ers) PERRY now hustling for MELROSE as a lush salesman.

MEDICAL SNOBS — Someone should pull the petticoats of those many sisters that think being married to a member of the penicillin group is a reason why they should go around with their noses in the air. They are gonna smell one day that their action is causing hubby's business to suffer the shorts.

SCATMAN CROTHERS had a Ice-cream, cake birthday party for the little scatmen and a real scatty time was had.

"BAY CITY AMBASSADOR"

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON — C. R. Lane manager of San Francisco's most exclusixe hotel is in town. Lane's smart management has brought the hotel up among the best in the nation. It is the mecca for nationally known figures who visit the bay-area.

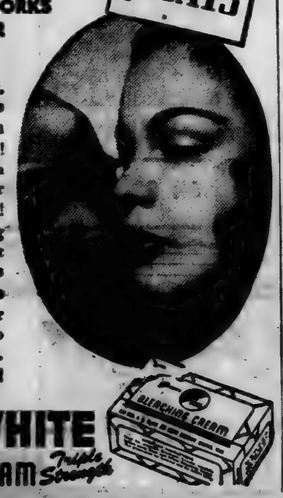
plans. Nearest to the Coast the latter will come on her present trip is N'Orleans. There she's visiting the Nathaniel Sharpes. Hall Johnson returns to Europe. He and Co. are due in Paris by April 29. I dare say ex-Angelenos Bertha Powell and Chauncey Reynolds will make the return flight, too.

No one at that local weekly seems to know much about the rumor, country-wise, that it's up for sale. Local friends and lady Democrats beaming out loud at the $7500-a-year job given recently to DeeCee newspaperwoman Venice Spraggs. She heads The Defender's Washington office. She will be special assistant to the National Democratic Committee's Mrs. India Edwards. And folk here who know her tell me she may visit here before the year wanes.

Hand-Knit Tie



Hal Buford, savagely trying to extricate his gray Lincoln Continental from the parking crush in front of the Watkins, grins at our bland query of his chalk-white hand-knit cashmere tie:

"Ain't you heard, pardner? White ties are the thing now back East. Why don't you no-dressing Californians get on some kind of tie? A man in N.Y. or Chicago wouldn't be caught dead at a fire sale in one of those string jobs I see out here!"

Hal, his undebatably fashionable half dozen white ties intact, leaves Monday for Minneapolis the hard way. A bedroom on the Chief.

Bridging It From Club Pacifico

See by the morning papers that some engineering genius invented a tick-tack-toe machine that can work out some 200 moves. Marvelous? Well only about a week ago I saw in the same paper that another genius had created another monster that screamed like murder to any landlord who perchance allowed the temperature to drop below a certain degree. Amazing, to say the least, which just goes to show what the human mind is capable of producing, and will most certainly drive this lowly creature to drink the day word gets around that we have with us, of all things, a bridge-playing robot.

necessary but there are social rules which govern the time and place in which to make these adjustments. A fello whom we shall call Paul (totally fake name) took his girl to dine at a popular beanery.

While they were feeding their faces lover boy spies some female friends outside; he promises his date he'll be back shortly; this is the last she sees of him.

The only reason we're mentioning this is because we happened upon the scene as the gal was trying to dig up the loot to pay the bill and as friends of hers we were stuck with the job of making up the difference. We'd mention the rattler's name but it would probably cause the young thing a lot of heartbreak so we must be content, just hoping that the cad will read this and wise up.

We wish to express our deepest sympathies to our society editor, Vi Moten Brown, who lost her father during the past week.

EAGLE SALUTES

A Designer of Distinction

Probably the most talked about woman of the week is lovely Mme. Velva Lorette who displayed her artistic hat fashions to a large audience last Sunday. The designer developed her talent in Paris last year where she studied under the leading chappeau creators of the world. Recognized by fashion critics as having an unusual flair for hat designing, Mme. Velva plans to open an exclusive salon which will cater to discriminating women of Los Angeles.

MME. VELVA LORETTE

Civic Improvement Pursuant

Besides being a gifted designer, Mme. Velva is an able assistant to her husband, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of Second Baptist church. Together Dr. and Mrs. Henderson have presented innovations to their church and community which have contributed greatly to civic improvements.

Organizing Ability

Three years ago Mme. Velva Lorette organized the Recruiters' League at Second Baptist which recently sponsored a contest with fifteen prominent women vying for a queen's crown. Careful preparation and management was necessary to produce $3000.00 from the effort. Many elaborate gifts were given to winners and contestants. With such gigantic responsibilities placed under her supervision, it is not difficult to realize why Mme. Velva Lorette holds a top position among women "doing things" in America today.

SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS CALL

Rupert H. Lucas RE. 2-0783 E. E. Franklin Walter S. Chinn, Jr. PA. 0067

The 'ole Judge leaped upon the bench in good spirits this morning. Some one had spiked his Ovaltine and now he knew how people felt when under the influence of two doggone good, good drinks. They feel like helping others. When the roster came before the Judge he shouted to the bailiff, "Outrageous! This list of people have been helping themselves to others' blood."

THE GENERAL LOST THE BATTLE

Luella King, 51, of 416 Stanford avenue, and her husband, General King, 66, who had a wine battle and drunken quarrel for 36 hours, came before the Judge filled with good drinks. She pleaded, "I ain't been raising no sand. My old man and I just had a spat and he was messing around my chin and no man messes with my chin so I hit him with the bottle."

The General was taken to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital in a busted open condition—Ah-h-h-h those wine bottles, you'll lose every time, thought the Judge.

MY WIFE'S SISTER

Warren G. Tucker, 28, 1234 E. 41st street, was beefing with his wife, Ora Lee Tucker, over family unnecessaries (in-laws) when his sister-in-law, Ruth Myles, 27, decided that it was sister and sister against foe. Mars Lee Anderson of 1227 E. 20th street, was standing by. Tucker didn't like the odds so he took a knife from a drawer and tried to even up the score by cutting away. The three women took the knife and in the process battered Tucker up quite a bit.

Tucker never worked in a market but he sure pulled the feathers from Mrs. Anderson's head and sliced some meat from the left arm of Mrs. Myles.

NO NEXT ON THIS STOOL

John Wessling, 50, 10316 Croesus, was sitting on the stool, a stool that is, in Lucy's Bar at 10226 S. Beach street, talking to a girl, when John W. Thomas, 24, 10625 Ruzac, and Adair Hudson, 25, 1813 E. 104th street, decided they wanted to sit on stools next to the girl. Wessling liked his place on the stool. One of them knocked Wessling down and the other took a sample of his blood from the right ribs. When the agents of the law arrived, Wessling didn't know who did what, he just wanted his turn on the stool.

A CHECK ON WIFE

Willie Jemmels, 25, of 926 E. 90th street, had heard that his common-law wife, Alice E. Jemmels, would have fun with other men while he worked. So he took time off to make a check and maybe to give her something that she wouldn't enjoy. When Willie got home Alice was having fun with one Leedale Green of 9535 Holmes avenue. They immediately tried to get Willie drunk. Willie didn't like what that would add up to so he escorted Leedale home. Upon returning he found his wife still in bed. He questioned her with a slap about Leedale.

She was ready for him: out came her carver and she got in a good day's practice for Thanksgiving, she even cut herself.

Boy! Those common-law wives, how they leave you bleeding.

THE CARPENTER AND THE BUTCHER

Beatrice Smith, 35, 808 E. Fifth street, had been drinking and arguing with her common-law husband, John McGlothin, 29, for two days because he bought another girl a coat with the money she had earned from her Fifth street customers, when he got a claw hammer and started to do some carpenter work on her. She considered herself well built and threw up her hand in defense. He whaled away on that hand. My, what buildings have to put up with. She got her razor and began doing some slicing on him. John, realizing that he was no beef to be sold, took the razor. She got a knife to finish the job. The wagon boys came in time to keep him from ending up on the market counter.

He refused to prosecute because she was taking care of him and he liked the way she makes love. She refused to prosecute because she likes to have him get her out of the "lock-up" when she gets pinched.

The 'ole Judge ordered them both held to answer to him.

John was no carpenter but he sure built her hand up, and she was no butcher but the way she sliced him up he could be sold in any butcher shop.

Yep, they're in the pro-carpenter and butcher league now.

STRIKE ONE'LL GET TWENTY

Shelly Redmon, 41, 1427 Griffith avenue, a porter, and his common-law wife, Niola J. Kemp, 45, were having a splatter about $20 that she had when Shelly struck her over the head with an object that left her so dazed she didn't remember what it was.

When the "old girl" regained her senses, what was left of her senses, the "old boy" was gone and so was the 20 bucks.

He was nabbed the next day at Third and Main streets.

Gee, those love taps will daze every time.

The Judge mused, with the effects of his spiked Ovaltine wearing off, maybe they all weren't in "good spirits" from drink only.

Appeals Court Urged to OK Restriction Damage Suits

Eleven "neighborhood protective associations" this week joined in a plea to the District Court of Appeal to reverse a holding of the local Superior Court that property owners may not collect damages for the sale of race restricted property to Negroes. An ironic twist to the brief filed by them as a 'friend of the court" is that they are represented by John W. Preston, former supreme court judge and recent addition to the staff of lawyers representing Air Force Sgt. Lawrence Walker.

The neighborhood organizations have been engaged in a long campaign to "keep neighborhoods clean" by preventing the sale of property to Negroes. Superior Judge Daniel Stevens last year sustained a motion to dismiss a suit financed by them in which they sought damages of almost $200,000 for the sale of a home to Negroes on East 64th street.

'Hate' Hq Exposed

One of the most brazen in its dishonesty is a handbill titled "Colored People Take Notice!" Hoping that the readers will be ignorant of the facts, this leaflet states: "This is to advise you and your friends that if you have bought property restricted against any other than the white or Caucasian race, you did not obtain clear title to the property."

Bold-Faced Lie

Nothing could be further from the truth, and the perpetrators of this fraud know it. But they continue: "Furthermore, when you resell or rent the property, you must sell or rent to a member of the Caucasian or white race or yourself be held in damages for violating the race restrictions." Another bold-faced lie, calculated to intimidate Negroes.

There are a lot of these neighborhood organizations around, all with sweet sounding names. There's the Neighborly Endeavor, Inc., which operates in Leimert Park; the Loyal Neighbors Association, which covers territory between Slauson and Florence avenues, Figueroa and Vermont; Citizens United, Inc., which handles the area east of Main street and south of Slauson. There's the Steadfast Neighbors, the Harvard Neighbors Assn., and quite a few others.

Undesirable

The literature is full of statements equating the term "undesirables" with non-whites. Another choice bit from one of their leaflets states: "It is true that Negroes have brought upon themselves criticism, hatred and distrust by forcing their way into neighborhoods restricted against them."

Significantly, the propaganda headquarters which hands out these tracts, will also give you literature on Sen. Jack Tenney's "America Plus, Inc." and its proposed initiative amendment, "Freedom of Choice," which is designed to re-impose race restrictive covenants; to uphold the "right" of hotels, restaurants and other places serving the public to "choose" their customers; and the "right" of employers to refuse jobs to anyone, that is, to discriminate.

It should be noted that these oh, so neighborly organizations charge a little fee for anyone who wants to join. It is not known whether these fomenters of race conflict are dominated more by their greed for money or by their hatred for all but non-Nordics.

The Eagle does not charge that there is any direct link between these neighborhood associations which preach hatred and cry for discrimination and the perpetrators of the bombing atrocities on Dunsmuir avenue.

The Eagle does charge, however, that the spread of this venomous propaganda cannot help but increase tension, stir up animosities, and create an atmosphere which breeds bombings, murders and race riots.

How SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA Gas Company's interim gas rate increase will affect you

THE California Public Utilities Commission has granted Southern California Gas Company some increase in gas rates, pending a final decision by the Commission on the Company's application for a general rate increase. Final rates cannot be determined until further hearings have been held.

This "interim" increase, effective April 10, amounts to slightly less than 5%, or about 22¢ on the average monthly bill of a typical residential customer.

NEW RATES AVERAGE ONLY 3.6% HIGHER THAN IN 1938

In comparison, look how the price of everything else you buy has soared! As shown in the chart at left, food is up 141%; home furnishings up 106%; clothing up 96%; the overall cost of living up 90%.

OUR COSTS ARE UP, TOO! That's why a gas rate increase is necessary! Our costs for wages, for the gas we must purchase from producers, and for all the other materials we buy have gone up and up. The gas rate increase just authorized by the Commission covers only a portion of the major increases in our costs since our last rate increase in 1950, which was our first general rate increase in over 30 years!

Full consideration of a proposed general rate increase unavoidably takes a great deal of time. Meanwhile we need sufficient earnings both to maintain dependable service and to attract the new money we must have to grow with Southern California. Thus, the interim increase provides only a portion of the amount the Company considers necessary and which we expect will be established in the final rate decision to come later.

THE NEW GAS RATES ARE LOW! The typical customer will now pay a year-round average of only $4.58 per month for cooking, water heating, house heating, and, for many customers, refrigeration as well. What other $4.58 expenditure buys you so much? Gas is truly your household bargain!

DYNAMITER KNOWN, POLICE SAY

Child, 4, Burned To Death

A small child's fear of being told he was a "naughty boy" for playing with matches may have been the cause of a sad tragedy Monday morning when the little 4-year-old was burned to death, hiding in his mother's closet.

The Fire Department, however, was still investigating the case, suspecting the possibility of arson. Unexplained, they said, was the fact that the child neither ran from the flames nor screamed to attract the attention of the two adults in the house, especially since there was no door to the closet where he was found.

Dead was Lorenzo Johnson, Jr., son of Mrs. Clydie Johnson, 1510 E. 99th street.

Child Dead

Firemen, summoned to the scene at 10 a.m., were unable to locate the child until the fire had been put out. Then in the badly charred closet they found his body. The child was dead.

Mrs. Johnson has two other little children, Gloria, 5, and Martha Mae, 3. Two neighbor children were playing with them.

Mrs. Johnson had dressed the children, as usual, and had sent Gloria off to school.

The Eagle was informed that the mother had told the youngsters to go outside to play. The little girl came running back after a bit, crying, complaining that one of the children had thrown sand in her hair.

Smelled Smoke

The mother sent them all out playing again, and went about her housework.

She was sweeping the kitchen when her aunt, who was in the front of the house, called to her and asked if something was burning on the stove. "I smell something burning."

Mrs. Johnson also became aware of the fire, rushed out to Four Die in Explosion at Howard Univ.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—No evidence of negligence were found after an exhaustive investigation into an explosion that cost the lives of four Howard University employes last Thursday and rocked the entire northwest section of the city.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing held a hearing at the university on Friday with three members of the Fire Council of the Federal government and a top chemist from the Bureau of Standards. Evidence showed that 420 pounds of sodium chlorate exploded when being handled by the custodian at the university.

The four custodial employes of the university who were killed were: Chief Custodian Eugene H. Gough, 65, who had been employed at the university since 1928; Clinton Irvine; James Clinton, 54; and Alphonso M. Smith, all janitors.

A fifth worker, James K. Williams, of 1100 S street N.W., stated that he was blown through the door leading from the basement hallway to outside of the building, but was not injured. He said he had started to push a hand truck loaded with chemicals from the storage room to the hallway when he noticed a small fire along the bottom of the truck.

He smelled strong smoke coming from the truck and ran about 100 feet down the hallway to open the door. As he placed his hand on the knob, he heard an explosion and "the door was swept open and I went through," he said.

Four other persons were treated for smoke inhalation at Freedmen's Hospital and released immediately.

FACES JURY'S VERDICT—Georgia Mae Steel, assisted by deputy Gladys Collum, faces jury's verdict for murder of Arthur Hester on New Year's Day.

Negroes Seek Office In June 3 Primaries

Negroes will seek a congressional seat, a post on the Board of Supervisors and two assembly positions in the June 3 primary election, a survey by the Eagle showed this week.

Frederick M. Roberts, Republican, will make another attempt to get to Congress, this time from the newly-created 26th district in which Samuel Y. Yorty is listed as the incumbent. He filed on both Republican and Democratic tickets. Horace V. Alexander, Independent Progressive, wants both the Republican and Democratic nominations. Approximately one-third of the district's voters are Negroes.

Kenny Washington, famed athlete and now a salesman for Young's Market, wants to unseat Leonard J. Roach in the second supervisorial district. Washington, who sees his campaign as a crusade for representation, claims that almost 40 per cent of the voters in this district are Negroes.

Out in the newly-created 55th district in South Los Angeles, Attorney Rayfield Lundy and Social Worker Alfred Johnson are both out for the assembly nomination on the Republican ticket and both issued rosy statements claiming that victory is just around the corner. Vernon Kilpatrick, a Democrat, is listed as incumbent.

Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, veteran representative from the 62nd district, will be opposed by Leon Giles, public accountant who has made previous unsuccessful bids for the job. Giles is a Republican and Hawkins is a Democrat who wants both party nominations.

Negroes will have a big say in who gets nominations from other congressional and assembly districts, notably in the 15th, 16th, 17th 18th, and 23rd congressional districts and in the 40th, 70th, 65th and 63rd asembly districts.

Student Selected To Fill Post of Alvin Echols

The Jefferson High School Student Council announced last week they had elected prominent B-12 Andrew McGlover to be student body vice-president for this spring semester.

He succeeds Alvin Echols whose unexpected death caused this extra election.

Echols had been elected by the student body last fall in the regular elections. Andrew's competition came from the following outstanding students: Ronald Brunner, Lionel Riley and Sedell Manual. He is a Knight and a basketball letterman.

Kin Attacks Will of Late Half Sister

A will made by the late Mrs. Kathleen Hull Bacon, who died in February, was the subject of a court attack this week. Mrs. Edna Kinsey, half sister of the deceased, raised objections to the will being admitted to probate.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, who prepared the legal objections on behalf of his client, Mrs. Kinsey, contends in his answer that the holographic will made by Mrs. Bacon three years before her death, was void because it contained no date of its making.

A petition for letters of administration for Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Parker was filed through the law office of Atty. Thomas L. Griffith.

The will over which Mrs. Kinsey decided to take issue with the Parkers failed to make an effective distribution of her assets, Mrs. Kinsey contends.

All of the contestants are named in the will.

Jury Frees Woman After Knife Killing

Deliberation of one hour and fourteen minutes brought a verdict of not guilty by a jury of six men and six women to Georgia Mae Steel, standing trial for knife-killing of Arthur Hester, Wednesday morning.

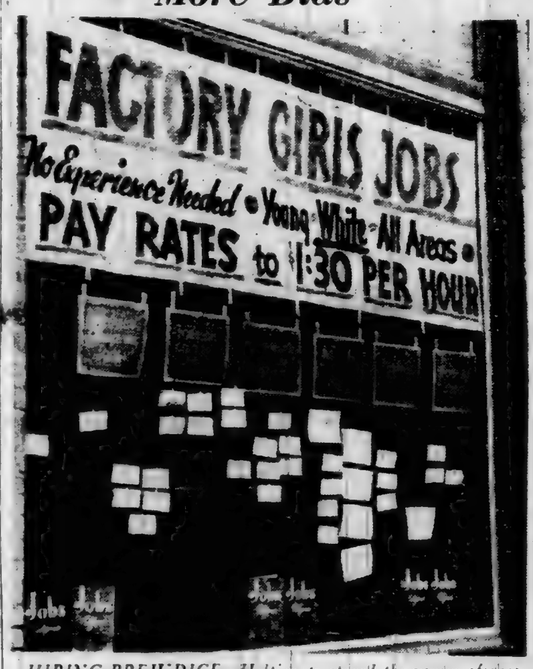
Self-defense was the motive established by her attorney, Jess Whitehill, who upset the courtroom with his cross-examination of three state witnesses.

A New Year's early-morning brawl which ended in the murder of Arthur Hester was re-enacted in sequence by Georgia Mae Steel during her trial in Department 39, presided over by Judge J. Ford. Nervous, distraught Georgia sobbed audibly as she demonstrated her struggle with Hester before she stabbed him with a push-button knife.

Stately Miss Steel, wearing a poodle cut, broke down several times on the witness stand during cross-examination by the prosecutor. At times her words were incoherent as she ducked her head into a wrinkled handkerchief which she twisted in her hand.

The murder, which followed the Fifth and Stanford melee, was the first of the New Year. It climaxed a party of holiday celebration in which Hester and Miss Steel were a part.

Life Threatened



From the testimony of state's witnesses John Banks and Mattie Cox, it was established that Hester had threatened Georgia Mae's life and that he had warned her he would bring violent harm to her while drinking in a cafe on Fifth street.

Following the argument, Miss Steel and a friend, Geraldine Phillips, left Hester at the bar and started for home, state testimony held. Hester trailed them across the street and continued his harangue. A fight started and Georgia testified she cut Hester in the chest and right side several times to protect herself.

Several days after the knifing, Georgia reported to police authorities that she was involved

HIRING PREJUDICE—Helping to spread the venom of race prejudice, which is the setting for violence and bombings, is the "white only" hiring policy of all too many employers. Above is a huge sign currently being displayed by the employment agencies on Olive street at the corner of 8th street. The Eagle has underlined the word "white."

Singer, Band Leader Settle Divorce Row

Singer Mabel Scott and her band leader husband, Charles Brown, decided to settle their marital troubles out of court after a hectic day of testimony last Wednesday.

The singer, who lives at 128 E. 46th street, testified before Superior Judge Irvin Taplin that her husband was "only a piano player" with Johnny Moore's three blazers when she met him. But when they married, Jan. 16, 1949, she suggested that he start his own band.

Brown, of 2362 West 21st street, is the leader of the Charlie Brown Smarties band.

Miss Scott said that immediately afterward her husband began making recordings for the Aladdin Recording Co. and, with her help, he got many engagements. During all this time, however, he refused to support her, she said, until finally in March, 1949, she had to accept an engagement in Las Vegas to support herself.

She said that while she was touring with him in 1949 he told her to go home to California and later, while she was entertaining in Chicago, removed furniture out of the family home on 21st street.

Miss Scott, represented by attorney Vince Monroe Townsend, Jr., originally sued for separate maintenance and asked $5000 a month support. Brown had filed a cross-complaint for divorce.

After Wednesday's hearing the parties agreed to make a settlement out of court, and Miss Scott agreed to file an amended complaint asking for divorce.

Brown's attorney, Thomas G. Neusom, contended that Miss Scott has a yearly income in excess of $10,000 and was not entitled to support asked.

Bailey Gets New 72-Hr. Ultimatum; KKKs on Sidewalk

"We think we know who did it! Suspects have been narrowed down to one individual—a fanatic but a very clever one.

"We are seeking physical evidence to link him to the bombings," police told the Eagle at press time, giving the latest news on the twin explosions which rocked two Dunsmuir avenue homes before dawn March 16.

No arrests have been made, however.

Even as police believed they could positively identify the criminal, new threats and new outrages were reported from various sections of the city and county.

"Mean Business"

William Bailey, victim of one of the Dunsmuir bombings, received another letter, signed with the dread KKK initials, giving him a 72-hour ultimatum and telling him "next time we mean business."

In Venice, another home owner was warned over the telephone: "You will be burned out in 72 hours."

A home-made bomb, wrapped in paper and rags, was hurled from a passing auto onto the sidewalk at Beverly and Westlake under cover of darkness.

'Kid Stuff'

Tuesday morning, police found KKKs and crosses scrawled on sidewalks 10 or 12 blocks from the scene of the Dunsmuir bombings. Apparently printed with shoe polish, one of these was found in the 4600 block on Ridgely Drive.

Police seemed inclined to dismiss sidewalk warnings as "pranks" or "kid stuff," but the attorney general's office, the district attorney and the Wilshire police all gave emphatic assurance that every possible lead was being followed in an all-out attempt to crack the case.

No definite information could be obtained, however, that the police were investigating the various small property-owners

Freed After Eight Years In Prison

SAN FRANCISCO—O. D. James, who had been in San Quentin since 1944 serving a sentence of life imprisonment was completely exonerated by the Fresno Superior Court last week of a charge of murder allegedly committed in 1944.

James had appeared without counsel at his trial on a charge of having murdered Charles Thomas. Ignorant of his legal rights he entered a plea of guilty. He won his freedom when the Supreme Court granted him a writ of habeas corpus.

"Because of his ignorance," the court said James did not

NAACP LAUNCHES 1952 CAMPAIGN FOR 10,000 MEMBERS

The Los Angeles Branch NAACP will launch its annual membership enrollment Sunday, April 20. Edward Atkinson, chairman of this year's drive, said the goal for the 30-day period is 10,000 members.

Action of the NAACP in rallying the community behind its fight on the Florida and local bombings has already resulted in many people voluntarily joining the NAACP. "Five hundred workers will be needed," Atkinson said, "to make the enrollment drive a complete and early success."

Monday night Atkinson called campaign leaders together at the NAACP office and outlined the strategic necessity of this campaign's success and challenged them to secure 500 workers with "race advancement in their hearts." They will have the rest of the week to secure them.

Ever Need a Friend? Maybe You Can Help...

Most of us need help at some time in our lives. Occasionally that need is acute.

It is acute now for a mother and her seven children, the youngest of whom is nine months old.

Mrs. Lucille Jones is living in three rooms with six of her seven youngsters. There are no chairs in the "home" — not even a box to sit on. No tables, no furniture at all except one bed and the cooking stove, which also furnishes heat.

The Jackie Robinson Philanthropic Club was told of the family's need and has been trying to help. Its president, Mrs. Ella Mae Whitaker, brought the story to the Eagle in the hope that some of its readers might be able to lend a hand.

Lost Job

The family, according to Mrs. Whitaker, has not been in Los Angeles long enough to qualify for relief. The oldest son, 18, has been the sole breadwinner until recently. But he lost his job and has gone to Nevada to try to get another. The oldest daughter, 16, has left school, and is now contributing the $17 a week she makes to the family's support. The father is dead.

The Jackie Robinson club has

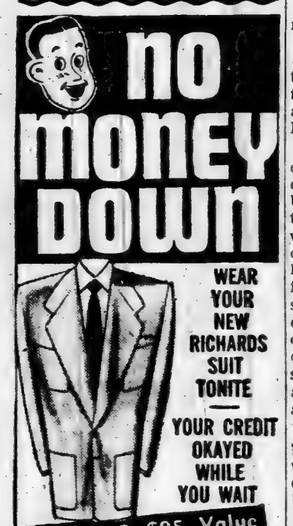
Howard Files $700,000 Suit Against Broadway

H. A. Howard, publisher and real estate broker, renewed his long standing feud with the savings and loan association which he founded when he filed a cross complaint this week seeking $700,000 damages from the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association. Named as defendants with the company are H. Claude Hudson, president, Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., a director, M. Earl Grant, former president, and ten John Does.

A long course of what he called harassment and attempts to embarrass him, slander, title to his property, conspiracy and trespass was alleged by Howard in the action which his wife joined him as a complainant.

The latest case climaxes a two year old story of almost constant litigation between Howard and the company he founded. He charges that despite the fact that he was always ready to pay notes held on property he owned the Broadway and its officers attempted to foreclose on him and caused severe losses.



Also injected into the suit was an ill-fated attempt by Howard to charter a national bank here. That venture failed, he said, when his opponents put "pressure" on national banking officials to withdraw a promised charter.

Defendants named by Howard scoffed at his charges and said that their only interest in the affair was to "protect the Broadway and safeguard" investors' money. They charged that he is disgruntled because he has lost control of both the Broadway and the Watts Savings and Loan Association, another organization which he was instrumental in organizing and which is now headed by Grant. . . .

USC Instructor Off to Liberia

Appointment as a sanitarian with the U. S. Public Health Service in Monrovia, Liberia, was received recently by Clarence E. Calbert, 38, research assistant in bio-chemistry at the University of Southern California the past five years.

Calbert and his wife, Elnora, registered nurse at the Queen of Angels hospital, have already left for Washington, D.C., enroute to Africa. They will be overseas two years. Their home has been at 3802 Paloma St., Los Angeles 11.

A graduate of the University of Louisville as a bachelor of science in chemistry and of the University of Michigan as a master of public health, Calbert worked for the Louisville health department, the U. S. Public Health Service in Cincinnati before coming to SC. He has assisted Dr. Harry J. Deuel Jr., dean of the graduate school at SC and one of the nation's leading biochemists, with all his recent research in vitamin A, margarine and the nutritive value of fats and oils.

As a commissioned officer in the public health service, Calbert will have a rank equal to that of a major in the armed forces.

But the need is great, Mrs. Whitaker said, for a few pieces of furniture, a blanket or two, a bed, money for the rent, and for nourishing food.

If anyone wants to help, Mrs. Whitaker asks that they get in touch with her, Adams 7875, at 4305 Honduras street. She will give them Mrs. Jones' address, if they wish, or will accept donations for the family.

FULFILL FATHER'S WISH—Children kicked over the color line in Washington, D.C. when they learned of the dying wish of their school custodian, Leonard Pinkey, of Kenilworth school. He was filling out a $25 savings stamp book for the 8th birthday of his daughter, Roberta, when he was killed last January. Ten 6th grade girls "chipped in" each week to buy stamps. Roberta got her bond. The children are shown above presenting it to her.

associations which are busy spreading race-hate propaganda throughout the neighborhoods, laying the groundwork for bombings, outrages and other atrocities.

'Stick Around'

The "next time we mean business" note sent to Bailey, head of the Science Department at Carver Junior High School, warned: "You have 72 hours. You think those two-bit police can protect you. Stick around and you'll find out."

Bailey is "sticking around." He and friends of his are keeping a nightly vigil in the partially wrecked home.

Police advised they are maintaining a 24-hour watch in the neighborhood.

So far the FBI has not determined whether Federal laws have been violated. The agency informed the Eagle that the results of the investigations made to date have been forwarded to the head of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice in Washington, which will determine whether or not Federal authorities can intervene.

Negro Roomer

In Venice, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gould, of 3942 Tivoli avenue, received a phone call about 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The male voice at the other end of the wire told Mrs. Gould: "Your home will be burned within 72 hours."

Only reason the Goulds could give for the threat is the fact that for some months Negro musician Nathaniel Reed has been a roomer in their home.

When Reed went to work that morning, he found both front tires of his car, which was parked on the street, punctured with roofing tacks. Other tacks had been thrown onto the Gould porch. Some of them were imbedded in the doormat.

Crude Bomb

Last Friday night at about 8:15 p.m. a home-made bomb exploded on the sidewalk outside the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Courtney, 127 S. Westlake.

The bomb rocked the neighborhood and set fire to a palm tree. It was believed thrown from a passing automobile. When alarmed, people rushed from their houses to investigate, they saw no one in the vicinity.

Police said the crudely constructed bomb was wrapped in papers and old rags, indicating that it had been thrown with the intent of starting a fire. It landed more than 25 feet from the nearest house.

Community Tense

There are no Negroes living in the block, and so far as is known, none of the owners were contemplating selling to Negroes. Colored people, however, do live in the next block. Police could find no motive for the bomb throwing. They were, however, checking fragments of the bomb in the crime laboratory.

The Negro community, meanwhile, continued jittery and tense. The threat of bombings and fires hung heavily over property owners and renters alike. People were keenly sensitive to any unusual noises, wakeful during the night hours.

There was, however, no indication that Negroes were thinking in terms of cringing before the intimidation.

Alert, apprehensive, they nevertheless gave every indication of being prepared to defend themselves if attacked.

The situation is still tense as the Eagle goes to press.

see where the children were, grabbed up the baby, but couldn't find Lorenzo. Frantically holding the little girl, she called to a neighbor to telephone the fire department and screamed that she couldn't find Lorenzo.

She rushed back into the house, a neighbor said, searching for the boy under the bed, in the bathroom, but she didn't find him.

The fire apparently was started in the closet, and the child, possibly terrorized, may have become entangled in the clothes and unable to make his escape.

Minister's Son Wins Freedom

Because his counsel, Atty. Curtis C. Taylor, persuaded Judge Edwin Jefferson that a police chemist had failed to prove that minute glass particles found on young Amos McKinney had come from a window he was charged with having broken, he was acquitted on a suspicion of burglary charge last Monday.

McKinney, of 1327 E. 21st street, is the son of the Rev. William McKinney, a prominent minister of the Church of God in Christ. Police charged that he had broken into a cafe at 320 E. Seventh street last Feb. 7 to rob vending machines of considerable cash. Later they had arrested him on Towne avenue on suspicion and found on him a number of new packages of cigarets.

Congress Ban On Immigration of West Indians Hit

WASHINGTON — Charging that an immigration bill now before the House of Representatives discriminates against British West Indians, Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the NAACP, has sent telegrams to House mmebers asking them to "vote to return the bill to committee for correction of discriminatory features."

The bill would restrict immigration from Jamaica, Triniadd and other West Indian islands to 100 per year. Persons from these colonies are now admitted under the British quota which permits entry of 60,000 annually. The bill also discriminates against colored people in other parts of the world, Mitchell asserts.

Dr. J. Price Celebrates 84th Birthday

Dr. J. W. Price, minister of Price A.M.E. church, Crocker and E. Vernon streets, was honored Monday by the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance in a meeting at his home, 1250 E. 53rd street.

For many years, Dr. Price has developed a tradition of an annual "Thanksgiving Service" in his home, to which he invites his fellow ministers; usually a day near his birthday is chosen for the occasion. Dr. G. W. Reed, Sr., president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, presided as Dr. Price told of his 44 years of Christian ministry.

Now at 84 years of age, Dr. Price said, "My only limitation is that I have overworked the sensitive nerves of hearing and vision, but my trust is in God all the way."

Mrs. Mayme Price, wife of Dr. Price, assisted by several ladies, served a turkey dinner to the guests. Words of response and appreciation were spoken on behalf of those assembled by Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist church.

CARDUI MONTHLY CRAMPS CHANGE OF LIFE

St. Stephens Robbed Twice

Robbery has occurred twice in the parsonage of St. Stephen AME church, 436 S. Crocker street, within eight months. Persons who have broken in and robbed are being sought by the police.

During the first theft, Rev. J. S. Bagernise, Jr., lost a television set and an Underwood typewriter. The last occurred between the hours of 2:15 and 3:15 in the early afternoon of March 18. An Admiral radio-phonograph combination and Philco table model radio were removed. A gray suit, given to the pastor one year ago as a gift from the congregation to attend the annual conference, and other personal properties were stolen.

In making the report to the public, Rev. Bagnerise warns of the great harm wrought in the purchase of "hot" goods. He says, "Thievery would be reduced to a minimum if the public offered sales resistance to the solicitors of hot goods and thieves could be punished if persons were more willing to be used as witnesses in the prosecution of the same."

Total loss amounts to aproximately $500.

Clinton Whites All Mixed Up —It Says Here

BERKELEY — Because two mothers, with the identical surname of White, had a predilection for the name of Clinton, there was confusion in the Bay area when Clinton A. White was recently charged with 11 counts of violating the Internal Revenue Act.

Most people thought that the person so charged was Atty. Clinton W. White, junior partner of the law firm Berkeley and White, 2975 Sacramento street, Berkeley.

The indicted Clinton A. White is a law student, accountant, and government worker. Pending trial he is out on $1,000 bail. Incidentally, just to keep us confused, he is being represented by Atty. Clinton W. White.

'Neighborly' Groups Charged With Stirring Up Hate

Eleven "so-called neighborly groups" in Los Angeles were charged with "promoting and fostering the type of hatred that can result in an act like the Dunsmuir Avenue bombings" by the Los Angeles County Conference on Community Relations, in a statement issued by Chairman Edward Mehren.

"We charge them with the encouragement of attitudes that are un-American in principle and practice. We urge that the Attorney-General of this state make a thorough investigation of these groups," the County Conference declared.

"Vigorous investigation" of the recent Dunsmuir avenue bombings here on March 16, "directed toward the ultimate apprehension, arrest and conviction of those responsible" was called for by the Conference. It is comprised of 40 prominent civic, labor and denominational organizations dedicated to community welfare.

"We call attention to the general pattern of segregation and discrimination existing in our community," the Conference stated. "The responsibility for developing a climate of public opinion in which group hatred and prejudice is unpopular, rests upon all of us."

Postal Employes Donating Blood

Los Angeles postal employees have nearly reached their goal of 4000 blood donors in the current Red Cross blood recruitment drive, according to Postmaster Michael D. Fanning.

New York FEPC Curbs Job Bias

NEW YORK — Discrimination in employment is on the decrease in this state, thanks to continued use of New York's fair employment practices act, Governor Dewey and the state legislature were told recently.

"A definite improvement in the employment pattern" was noted in 85 per cent of the industries surveyed by the State Commission Against Discrimination.

"Obviously, this progress in eradicating job discrimination has an important bearing on our national defense efforts which require full mobilization and the most effective use of the manpower resources of our New York State labor market," the report continued. "It is of primary importance that the workers of New York State be employed at levels of their highest skills, regardless of racial, religious or nationality considerations, if industry is to keep pace with the increasing production goals of our national defense economy."

The commission urged that all workers equip themselves to take advantage of increasing job opportunities.

Drunken N. Y. Ex-Cop Kills Two Negroes

YONKERS, N. Y.—An ex-policeman reportedly shot and killed two brothers in cold blood outside a tavern here March 19—two young men whom he did not know and with whom he had had no quarrel. The former officer reportedly objected to the bartender serving beer to Negroes.

Despite the apparent wanton nature of the killing, the former Westchester Parkway patrolman, Stanley Labensky, is charged only with second-degree murder.

A delegation, headed by Rev. Thomas Slater, president of the White Plains NAACP, called upon Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederic E. Weeks to seek a first-degree murder indictment against the killer.

A protest mass meeting has been slated by the NAACP for April 10.

Killed were James Blacknall and his brother Wyatt, both of Yonkers. The two, together with a third brother, William, had been drinking beer at the Yale Tavern.

Surly Remarks

According to witnesses, Labensky, who had been drinking heavily, entered the tavern and lurched over to the bartender, to whom he made surly remarks about serving Negroes.

The bartender replied that he served anyone who came in and could pay for drinks.

Lebensky in belligerent tones then asked if the glasses were washed clean.

Followed Them

The three brothers noticed what was going on and, anxious to avoid an incident, left the cafe.

Labensky reportedly followed them out, pulled out his gun and aiming it at James, snarled: "You don't believe I'll shoot?"

William Blacknall rushed back to the tavern and called the police. As he left the telephone booth, he heard two shots.

Both Bleeding

Outside, he found both of his brothers on the ground, bleeding profusely. Wyatt Blacknall, 36, a World War II veteran, died almost instantly from a bullet wound in the spine.

James, who was only 22 and the father of a two-year-old child, died shortly after at a hospital. He had been shot in the stomach.

Speakers at the NAACP mass meeting will be Canada Lee, noted actor; Walter White, executive secretary of the Association; and Judge Hubert Delany of New York City Domestic Relations Court.

Negro Clubbed To Death by N. J. Policeman

HACKENSACK, N. J.—A policeman, charged with clubbing a Negro to death Mar. 25, was released on $5,000 bail last Saturday.

Patrolman Reedy Evans reportedly hammered 26-year-old Simon Peter Parker with his night stick.

Parker dropped to the sidewalk. He died in Hackensack hospital without regaining consciousness.

Evans claimed that Parker was one of 10 persons "creating a disturbance" outside of the "72" club on Bridge street. Evans said that when he urged Parker to move on, the latter pulled a shining object from his pocket. Believing Parker had drawn a knife, Evans said he then began hitting him with his nightstick.

Woman Accepts Ride; Is Robbed

Ernestine Elizabeth Richards, 22, of 2538 4th avenue, is still wondering where the two men are who robbed her of her wallet, driver's license and $45.00 the other night, after giving her a ride.

Miss Richards stated that she was at 7th and Hill streets when two men drove up in a 1949 Pontiac two door sedan and offered to drive her home. Thinking it would be good to get a free ride, she accepted.

The men, whom she describes as "Bill," age 22, about six feet one inch tall with a weight of 170 pounds and a one inch scar above his left eye; "Bob," 27, five feet eight inches, 150 pounds with a mustache; drove her to Eastern and Floral drive, an open field behind East Los Angeles Junior College.

They attempted to seduce her, but the attractive Miss Richards discouraged this, and then "Bill" took her wallet, containing her driver's license and $45.00 in cash. "Bill" told her if she resisted he would cut her and then ordered her from the car and drove off.

Miss Richards stated that she believed "Bill" and "Bob" were "chewing marijuana" and she was afraid to resist when they demanded her wallet.

Willowbrook Seeks Negro School Head

Willowbrook School District Board of Trustees took the first step leading to the appointment of a Negro superintendent of schools last week. On motion of Attorney Rayfield Lundy the board voted to initiate a nationwide survey to acquire a competent Negro superintendent for their four elementary schools.

Clifford G. Riddlebarger, present superintendent, resigned last Monday to accept a new position with the Lawndale school system. He will continue with Willowbrook until June 30 when his contract expires.

Minimum qualifications were authorized to be drafted and forwarded to Dr. Charles Carpenter, assistant county superintendent of schools, who is expected to institute the survey nationally and send the top "five" to Willowbrook for further screening.

"If a Negro is selected as superintendent it will be the first time since reconstruction days in 1870 in Florida," according to Lundy. The board was unanimous in approving Attorney Lundy's move.

MINISTERS MAY DANCE, PLAY CARDS, SAYS PANEL

Clergymen members of Lincoln university's "On the Air" panel in Pa., agreed that there is nothing wrong with ministers dancing and playing cards, provided they do not take the activities beyond just being social.

Methodist Women Urge Removal of Segregation

Government and church action to remove racial discrimination in Washington, D. C. was urged in a resolution passed unanimously at sessions of a Methodist "seminar on the issues of peace" in the Methodist building recently.

The seminar was sponsored by the womans division of Christian service of the Methodist church, and the national conference of Methodist youth.

The group, composed of 75 women and youth from 29 states and the District of Columbia, directed a resolution to the commissioners, senators, and representatives assigned to government of the District, urging them to "take necessary steps to remove all barriers of discrimination so that visitors from all parts of the world may see democracy in practice in our capital."

The group voted further to submit the resolution to the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist church as a memorial, requesting the church to "use all of its channels for the implementation of the resolution." The general conference will meet in San Francisco, April 23 to May 7.

The group, meeting interracially, protested in its resolution the discrimination in housing and eating places which "deny the premise that all men are created equal."

Civil Service Bias Halted By Court

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco civil service commission can't discriminate against applicants for public jobs by refusing to accept credentials from schools and colleges on an arbitrary basis. That was the gist of a ruling handed down by the District Court of Appeals here this week in a suit brought by Negro litigants who charged that they had been denied city employment because they were graduates of schools refused a place on the civil service commission's list of approved schools. Attorneys R. J. Reynolds and John Adams, retained by the NAACP, represented the litigants.

Judge William T. Sweigert held last year that diplomas from such schools were entitled to as much weight as credentials from other institutions of a like character. Evidence in the case showed that the commission's list excluded Negro schools and colleges even where their rating was equal to that of other institutions. The District Court's opinion was unanimous.

Thompson, Dean of the Graduate School and director of the conference.

The dean also stated that representatives of 31 schools and colleges and five State Departments of Education of five southern states have registered to date, and 18 race relations specialists in the United States Government have indicated that they will participate in the conference.

Church Retains $18,000 AME Foundation

The pastor, Rev. A. A. Shaw, and officers of First AME church, 801 Towne avenue, announce the victorious outcome of the church's case which was presented by Atty. Bernard Jefferson recently in Department 11 of the Superior Court before Judge Philbrick McCoy.

The case involved three actions filed by the church and Dr. Charles Jackson, Clarence Jones, and Mrs. Gertie Charles, directors of the Wilson-Andrews Foundation, for the purpose of establishing that the Foundation is a part of the First African Methodist Episcopal Church of Los Angeles, and had no right to withdraw from the church.

After four days of examination of witnesses and records of the Foundation, Judge McCoy announced a decision completely in favor of the position of the church and urged all litigants to adjust their differences and carry on the laudable purposes of the Foundation within the framework of the church.

Dr. Shaw said, "It is our hope that we will be able to proceed together to realize the purposes of the Foundation." Dr. Jordan, pastor of First when the Foundation was established, stated that, to him, the decision of the Court was a vindication of the legal work of Attorney Tyler and a tribute to the presentation of the case by Attorney Jefferson.

Lenten Meaning

By CAMILLA LEFTRIDGE

I feel that Lenten season is a time of high decision in our lives. As we go through these fiery trials of life without grace, courage, faith and confidence, we will let down either in honor or dishonor to the next generation.

Lent is not for any special groups, but for every individual to examine himself, for that which is not right is unrighteous. How much more is it for the church in making preparation to have more power with God, when Jesus himself made preparation during the 40 days up to his crucifixion to face what was before him to receive power from God, denying himself unto the will of God.

Our hearts, minds and souls were vexed and confused when Jesus said he would keep us in perfect peace whose mind are stayed on him. What we need is free minds which are not swept away by the torrents of events.

We need minds which are not too cowardly to human opinions and feel accountable to a higher tribunal than man. We need leaders with far vision because the people are perishing. Let us study the truth, to know it. The truth will make you free.

Let us go into close communion and examine ourselves.

Community Ends 9th Celebration

Youth Day Culminated With Informative Program at Ward

The appreciation of the young people whom the Ward AME Church is seeking to serve, was evidenced recently in the unusual program culminating in Youth Day. A total of more than 100 young people participated in the various activities of the day, including prayer and scripture reading in the morning and evening services, music throughout the day, and a debate on "Universal Military Training."

The financial effort culminated in the closing of "Mr. and Miss Ward of 1952" contest. Alexander Davis and Harley Louise Berry reported $202.26; Herman Simmons and Billie Jean Jackson, $251.48; Filmore Hiller and Vivian Hale, $427.00.

This report was made possible because of the earnest support of Filmore's mother, Mrs. Amazon Clayborn Lee, and other members of the family.

A gold loving cup, properly inscribed, was presented to each of the contestants. Other receipts by the young people during the day brought the total to $1,063.67. This amount is being earmarked by the church administration for the purchase of a new modern streamlined bus to further strengthen the youth program of the church.

The youth activities of the church include a basketball team, which this year successfully defeated all of the teams in its class in the Los Angeles Church Federation Interracial League; an active Christian Endeavor league; four units of the Young People's department of the missionary society with a total membership of 62; 30-voice youth choir, under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Whitaker Battle; a mothers' club and a nursery with four attendants, under the direction of Mrs. Pinkie Wilson.

Mrs. Anthony M. Hart, formerly of Bethel Church, San Francisco, is the coordinator of youth activities. This organized youth program is being developed by Dr. Frederick D. Jordan.

'Unreality' Will Be Bible Lesson Topic

The spiritually scientific method of overcoming the spurious and baseless claims of bondage and discord will be considered in the Sunday Bible lesson on "Unreality" in all Christian Science churches.

This verse from Ecclesiastes (5:7) constitutes the Golden Text: "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God."

In a scriptural passage the prophet Isaiah writes (14:3.5), The Lord shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou wast made to serve. . . . The Lord hath broken the staff of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers."

Mary Baker Eddy declares in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses." "Discerning the rights of man, we cannot fail to foresee the doom of all oppression."

"The Saviour's Way"

An original Easter poem by ANDY RAZAF

The Bible says our saviour fed
The hungry multitude,
For He was always practical
And knew man must have food:
He showed that human needs on earth
Should all be kept in mind,
Thus, aided the unfortunate,
The halt, the lame and blind:
None were too high or lowly
In him all found relief
The rich man and the beggar,
The prostitute and thief:
He went out on the highways
Unto the wayward hosts,
To help and save the sinful
Where He was needed most:
He went into the temple
And as He looked about,
Beheld the money changers
And straightaway drove them out:
Who paid Him for His labors?
As we inquire, we learn,
That neither food nor raiment
Did He ask in return:
His Father up in Heaven
He never once denied.
Thus, true to his religion
He braved the cross and died:
He proved He hated no one
For as His blood they drew;
He only said, "Forgive them,
They know not what they do":
All ye who are God-fearing
And preach His word today;
How do you love and serve Him?
Is it the Saviour's way?

Distributed by a race relations committee, the report was prepared by the Indianapolis Church Federation in cooperation with the National Council of Churches.

Garfield Next Victim For Jeff Track Team

Coaches Joe Barry and Estel Johnson take their charges on their first away meet today (Thursday) when they travel to meet the Garfield Bulldogs. They are heavily favored to continue their southern league domination and hope to show enough improvement to make secure their bid for their fourth straight city and state titles.

After their excellent exhibition against the Roughriders from Roosevelt, the boys from Jefferson let down a slight bit and gave the Manual Arts boys three of the twelve first places. The times and marks weren't as good as the previous week but their best marks still stand with the best five in every varsity event in the Los Angeles city proper. The real big upset against Manual Arts was the defeat of O.W. Rhodes, the biggest vaulter in Jefferson history, by two fine pole vaulters from Manual Arts. John Gadberry and Walter Levack. They tied for first at 12' 6" the height which Rhodes failed to clear.

Coach Barry promises there will be no repetition of this defeat when the state and city pressure is applied because the Democrat vaulter is the pressure athletic that went over his head last year to win the close state meet for Jefferson.

Wallace Wade, the fine Manual sprinter, looked very good in winning the hundred in the fast time 9.9 seconds and in anchoring the relay team to an almost upset win for Manual. Wade made up at least three yards on Jeff's Robert Taylor, who had just finished beating him by five yards in the 220 yard dash. Jefferson lost one first place by the absence of Rosslyn Range in the broad jump and in the 220 because of a pulled groin muscle.

Williams Rambles As LACC Wins

City College racked up 62-5-6 pints while Glendale was second with 52.

Kappas Routed; Alphas Trim Sigmas

Bobby Pounds missed a chance to win the game for the Sigmas after the game with the Alphas was over and the Omegas toyed with the highly-touted Kappas and walloped theim 63-51 in two exciting interfraternity basketball games at Loyola gym last Saturday night. The Omegas lead the pack with two wins and no defeats., with the Alphas and Kappas tied for second with one win and one defeat each, while the Sigmas are resting securely at the bottom of the heap with two losses.

Pounds was fouled just as the gun ended the Sigmas' tussle with the Alphas with the score tied at 53 all and with disconsolate opponents and joyful teammates looking on his free throw, rolled around the rim of the hoop—and bounced the wrong way. The Alphas went on to win the overtime tilt by a score of 58 to 54. The Sigmas had put on a determined last minute drive to knot the count.

A last minute basket put the Omegas ahead of the Kappas by CHARLIE PARK — whose flair is writing baseball stories for the Mirror, a daily we had high hopes for until a guy like Park affixed his name to their weekly pay check. Park had this to say in reporting the Coast League opening game between Seattle and Hollywood: "Bob Wilson and Boyd can really pick 'em up and lay 'em down for the Suds. Every baseball fan within reading distance knows that Wilson and Boyd are brilliant Negro baseball PLAYERS. The item on the game continued, "Bob Wilson and Boyd, the 'Two Black Crows,' account ed for three blows apiece." Now that is a classic statement for a supposedly unbiased baseball writer. If either Wilson or Boyd resemble crows in a baseball uniform, I'll chew Park's Fedora. If, on the other hand, Park is not a race-baiter, then why write such a damnable lie? You would think that after Pearl Harbor and now Korea, such petty, ignorant bigots were a thing of the past. Our guess is that we still have a few with us. I hope our 7 cents won't be giving us much of the likes of Park.

JIMMY CARTER — The railbirds are saying Jimmy Carter, the world's lightweight champion, doesn't have to feel bad about his slim victory over Lauro Salas at the Olympic last Tuesday night. Carter admits that he wasn't at his best and claimed he was hit with a right while backing away from Salas, lost his footing and the fight wasn't as close as the tabulation indicated. Referee Abe Roth figured Carter in front 85-80, judge Joe Stone 84½-80½, and judge Frankie Van 87-78 and we had Carter by a good margin.

DOBY DUE

Larry Doby, the Cleveland Indians' big 1951 disappointment, should make the fans forget this season. Doby, who slumped to .295 also knocked in only 69 runs. Doby slammed out his seventh home run which is high for the Grapefruit league. The Indians have 12 more games to play before they wind up their series.

INTER-FRAT

Omegas played Harlem Globetrotters with the Kappas but don't sell them short as they haven't got hot as yet.

CENTRAL PLAYGROUND

Joe Louis should be given plenty of credit for hustling his cagers into the final city play-off tourney. Win, lose or draw, Louis worked diligently with the youngsters and there could not be a more deserving guy to pocket the city title tonight at Lincoln Playground.

GOOD MORNING JUDGE

"Bailiff, I hope we have a short list this morning, because I have to do my Easter shopping," roared the Judge as he flopped down at the bench.

"Your Honor, this roster looks like you won't even get your next year's Easter shopping done in time," cried the bailiff as he passed the stack of papers to the Judge.

"Mum . . .mum . . .muuuum." His Honor m-m'ed.

LOVE THAT GAL

Dorothene L. Leonard, 24, 744 E. 51st street, returned home around 1:30 in the morning from an already satisfactory date and met Edward James Smith, 23, who lives in the rear of her house coming out of his house. She talked with him and went out to the front and got in his car with him. They sat talking for a while. He tried force; she resisted, he insisted. She didn't press charges.

He wasn't very polite, grunted the Judge.

FISTS AND FEET

Lillie Q. Mumfore, 47, 1418 E. 18th street, went out to the races and left her husband, Edward, at home. When she returned, the "old boy" lit into her with all fours, because her greeting was only "Hey."

"What do you mean by "Hey-?" he asked. Before she could speak again he knocked her to the floor and kicked her there.

When she wouldn't get up he turned her over and landed another foot blow there.

He said, "I oughtta get my knife and cut you." She scrambled to her feet and out of the house. Maybe she didn't want to be cut, thought the Judge.

Anna Liles, 35, 1027½ E. 24th street got out of bed and opened the door for her common-law husband, Warren I. Syria, 37, and immediately he started quarrelling and accusing her of misdeeds.

He had a little nip with the boys that amounted to three fifths. Having to relieve his inner-self, he smacked her down, pulled her hair out by the roots and kicked her in the stomach.

She was treated at Newton Street Station for two busted knees, injuries of the stomach, lacerated upper lip and a bleeding head.

"Sure I beat something out of her, wouldn't you? Work all day, come home and she doesn't have anything cooked."

I wonder what she'll put in his food tomorrow, mused the Judge.

BLOCKED BUSTER

Bernice Matthew, 28, 633 E. Vernon avenue, and her husband, Saul, 33, were arguing over divorce proceedings when he jumped on her, her mother and sister.

He still lives with her but she told him he had to leave and while outside he picked up a brick and threw it right through the glass that they were holding to keep him out. Flying glass gave the three women wounds about their faces and bodies.

That's a block buster that knows his business, the Judge grinned.

DOG FIGHT

Tom Penegan, 23, 10177 Croesus, ordered a hot dog at the same time as Luther Rosborugh, 27, 111½ E. 108th street, from the hot dog stand at 103rd and Compton.

When only one dog came Tom reached for it and Luther said it was his. Tom refused to let go of it so Luther picked up a coffee cup and landed a hard blow on Tom's head.

Before the dog fight was over Nab Jones arrived on the scene. I wonder if they both paid for that dog or were they just sharing it in an uncivilized manner, pondered the Judge.

THE EGG AND I

June M. Brooks, 30, 1019 E. 25th street, boiled four eggs and they burned. Her common-law husband, Junice Walton, 38, became angry and began beating her about the face and body. She picked up a table to protect herself and cut him on the nose and ran out of the room.

A bit of his nose landed on the stove and began frying. When he realized this, he grabbed a large glass ashtray and landed a strike on the left side of her face.

"I'd forgotten all about the argument and was laying on the bed. She came at me with a knife and when I realized I was cut I threw the ashtray at her."

Blood was all over the place and both had to have medical treatment at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

I remember when I was a young man, mused the Judge, my sister couldn't even boil water, but she didn't cut a man's nose off and fry it for dinner. The food situation must be terrible in that house—fried nose and four burned eggs.

NEVER RIDE WITH YOUR EX-

Alma L. Neal, 30, 1544 E. Vernon avenue, was picked up at home by her ex-husband, Ike Isaac, 31, 2838 Pine Street, San Francisco, at home. He said he was going to take her to work in his '51 Buick Riviera.

"I'm going to kill you" he told her as he stopped in front of 1229 E. 28th street. He dragged her from the car and started beating her and said he would beat her brains out.

She was treated for body and face wounds at Newton Street Station.

An ex-husband making hash meat out of his ex-wife is not to be tolerated in this state, glamered the Judge.

ANOTHER PICK-UP

LaVera Huit, 30, 1129 E. 14th place, picked up her husband J. C., 39, from work in their '41 Buick and they arrived home. He wanted to go out again. She refused and he left. He returned several hours later and started quarrelling. When she would not exchange words with him, he beat her up good with a mop stick as she was lying in bed.

He ordered her out of the house. She hurriedly dressed and left with him in hot pursuit. When she fell on the ground he came upon her and gave in with another beating and kicked her several times where he shouldn't.

Mop sticks are handy to have around, accented the Judge.

The Judge rolled down his sleeves and said, that's all of the blood I can stand this morning. Court adjourned until this afternoon. At two o'clock he remounted the bench.

SHED NO BEER MUG TEARS

Willie H. Williams, 42, 1027½ E. 24th street, spent an hour at a neighbor's house and when he arrived home his common-law wife, Jannie Craig, 29, knocked him out with a beer mug and sliced him up with a knife.

"She hit me with a beer mug and cut me with a knife so I got a knife too and she came at me again, I cut her in self-defense," Williams countend.

From the other side, "He slapped me for no reason at all, so I hit him with the beer mug. He then cut me with a knife, so I got a knife and cut him back. I'm not going to take that from him. I'd shoot him if I had a gun."

After being treated at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital they both landed a cell in City Hall.

From now on I'll drink my beer from a small whiskey glass, muttered the Judge.

"Maybe it's love," said the Judge, as he thought he would call it a day.

He strolled to his chambers thinking, "I'll finish with these cut-throats tomorrow. Right now I'm going to do some Easter shopping or I'll get some of what these got."

Nature knows no pause in progress and development, and attaches her curse on all inaction.—Johann Wolfgang von Goethe.

Surely there is something in the unruffled calm of nature that overawes our little anxieties and doubts; the sight of the deep-blue sky, and the clustering stars above, seem to impart a quiet to the mind.—Jonathan Edwards.

Up Fresno Way with Herb E. Moore, Sr.

I had the pleasure of being in one of the studios of KARM (ABC network) broadcasting station, Sunday, March 16, at 1 p.m. to witness and participate in the celebration of the third anniversary of my very good friend, Leroy Calhoun, "The Mayor of Melody," and I must say that it was indeed a wonderful thing to see.

Leroy Calhoun has been on the air during the wee hours Saturdays from 6 to 7 a.m.

There were quite a few guest artists present. That outstanding sax player, Gene Morris, who not so long ago had a real groovy combo at the Club MoMo in Sacramento, gave a real fine rendition of "I Surrender, Dear," with Gene Williams at the piano who also did a fine job.

FRESNO DISC JOCKEY—Leroy Calhoun, one of the top disc jockeys around Fresno, celebrated his 3rd anniversary with station KARM, on the ABC network, recently. Calhoun is heard from 6 to 7 a.m. every Saturday.

The wife of Gene Williams, Leonsya, gave a beautiful rendition of "The Man I Love"; their daughter, Shirley, sang to everyone's satisfaction that unforgetable number, "Happiness Is Just a Thing Called Joe."

Others that took part in the show were: Mrs. Pearl Gould on the Hammond organ; Mrs. Maxine Scott at the piano and whistling; Jesse McDonald on the drums; Sammy Scott on the guitar; and yours truly at the piano and singing.

The old "Mayor of Melody" received a number of congratulations in person, plus telegrams and through the mail.

It's very nice to see the progress being made here in Fresno by sepias, although we have an up-hill climb and a very steep one at that. But there is evidence of progress in every direction and in all fields of society. There is one in particular to whom I must extend my heartfelt thanks: Atty. Hugh Westly Goodwin. He is putting forth every effort towards the betterment of our social and economic position. And I might add, he is trying to help give the Negro public a political education and I do believe it is very necessary.

Another member of this community that is doing considerable towards the improvement of this city is Hurlen G. Harvey, real estate broker. He has made a terrific stride, looking at the field of competition. He also has an office of employment, insurance and notary public. More power to you, Mr. Harvey.

I also had a long visit with another one of Fresno's outstanding citizens, Mr. Bigby. Bigby is now with the Board of Equalization. Also, he is one of California's top public speakers.

Puerto Ricans Vote for More Independence

NEW YORK — Puerto Ricans went to the polls recently and voted overwhelmingly for a new constitution giving the island far greater independence than it has had up to the present time.

By a vote of better than four-to-one, they ratified the new constitution which calls for abolishing the right of the U.S. Congress to repeal insular laws. The new constitution also refers to Puerto Rico as a commonwealth instead of a territory and leaves open the question of future statehood.

Voluntary Health Group Wins Fight

SAN DIEGO — The Complete Service bureau, a voluntary health insurance organization, won out here recently in a fight against the San Diego County Medical society, local branch of the powerful American Medical Association.

Beauty Operator's Dream Comes True

Mrs. Mable Wilson had wanted to become a beautician when she was a little girl but after high school in her native Little Rock, Ark., the family sent her to Arkansas State College for two years and gave her no encouragement towards realization of her vocational dream.

But when she married and moved to Gary, Ind., she was able to enroll at the Scientific School of Beauty Culture. Here she completed the course with honors and served as an instructor for two years before setting up her own beauty shop in Gary.

During the Christmas holidays, 1949, Mrs. Wilson and her husband made a trip to Los Angeles and, as have many thousands of others, they decided to move to the Golden West. In April, 1950, the Wilsons arrived here and early in February, 1951, Mrs. Wilson became an operator at Jerry's Beauty Nook on South Western Ave., later moving to Millie's Beauty Emporium, 3607 South Western Avenue, where she is now busily engaged.

Jim Crow Bias Law Challenged

RICHMOND, Va.—Decision was reserved this week on a suit challenging the constitutionality of the State of Virginia's segregation laws on buses. Judge John L. Ongrim of Hustings Court said decision would be rendered at a later date.

The case involves David McD. Simms, a Virginia Union University student and president of the Virginia State NAACP Youth Conference, who was arrested last March for refusing to move to the rear of a Virginia Transit bus. Mr. Simms was fined $10 after a hearing in Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, and his case was appealed to Hustings Court by the NAACP.

Deltas Fete Local Greeks

Members of Delta Sigma Theta sorority were charming hostesses to over 200 Los Angeles Greeks on Sunday, March 30, at the Kappa Kastle.

Members of Alpha Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Omega Psi Phi, Zeta Phi Beta and Phi Beta Sigma enjoyed refreshments prepared by the organdy-aproned hostesses. The program was made more interesting by each group having several of its members participate. Culminating the program, emceed by Delta Jackie Rambo, was the singing of the hymn of each group.

Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated red and white table, centered with a red and white tier cake topped with a bronze basketball player.

The Greek reunion is an annual Delta-sponsored event.

Cavalretts Waffle Party

More than 300 guests were presented at the annual waffle breakfast given by the Cavalretts Inc. last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Brown.

It was a pre-Easter parade to see the beautiful Spring fashions and pretty bonnets. Representatives from the various social clubs including Les Petites Femmes, Mona Lisa Bridge, Original Cavalretts, Doll League, Style Arts, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, State President of the Federated Clubs and many others were present. Music was played throughout the morning by Mrs. Cecelia Hill. George Smith rendered instrumental and vocal selections.

The Cavalretts Inc. at the close of the day presented a $50.00 check to the Phyllis Wheatly Home for Girls, their project for the year.

Of that effort more anon.

Mable Scott

Mable Scott got her interlocutory Tuesday. Ex-mate Charles flew in from Tampa for the amicable preliminaries. Mable had a gay little supper party to mark Tuesday's incident, naturally. In town for the five-day conference (Biltmore) of college personnel folk: Dr. J. Beauregard Jones of Arkansas State A.M. & N. College. He had his kit bags at Dave Caldwell's. The former's wife earns her M.D. in a few months. He, by the way, was the first tan tone to get a doctorate at the University of Washington. Also in town for the session: Dr. Lawrence Nicholson of Stowe College in St. Loo. Larry is the typical St. Louisan who can't wait yearly for June so he can sprint off to Manhattan for mixture of summer school and summer shenanigans.

Don Barksdale turning out to be quite a colorful figure on and off Baltimore's basketball courts. Recently he entertained (singing and playing the piano) a YMCA fathers and sons banquet; not too long ago he and Davage Minor were sipping tea at a reception profoundly tended them by an alerted club of ladies in that town. Bridging It From Club Pacifico

See by the morning papers that some engineering genius invented a tick-tack-toe machine that can work out some 2000 moves. Marvelous? . . . Well, only about a week ago I saw in the same paper that another genius had created another monster that screamed like murder to any landlord who perchance allowed the temperature to drop below a certain degree.

Amazing, to say the least. Just goes to show what the human mind is capable of producing, and will most certainly drive this lowly creature to drink . . . the day word gets around that we have, of all things, a bridge-playing ROBOT!

As I was saying, this tick-tack-toe machine not only can beat the average oponent, but has the nerve to laugh in your face after doing so. . . . If you are still with me, by now you guess the new and exasperating experiences any bridge players have to put up with . . . depending, of course, on whether or not this ROBOT whom we shall call the JOKER was playing with you or against you.

However, because of his highly delicate mathematical mind . . . this creature is subject to fits of temperament. . . . We recomment that you refrain from taking your hammer, saw and chisel to the table . . . especially your hammer. Then you would not be tempted to use it if and when your partner, the JOKER, decided to blow his fuse.

Remember only that you are living in this great electronic age where the ultimate in imagination has arrived, and everything is very scientific, including bridge, which has developed into the most satisfying of all competitive games. Also the JOKER who not only shall command your utmost attention but demand your utmost in the skill of fine technique as well, and I am sure that because he knows he is superior, he will at all times be captain.

Don't get the idea that this joker is going to be your dummy. . . . Make up your mind right now that he can outplay you and you will at all times be a good partner to this monster who is capable of putting the blame on you if he happens to go down on a makeable contract or fails to set a non-makeable one. At any rate the potentialities of this JOKER could be a curse to mankind — ro — he could be

Athenians Plan Annual Dance

Saturday night, April 5, will be the night when the charming members of the Athenian Social club hold their annual anniversary semi-formal. This much-talked-about affair will be held in the beautiful Palm Room of the Royal Palms Hotel. Introduction will be made at midnight and will be conducted by disc jockey Jerry Hemphill.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

This past week of gaiety began with the Pyramid's dance at the Elks Friday night and initiated many into quite a strenuous week end. If you missed this, you missed the talent that you will probably greet at the main street Follies in the future. But more on the serious side we did enjoy that exciting rendition of the "American in Paris" done by one of the attractive pledges, Betty Norman. (Could there be any more reason for Leon McCarty "Flying the coop.") We noticed L. "Tank" Wallace bumming smokes off of lovely cigarette girl Sandra Monroe. . . . Captivating Gwen Lott showed up with one of the citymost most eligible nincompoops, Bill Tyree, who by chance was able to get in excess of two dances during the night. . . . Frank Whithead and Don Hamilton had all eyes on the veiled beauty in the review which turned out to be Mildred Blackburn. . . . The commotion that wasn't caused on the stage was stirred on the actual dance floor by Laurita Alexander and Marsha Owens whose shapely bodies and haughty airs made people like Newton Harris leave gals like Pat Ross. Out of the vast mob of merry-makers we were able to distinguish others in the forms of Willa Dean Ursury, Cordell Hickman, Wanda Govan, Willy Forrister and Joan Jonson.

POST GAME AFFAIRS

Whoever was on hand at the Loyola Gym Saturday night to watch the Alphas beat the Sigmas or the Omegas defeat the Kappas was probably also celebrating his favorites win or loss at one of the local Frat houses for the pre-dawn partying. We found a steady intercourse of people circulating between all points west of the moon. Those we noted as enjoying the heights of gaiety were Willy Collins, Loretta Lee, Pete O'Garro, Uly Griggs and Donzella Coulter, Elaine Byass, Thresa Matthews, and Benny Prescot, Percy McIntyre, Otis Greene, Sam McCollum, Herb McCluster, Yvonne Watson, Elaine Lindo, George Brown, and Joan Southern, "Square" Robertson, Arthur Lewis and Maxine Kennady, Barbara Stovall, Geneva Fields, Janez Lawson, Joyce Overr, Herbert Wood, Sandra Shields and billions of other miscellanious characters.

GREEK REUNION

Although we noticed a few geeks, the majority turned out to be Greeks that were guests of the Deltas sorors at the Kappa Kastle Sunday. The various Sororities and Fraternities intermingled, socialized, and the reuniting of old school buddies and kuans dined and enjoyed the

Truman's Contribution

Now that Harry S. Truman has announced that he will not seek re-election it is appropriate to remark that civil rights were more discussed during his term in office than in any period since the Reconstruction.

The results did not keep pace with the brave talk but Negroes will always remember the former Missouri haberdasher as the President who had the foresight to see and the courage to say that America had to put its own democratic house in order.

The cynics will always insist, as they insist now, that Truman's motives were political and that he correctly calculated that he could be re-elected in 1948 by that appeal to the Negro vote. There can be no doubt that the President is a shrewd politician and the political implications of his civil rights stand must have entered his calculations.

The stubborn manner in which he clung to his stand indicates that there was far more to it than a mere political device. His appointment of the now famous Committee on Civil Rights will give him stature when the history of our times is written. The least that can be said of him is that he struggled and groped his way toward the realization that treatment of colored peoples is the central problem of our times. More than that, he had the good sense to see that the United States has to come to grips with that problem if it hopes to shore up the democratic system here and in other parts of the world.

Unfortunately, President Truman's grasp of the problem did not equip him with the know-how to get his program written into the law of the land and as he prepares to bow out of the presidency our laws are as ineffectual as they were before he assumed office.

What Mr. Truman did accomplish by his persistent championship of civil rights was to quicken the conscience of the nation and point up the disparity between preachment and practice in America. The net result was that an aroused public opinion came into play to weaken the Jim Crow structure. We will continue to reap the benefits of that new public awareness for years to come.

The courts, too, were influenced by the climate of public opinion that was created by the President's insistence on civil rights. The Supreme Court under Truman took long strides toward first-class citizenship for Negroes in its decisions on race restrictions, white primaries, transportation, segregation, and graduate and professional schools.

Segregation buckled a little in the armed forces, in public employment, and in other spheres where the federal government's weight was felt.

Harry S. Truman was not a great President by most measuring sticks. Probably his greatest contribution to the welfare of the nation was his civil rights program. When that program finally becomes the law of the land—as it is certain to do—Americans will look back to him with gratitude for what he did to impress it on the nation's conscience.

Keep This In Mind

The Los Angeles County Housing Authority has finally decided to abandon its policy of racial segregation in housing developments under its jurisdiction — a policy it should never have adopted in the first place.

Its action follows close on the heels of the abandonment of like policies by the Fresno and Sacramento Housing Authorities. That means that with a few exceptions in isolated communities there is no segregation in public housing in California. We can be proud of that.

Our own city Housing Authority was the leader in a non-segregatory and non-discrimination policy and the example it set has weighed heavily in other communities.

With public housing under attack everywhere, it is well to keep in mind the fact that public housing developments stand out in sharp contrast to the policies followed by private contractors who cling to discrimination against Negroes, Mexican-Americans and Orientals. There have been a few instances in which private builders have announced that their developments are open to all citizens without regard to race or color, but those developments have been built in such close proximity to Negro neighborhoods that they couldn't find sales for their units except to Negroes.

In truth, an appreciable amount of the opposition to public housing stems from short-sighted realtors and their allies, who don't want developments in their neighborhoods which are open to Negro occupancy.

Public housing's non-discriminatory and non-segregatory policies should be kept in mind as we approach the June 3 election, at which the fate of Los Angeles' 10,000-unit program will be decided.

Of course, public housing will never provide the bulk of dwellings in which Negroes will live. We don't want such a state of affairs, but the example it sets will in time do much to erode the racist outlook entertained by private contractors and builders and by citizens who have been bamboozled into the belief that Negro and white Americans can't live side by side.

A Positive Approach

Mayor Bowron is to be congratulated for his expressed intention of appointing a citizens committee on human relations. The Dunsmuir bombings have alerted all of us to the fact that there is racial conflict and tension in our city and that we had better take some positive steps to meet the situation.

While the job of the moment is that of apprehending and punishing those responsible for the outrages, the larger task is that of removing the causes that led to the criminal act.

Ever since the 1948 decision of the United States Supreme Court outlawing judicial enforcement of race restrictive covenants, the city has been infested with organizations whose primary business it has been to stir up sentiment in favor of residential segregation. This constant harping on segregation has created a dangerous attitude among many citizens.

Some effort has to be made to meet that kind of propaganda that has been spread so persistently; Los Angeles needs to take steps to educate its citizens as to their responsibilities and duties where the rights of minorities are concerned. Unofficial groups are already doing a good job in some phases of that work, but an official body could do even more and reach a larger number of people.

Although members of minority groups would be initial gainers in such a move, the entire city will reap the benefits in the long run. Nobody's rights are secure unless everybody is safe.

Just One More Week

Registration books close on April 10.

That means that you can't vote in the June 3 primary election unless your name is already on the voters' rolls or unless you put it on within the next week.

If you've moved—

If you didn't vote at the last general election—

If you have just reached the age of 21—

Or if you have never registered in California—

Then you must register if you want to vote on June 3.

Don't delay your registration.

Register today — and get your neighbor to register — so that you, and he, can take part in this year's very important election!

The Watch Tower

In faraway South Africa Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan is trying to turn back the clock of democratic constitutional government. He has declared war on the Supreme Court because that body handed down an opinion that a law passed by Parliament was unconstitutional. The Prime Minister now wants to arrange matters so that the Supreme Court will not have the power to declare laws unconstitutional.

As is so often the case, the color line has become the test of the survival of democratic government. Malan, as everyone knows by now, is determined to establish a rigid and immovable fence between white South Africans, and the Natives and Coloreds. The Coloreds in South Africa are the mixed bloods, and are a separate class from the Natives and whites. Malan was elected on a strict Jim Crow platform. His government has passed laws dividing up the living space, restricting Natives to the sections set aside for them. This law and others passed since Malan came to office are in addition to the onerous statutes already on the books, the pass laws, tax laws, work laws, and general segregation laws.

The Supreme Court gagged on a law which said that the Colored population of the Cape colony no longer could vote in the general election with other voters, but must vote separately and only on the white candidates specifically nominated to represent them in the legislature. The Supreme Court says this violates the constitution and that Colored people may not be deprived of their vote in the general election.

Malan is raging, not only because one of his Jim Crow schemes has been tossed out, but because it happened on the eve of the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the arrival of the first white men in South Africa. The Native population already had made plans to demonstrate their resentment of their treatment and the Supreme Court decision spurred them on. Tension is running high. Racial clashes are imminent.

Meanwhile, the white politicians in the opposition party are demanding that the Malan government resign. They want him out, not because of his treatment of the Natives, but because they want to get in, no matter the excuse. Many of them, like the Natives, are spurred on but for different reasons. If Malan can throw out the Supreme Court over a Negro issue, what will stop him from setting up a dictatorship and ruling South African whites with an iron hand? With a hand-picked Parliament and no Supreme Court to restrain it, what machinery will there be to protect the interests of any South African, white or black?

Thus once more is demonstrated the fact that unless there is freedom for all there may be freedom for none. The Colored voting question is a small item: the total of such voting is so small that it does not influence the election of any candidate. But the principle involved is vital to the liberties of white South Africans and to societies generally.

The lot of the black population of South Africa has been a hard and cruel one, the worst in the entire world in areas where whites and blacks share the same country. This latest event, in which Malan has sought to hamstring them further and in the process has reared up the spectre of a Hitler regime for the entire nation, could be the beginning of the long road back to freedom.

Thoughts while traveling on a transcontinental train: It is good for the spirit, now and then, to forget the importance of self—the striving, sweating, cursing little ego—and lapse comfortably into an aware insignificance. I know of no better way to feel insignificant—really insignificant—than to take a train ride across the western deserts. It makes no difference whether you go from Los Angeles by way of Phoenix, or from San Fransicso via Salt Lake City. The point is, you must ride all day long and all night long, and all day long again — across interminable stretches of territory and past time-marked and weather pocked mountains, looking out from car windows on either side upon nothingness.

A plane ride won't do it, nor an auto trip. The former is ended too soon and the latter promotes the ego by giving the illusion of personal achievement. In a plane you look down on mountains and deserts and the height of your vantage point foreshortens dimensions. The mountains seem lower and the desert stretches less formidable.

In an auto, you gauge height and distance more accurately, but your attention is centered on the road that flashes up at you and falls behind your roaring wheels. You gain on the car in front of you; you watch carefully the driver who passes you. You handle your wheel with timid caution or masterful skill, and you constantly remind yourself that man is a pretty important sort of animal.

But not on a train. Here you may watch the telegraph poles slipping by but you never see the track ahead. Though you travel at an 80-mile-per-hour clip, you soon lose consciousness of the speed that others produce for you without any investment of effort on your part. Your vision broadens out to encompass the entire horizon. In the purple distance the clouds drift about mountain tops; now and then the sun breaks through to turn sand-and-rock summits into gigantic snow piles. The level desert floor keeps pace with the train, unrolling an unbroken stretch of sage and sand, chaparral and rock. After a while, the Los Angeles that you have left and the New York to which you will shortly return, both begin to seem less and less important and you enjoy being suspended in the middle of time, existing on the sufferance of others and unable to affect what happens about you.

And it is in such a mood that you realize what it means to be able to travel about the country and see all parts of it in its every seasonal aspect. You entertain a feeling that only one who has had the chance to know America in a physical, geographical sense can really understand her people. Only those who have understood the American people and grasped the American spirit can plumb the fullest depths of love of country.

But you remind yourself that love of country does not mean things as they are. It does not require approval of any existing blind and placid acceptance of order, except the rule of justice and the extension of free opportunity. Love of country has been misunderstood through corrupted use of the word, patriotism. A true patriot is not an eloquent orator on Fourth-of-July, nor the president of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. These are more apt to be spiritual leeches on the body of the American community, growing bloated with self-esteem as they suck greedily at the patriotic fervour of a people.

Real patriotism — love of country — may require anger and hatred. It will demand anger over corrupt leaders, hatred of injustice. But such anger and hatred, if based upon love of country, must be channelled into constructive action, or they will corrode the individual and endanger his community. If they are not so channelled they become mere demagoguery, and demagoguery may claim but will never establish kinship with true patriotism.

These are some of the thoughts encouraged while riding on a transcontinental train, remembering that while 150 million people are important, even more important is their future.

CHANGED POLICY?

Dear Sir:

Last fall I wrote a series of articles in a weekly newspaper about the NAACP, its attitudes and programs regarding that part of the theatre in which Negroes are involved. In substance I said that all Negroes of intelligence in and out of the theatre are against discrimination and second class citizenship; and that they are willing to do their share towards abolishing these evils. Still further I stated that I thought the NAACP made an error in launching a nation wide program in the theatre without consulting with theatrical leaders and getting their advice and cooperation for its program.

Among the suggestions I made to the organization was that in the future they shoud consult theatrical leaders and performers before embarking on a nation wide program. I also suggested the addition of a theatrical person to the NAACP staff to stage benefit shows to assist the organization financially.

To a great extent both of these were carried out in the huge NAACP benefit show that was staged recently in Madison Square Garden in New York. The organization secured the services of Dick Campbell as a producer of the show. Dick Campbell is one of the best and most experienced theatrical and concert managers in America. Everyone who works in the theatre has the greatest admiration and respect for Dick Campbell. He was able to get some of the greatest stars in the country to perform in the show.

According to the papers the presentation drew 15,000 people who paid $30,000 to see the show and pledged $20,000 more for the work of the NAACP organization. It was thus a huge success.

Let us compare the results with what happened before. When staff members and society people managed the benefit show at Carnegie Hall with Duke Ellington, they raised only $14,000. When Dick, an experienced theatrical person, managed the benefit show, $50,000 was raised. Most of those who read my articles agreed with my statements. The small minority who did not cannot help but admit that there is a vast difference between $14,000 and $50,000.

This, then, is the first real vindication of the point of view I made in the articles. I am positive that equal success would come from carrying out a few more of the suggestions. There is no reason why the problems of stereotypes, separate seating, discrimination, better roles, and many others cannot be effectively solved through the cooperation of the NAACP with those who work in the theatre and concert halls. Nothing but distrust, confusion, and animosity will result when the specialists and performers in the theatre are ignored by any organization planning a program. That ought to be clear now.

If the NAACP has learned this lesson the newspaper articles were justified. We can then forget the past and the mistakes on both sides and work unitedly together for first class citizenship, an American theatre without discrimination, and a united country for all Americans without separate and unequal facilities for anyone.

WHAT GOES ON?

Who am I to question anyone as to what goes on in the mind of anyone?

We are told one can not speak for the other, as we are all individuals, and that every man must guide his own ship of life.

Well, thus being so, we will ask ourselves, what have we to do with the thoughts of others? We are all individuals, but the Bible says, "we are our brother's keeper."

What goes on in the mind of a Negro? Ask the question over and over, then stop trying to think of anything pertaining to the question, and like the miner panning for gold, you will know as soon as it is settled.

The average Negro, one would think, is so unconcerned about his every day affairs politically, socially, civically and religiously that he takes it for granted life is supposed to be handed to him on a silver platter. Yes, God gives everything to everyone that is essential to his everyday existence. God also expects one to use the things granted to him, to utilize them to the best of his advantage.

The mind controls our idea, the idea carries out the thoughts, the thoughts, the deeds, therefore, the actual deeds of a person or things practiced by the people you are surrounded by most, affect the thinking of others.

A Negro, if he is progressive, thinks in one turn, and the Uncle Tom another. I use these two distinct phrases to distinguish the two thoughts, and to separate them from the non-thinking Negro. My reason for this statement is why should there be two ideas practiced by one people? Well, a Negro that has progressed, as a rule, is not the progressive type because in many cases he is hindering others trying to progress. He feels as though he is so far above the other Negroes that he will have to look down to see him. For instance, a certain Negro newspaper that has in the past progressed by progressive movement and policy is just the reverse today because of Uncle Tom management. Notwithstanding the fact that they themselves would not have progressed or be in the position they are in had they used the method used by some of the Negroes supposed to be leaders today. The minds of many Negroes are controlled by the white press and misleading Negro papers, so to make a long story short, Negroes — most of them — depend on information given out by misleading newspapers. One can easily understand why the white press does it, but for a Negro paper to promote the same idea is beyond me.

P.S. I hope the Sentinel will read this—not that it will help any, because some of us are only concerned with selfishness.

Janet Collins Career Is Like a Fairy Story

Janet Collins, the Met's premiere danseuse, has chalked up a distinguished list of firsts in her dancing career. Milton Lomask in the April Catholic Digest notes that Janet is the first Negro ever to make the Met's permanent artist roster, the first Negro ballerina in history, and probably the first dancer to finance her career through portrait painting.

Janet Collins' ballet training began at a Catholic center in Los Angeles. All through her school days, she continued to study dancing. Her family, however, thought Janet's career would be portrait painting. Through a school friend, Janet made the contacts necessary to obtain a scholarship to the Los Angeles Art Center School. Janet herself never gave up the idea of dancing as a career. Her training in painting, oddly enough, was the factor which put her on the road to ballet stardom.

Money for a trip to New York and its booking agents was imperative. Janet Collins had no money. Then, Lomask relates, Lamarr Hill commissioned her to paint a full length portrait of his dead father, founder of the Los Angeles' largest Negro funeral parlor. Hill paid her generously, and early in 1949 she boarded a train to New York.

The rest is show business history. Choreographer Hanya Holm hired Janet as soloist for "Out of This World", smash Cole Porter musical. Zachary Solov, director of the Metropolitan ballet, saw her and hired her with Bing's ok. Premiere danseuse Collins is one of the few native Americans to reach ballet stardom.

Tuskegee Choir To Open Drive For Colleges

NEW YORK—The 45-voice Tuskegee Choir, under the direction of famed composer-conductor William Dawson, will sing at the opening meeting of the 1952 campaign of the United Negro College Fund on April 8. The choir, which has been broadcasting regularly in the Sunday morning choir series presented by the American Broadcasting Company in cooperation with the College Fund, is scheduled to make its television debut on the Ed Sullivan show, "Toast of the Town," on Sunday, April 6.

HONORED—Joe Adams, left, noted KOWL disc jockey and recently appointed remote control staff announcer for the National Broadcasting Company, was honored last week by the Los Angeles Sales Club at its monthly dinner meeting at the Penthouse. One of the most impressive is the Star of Africa, previously granted only to those of ambassadorial rank. It was presented to her by His Excellency, President William S. Tubman of Liberia.

Her first performance at the executive pavilion so impressed President Tubman that he wrote to her:

"Fascinated and favorably impressed by the grandeur, magnificence, sublimity, beauty and perfection with which you performed and executed your program last night, I hasten to proffer you congratulations."

Negro in Movies: Post-War History

By L. DAVID

1949 was the year of hope and the year of progress in the story of the Negro and Hollywood. Starting in the Spring of the year and continuing until snowfall, came "Home of the Brave" (Stanley Kramer), "Intruder in the Dust" (M-G-M), "Pinky" (20th Century-Fox), and "Lost Boundaries," (Louis De Rochemont.)

I think it is curious that up until 1949, the film industry, almost a solid block, believed firmly in what they called "The Southern Box Office." This term was like "The Iron Curtain." The mere mention of films portraying Negroes as human beings brought the movie maker to shake his head in the most positive and emphatic fashion, saying "Impossible—Southern Boxoffice would ruin the film."

What happened in 1948 and 1949 that destroyed this firm block that, until then, had seemed a solid, inescapable wall? The truth of the matter is that "Southern Boxoffice" was a figleaf behind which Hollywood hid due to its own prejudice, fear and escapism.

Major Studios Say

Major studios will argue that Hollywood is not in the business to "stick its neck out," that not until the post-war rise of Ralph Bunche, Jackie Robinson, the success of "Deep Are the Roots," on Broadway, the best-selling success of Sinclair Lewis' "Kingsblood Royal," the rise of singer Billy Eckstine, of singer Sarah Vaughan, that not until these concrete evidences of the feeling of millions of people for acceptance of Negroes as human beings—only then could Hollywood "afford" to make movies with real Negro characters.

But this argument is acceptance of inequality and the "Southern Boxoffice" was merely the figleaf to cover Hollywood's attitude.

So, yielding to the pressure from millions of Americans and

Ted Browne On Potter Show

Ted Browne, youthful Negro singer and composer from San Francisco, will be heard on the Peter Potter show "Search For A Song," April 9 at 10:45 p.m.

Browne, a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., attended Hastings College and won a scholarship to the American Theatre Wing in New York. He toured America as a member of the Arthur Godfrey troupe, which was interrupted by a call to the navy. After serving two years as a gunner's mate, he received an honorable discharge. Presently he is working with the Marine Players in San Francisco.

Critics Pleased By Iona Wade

She stands just a wee bit over five feet tall, when she talks she sorta purrs. Her name is Iona Wade and she is being tabbed as the new "vocal sound" of the year. Now don't misunderstand, Iona didn't just launch out on her vocal career.

As a matter of fact, the attractive doll-like chirpist has been singing professionally for about seven years, unnoticed by talent scouts but always widely acclaimed by the public.

The lovely petite song stylist whose versatility is a standout, can take a song and with her syruppy smooth voice weave her way right into your heart and start pulling at those heart strings.

Iona just recently signed with the new band of Joe Lutcher and recorded a tune, "Why Not Now," which all of the local disc jockeys say will be a definite hit on the platter parade.

There is no maybe about it, Iona Wade is on her way and this time she won't stop until she gets that top billing that she justly deserves.

Muriel Rahn Made Debut 8 Years Ago

Muriel Rahn, who is appearing at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Friday evening, April 18, under the auspices of the Tuskegee Club, has come a long way since that eventful Sunday afternoon eight year ago when she made her debut as a concert singer in tiny Carnegie Chamber Music Hall.

Back in January, 1942, Muriel appeared with an all-white opera company at Carnegie Hall in "The Abduction from the Seraglio" under the auspices of the National Orchestra Association. During the spring and summer of the same year she made a 10,000-mile concert tour of the nation and ended up by becoming the first Negro artist to sing in the newly built Grant Park Shell in Chicago with the Chicago Orchestra.

Rahn experienced her first success on Broadway in "The Pirate," starring the Lunts. Next came the title role of "Carmen Jones." Upon seeing her opening night, Olin Downes, the eminent critic of the New York Times, said, "Muriel Rahn's "Carmen" is excellent, sensuous, seductive and accomplished in song."

Jeff Presents Easter Play

New Orleans Tradition

C. L. SPEAKER—perhaps won't ring a familar note in the lives of many of you natives; however, if you happen to be from NEW ORLEANS and around our age C. L. SPEAKER will bring back those un-forgetable days of Junior and Senior High School. Speaker turns many youngsters away from the path of Willie Sutton and helps guide them to be helpful citizens of which their community is proud to have around. I know he would like to tell his class about his former students and what they are doing. LESLIE BRAZIER heads the Los Angeles branch of the Urban League, a national Negro organization. LOUISE CARRIERE is one big reason why UNITED AIRLINES are giving Negroes the very best in air travel. DAVE COOPER operates a highly flourishing Dry Cleaning plant. JONAS WILLIAMS is a successful Bendix Laundrette operator in San Francisco. MOSES PETER THOMPSON is about to open San Francisco's exclusive men's club for businessmen. While Marshall Bennett dispatches the peasants' mail in the same city. There are scores of ex-J. W. Hoffman students that came under the spell of Speaker and are making their presences known by their deeds here in Los Angeles.

DIDN'T KNOW—that I. W. BUSH was one of the big guns behind the LOUISIANA 24 CLUB. Bush was King of the Jolly Boys and Girls Carnival parade in 1948 and for 10 years was captain of the international famous Mardi Gras in the fair city of New Orleans. The group held its regular meeting Friday night at Randolph Lamison and his wife's home. Look for really big social affairs from this gathering.

"Frat Fireworks"

INTER-FRAT-THRILLS—One of the most pleasant thrills of the Omegas easy victory over the ever popular Kappas cage team was handed a certain well known swimming pool set DOCTOR at a very exclusive Circle Drive "pad." A very popular young AKA pledge who foolishly took the Kappas paid off like a good sport and if her college going boyfriend ever finds out that engagement ring he promised her will only be a dream.

"A Swigsational Session"

BARTENDER'S BRAWL—turned out to be a real old story of mama putting out papa with one suit of clothes. He was only trying to get mama to understand that he was no longer interested in her charms which resulted in an exchange of blows. My, doesn't Garnett's and the Red Hut Broiler supply us with JIMMY CARTER and RAY ROBINSON action?

FLO "WAFFLES"—is celebrating her 11th anniversary. Anyone who remembers the stormy and lush years of the 4200 block on Central Ave. knows Floratine Nickelson's spot. She is still located in the same location and wants her many acquaintances to drop around this week. She is ever bit as pretty as she was the day she opened the breakfast nook. How about dropping in . . . FLYING SCHOOL TEACHERS—we are trying to figure which male kept two San Diego school teachers dividing their time between the border where they teach and L. A. where they play?

"Courthouse Chant"

COUNTY BLVD. BLUES—is not the only reason why SILVIA BURRELL is reported sick, she's trying to keep that guy from making ALASKA trip. THERESA MATTHEWS, of the same dept., is having maternity blues and hubby is happy or unhappy in Japan.

Wini Orr to Score

OUR GAL—Wini Orr is behind the forthcoming "His Nibs" fashion show slated for April 6th, it's for Rev. S. S. Hyliager. Mary Pickford's protege. They are gonna give away rubies and diamonds. JOE (THE TAILOR) KING is preparing a way-out pair of slack for a latin number. It is said to be the newest thing for the slack-lovers. His model is the pretty latin-American wife of Edward "Abie" Robinson. We bet he was on hand when King took the measurements.

"Curve Side and Horse Hide"

TRANSIT TRADE—is what the block dwellers are calling MONT CLAIR street off of Arlington because a certain high yellow who is a daily, nightly visitor of the Mont Clair Street courts. If her post office husband ever decides to make a check we will handle the obituary.

Mamba's 20th Century Daughter

AUNT TOM—that is what they are calling a certain 28th street school teacher. Who kept her not so pretty nose up, you guess it. Of course the victims are innocent of any of her charges.

CLUB ALABAM—A couple of ofay club owners on Western Avenoo are predicting that Joe Morris and Clarence Moore will close their doors. I don't see how with Billie Holiday, Louis Jordan waiting for their turns. I do know if certain Negroes who visit one of the Western Avenoo joints knew at one time their business wasn't welcome they might pass up the place. It wasn't too long ago, in fact, 1940 was the year. Wasn't it Mike?

DORIS WOOLDRIDGE—is what makes the Watts Saving & Loan office so attractive and to think the young 19-year-old hasn't got around to reading our sheet every week. How square can you be?

TEN TALL MEN—ultra modern fashion show made a big hit with the packed house at the Club last Sunday. Mr. CLEAN HEAD VINSON'S music was the added treat and HELEN HUMES the sweetest of all female song stylists was the end. Andre could have left his M.C. at home in the person of Ralph Weaver who hammed up the entire evening with his not knowing what's happening job at the mike. Why don't he get a job with the pick and shovel boys?

THE ONE TO FIFTY ACT—For various and sundry reasons we spare the young social butterfly of Country Club drive who almost called the heat on her boyfriend who has been making a play for her daughter and using her as the reason. Then if you had called the police how was she going to explain to hubby who is a big social wheel of note? Small Man in a Big Land

A LOUSY DAY—was handed BILLIE HOLIDAY who was a recent guest over the Dolphine's Of Hollywood show. The big Vernon and Central record man promised the great lady of songs lots of nice things if she would appear on his show. One of the things included a nifty little banquet after the show. Not only was there no banquet there wasn't even a Holliday record to be found in the joint. Natch she hit the ceiling and the only reason she didn't take the place apart was the fact that earlier John Billops west-coast clever milliner presented her with one of his most remarkable jobs, which she was wearing.

Interfrat Upset

a 23-22 score at half time, after the Crimson Cream lads had led most of the way from the beginning. That basket seemed to set the Omegas off and they ran away and hid from their rivals in the last half and added insult to injury by pulling of some Globe Trotters clowning as the game ended.

Pounds' mishap on the free throw line which lost the game for the Sigmas didn't detract at all from the thrilling show he put on for the fans. He was all over the court and repeatedly outsped the famed Hill twins to slip under the hoop and drop in two-pointers.

The Kappas no doubt wished that Ed Tucker had stayed up at the Stanford campus last Saturday. When they weren't hopelessly chasing him down the court as he went in for lay-ins, he was stealing the ball and otherwise making life miserable for his opponents. Tucker, who dropped in 14 points, had some sparkling help—evry sparkling—from his teammates who also ran away from their leadfooted Kappa opposite numbers time and again.

Omegas vs. Sigmas.

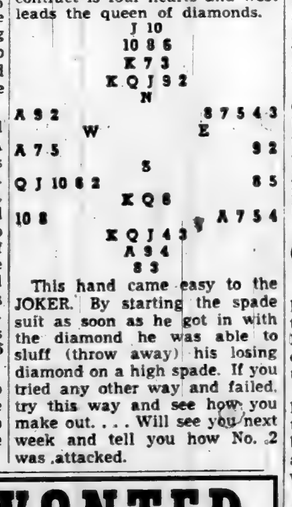
Game time, 8 p.m.

The Kappas looked very good—on paper. John Moore, UCLA great, started at center and was backed up by Gene Williams, Pete O'Garro, Dave Williams, West Robinson, Ernie Powell and Gabe Randolph all broke into the line up during the course of the evening but except for the first quarter the team lacked speed and ball control and its shooting percentage was the lowest seen in the frat cage series for many a year. oMore sank 16 points.



The Kappas are all set to trip up the Alphas Saturday while the Omegas are expected to overwhelm the Sigmas in the other fray.

Bias Against Doctors Under Attack in N. Y.

NEW YORK—A move to tear down restrictions which prevent the unhampered development of Negro doctors in New York was being made before the County Medical Society this week.

A resolution being presented calls upon all hospitals in the city to place qualified Negro doctors on their staffs.

The proposal, based on months of study of existing conditions, reported "distinct discrimination against or lack or opportunity for the Negro doctor" and "distinct limitations in opportunities for graduate education and for carrying on private practice."

The resolution proposes the setting up of a permanent committee charged with the task of trying to eliminate discrimination on hospital staffs.

The New York County Medical Society is the only group within the American Medical Association which has a Negro doctor as its representative on the exclusive House of Delegates of the AMA. Dr. Peter W. Murray was recently re-elected to another term as a physician delegate from New York. Dr. Murray was in Los Angeles last year when the AMA held its annual meeting there.

Mills Brothers Not All Brothers

The Mills Brothers, who are guesting on the Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy Show for Coca-Cola Sunday night, now consist of three brothers and their father—due to a unique reversal of the usual tradition of a son filling his father's shoes.

The quartet originally consisted entirely of brothers—but John Mills, oldest of the four—died of a sudden attack of pneumonia just a few days before the group was to begin an important new radio series.

Grife-stricken, the Mills Brothers decided to cancel the series, but their father, John, Sr., an old trouper and minstrel man, wouldn't hear of it. Instead, he joined the act, himself, replacing his son, and the quartet has been going strong ever since.

Gardenia Club

The Gardenia Club met at the home of Mrs. Ann Carter. During the business session of the club, Mrs. Annabell Snell presented a cash donation to the club to be used in its charity work.

After the business session, Mrs. Louise Taylor, vice-president of the club, was honored with a birthday party. Gifts were piled around a huge cake inscribed with happy birthday.

A delicious ham and chicken dinner was served by the hostess, who was ably assisted in the affair by Mrs. Connie Johnson and Mrs. Willie Mae Snow.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Frances Fox.

The Towering Twelve Charity Club met at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Lark. Final plans were made for their "after-sunrise breakfast" to be given Easter Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hardy, 1409 E. 18th street, to which the public is invited.

The club is sending a big box of Easter cookies to the ward which they have "adopted" at Olive View Sanatorium. Proceeds of the breakfast will be used to help the patients of Ward 122 at Olive View.

Julian Hotel Has Downtown Debut

Placed in the heart of Los Angeles is the latest addition of modern hostelry in the downtown area. The Julian Hotel, 747 W. 10th place, makes it debut to a city in need of luxurious living quarters.

The new hotel, just off Figueroa, is part of the $100,000 Consolidated Hotel chain which boasts the latest developments in hotel management in the country. Regal Hotel, managed by Walter Miller, is an extension of the same concern.

Modernistic Schemes

General Manager Julian Vacha explained that modernistic furniture, color designs and schemes have been used to create the leisure effect enjoyed by casual livers.

The fireproof, brick and concrete structure consists of 44 large rooms and stores. Up-to-the-minute bath facilities have been installed to make each room desirable. Included with the service is a telephone unit.

New manager, N. D. Porter, has served his profession 25 years, working from job of bellhop to the important position he now maintains with the Consolidated concern. Under his personal supervision, employes are being processed to give the best possible service to patrons.

Suites rent for as low as $1.50 a day and $8.50 a week. Maid and janitorial services are available 24 hours a day.

Club Cotorie's Plan Breakfast

At the regular meeting of Club Coterie, final plans were made for the annual breakfast to be held on Sunday, May 13 (Mother's Day) for the benefit of the Eastside Settlement House on Adams boulevard. Your illustrious hostesses will be the members—Mmes. Mildred Hicks, Bertha Williams, Mildred Calhoun, Lillian Pratt, Genevieve De Frantz, Maggie Towns, Audrey Love, Reita Fisher, Kelso Barbour, and Christine Wyatt. This breakfast is expected to be one which you will long remember. Jot the date, Mother's Day. Place — Eastside Settlement House, and time—9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., on your social calendar in case you are not personally contacted.

Mrs. Lillian Pratt served a luscious repast after the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kelso Barbour, which is looked forward in anticipation as Mrs. Barbour is always a charming hostess.

Our illustrious critic was really on the beam at the last meeting—she even fined herself. Keep the good work up.

Daily Praises Durham Editor

The recent appearance of L. E. Austin, editor of the Carolina Times, Durham, N.C., in the textile town of Gastonia provoked much concern among the citizens of both races, according to Delbert Lazenby, columnist for the Gastonia Gazette, white daily.

The columnist captioned his article in the Saturday issue of the Gazette "Negro Editor Asserts His Race To Save White Men." He showed much concern over Austin's treatment of his subject and quoted quite often from Austin's speech.

He said Austin began by saying, "We, the Negro, have got to save the white man. He's got the atom bomb and hydrogen bomb and he doesn't know what to do with them." Austin said the Negro has the key to the problem and the key is love. He further quoted Austin as saying the Negro is the only people who have been able to live with the white man and prosper.

The columnist warned his readers that Editor Austin had something, in vew of the fact that he had very vividly showed the Negro was the only race that had been able to live with the white man, that the Caucasian race should go into this question very fully.

He pointed out that the race issue had never been presented to him in this manner before and that perhaps this was the best approach in view of the fact that the two races are supposed to embrace the Christian religion.

Escape Mechanism Attacked by Bishop

Bishop J. W. Martin, presiding prelate third Episcopal district, A.M.E. Zion Church, told a group of the leaders of the North Carolina conference, meeting at North Harlowe in New Bern recently that escape mechanism is the most demoralizing force alive in the world today in the struggle for human progress.

The Bishop said, "There are too many people in the world who will not face facts and will try to make excuses to keep from doing the job. There is no excuse that will make as great an impression as the doing of the job itself."

He warned that dodgers are people who will not accept responsibility and will find fault with those who do.

His greatest admonition was to the south when he said the potential of the south was very great, but it would never reach it until it decided to stop dodging the issue and face it as outlined by the constitution.

He was highly critical of the fact that the south tries to carry two systems of education and does not have enough money for one proper system. The prelate ended by saying that "The salvation of the world is through a crucified Redeemer."

Carolina Jails 26 Klansmen

WHITEVILLE, N. C.—Twenty-six men were arrested last week in this hotbed of nightriding terrorism for being members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The arrests were made by State and county officers for violation of an 1868 statute outlawing membership in secret political organizations.

The arrests took place in Columbus and Robeson counties, and were in addition to the 10 arrests made recently by the FBI in Fayetteville.

Three of those picked up in the Whiteville area were released when they claimed they were no longer members of the Klan. The others were permitted to post bonds of $250 each.

derson, L.A. Other members are: Barbara Bryant, L.A.; Betty Dykes, Dorsey; Sylvia Johnson, Belmont; Roylene McGruden, Manual Arts; Winifred Thompson and Anastacia Panguliman, Dorsey.

WANTED: BOYS!!! Belmont girls, namely Narvia Pruden, Peggy Jones, Thruma Pankey, Camille Shores, and Myrna Simmel have tried to put over the idea of importing boys from Jefferson, Dorsey and Manual Arts. Carry on, girls, carry on.

If people think Rhae Tate"s out of circulation, try and get her line some of these nights. Man, the wait is long.

MY SPIES TELL ME—

One of the coolest parties given last week end was by Ruby Stevens, held in Aliso Village. . . . The Inter-Frat games attract not only the college crowd but the Hi-School set as well. Noticed among others were representatives of Manual Arts, Jefferson, Belmont, Dorsey, and Poly. . . . Willard Brae was seen in the neighborhood of A. C.'s house recently. Keep in mind the fact that he's supposed to be going with Bobbie Johnson. . . . Joanna Nichols has been seen daydreaming in class lately. Wonder if it has anything to to with a certain PFC stationed near here?

Well, that's it. I must flee. If you have any news or dances you want publicized, suggestions, etc., turn me on at DU. 7-2424. Till next time—

Later.

Westernettes Club In Regular Meeting

The picturesque home of Mrs. Dorothy Moore, 833 W. 53rd street, was the scene of the regular meeting of the Westernettes Riding Club.

Mrs. Moore was the gracious hostess for the evening. Regular club business plus other interesting items composed the agenda for the evening.

Plans for a rodeo were discussed and voted upon for the very near future. After the business session a delectable dinner was served.

New members were introduced and an expression was made by each. Next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Gussie Morris, 833 W. 53rd street (?????) Gussie Morris is reporter, Myrtle Hidgon, president.

Clever Models Score at Oriole Fashion Show

The Westernettes acted as guest models for the Douglas Lodge No. 38 under the direction of Wini Orr at the Oreole Ballroom. Beautiful fashions worn were from the Rose Shop on Central avenue.

The models included Helen Bailey, Marie Willis, Gwyn Moss, Myrtle Hidgon, Leola Reece and Ellene Burnside.

UNDER COVER HOUNDS

company of each other. This meeting was concluded with the singing of the fraternal hymns and sacred songs.

Among this Greek aggregation we saw Lou Robinson remove half of a heavy laden table of hors d'ouvres by the scoff system. Others attending were George Granberry, Gwen and Gloria Taylor, Andrew Wallace, Harvey Banks, Florelle Pierson, Billie Barrett, Irma Jean Glover, Ralph Koffman, James Braggs Geneva Waller, Rod Richards, Lois Banks, Charles Bell, Moses Robinson, Carl Goodson, Sally Jones, Jane Miller, Jerrell Stephens, Rudell Slay Buster Brannon, Billy Mills and David Reed.

AT COCKTAIL HOURS

Of all the social functions we attended over the past weekend the popular Tweedsmens cocktail party held Sunday evening was without a doubt the finest. The success of any affair depends upon the people attending and the sponsoring parties. This affair couldn't have missed because of the wonderful folks participating in the fun. The toasting cup was emptied so many times it was necessary for some of the club members to replenish the supply at the corner winery. passed out so many cups to Ace bartender Ted Shaffer passed out so many cups to the crowd that the attorney nearly "did the do" himself.

The guest list looked like who's who of the underworld—(undergraduates or graduates). Folks like Billy Benefield, Rodney Bowen, Sherill Luke, Joan Moore and Bob Williams, and Tony Sheen kept things moving from the start. Noteworthy couples noted during the course of the evening were the gruesome twosomes of George Brown and Joan Southern, Walter Smith and Dorth Cain, and Alfred Elliot with Mary Ann Pandange.

Waldena Hefflin created more excitement among the wild wooly wolves than a jug of home brew. Digging her with bloodthirsty eyes were such notables as Joe Oliver, Tom Newsome, Alfred Reeves, Jimmy Gilbert, Wardell Moss, Louie White and Julius Boyd. Should we mention more? Hayward and Faye Tompson, Kenneth and Gloria Hill, Hugo Hill and Charlotte Derrick, Thomas Green, Suzie Moore and Al Smally.

WHO'S THE APRIL FOOL?

Lots of folks are pretty puzzled over the story that Air Force Sgt. Bill English is passing out engagement rings. We have it from an inside source that he has no intention of donning the ball and chain.

And what about the little girl who tells everybody that her Prince Charming is as true as the sky is blue, but knows differently. Oh yeah, his initials are Tony Sheen.

• • •

People are talking about the father who vented his wrath upon his daughter's young suitor because lover boy refused to move his grease dripping jalopy from the driveway.

And what about the freshly lit torch that Le Roy Matthews is carrying for Mary Cantrell. We hope it doesn't burn on down to the hand that is holding it.

The saddle oxford set's going to make a party of that sensational trial coming up before the Superior court, the twenty-eighth.

Of course this is April and probably the reason June Mathis is leaving for the Waves this week.

The year round sport of hitting on well known females almost proved fatal to a local swain who tried his technique on a certain P. L.'s spouse. Luckily he got off with what he did. a more hook to the jaw.

WHAT HAVE WE HERE?

We were really surprised to see Byron Winston and Vernon Dancy who were both home on leave. Next stop, Korea.

We couldn't have survived the weekend if we hadn't stopped in at Hazel's Hot Dog Stand (Adams and Western). It's the greatest.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

This weekend is to be crowded with "out" affairs. The Inter-Frat Basketball game will of course be great.

And we can't forget the Jazz concert also Saturday night at Humanist Hall, at twenty-third and Hoover. It will feature Barney Kessel, Sunny Criss, Dexter Gordon, Red Calender and Jeep Smith.

The Athenians semi-Formal at the Royal Palms will be another successful dance to add to their string of fine affairs.

The Poison Pen Boys, Kerry and Hal

Southern Belles

The Southern Belles Social club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Wilson Sunday, March 23. A new member, Mrs. Inez Hunt, was voted into the club. Plans were made for the annual "Mother's Day Brunch" at 388 W. 41st place.

Mrs. Estelle Bogan and Mrs. Ruby Hilliard received beautiful birthday presents from their Secret Pals. The club is wishing a speedy recovery for member Jayne Watson, who is convalescing at home. The next hostess will be Mrs. Lou Edna Dodson.

Brief Visit

Here briefly last week via Portland, Mae Morris tells us she and her mate have booked passage for the maiden voyage July 3 of the new United States, largest liner ever built in this country. She's not happy. She much prefers the cozier French or a Scandinavian line. But her husband is determined since it's their first ocean trip, it be in the Grand Style. "I should be flattered," she sighs, "but—oh, well (shrug)!"

Mrs. Bill Hastie (she wasn't too impressed with our town when she visited here) visiting her fabulously loaded-with-loot family in the lush Virgin Islands (St. Thomas). Ethel Sissle's daughter Cynthia had a birthday last Tuesday. Marie Cole was on hand in N. Y. for that large-order birthday party they tossed for husband Nat. Ex-Angeleno Yvonne Cummings concertizing in N.Y. at the Countee Cullen Library. The Buddy (football) Youngs expecting their third child.

Speaking of did-you-know items: Bene Green was the "door-opener" for the growing number of colored employees at Carnation Milk. Although being a "first" is often a thankless task, Bene remains a militant fighter (he's long since left Carnation for other fields). He really bore a heavy brunt there for awhile, as you may expect. A. C. Bilbrew happy with her new son-in-law, Jmimy Lucas.

Archonians

The Archonian Pledge Club of Zeta Phi Beta sorority held its meeting at the home of Leatrice Turner. Present also were Basileus Mamie Maxwell and Soror Dorothea Owens.

Dean of Pledges Marion Bone introduced the new members of the Pledge Club at the Pajama Party at the home of Mildred Johnson, Saturday, March 29.

Plans were made for the annual Parfait Fiesta which will be given in May. Watch the paper for future details.

JOINS CLINTON FIRM

ESVAN MOSBY

Capt. Esvan Mosby, honorary mayor of Central Avenue, has been named to the staff of the new Jim Clinton clothing salesroom at Central and 46th street, it was announced today by the firm's headquarters in Los Angeles.

Capt. Mosby will be associated with the Public Relations and Sales departments.

COMMUNITY MINDED

Veteran of show business and club activities, the personable captain has been active in recreation, entertainment and youth activities in the Greater Eastside. As a member of the reserves of the local National Guard unit, he has been instrumental in providing entertainment for soldiers, and other forms of morale-building work.

VERSATILE

Mosby formerly headed the "Chocolateers," internationally known dance and comedy team which is best remembered for introducing the famous "Peckin'" dance craze a few years ago.

THOROUGHLY EXPERIENCED

"We are extremely proud to have Mr. Mosby with our organization," says Fred Hallpern, general manager of the Jim Clinton organization, "and we look forward to a long and pleasant association."

Mosby resides at 2016 West Adams, and can be contacted at the Clinton Central Avenue store.

Globetrotters Get Set for World Series

With the third annual Series of Basketball just three weeks away, the famous Harlem Globetrotters are concluding one of the most successful regular seasons in their 25-year history.

They have won 130 games thus far and only lost 2. If they win the remaining games on their schedule, they will finish the regular season with 150 victories.

The famous court magicians are now shooting for that lofty goal and at the same time getting ready for the World Series, the spectacular cage extravaganza which matches them against the College All-Americans.

The Series, which is the big test of the year for Abe Saperstein's fabulous crew, started on March 30th in Madison Square Garden. Last year a total of 216,270 fans saw the Trotters and All-Americans a team composed of the greatest college players in the nation, battle in the Series.

From all indications a new attendance record will be established by the time the Series ends in Indianapolis on April 13th this year.

Meantime, the Globetrotters will be trying to win those last 20 regular season games in an effort to reach the 150 mark.

Here is their gruelling schedule for the coming week: March 1, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; 2. Memphis; 3, Owensboro, Ky.; 4. Cleveland; 5. Erie, Pa.; 6, Boston; 7, Milwaukee.

Samuel Masters Enters Competition

Samuel David Masters, 922 E. 118th place, Los Angeles, 8-year-old fourth grade student at the Los Angeles Seventh-Day Adventist Negro Academy, 846 El Segundo boulevard, has been named one of 20 contestants to appear Saturday night, March 15, on the annual Spring Talent Festival at La Sierra College, Arlington.

Young Masters, who will play "Chopsticks" as a marimba solo, will compete with contestants from all over Southern California for a grand prize of $50. He will also make a bid for $25 to be awarded for top place in each of four sections on the program.

AMERICANA—Charming socialite Ella K. Mays expresses delight as she examines the "Americana," one of the garments to be modeled in a series of fashion shows sponsored by Eastern-Columbia during the Easter season. Mrs. Mays will serve as the commentator for these extraordinary productions which will feature the ultra creations in lingerie and sleepwear fashioned by Globe Knitting Works. The first presentation was Saturday night, March 29 at the Alpha House, swank Greek letter fraternity house on Western Ave.

Gold's Store Serves Whole Community Needs

A store geared to the complete service of the whole community is Gold's a friendly place to trade for clothes, furniture and appliances at 1211 E. Washington blv. Gold's, which started in its present location as a small enterprise, has now grown to huge proportions on one important principle: offer customers the lowest prices possible on quality merchandise. The principle is still one for the store.

Each year Gold's volume of business increases to the point where the store sees fit to add a new department. That means that more and more people are finding employment with the establishment. There are already some 120 employes regularly drawing pay checks at Gold's. Many more are sure to find employment in the store in the future.

Gold's recently started retailing a complete line of fine, neatly tailored clothes for men at bargain prices. Today the store is offering regular $70 men's suits at the amazingly low price of $34.95, standard grade $75 topcoats at the same slashed price. Handsome men's shirts, that normally sell for from $7.95 to $10 each, can be bought in all patterns, colors and sizes for as little as $3.95 each.

Credit is easily obtainable at Gold's with no money down required.

For shoppers at Gold's, there are the extra conveniences of popular shopping hours and free parking space for automobiles.

Aims of National Contest Released

A national contest aimed at preparing future ministers to lead a church building or improvement program in a local church is underway, co-sponsored by the National Council of Churches' bureau of church building and architecture.

Dr. E. M. Conover, director of the bureau, said the competition is open only to students in Protestant theological seminaries, and that each contestant is required to select a specific church and prepare a building program which he believes is needed. An alternative is to plan a completely new church, he added.

An acceptable contest entry, Dr. Conover pointed out, must provide a building plan not only for worship purposes, but also for religious education, fellowship and recreational activities, pastoral and administrative work. He said the designated church must be one which serves 150 or more members.

Dr. Conover explained the motive for the contest as a long-standing grievance on the part of architects that Protestant pastors are notoriously poor planners in their church building programs.

NEGRO IN MOVIES

Internationals. 1949 became the year of progress and change in the status of the Negro in films. And through the year, bright stars appeared on the film horizon, men and women with enormous ability, Juano Hernandez ("Intruder in the Dust"), James Edwards ("Home of the Brave"), Frederick O'Neal ("Pinky"), Ethel Waters and Nina Mae McKinney ("Pinky").

Not All the Way

There were deflections. 20th Century-Fox did not have the courage to allow a Negro actress to play the lead role of "Pinky." They preferred to give the role to Jeanne Crain on the basis that as a "star" and as a very appealing and well-liked actress she would arouse more sympathy with the large mass of American audiences.

And in "Lost Boundaries," Louis De Rochemont would not cast Negro actors in the parts of the Albert Johnson family "passing" for white in New England. Rather did Howard Carter, Mel Ferrer and Beatrice Pearson essay the leading roles. Canada Lee played a minor part in the film.

However, this activity on behalf of "the new Negro" brought a rise in employment among Negro actors in 1949. Also, there is little doubt but that the pictures had an enormous effect in fighting against race prejudice among American movie audiences.

It must be noted though, that no Negro writers were employed, no Negro directors, cameramen, carpenters, electricians, sound men, secretaries, were hired. Both Louis De Rochemond and Stanley Kramer briefly hired a New York publicist to assist in selling the finished movies "Home of the Brave" and "Lost Boundaries." Chester Washington, Negro journalist, did some publicity work on "Pinky."

But the question must be asked: How can a real movie about real Negro people be written and filmed without the direct employment of Negro writers, other artistic, technical people?

"I wanted to go to church. He wouldn't let me. We went out and he started drinking. When we came out of the cafe he started to jump on me, so I stabbed him."

That was the account Emma Willis gave policemen who arrested her for suspicion of murder of Jess W. Henry, 35, her common-law husband, last Sunday.

The young couple were in an argument at a cafe at 3603 San Pedro street, and were ordered to leave by the proprietor as they were too noisy.

On the sidewalk in front of the cafe, the argument continued and ended with 32-year-old Mrs. Willis stabbing Henry to death with an ice pick.

Mrs. Willis fled to the home of her parents, 3626 S. Adair, where she was later arrested by police.

Mrs. Willis told officers that Henry beat her often and had stabbed her on several previous occasions.

"I just couldn't take it any more. When he jumped on me, I stabbed him."

The couple lived at 1112 E. 113th street.

Omega Psi Phi Starts Beauty Queen Search

"Miss Bronze L. A." will be the object of one of the biggest sepia beauty searches ever held in Los Angeles. Dr. Lincoln W. Shumate, chairman of Omega Psi Phi fraternity's scholarship fund, announced this week that the affair will terminate May 9 at the Zenda Ballroom where the "most beautiful girl" in Los Angeles will be selected.

In an effort to get in the contest the choice beauties in Los Angeles, Dr. Shumate has urged all business and social organizations to sponsor a beautiful girl. Business firms with no one to sponsor will be supplied with a contestant. Girls who do not have a sponsor are urged to enter and they will be furnished with a sponsor.

No entry fee will be charged for entering the contest.

A prize of $100 will be given to the social club which sells the most tickets to the affair. There

Death of Child Ruled Accident

The death last week of little 4-year-old Lorenzo Johnson, Jr., was officially declared to be accidental, after the Fire Department had made a thorough investigation to rule out the possibility of arson.

Lorenzo, who was the son of Mrs. Clydie Johnson, 1510 E. 99th street, had apparently been playing with matches and started a fire in the clothes closet. Garments hanging there began to blaze and hemmed him in with a wall of flame.

He was found by firemen after the fire had been extinguished. But it was too late. The little fellow was dead.

Many Come to Aid Of Family in Need

Members of our community this week opened their hearts to help a family in need.

The despair, the misery and the gnawing poverty that only a few days ago engulfed Mrs. Lucille Jones and her seven children vanished, as if by magic.

Gazing upon the pile of groceries that had been brought to her, the mother smiled: "This food will last us a long time. We've learned how to skimp, you know. We get along on one meal a day."

Saw Eagle Story

Last week the Eagle carried an article entitled "Ever Need a Friend? Maybe You Can Help. . ."

A lot of people—kind people—saw that article, and decided that there was something they could do. And they did it.

The Eagle article said:

"Most of us need help at some time in our lives. Occasionally that need is acute.

"It is acute now for a mother and her seven children, the youngest of whom is nine months old.

"Mrs. Lucille Jones is living in three rooms with six of her seven youngsters. There are no chairs in the "home"—not even a box to sit on. No tables, no furniture at all except one bed and the cooking stove. . . ."

All Changed

That was last week. It's all changed now.

Over the week-end another

Wife Says Lawyer Was Cruel Hubby

Curtis Taylor Faces Charges In Divorce Suit

Tables will be turned on Curtis C. Taylor, outstanding lawyer who has appeared for innumerable clients in domestic relations court, when he shows up at that familiar department of superior court today (Thursday) at 1:45.

Flanked by Attorneys Earl C. Broady and James Reese, he will be there or try to prevent his wife, Doris, from collecting $435 per month temporary alimony and $2,000 in fees for her downtown attorneys. Taylor, she charged in a complaint filed this week, was guilty of great mental and physical cruelty and she wants a divorce.

In order to assuage her wounded feelings, Mrs. Taylor wants her distinguished husband to award her an equity in real property at 238-242 E. Santa Barbara avenue, a bungalow court at 51st and McKinley streets and the family home at 153 E. 36th place. She would also be mighty happy, she indicated in her suit, if the court would give her a share in her husband's Cadillac sedan and order him to finish paying for a Studebaker that he recently gave her for her birthday.

The much married Taylor and his Kansas City-born wife were married in Tia Juana about 23 months ago. Mrs. Taylor has returned to live with her parents at 1949 E. 115th street.

Arm Crushed In Rolling Machine

Restee Collins, 35, of 2912 Halldale Ave., is recovering after his arm was crushed in a rolling machine in a record factory last Thursday at 8723 Alden Drive.

Collins said his arm caught in the machine. He was treated at Hollywood Receiving Hospital for a crushed left arm, burns and lacerations and released to the caf of his private physician.

WANTS DIVORCE—Mrs. Doris Taylor says her lawyer-husband, Curtis C. Taylor, was brimful of cruelty and in a suit filed this week asked the courts to terminate their 23-month-old marriage. She asked for alimony and a division of community property.

Separate Schools Inferior, Judge Holds

WILMINGTON, Del.—Although he found as a fact that "state imposed segregation itself results in Negro children . . . receiving educational opportunities which are substantially inferior" to those afforded whites, Delaware Judge Seitz last week held that he was powerless to overthrow that state's "separate but equal" school laws because of old decisions of the United States Supreme Court. "It is for that Court," he said, "to re-examine its doctrine in the light of my findings of fact."

While ruling that Supreme Court decisions prevented him from ordering the end of all state imposed discrimination, the judge did order admission of Negro children to so-called white schools in New Castle county on the grounds that schools provided for the Negro children were not equal to those provided for the whites.

The Delaware victory was the first in four cases in which the NAACP has challenged segregation in grade and high schools. Federal courts in Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia have held that the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment does not prohibit segregation at lower school levels.

Tremendous Victory

Praising attorneys Jack Greenberg and Louis Reddings, for their painstaking presentation of the case, Special Counsel Thurgood Marshall said "this decision should give all of us new courage in this all out fight against racial segregation. The reasoning in this case will convert many timid souls. This tremendous victory is but a step in the long drawn out fight against segregation in public education in all states."

In a lengthy opinion, Judge

'Separate But Equal' Is Myth, He Says at Jim-Crow Meeting

By WENDELL GREEN

"There is no such thing as separate but equal," Tennessee Senator Estes Kefauver admitted Tuesday afternoon in a meeting with local civic leaders and press representatives at the Biltmore hotel. It was a gathering that looked suspiciously like a Jim Crow rump session.

Local politicians handling the Kefauver campaign for the presidency did not invite the Negro press to the official press conference the Senator held Monday. Gilbert Lindsey, chairman of the 62nd Assembly District Democratic Central Committee, hurriedly arranged a meeting for Tuesday afternoon.

Considering his southern constituency on which he must depend for votes, the Senator from Tennessee is a remarkable fellow. He is just about as fair-minded and liberal in his political philosophy as a Southerner can be, and still retain his political skin.

Opposed Poll Tax

The Senator stated that he opposed the poll tax, which most Southerners bitterly fought to keep. He is for self-rule for Washington, D. C. which most Southerners oppose because of the large Negro population in the nation's capitol.

He is opposed to that southern institution, the filibuster. He is for statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, although most southern politicians oppose admission because of the large non-Caucasian populations that would get the vote.

As the Senator talked and answered questions, he outlined a political philosophy in keeping with the best liberal tradition of Roosevelt and Truman. Incidentally, his California delegation to the Democratic National Convention includes Hugh MacBeth, and

IDA LOMAX WALLER

Heart Stops But Woman Still Lives

An attractive young housewife walked into Hollywood Presbyterian hospital last week. As she chatted with the nurses, she explained to them how easy it was to prepare for an operation. The patient was taken to her room where she placed her lingerie in its proper closet. Hospital held no terror for her. She is a practical nurse.

Her glib remarks and smiling face continued until she entered the operation room. iShce that time, no one has heard her utter a word. Her face has been still, her eyes open, but unseeing.

Mrs. Ida Waller, 135 N. Occidental Blvd., was revived after her heart had stopped beating for eight minutes during an operation last week. Slight damage may have been caused to the brain by a lack of blood during the period the 24-year-old wife's heart stopped.

The surgeon cut through three ribs and massaged the heart until its pulsations picked up a normal beat. The patient fell into a coma and has never regained consciousness.

At present, the chances for recovery are bright. All incisions are healing and blood is circulating throughout the body.

Mrs. Waller was born in Little Rock, Ark. She completed her education in Los Angeles and was employed as a nurse's aid at Queen of Angels hospital. She resides with her husband, Louis, and sister, Mrs. Magnolia Pulliam.

Mrs. Pulliam verified the nurse's reports of Mrs. Waller's joviality upon entering the hospital. "Why," said Mrs. Pulliam, "she strutted into the hospital as if she were going on a vacation. She even changed the linen on the bed. Being a nurse's aid, Ida thought there was nothing to the operation. She had been suffering from an ailment previously and told the staff how glad she was to get rid of the pains. All of the staff approved of her flippancy and knowledge of hospital services."

A 24-hour watch has been kept since the operation. Specialists have examined her and agree recovery is possible.

Pearl Bailey Quits Ciro's After Row

Why night club star Pearl Bailey failed to make the final appearance of her recent engagement at Ciro's on the Sunset Strip is still a mystery clouded by vague rumors.

The most frequently told story about the incident is that a heated argument between Miss Bailey and some employees at the famed night spot prior to the time for her to do her final evening's shows is at the bottom of it all.

According to this version, the argument started when the captain of the waiters at Ciro's presented Miss Bailey with a gift that she found insulting. She told him off and he retaliated. He was joined in his stand by the night watchman at the club. But both proved no match for the popular singer who reportedly dashed out of the Sunset Strip spot in wild fury.

The story is verified in part by Miss Bailey's local agent, Morris Stoller, of the William Morris booking company.

A close female friend of Miss Bailey told another story of how the incident developed at Ciro's. As she puts it there was no gift involved in the matter but there was an argument. The woman explained that Miss Bailey did not want to air the true story of the trouble.

At press time, nothing official had come from the top man at Ciro's, Herman Hover, in explanation of the Bailey hassle.

South Africa's Millions Pledge Jim Crow Defiance

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa —With the city squares bristling with police and truckloads of armed soldiers, many thousands of South Africa's miserably suppressed Negroes, coloreds and Indians Sunday staged demonstrations in every large city in the country in a mighty defy of jim-crow laws.

At huge mass meetings, the country's non-whites pledged themselves to carry out a relentless struggle of civil disobedience against "political slavery, economic misery and social degradation."

United Action

It is the first time in history that all major non-white groups have united for joint action.

Tension was high in Johannesburg, Capetown, Durban and Port Elizabeth, but there were no clashes. There are fewer than 3,000,000 whites in the country against nearly 11,000,000 non-whites.

The date, April 6, was chosen for the protest because it is the 300th anniversary of the coming of the white man to South Africa. That was the beginning of the oppressions of the native inhabitants. These oppressions continued and are today being intensified.

Foreign Support

Twelve foreign countries sent their support to the demonstrations. Messages came from Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, of China; Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, of India; Mohammed Mossadegh, of Iran; and N. Nkrumah, of the African Gold Coast.

Other governments were Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Jor-

bed had been moved in, and a mattress, a table, and food, and clothes.

On Monday J. H. Johnson, of 3405 W. 27th street, a retired business man who formerly operated the Devil's Shoe Shine string of stores downtown, telephoned the Eagle.

"My wife, Mrs. Lucille Johnson, called my attention to the article in the Eagle," he said, then added: "I've been reading the Eagle for 44 years (no it's not a typographical error—he meant 44 years).

Furnishes Home

"I've got a lot of furniture," he went on, "just about everything. We'll furnish the home."

Shields Van and Storage, 3416 S. St. Andrews place, volunteered a truck. On Tuesday, they backed up to Johnson's garage, and there under the direction of Mrs. Ella Mae Whitaker, president of the Jackie Robinson Philanthropic club, picked out everything that was needed, and carried it to Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Whitaker last week told the Eagle about the need of Mrs. Jones and her children. The Jackie Robinson club, she said, had been helping them out for three weeks, but they couldn't provide enough. Perhaps we could carry a little story . . . .

Dozens Gave

There are literally dozens of people who offered and who gave.

Mrs. Joseph Reals, 158 N. Westmoreland avenue, was one of the first. She donated bed springs and a mattress.

Mrs. Marie and Eddie Lusk brought over a lot of clothes, 12 cans of milk—and promised to keep the babies supplied with milk as long as they need it.

Clarence Smith went to the Jones' home and got their gas, light and water bills, which he paid.

A group of men who live at 4170 Ascot street—and who gave their names only as George, Ike, Danny, Sylvester and Mr. Cozy—brought canned goods.

To Help Anothe

Others who gave — money, clothes, food or furniture — included:

The T Y Market, 4186 Ascot street; Mrs. I. Stevens, 1154 41st place, who gave clothes and money in the name of her Eastern Star Lodge; Mrs. Lucille Smith, 1404 E. 42nd street, who gave a bed; Ezell Wilson, 806 Jefferson; Mrs. E. V. Hughes, 4116 Wall street; Miss Wilma Palmer, 115 West 52nd street;

Mrs. Alice McKie; Mrs. Madeline Brooks, a mother in the Daughters of Zion church; Mrs. Harding; Mrs. Hazel Bejoul; Mrs. Peterson; Mrs. Davis; Miss Earline Gatson; Mrs. Rolson of the Grace Memorial church; Mrs. Frankie McChaney.

These, and others, gave to help another in distress.

The need was acute. The response was heart-warming.

Triplets Make Medical History

WILLIAMSTON, N. C.—Mrs. Viola Brown, 23-year-old wife of Pfc. Lonnie Brown, a soldier in Korea, made medical history last Friday when she gave birth to triplets, her fourth multiple birth in six years.

Quadruplets and quintuplets born in 1946 and 1950 respectively lived only a short time. Twins born last year and another son are living.

The new trio, all "doing nicely," weighed about 5 lbs. each.

No Equality In Separation

Seitz pointed out that educators, psychologists and anthropologists had testified about the evil effects of segregation on Negro children and concluded that such a practice "creates a mental health problem in Negro children."

Inequality, in the constitutional meaning of that word, exists he said, when any school maintained for whites offers any facility which is superior to that offered at Negro schools. He added that states which "divide their citizens" by race must pay the necessarily high price of maintaining exact equality at all times and for every child.

Turning to the plea, which had been heeded by Federal courts in Virginia and South Carolina, relief should be denied because plans were under way to equalize facilities, the jurist held that every citizen has a right to equality and that where Negro schools are inferior Negro children must be admitted to the superior white schools.

A goal of 10,000 members has been set by the local branch of the NAACP for its membership drive, according to Edward Atkinson, central chairman of the campaign. The drive is set to get underway on April 20.

Atkinson also announced that Co-Chairmen Lorenzo Bowdoin, Mrs. Lobelia Dingee, Dr. H. C. Hudson and Mrs. Faustina Johnson are supervisors of the East, West, North and South areas respectively.

Although the area supervisors have secured forty of the fifty captains necessary, about 200 additional workers are needed all over the city it was pointed out.

Members of the campaign committee are urging volunteers to contact the NAACP office, ADams 4-3244 to offer their assistance in taking the drive to every citizen of Los Angeles.

Carver Plans Public School Week Affair

Carver Junior High School will celebrate Public Schools Week with an Open House to be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 22. This will be the first evening open house to be held at Carver Junior High School in several years, and it is hoped that a very substantial number of parents, as well as interested adults from the community, will avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the school.

A unique feature of the Open House will be a miniature school day for parents. Following a regular bell schedule, the parents will go from room to room with their children and teachers will explain and demonstrate the course of study or type of activity that goes on in the room. This program will make it possible for every parent to visit and meet each of his child's teachers and to become familiar with the subjects that the child is taking.

Brazier Hits Housing Policy Of Property Owners League

A statement sharply criticizing the attempt by the Small Property Owners League to use the recent bombings of Negro homes as propaganda against low-rent public housing was issued this week by Wesley Brazier, executive director of the Los Angeles Urban League.

Brazier's statement was prompted by a leaflet which is being widely distributed to Negroes by the "Eastside Branch" of the Small Property Owners League.

"The Small Property Owners League and the Real Estate Lobby, which they represent, have done everything they could over the years to keep Negroes from renting and buying where they wish," Brazier stated, "now they pretend to be interested in unrestricted real estate.

"They have the brazen effrontery to attempt to use these bombings as a spring board for their propaganda." Brazier's statement said, "and yet it is they who have brought about most of the difficulties which minority groups have had in finding homes to buy and rent.

"These are the people who have continued to spread the lie that property values drop when Negroes or other minority groups move into an area," the statement continued. "These are the same people who, by every propaganda trick they could devise, have worked to perpetuate segregation. Now, when it suits their purpose, they are trying to make us believe that they are interested in the Negro being able to Rent, Buy, Live, anywhere in the City."

Play Injuries Hospitalize Two

Two small boys were treated at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital last Wednesday for injuries received while playing.

J. D. Adams, treated for a laceration on the head, was running in the back yard of his home at 1114 East 10th Street when he tripped and struck his head on a concrete walk. His mother, Mrs. Bertha Adams, brought him to the hospital.

Mrs. Barbara Ricks, of 206 W. 50th Street, said her son, Douglas, 15 months, climbed up on the sink and drank some Purex. Doctors at the hospital rinsed his stomach out with vinegar. Both boys were released to their mothers.

Honor First Negro Doctor

WASHINGTON—The first American Negro to obtain a medical degree, Dr. James McCune Smith, is featured as the front cover illustration of the March issue of the Journal of the National Medical Association. Unable to obtain admission to institutions of higher learning in his own land he went to Scotland in 1832, graduating in 1837. He practiced in New York City.

CUDDLY YOUNGSTERS—These two cuddly youngsters, four-month-old Jerry (left) and year-old Johnny need the love and care of a mother and father. They are waiting at the Children's Home Society of California.

Bright-Eyed Tot Needs A Home

Johnny's bright eyes glow with pride, his lips part in a happy, childish laugh as he takes his first baby step.

He tumbles to the floor, and cries for warm arms to comfort him. He's a cuddly little dark-skinned youngster, just a year old, somewhat shy but mighty proud of his new red corduroy overalls.

He looks around for love and appreciation — but there's no mother or father to give him the sense of security for which he longs.

Orphan

For Johnny is an orphan, one of the many little Negro boys and girls who have been waiting —some of them for a long time— for kind-hearted parents to adopt him and take him into their home.

Everybody knows that in California there are more people who want to adopt children than there are children available for adoption. That's the over-all picture. But it doesn't apply to Negro children.

The Children's Home Society normally finds 16 to 20 couples applying for each child. But many Negro children ranging in age from newly born infants to four-year-olds are waiting for that happy day when some man and woman will adopt them and treat them as if they were their own.

Few Applicants

The society, only state-wide, privately supported adoption agency, has given special attention to giving homes to children of Negro background, but they advise that there are far too few applications from Negro families.

Clyde Getz, executive director of the society, has requested that Negro couples interested in adopting a child contact the society's offices, at 3100 West Adams boulevard, REupblic 3-1141.

Getz pointed out that "Our society, which has placed over 15,000 children in its 61 years of existence, serves youngsters of every race and creed. The number of children of any particular race and creed whom we can accept depends upon the homes which are available for their placement.

Careful Study

"Unfortunately, we do not have enough Negro couples applying for Negro children. Our services to Negro children, therefore, depend upon an urgently needed increase in the number of applications we receive from Negro families."

There are no broad specifications for such adoptive couples, other than that the couple holds the promise of giving the child the love and security which have been denied to him by the circumstances of his birth. It is not necessary that applicants own their own homes nor that they have more than a modest bank account.

Qualified social workers study the backgrounds of the child's natural parents, as well as the backgrounds of the applicants for adoption. Physical characteristics, personality factors, and racial backgrounds are carefully studied preparatory to the "matching" processes which find the child happily placed with the "right" adoptive parents who will have many things in common with the child's natural parents, even to appearances. Negro children immediately in need of adoption range from dark to light-skinned children.

SHRINERS PLAN—Members of Egyptian Temple number five discuss with Alice Key plans for the Shriners Charity Show which will be held at the Florentine Gardens the night of April 21. Reynolds, Elk Head, To Visit Los Angeles

Hobson Reynolds, grand director of the civil liberties department of the Elks, will be honored at a series of affairs, including a parade and a dinner, during his stay in Los Angeles on May 3 and 4, Regional Director Vince Monroe Townsend announced this week.

Reynolds is one of the candidates who hopes that the mantle of the late J. Finley Wilson will fall on him when the Elks meet in Atlantic City in August. He will be guest of the area's 13 Elk lodges during his stay here.

Townsend will be general chairman of the week-end activities and will be assisted by Mrs. Harriet Jackson, assistant grand director of the civil liberties department of the Elks.

A five dollar per plate dinner will honor Reynolds with tickets limited to what Townsend called the "fortunate 500" who get there first with their reservations. Sunday he will lead a two-hour parade which will be staged under the direction of Brig. Gen. Matthew Lipscomb.

The parade will be topped off with a civic mass meeting at 3 p.m. to which Governor Earl Warren and other state officials have been invited.

Forget Poland, Look at U. S., Congress Urged

NEW YORK—William R. Hudgins, New York business executive, this week asked Congress how it could investigate atrocities in Poland and ignore the bombings of Negro homes in seven states of the United States.

Hudgins' reference was to the investigation which a House committee is making to fix responsibility for the massacre of over 1,000 Polish officers in the Katyn Forest near Smolensk, Poland. The committee began with an appropriation of $20,000, and last week was granted an additional $65,000 to go to Europe to collect more evidence.

"The vicious practice of bombing the homes of Negro citizens," he continued, "is a lot more repungant to American sensibilities and ideology — or at least should be. Moreover, the seven states of Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Texas, North Carolina, Illinois and California are a lot nearer, dearer and familiar to most Americans than the Katyn Forest of Poland."

Education Movement Reaches Top Record

The missionary education movement, now in its 50th year, has reached a record high in sales of missionary education books and materials.

This was the report presented to the Board of Managers of the Joint Commission on Missionary Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. at their annual meeting in Buck Falls, Pa.

Negro Given High Honor At Harvard

Walter Carrington of Everett, Mass., a senior at Harvard college, was recently elected one of three marshalls of the Harvard class of 1952.

A position as marshal is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon a Harvard senior by his classmates. Three marshals are elected each year to serve for life as top officers for all alumni activities of their class. They hold permanent positions in the Harvard alumni organization.

At graduation, the marshals lead their class in the Baccalaureate and Commencement processions, receive the diplomas for their classmates at the graduation ceremony and hand over the Senior class colors to the Freshman class.

An American History major, Carrington this year has been president of the Liberan Union, one of the largest political clubs at Harvard. Last year he helped organize and served as first president of the Harvard chapter of the NAACP. He is also a member of the Harvard Debate Council.

Police Fire Eight Shots to Kill Burglar

By Eddie Lee King

The well-known boxer, father of three children, Alphine Callahan, was shot and killed early Sunday morning while fleeing from the home of L. T. Whitinger. Callahan was carrying a child's piggy bank containing about $17 in small coins.

Whitinger, of 3763 6th Avenue, stated that he saw the man climbing from the bedroom window where his grandson, Gregory Hehn, 7, lay sleeping. He gave chase while his wife called the police.

The man was identified later as Callahan, 28, 1726 W. Exposition Blvd., former boxer of the American Hollywood Legion Stadium, Olympic Auditorium and other arenas in Southern California.

Eight Police Bullets

Det. T. J. Cornwell and Officer P. A. Stevens joined the pursuers several blocks away, at 4th avenue and Rodeo Road, and ordered Callahan to halt.

Callahan glanced over his shoulder but did not stop. Cornwell fired three shots. One hit Callahan in the left hip. He fell, but struggled to his feet and started running again.

Police fired five more shots at him before he fell and died.

Callahan worked as a porter for Crenshaw Motors at 5311 Crenshaw Blvd. The sales manager there stated that Callahan earned a substantial salary and there was no good reason why he should have to steal a piggy bank. He was a good willing worker.

Callahan also had three rolls of pennies in his pocket along with over $20 of his own money. The pennies were classified as stolen.

The County Coroner's inquest is set for Friday at 10:30 a.m.

Negroes Suffer More From Atomic Blasts

Negroes, and other heavily pigmented people, will suffer more than others from an atomic explosion, according to experiments conducted by Dr. Konrad J. K. Buettner, a member of UCLA's engineering staff.

The scientist conducted experiments wtih the skins of dark and light pigs, exposing them to temperatures above 10,000 degrees F., which is equal to the temperature of an atomic blast.

The dark-skinned pigs absorbed as much as 90 per cent of the heat. Light skins reflected up to 40 per cent.

Dark skins, it was explained, can protect a person from the ultraviolet rays of the sun which cause skin cancers, but they don't reflect enough light to protect against atomic blasts.

If you aren't registered, you can't vote. Register today, so you can vote in June.

Helping Hand Given To Family in Need

bed had been moved in, and a mattress, a table, and food, and clothes.

On Monday J. H. Johnson, of 3405 W. 27th street, a retired business man who formerly operated the Devil's Shoe Shine string of stores downtown, telephoned the Eagle.

"My wife, Mrs. Lucille Johnson, called my attention to the article in the Eagle," he said, then added: "I've been reading the Eagle for 44 years (no it's not a typographical error—he meant 44 years).

Furnishes Home

"I've got a lot of furniture," he went on, "just about everything. We'll furnish the home."

Shields Van and Storage, 3416 S. St. Andrews place, volunteered a truck. On Tuesday, they backed up to Johnson's garage, and there under the direction of Mrs. Ella Mae Whitaker, president of the Jackie Robinson Philanthropic club, picked out everything that was needed, and carried it to Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Whitaker last week told the Eagle about the need of Mrs. Jones and her children. The Jackie Robinson club, she said, had been helping them out for three weeks, but they couldn't provide enough. Perhaps we could carry a little story . . .

Dozens Gave

There are literally dozens of people who offered and who gave.

Mrs. Joseph Reals, 158 N. Westmoreland avenue, was one of the first. She donated bed springs and a mattress.

Mrs. Marie and Eddie Lusk brought over a lot of clothes, 12 cans of milk—and promised to keep the babies supplied with milk as long as they need it.

Clarence Smith went to the Jones' home and got their gas, light and water bills, which he paid.

A group of men who live at 4170 Ascot street—and who gave their names only as George, Ike, Danny, Sylvester and Mr. Cozy—brought canned goods.

To Help Anothe

Others who gave — money, clothes, food or furniture — included:

The T Y Market, 4186 Ascot street; Mrs. I. Stevens, 1154 41st place, who gave clothes and money in the name of her Eastern Star Lodge; Mrs. Lucille Smith, 1404 E. 42nd street, who gave a bed; Ezell Wilson, 806 Jefferson; Mrs. E. V. Hughes, 4116 Wall street; Miss Wilma Palmer, 115 West 52nd street;

Mrs. Alice McKie; Mrs. Madeline Brooks, a mother in the Daughters of Zion church; Mrs. Harding; Mrs. Hazel Bejoul; Mrs. Peterson; Mrs. Davis; Miss Earline Gatson; Mrs. Rolson of the Grace Memorial church; Mrs. Frankie McChaney.

These, and others, gave to help another in distress.

The need was acute. The response was heart-warming.

Triplets Make Medical History

WILLIAMSTON, N. C.—Mrs. Viola Brown, 23-year-old wife of Pfc. Lonnie Brown, a soldier in Korea, made medical history last Friday when she gave birth to triplets, her fourth multiple birth in six years.

Quadruplets and quintuplets born in 1946 and 1950 respectively lived only a short time. Twins born last year and another son are living.

The new trio, all "doing nicely," weighed about 5 lbs. each.

No Equality In Separation

Seitz pointed out that educators, psychologists and anthropologists had testified about the evil effects of segregation on Negro children and concluded that such a practice "creates a mental health problem in Negro children."

Inequality, in the constitutional meaning of that word, exists he said, when any school maintained for whites offers any facility which is superior to that offered at Negro schools. He added that states which "divide their citizens" by race must pay the necessarily high price of maintaining exact equality at all times and for every child.

Turning to the plea, which had been heeded by Federal courts in Virginia and South Carolina, relief should be denied because plans were under way to equalize facilities, the jurist held that every citizen has a right to equality and that where Negro schools are inferior Negro children must be admitted to the superior white schools.

NAACP Slates Annual Parade For April 20

Plans are proceeding rapidly for the NAACP annual membership parade, scheduled for Sunday, April 20.

Clubs, business firms and other organizations wishing to participate are asked to telephone the NAACP office, ADams 1-8192 before April 15 to register your car so that the list of participants can be completed.

NAACP Parade

The parade will start promptly at 12:30 p.m. at 20th street between San Pedro and Central, and proceed south on Central to 51st street, west on 51st to Avalon blvd. and north on Avalon to Wrigley Field where the parade will disband.

On the same day, April 20, the Special Activities Committee of the NAACP is sponsoring its second Festival of Stars at the Florentine Gardens, 5955 Hollywood Blvd. from 6 to 10 p.m. A gala review featuring outstanding stars will be presented.

Watch newspapers, TV and listen to your radio for the names of your favorite stars who will appear. The show will be directed by Bennie Carter and Lillian Randolph with Ray Robinson, Hunter Hancock and Bill Sampson masters of ceremonies.

A goal of 10,000 members has been set by the local branch of the NAACP for its membership drive, according to Edward Atkinson, central chairman of the campaign. The drive is set to get underway on April 20.

Atkinson also announced that Co-Chairmen Lorenzo Bowdoin, Mrs. Lobella Dingee, Dr. H. C. Hudson and Mrs. Faustina Johnson are supervisors of the East, West, North and South areas respectively.

Although the area supervisors have secured forty of the fifty captains necessary, about 200 additional workers are needed all over the city it was pointed out.

Members of the campaign committee are urging volunteers to contact the NAACP office, ADams 4-3244 to offer their assistance in taking the drive to every citizen of Los Angeles.

Carver Plans Public School Week Affair

Carver Junior High School will celebrate Public Schools Week with an Open House to be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 22. This will be the first evening open house to be held at Carver Junior High School in several years, and it is hoped that a very substantial number of parents, as well as interested adults from the community, will avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the school.

A unique feature of the Open House will be a miniature school day for parents. Following a regular bell schedule, the parents will go from room to room with their children and teachers will explain and demonstrate the course of study or type of activity that goes on in the room. This program will make it possible for every parent to visit and meet each of his child's teachers and to become familiar with the subjects that the child is taking.

Brazier Hits Housing Policy Of Property Owners League

A statement sharply criticizing the attempt by the Small Property Owners League to use the recent bombings of Negro homes as propaganda against low-rent public housing was issued this week by Wesley Brazier, executive director of the Los Angeles Urban League.

Brazier's statement was prompted by a leaflet, which is being widely distributed to Negroes by the "Eastside Branch" of the Small Property Owners League.

"The Small Property Owners League and the Real Estate Lobby, which they represent, have done everything they could over the years to keep Negroes from renting and buying where they wish," Brazier stated. "now they pretend to be interested in unrestricted real estate.

"They have the brazen effrontery to attempt to use these bombings as a spring board for their propaganda," Brazier's statement said, "and yet it is they who have brought about most of the difficulties which minority groups have had in finding homes to buy and rent.

"These are the people who have continued to spread the lie that property values drop when Negroes or other minority groups move into an area," the statement continued. "These are the same people who, by every propaganda trick they could devise, have worked to perpetuate segregation. Now, when it suits their purpose, they are trying to make us believe that they are interested in the Negro being able to Rent, Buy, Live, anywhere in the City."

Play Injuries Hospitalize Two

Two small boys were treated at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital last Wednesday for injuries received while playing.

J. D. Adams, treated for a laceration on the head, was running in the back yard of his home at 1114 East 10th Street when he tripped and struck his head on a concrete walk. His mother, Mrs. Bertha Adams, brought him to the hospital.

Mrs. Barbara Ricks, of 206 W. 50th Street, said her son, Douglas, 15 months, climbed up on the sink and drank some Purex. Doctors at the hospital rinsed his stomach out with vinegar. Both boys were released to their mothers.

Honor First Negro Doctor

WASHINGTON—The first American Negro to obtain a medical degree, Dr. James McCune Smith, is featured as the front cover illustration of the March issue of the Journal of the National Medical Association. The drawing by the Journal staff artist is from a photograph of the physician who received his medical degree as well as his B.A. and M.A. from the University of Glasgow, Scotland.

Dr. Smith was born in New York City in 1811 and received his early education in the New African Free School established by the New York Manumission Society. Unable to obtain admission to institutions of higher learning in his own land he went to Scotland in 1832, graduating in 1837. He practiced in New York City.

Conference Junior College Music festival in Riverside where the choir will vacation at the Old Mission Inn.

The A Cappella choir is a 19-year-old tradition of the music department of Los Angeles City College. Organized in 1931 by its present director, the original group was one of the earliest that pioneered the revival of choral singing in the West. The City College choir has always maintained a top standard and a foremost place in the choral music scene.

For several years the choir has won national acclaim through performances before the annual conventions of Music Educators National Conference. The choir has sung at the world-famed Hollywood Bowl and has appeared on many national broadcasts.

A few months ago they made their formal debut on television with the National Broadcasting Company, and recently was heard with Eddie Cantor on "The Gray Cross Song Festival." The Choir's personnel represents more than 20 communities in Southern California. Dr. G. W. Reed, dean of the Reed College of Religion, has been selected by the promoter to deliver the Easter message.

Shape of Things to Come

A fresh wind blew out of Delaware last week when District Judge Seitz held unequivocally that:

"State-imposed segregation in education ITSELF results in Negro children, as a class, receiving educational opportunities which are substantially inferior to those available to white children similarly situated."

Every American knows that what the jurist said is profoundly true. There is no equality for Negroes under a separate school system. The justices of the United States Supreme Court are among those who know it. The NAACP which presented this case has reached another milestone in its long fight for equality.

Yet, as the Delaware judge said, the Supreme Court has consistently evaded the problem and has sought to escape its plain responsibility to boot out the "separate but equal" fiction.

In fact, after Judge Seitz made his finding of inequality he held with apparent regret that he could not give that conclusion the force of law because of a long series of Supreme Court holdings. He said: "It is for the Supreme Court to re-examine its doctrine in the light of my findings." It is for us to press the battle until that court does re-examine its doctrine.

In spite of having to follow what he feels to be an erroneous ruling of the nation's highest court, the judge did order admission of Negroes to "white schools" on the ground that the "Negro schools" were inferior. He refused to wait until Delaware had the time to "equalize" the schools, saying quite correctly that the constitutional provision of equality of treatment for citizens means that they are entitled to such benefits now, and not at some mythical day in the far-distant future. "To postpone such relief is to deny relief," he said, "and to say that the protective features of the constitution offer no immediate protection."

What Judge Seitz said last week will be the law of the land in some not-too-distant tomorrow. Over a period of the past 20 years the NAACP has been successful in overthrowing what seemed to be some of the most strongly entrenched Jim Crow practices. All that it needs in order to win this battle is the consistent support of all Americans who believe that democracy is more than a word.

Fishing in Troubled Waters

The Communists are fishing in the troubled waters of the Dunsmuir bombing by branding the outrage a "crime of genocide" and by insinuating, as subtly as their leaden footed tactics permit, that city police and public officials are shielding those responsible.

The "genocide" charge fits in with the latest Communist party line to the effect that all crimes of violence against Negroes fall under the definition of "genocide" as developed by the United Nations. That crime is defined as the systematic destruction of a people by the government under which they live. And while government in the United States, federal, local and state, has been remiss in many instances in extending efficient protection to Negroes there isn't any basis for confusing outrages visited on Negroes by private individuals (and in many instances by persons clothed with legal status) with systematic governmental action. Violence against Negroes, even when it goes unpunished, is contrary to law and is not sanctioned by it. It is nonsense, and worse, to call the Dunsmuir bombing a "crime of genocide."

What it all adds up to is the fact that every instance in which the law fails to protect Negroes and every case in which constitutional rights of Negroes are violated supplies propaganda for the Communists. Those who entertain prejudice may well ask themselves if they don't value it too highly when their practice of it redounds to the advantage of the enemies of democracy.

As for the police, we're convinced that they're trying to apprehend the bombers. The use being made of the case by anti-democratic propagandists should influence them to redouble their efforts to track down the perpetrators of the outrage.

Not With Our Money

The George McClain sponsored amendment to the California constitution which would prohibit appropriations by county Boards of Supervisors to private organizations has apparently qualified for the ballot. The people will vote on it in November.

The amendment is aimed at such organizations as Chambers of Commerce, state or local, which attempt to influence legislation. There is a great deal of merit in the proposal.

For example, the local Chamber of Commerce has received a goodly sum of tax money for the past few years. Ostensibly this money has been given to the Chamber to promote Los Angeles' bid for industry and tourists. At the same time the Chamber has maintained an expensive and powerful lobby in Sacramento and one of the things that the Chamber bragged about last year was its influence in helping defeat an FEPC.

Thus it appears that Negroes shelled out tax money to the Chamber to help that organization defeat legislation of primary importance to all of us. That's only a sample of the instances in which we've been paying taxes to our opponents to help them kick us in the teeth.

We're all for expenditures of limited public funds to help sell the Los Angeles story to the rest of the country but if private groups are to get such funds they certainly shouldn't spend them in lobbying for or against legislation.

CSES Job Policy Approved

One of the "reasons" assigned by those who are wedded to Jim Crow policies or practices is that any change may provoke violent opposition. For months we urged that the California State Employment Service abandon its policy of filling lily white job orders.

Obviously sincere, but timid, liberals objected. They were afraid that the functions of CSES would be disrupted. After much backing and filling, CSES last fall did make the change we had been suggesting. It announced that it would not fill discriminatory orders.

The sun did not fall from the heavens, nor did employers rise up in righteous wrath as the timid had feared. Figures are important:

In January, 1951, SIXTY-SEVEN per cent of the job orders received by CSES were discriminatory.

In January, 1952, ONLY FOUR per cent of the job orders were discriminatory and of those four per cent only ONE per cent canceled the order rather than bow to the new CSES policy.

That doesn't mean that some employers didn't bootleg discrimination in at the back door by refusing to hire qualified Negro workers sent them by CSES but that percentage must be low.

What CSES did do was to take the state out of the business of conniving at discrimination against its own citizens and put its resources squarely back of the sound American principle that every man is entitled to work at the job for which he is qualified without regard to the accident of his race or color.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

President Truman's announcement that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself, and more especially, his declaration that he will not take an active part in choosing the Democratic nominee, put the Negro voter in something of a pickle.

As far as the rank and file Negro voter was concerned, Mr. Truman was the best possible candidate in sight. There were many who were dissatisfied with the President for one reason or another, and many had been lured back into the Republican ranks in a sort of protest against the Dixiecrat tail wagging the Democratic dog, but the average man in the street still would have voted for Truman next November.

Now that Truman is out, what will the Negro do? In the Democratic party he has, as of today, a choice between Stevenson, Kefauver, Kerr, and Russell in roughly that order. Stevenson is far and away (from the strict Negro standpoint) the best candidate on civil rights, good government, and so-called Fair Deal policies. He has wobbled on FEPC, saying somewhere along the line that he thinks such matters should be left to the states, but otherwise a good man. Kefauver has a very good record in Congress on everything except civil rights. There he is a Tennesseean through and through. He might change his tune a little now, since Truman is out and Russell is sure to get the southern states. Kefauver is now forced to look for strength among Democrats outside the South and that means among Negro Democrats of the North. Kerr of Oklahoma and Russell of Georgia are impossible as far as Negroes are concerned. Unlike many southern politicians Russell is not only a smart operator, but an intelligent and able man. But he has a big black, blind spot: he believes in white supremacy, in strict Jim Crow down the line, and in no federal action whatsoever to improve the condition of Negroes.

On the Republican side Negroes are faced with Eisenhower, Taft, Warren and Stassen. Ike seems to be riding a tide at the moment and many of the colored brethren are riding with him. No one knows what he thinks on civil rights matters, but he did speak out in 1948 in support of Jim Crow in the Army. There are hints here and there that four years and the experience of mixed troops in Korea may have changed the General's mind, but nothing has been said. On other questions Ike is a mystery and Negroes, like other American voters, do not vote for mysteries.

Taft, everybody knows, or should know by now, He has campaigned in the South saying he was for states' rights. He said that while it is all right for Negroes and whites to go to college together, he doesn't think the Federal government should abolish Jim Crow schools. He believes in a voluntary FEPC law with no teeth to make anyone obey it. There he stands for all to see. If Negroes want what he offers (a 1902 program in 1952) then they should vote for him.

Stassen is running hard but going nowhere. That leaves Warren who, to the Negroes back East, is as much a mystery as is Eisenhower. On the Negro question what is there in the Warren record beside the appointment of Walter Gordon to a responsible position? Warren appears personally to be a very likable guy with a philosophy more liberal than the average Republican, but California Negroes could do the rest of their race a favor by giving the lowdown on the governor of the Golden State.

There they are. You pays your money and you takes your choice. And which one of them, Democrats or Republican, has spoken out, straight from the shoulder, in simple, homely words on civil rights like the twangy-voiced Man from Missouri? What a measuring rod he left for them!

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

Like any other individual with a normal regard for the esteem of his fellowmen, I treasure very deeply my inclusion among the ten American individuals and organizations cited by the National Negro Publishers Association for the John J. Russwurm 1952 Award. The award is named in honor of the revered pioneer among Negro newspaper publishers; the citations are for notable service in the promotion of better human relations. When I received word of my inclusion in Portland, Oregon, via radio announcement, I felt very good indeed.

I felt even better, however, over the fact that Dwight R. O. Palmer was also named. Not only because I know the man well, have worked with him closely and admire him unreservedly, but also because I cannot imagine any recipient being more worthy of recognition from the Negro newspaper publisher.

As chairman of the board of General Cable Corporation, Dwight Palmer heads the world's largest producers of copper wire. He is, therefore, a terrifically busy person. Yet for the past eight or nine years he has had time to enter wholeheartedly into the struggle for equal economic opportunity, and to bring into that struggle the full influence of his powerful company. During the war he flew to St. Louis to speak personally with his company's employees and thereby quash the threat of a walkout over the upgrading of Negro workers. After the war he served as the most influential member of the President's Committee on Equal Treatment and Opportunity in the Armed Services. He is now chairman of President Truman's Committee on Government Contract Compliance. In between these assignments he has found time to head the Urban League's financial campaigns.

I do not know of another instance in American history when so outstanding and experienced an industrialist has given so much of his personal time and contributed so much of his own company's influence to seeking a square deal for the Negro worker. And let no one doubt the fact that this has required courage. The business or industrial tycoon who follows up preachment about better race relations with actual practice and personal example is apt to be regarded as "just a little queer" by his more conservative and cautious brethren. And most leaders of finance or industry would rather be regarded as a little immortal than a little queer.

What makes Mr. Palmer even more amazing is the fact that he has brought his entire company into support of his personal efforts. It is easy to find a white speaker of prominence who will make a "liberal" address to a Negro audience—or even to a white audience presumed to be sympathetic. It is harder—much harder—to get that speaker to address in similar vein a white audience that is skeptical, or possibly hostile to the liberal tradition. And it is practically impossible to get a big industrial corporation repeatedly to identify itself with the Negro worker's struggle for a place in the sun of equal job opportunity—to practice and advertise its practice of fair employment policies.

Here is a man who is himself a native of St. Louis, speaking through his great company to white and Negro Americans in southern as well as northern cities, and declaring himself unreservedly on the side of fair play—of Democracy—in every part of this country. And to drive home the point, the advertisement carries the pictures of the crew's members smiling and waving—whites and Negroes together—as they returned to an American port.

ON THE BOOKSHELF

A TWO-PARTY SOUTH
By Alexander Heard

The increasing Negro vote in the South is a major factor in the growth of a real two-party system in this region. That is the belief of Alexander Heard, an experienced political scientist, in his new book, "A Two-Party South?"

After a three-year study of Southern politics in eleven states Heard is certain that a two-party system is coming in the South, and he is convinced that the Negro vote will hasten its development.

In the six chapters of his book devoted to Negro politics, the author points out that the destruction in 1948 of the white primary removed an historical barrier to the growth of the Southern Republican party.

"The Negro is strengthening the liberal wing of the Democratic party in several states," Heard says. "And in doing so, he is helping to make that party unsatisfactory for the conservative Democrats, who already are restless and who are the most likely recruits for the Southern Republicans. Thus the Negro is encouraging the growth of competitive party politics in a very real way."

Professor Heard, who is on the staff of the University of North Carolina, has had extensive practical experience and has contributed to earlier books on Southern politics. In "A Two-Party South," he presents the most detailed, up-to-date discussion available of Negro politics in this region.

JEFFERSON SELLECK by Carl Jonas.

One of the most difficult feats in the novel is to have a character tell about himself without realizing the implications of what he is telling: he has to "give himself away" to the reader without ever knowing he has done so. J. P. Marquand is a master of this technique of unconscious irony; and in this new first novel, we find another beautiful example of such writing at its best. Bedridden in his middle fifties, a midwest business man looks back on his life and estimates it. He explores his marriage, his business, his interest in politics. How well he knows himself after this reappraisal of his past is a question; but certainly the reader knows him as he knows few characters in contemporary fiction.

THE LOST CHILDHOOD AND OTHER ESSAYS by Graham Greene.

A personal history evolves out of many things—memories of books that delighted one as an adolescent, a sudden awareness of a moment isolating itself from the routine of daily life, an attempt to set down one's concept of man to God and to his fellows. Facets of all these are reflected in a collection spanning 20 years of contributions to British periodicals. Graham Green's readers who have followed his novels from "entertainments" to the dramatic studies of good and evil that make his one of the notable names in modern fiction will find these pages as well a revelation of the man, his attitudes and sympathies.

BILL MAULDIN'S AMERICA by Bill Mauldin.

Somehow, seven and eight years after we first saw their faces, Willie and Joe, the hairy-faced heroes of Bill Mauldin's cartoons, seem to be even funnier, their comments perhaps somewhat less bitter than when they first appeared in the pages of newspapers during the war. Now all grouped together so as to provide variations on the eternal themes of army life—vehicles, food, officers, these cartoons will awaken nostalgia for some, laughter for others, and for many, admiration that has not lessened for the ordinary individual who fought the battles and the sensitive draftsman who put their chronicle into pictures.

Letters to the Editor

GLAD TO HELP

Dear Sir:

Please accept the thanks of the officers and directors of this Association for the cooperation you and your staff extended during the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale.

We are closing our books on March 31, and at that time will have in excess of $527,000, a record Christmas Seal Sale for Los Angeles County. Although this is somewhat short of the $550,000 goal that had been established for this campaign, the community may be confident that every effort will be made to conduct the maximum program of tuberculosis control possible with the funds available.

The newspapers of Los Angeles County may well be proud of the role they played in this campaign, for without the publicity yours and other newspapers have so generously given, the Christmas Seal Sale would not have been as successful as it was.

To the Association's official thanks I would, of course, like to add my own expression of gratitude for your help.

Cordially,
Bob Scholl
Publicity Director

RHODES SETS RECORD AS JEFF BOPS GARFIELD

Jefferson high's mighty track juggernaut rolled over Garfield, 88 to 16, last Friday at Garfield, and were another leg up on the defense of the league championship.

Garfield broke into the win column only twice, and one of them was a gift.

In a thrilling half-mile race, McMann of Jefferson tasted his first defeat of the season when he lost to Rias by five strides. In the eight-man mile relay, Jefferson was leading by 120 yards when the sixth pass of the baton resulted in a foul, disqualifying the Jefferson team and giving Garfield an automatic first.

High-spot of the meet was the record-breaking pole vaule of O. W. Rhodes. The standard was set at 13 feet and Rhodes cleared it easily. An exact measurement showed a slight sag in the pole, reducing it to 12 feet 9 inches. The standard was set at 13 feet 3 inches and on the third try Rhodes cleared it by three inches. Measurement of the sag revealed the height to be 13 feet ¾ inch, a new school record.

ON THE TURF

Spartan Melody, the four-year-old son of Hollywood-Meldoy Meadows, impressed the 7500 lovers of the sport of kings in winning the main event called the Indiana Allowance last Sunday at the border course. It was his first start in life. Given a well-timed ride by Ramsey Powell, the gelding threw a withering challange at the pace-setting Red Junior in the stretch, passed that good sprinter and held to score by a half-length, paying a nice $8.60. Go Charm, one of the fastest sprinters on the grounds, scooted home in the co-feature billed as the Delaware.

Taking the lead at the break, the son of imported Arigotal-Silver Charm never looked back and was two lengths the best of the field at the finish line. Made favorite on the morning line he paid in the mutuels $4.20. The time for the six furlongs was 1.11 3/5.

The daily-double on Saturday paid $217.40, while on Sunday the combination of Compotten, winner of the fourth race and Vain William, victor of the fifth, paid its lucky holders $57.20. The quniela backers of Vendtreze and Tony's Empress, who finished in that order, received $20.20.

Managing Director Walter C. Marty announced that Saturday racing will be discontinued after two more Saturdays. Then the regular Sunday racing will continue.

ALPHAS UPSET DOPE, TRIM KAPPAS AS OMEGAS OVERPOWER SIGMAS

While the front-running Omegas were taking an almost mortal cinch on winning this year's interfraternity basketball flag by trouncing the Sigmas, 67 to 50, the underdog Alphas blasted the defending champion Kappa's title hopes with a 49-to-45 victory at Loyola gym Saturday night.

The Ed Tucker-less Omegas sputtered around in the first half and were hanging on to a slim 28-to-27 advantage at half time but they turned on the speed in the last half and simply outran, outpassed and outclassed their rivals. Whatever slim hopes the Sigmas had vanished when Bobby Pounds fouled out in the early minutes of the second half. From that point on, Ivan Robinson, Algin Sutton, Vernon Melton and Roosevelt Grigsby had their own way—and it was a pretty dazzling way. Doug Shaw co-starred for the Sigmas with Pounds, with teammates doing the best they could.

The Kappas got off to an early lead and bucketed five points before the Alphas got under way. They were still hanging on to a 10 to 7 lead at the end of the first quarter and had a 20 to 20 tie going at half time. As the second half opened the Alphas racked up six points within a few minutes, four by the field goal route and two gift tosses. The Kappas never really got back into the game after that spurt.

The Alphas had a 37 to 28 lead at the end of the third quarter and the best that the Kappas could do was to shorten the dance to two points without about two minutes to go. The Alphas started playing keep-away and when their foes came out after them they responded by driving for lay-ups and wound up with a four point bulge.

The Alpha victory was largely a team affair with the pesky Hill twins, Hugo and Kenneth, outspeeding the bewildered Crimson and Cream warriors and with Center John Barber bedeviling the Kappas with his tipins. Clayton Moore and Ike Jones did their part too and to add insult to injury Joe Oliver came out of the past to steady the Alphas at critical moments.

The Kappas started a quintet consisting of John Moore, Gene Williams, Harold Garrison, Pete O'Garo and Ernie Powell but even with assitance from Dave Williams, Norman Ward and Ed Nichols the team never warmed up to the task of working together. Their shooting from both the field and the free throw lines left much to be desired and the defensive work was almost non-existent.

Next week will see the Alphas pitted against the Omegas while the Kappas will take on the Sigmas—the only team they have been able to beat. An Omega victory will almost cinch the crown for them but the Alphas can get right in the thick of the battle with a win. The Kappas have an iffy chance to tie for the flag. If they win all of their remaining games and if the Alphas beat the Omegas and if the Sigmas can then trim both the Omegas and the Alphas the series would wind up with all three leaders sharing a four won and two lost showing you can even the Sigmas into a four way tie if you like. It goes like this: if the Sigmas win all three remaining games and if the Kappas then beat the Omegas and the Alphas and if the Omegas drop all three remaining tussles, then all four teams will have won three and lost three. One last if: if you want a safe bet take the Omegas.

Saturday's frays were highlighted by a momentary show of tempers between Dave Williams and Barber but cooler judgments prevailed and the boys shook hands. Gene Williams came up with a thoroughly bloody nose in the last minute but there were no serious injuries.

BASKETBALL SCORES

Omegas, 28, Sigmas, 27, half time score. Final scores Omegas, 67, Sigmas, 27.

Kappas, 20, Alpha, 20, half time score. Final 45-49.

High point men—Pete O'Gara (11), J. Moore (9), Barber (14), Joe Oliver (10). Oliver picked up ten points in last half.

Boxing Briefs

The Illinois State Athletic Commission took a slap at the Jimmy Carter-Lauro Salas Olympic championship bout. Chairman Joe Triner said Carter's 15-round win should not be counted as a title defense since Salas is California's featherweight champion and lacks lightweight ranking.

TOMMY HARRISON defeated Abel Fernandez at the Hollywood Legion to win the state light-heavy title.

LUTHER RAYLINGS, Chicago No. 1 lightweight conténder, is demanding a title bout with Jimmy Carter, who is said to be forestalling his bid for a shot at the crown.

GRAZIANO SAYS HE'LL STOP RAY

Rockey (Cocky) Graziano, boxing's problem boy, is talking again. The tough 'Rock" says he will take Ray Robinson's middleweight title with a knockout.

The 15-round bout will be held April 16 in Chicago Stadium. Graziano is training in a Chicago gym and along with his trainer Al Sivani made the predictions.

JUMPING FOR JOY—Rollin Garrison, pride of the southeast side, who made a sensational leap of 24 feet, 3¾ inches against Long Beach Poly recently. Currently setting the pace in the frantic prep race and defeated only by San Diego high's Parker, Garrison is expected to make a strong bid against Rosslyn Range, "Demo-dasher," in the great state meet on May 24th. This week's Corner is dedicated to Regis College in Denver, Colo., for the fine sense of democracy and decency they are displaying. The following is reprinted from the Regis Roundup.

By JOHN O'HAYRE

Walt Springs, a Negro boy who attended Regis College in the early 1940's and who was shot to death in Texas nine years ago while in the army, is being made to live again by his former classmates.

A memorial scholarship, dedicated in honor of Walt, has been started by those who knew and loved him at Regis, where he was a fine student, a gifted athlete, and an all-round wonderful guy.

The scholarship will be perpetual. Each year it will take care of a Negro boy and a white boy, supplying each with books, tuition, board and room, and whatever other expenses are necessary.

The scholarship is unique: There are few scholarships in the nation dedicated to Negroes, and there is none that educates a Negro and a white boy at the same time.

After much discussion by the scholarship committee on what type of scholarship ought to be set up and because of the circumstances surrounding Walt's death, it was decided that this dual scholarship would be the one paying the greatest tribute to this fine young Negro convert.

The decision to make the scholarship one that would educate a Negro boy and a white boy at the same time was based primarily on an article dealing with Walt's death that appeared first in the Interracial Review, later in the Negro Digest, and finally in the Catholic Digest. The article, "He Fought for the Four Freedoms," was written by a Riegs Jesuit, Father Joseph Donnelly, who was a great friend of Walt.

Father Donnelly wrote:

Walter was a junior in college. . . . He enlisted. . . . He told me he wanted to get into this war, for he hoped that he would aid in the elimination of race prejudice. . . . And now he is dead. . . . He died violently, suddenly, from gunshot wounds. . . . He died from a bullet fired by an American citizen on American soil. . . . The hand which struck him down is owned by a man with a WHITE FACE. . . ."

And now, ironically enough, men with "white faces" are trying to raise Walt back up.

The idea for the Memorial Scholarship came out of the head and heart of a man who went to school with Walt and played football with him. That man's name is Don Christopher. He now lives with his wife and daughter in Casper, Wyoming.

Walt was killed December 17, 1942. And nearly nine years later to the day, a letter from Don Christopher arrived at the college. With the letter was a $50 check.

I quote from the letter:

"The enclosed is donated to Regis in honor of Walter Springs, a classmate of mine and a boy I much admired for his sportsmanship and spirit of fair play. Walt loved Regis and all that it stands for, and few of us really knew or realized the great sacrifices he made in order that he might attend . . ."

And Don Christopher went on to say it was his hope and intention that the money be used to start a "Walter Springs Memorial Scholarship."

And that's just what it's being used for.

Gene Smith Wins 30th Straight

Washington—Gene Smith, red hot Washington, D. C. 128-pounder, scored his 30th straight win by decision against Glen Flannas of St. Paul.

Smith is the greatest drawing card since the days of sensational Aaron Perry, 17-year-old lightweight.

Lovely Haroldine Brewington

BILL SMALLWOOD

Warmly admirable, Mrs. Blanche Strickland's open-hearted gesture in throwing open that palatial home of hers to the throng of guests who attended the Browning-Brewington nuptials last Saturday. Seems as if long years back she decided when Haroldine's great day did come it would be she who would provide the setting for the reception to follow. And elegant it was. Surely no bridal pair this season or the next will receive a more impressive wealth of gifts! Enough to overfill even that spacious Strickland house, in fact; novel touch, too, the gifts were on informal display there through the days (til the pair returns (today) from honeymooning. They left by air last Sunday; Haroldine smart in a blue and gray suit, navy accessories and wearing her bridegroom's very special orchid.

Her Aunt

Haroldine's aunt, Margaret Ann Browning, here from K.C. for the event, is remaining. The Robert Evanses (Mrs. E. made Maurine's dress) were also celebrating an anniversary Satd., their own twenty-fifth. She wore white orchids to mark the day. They return to their S.F. home this weekend. Leontyne King, her usual touch of the perfect well evident, directed the wedding itself; Maurice did the coiffures; Corona Bauman dressed the bride and bridesmaids; Gladys Owens Smith comes in, too, for a share of well-deserved plaudits since she did all the flowers.

Mentioning Mrs. Strickland, she will be off soon to Hot Springs for the baths and relaxation. Some business en route too.

Atlantic City's eminent Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Lucas (he's head of that city's Board of Education; and uncle of Bob Allen, here) leave this weekend, continuing their transcontinental trip. The Allen Woodards were dinner hosts for them Wedn. at King's on Sunset Blvd. Mentioning the Woodards, her sister Shirley's wedding has been announced by their parents, the Charles Dunns. She weds James Alphonse Green on the twenty-sixth. Mrs. Lueth Jackson became a bride last Saturday when she quietly wed Ted Garrett.

Atty. and Mrs. Earl Broady's Sunday evening dinner party for Maj. and Mrs. Baxter Scruggs had the continental flavor, indeed. Formally served, it had the rare combination of conversation sparkle and genuine excellent taste. There: the Dr. Thomas Griffins, the Dr. Warner Wrights, the Dr. Henry Butlers, the Atty. Loren Millers. Billie Oliver and her son in town briefly visiting the Paul Hickmans. Returning home they will visit K.C. and a few other places. The Atty. Dave Williamses and sons got off via air last Friday for their extended trip south of the Rio Grande. Due: Hobson Reynolds. Dr. Ralph Bunche. And of a sudden I wonder if Evelyn Reynolds will make the trek with Hobson. Usually they stop with the Elliot Carpenters. Virus victim: Byron Webb's mother.

In N.Y.: Dr. Gertie Curtis Thompson, who left last week. Catherine Dickerson home again in Chi, after relaxing on the warm sands of Nassau. Betty Scott well on the mend after surgery at Queen of Angels. There will be no new baby in their house, alas.

Photog Charles Williams, not too long out've the hospital, had a slight letdown over the weekend. He's okay again. Thelma Lee Wallace's engagement is off. Lady Zeniths: Thanks, but thanks! Jim Yerby Doram (she and husband Art may be here this summer) is nursing her very ill mother hospitalized in Chi after an accident. Downright stunning schoolmarm: Eileen Kaiser. Looks more like a model right STUNNING DECORATIONS—Formed the background of the Browning-Brewington bridal party as they gathered after simple, impressive rites were performed. Pictured with the bride are her attendants, Jessel King, Marilyn Jones, Adelaide Barker and Ann Dickinson, matron of honor. They wore gowns of organza decorated with tulle bows and sashes. Yellow and blue were the colors selected throughout the wedding pattern. Flowers used were jonquils, roses, lillies of the valley, stephanotis and orchids.

Doll League's Easter Party Benefits Needy

Easter Sunday's cocktail party at the Florentine Gardens is being planned to include as many lavish productions as possible, to arouse the public's interest in making the affair a "must" to attend. The reason for doing this is to provide an iron lung for polio victims, and second to give underprivileged children dolls and toys during the Christmas holiday season with money collected.

The Doll League Charity Club is sponsoring the big event with its attractive members serving as hostesses. Evelyn Royal, chairman, has scheduled some of the biggest names in show business to appear for the philanthropic cause. A few included are Hadda Brooks, Noble and King, Bobby Short, and many more outstanding entertainers.

Curtain will go up at 7:30 and reservations can be made for club groups or parties of 10 or more by calling AX. 3-0397 and paid in advance of Sunday.

Haroldine Browning Marriage Attracts International Attention

National and international interest was focused on the wedding of Miss Haroldine Leola Browning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Harold Browning, an old California family, and Robert Benjamin Brewington, last Saturday afternoon. Brewington is the son of Mrs. Benjamin Carter and the late Wright B. Brewington, a pioneer Ohio family. The rites were held at the People's Independent Church of Christ, with Rev. Clayton D. Russell officiating.

MUSIC

Tender musical selections were presented a few minutes before wedding rites. Artists rendering selections were James Fastina, Ginger Smock, Mrs. Marguerite Hairston, Mary Louise Baker, Gloria Roberts and Fannie Benjamin.

IMPRESSIVE DECORATIONS

Wedding decorations were designed by Mrs. Gladys Owens Smith, an early resident who was present at the wedding of the bride's parents in Los Angeles 39 years ago. A yellow and blue color scheme was impressively used. The altar was simply and stunningly decorated with large potted fern balls forming a semi-circle. In the center of this half circle was a massive arrangement of yellow English gorse

NEWLYWEDS AND ATTENDANTS—Two well known Angelenos were linked in marriage. They were James B. Cookie, upper left and Mrs. Albert Gower Cookie, upper right. Attending in the quiet, picturesque rites were Mrs. Almeas Davis, manager Cookie's Flower and Gift shop; the newlyweds and Rodney Bell.

Wed In Quiet Ceremony

In the presence of only close friends, the quiet, picturesque wedding of two established Angelenos took place at Victory Baptist Church last week. Rites were officiated by Rev. A. A. Peters, Elk brother of the groom.

The marriage brings together two very well-known and successful business people of the Eastside. James B. Cookie, better known as "Cookie," is a prominent Elk holding the office of Grand Director of Decorations. He comes from one of the old pioneer families of Los Angeles and made a name for himself as an athlete while attending Jefferson High School, winning letters in track, baseball, basketball and football.

The former Mrs. Alberta Bell Gower, attractive widow of the late Truman Gower of Simpkins and Gower Enterprises, Inc., has been running this very successful business since taking over management.

Vi's Column

This is gonna have a familiar sound. Try to hold back your laughter, 'cause this time it's for real—there will be no more "VI'S COLUMN."

There's a valid reason for this announcement this time. We're making organizational changes at the EAGLE.

Your new society editor will be Miriam Christian who, up till now, has edited the church pages. Vi Moten Brown (me) will be connected with what we call the "news" department.

So beginning now, please direct your social reports to Miss Christian instead of to Mrs. Brown.

Deadlines will remain the same. Your club or individual social news MUST be in the office of the New California Eagle by 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon if you expect it to be printed the same week you send or bring it in.

So now we say aloha to "Society Editing" and hello to being a "newspaperwoman" again.—Vi.

Sir Debuteers Plan First Big Dance at Coffee

The fast rising Sir Debuteers Social Club met Sunday, May 6 at the home of John C. Hill. A coffee sip and brief informal discussion of the coming dance was the reason for the get-to-gether. The dance, which is the first affair of its kind, is expected to upset all others given by the club.

Officers and members are going all out to make it the most important of the year. They are including many friends and associates to join in the attempt by purchasing tickets now available.

BEAMING WINNER REGEIVES CONGRATULATIONS —Out of six intelligent civic and religious minded girls emerged the winner of the orchid girl contest at Woodlawn YWCA last Friday, who was selected by Mrs. Honore Levy, vocational councelor of Jefferson High school, and Mrs. E. W. Rakestraw, president Avalon Community center board. Other judges not pictured were Mrs. Ella K. Mays, branch public relations chairman; Miriam Christian, California Eagle, and Mildred Thomas, Dearborn Supply representative of Chicago. Carmelita Weathers, student of Jefferson High, was judged the best contestant for the honor of flying to Honolulu and returning with first shipment of orchids to be sold in Los Angeles. Other contestants were Eula Anthony, Rochelle Williams, Goldie Fulther, Clara Gray and Gay Lacy. The girls look on as Mrs. Kathryn Kinney congratulates and Mrs. Levy, left, and Mrs. Rakestraw, right, show approval.

French Colonial Atmosphere Drapes Bridges-Braxton Rites

By MIRIAM CHRISTIAN

A French colonial atmosphere draped the provincial wedding of Miss Betty Jean Bridges to Frank Braxton Jr. last Sunday afternoon. The huge impressive double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Clayton Russell at Peoples Independent Church of Christ. The bride, daughter of Atlas and Lula Bridges, was a prominent member of the young social set of Los Angeles.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Braxton Sr., is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi and active participant of the city's junior social whirl.

Bridal Party

A packed auditorium witnessed the perfectly timed processional led by six bridesmaids dressed in green moire paneled gowns topped with capelets. Rhinestone clips and earrings, presented by the bride added exquisite beauty. Shocking pink bouquets of carnations completed the ensemble.

Maid of Honor, Louise Ateman, was gowned in the same design but in the color of brilliant pink. Her arms held carnations of yellow hue. Her sister and matron of honor, Dolle Williams, followed wearing the same creation in vibrant yellow, carrying a lavender bouquet.

Ring bearer was in the tiny person of Glenn Williams, nephew of the bride. His midget size black suit was emphasized by a black bow tie. He carried the double rings on a fray of material made from the bride's gown.

Strewing small flower buds to the music of the traditional march came Susie Alston, the bride's niece, and Carole Alston. Their gowns were also of French models similar to a Cinderella effect.

Halo Tiara

The beautiful halo was an original chapeau. The tiara was studded with pearls. The dress had an apron caught in back with twenty-five yards of material forming tiered panel pleatings. Mutton-leg sleeves of lace were adorned with beads and pearls.

A prayer book covered in chantilly lace was decorated with a white jeweled orchid. Stephanotis and orchids created the bridal bouquet.

Best man was a life long friend of the groom. Ulysses Ware returned from Korea in time to serve his childhood playmate. Ushers included Lorenzo Wallace, Ulysses Griggs, Phyrom Taylor, Harvey Gilgood, Irlton French, James Gautt and John L. Stafford.

Bridesmaids were Catherine Allen Baker, Alma Johnson, Iris Taylor, Anne Allen, Charlotte Johnson and Camille Billops.

on either side of which were six tall blue tapers.

The gorse provided a lovely English touch of sentiment.

Candle bearers were subdebutantes Sheila Montgomery and Elaine De Lavallade wearing yellow patterned organdy dresses with blue tulle bows and sashes. Jessel King, Marilyn Jones and Adelaide Barker served as bridesmaids. They wore blue organza gowns and carried yellow jonquils with tulle streamers.

The matron of honor, Ann Dickinson, also wore a blue organza gown and carried a large bouquet of yellow Talisman roses.

Little Joy Atkinson was flower girl and charming in a long ruffled organza dress carrying a ribbon and net basket filled with stephanotis.

BRIDE'S ENSEMBLE

The bride was appealingly lovely as she gracefully moved down the long aisle on her father's arm. Her gown was a Cahill original, made of sheer marquisette. An applique of embroidered organdy outlined the neckline and was also used on the long chapel train. The bridal veil, a Gladys Smith creation, was of tulle and was framed with lilies of the valley.

She carried a bouquet of stephanotis, lilies of the valley and white orchids. Tucked in the center was an heirloom sprig of waxed orange blossoms which has been used by six brides of the Thomas Moss family of Memphis, Tenn., relatives of the bride's mother.

GROOM'S ATTENDANTS

The groom was attended by George Houston, best man; and ushers Paul Weaver, Phyromn Taylor, Leslie King, Barrington Tate, Wallace DeCuir and Maurice Jones. Small Glen Houston in a white suit was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a chantilly lace cinnamon chiffon gown with an orchid corsage. The groom's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Carter, wore an aqua moise taffeta with pink orchid corsage.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

Many of the distinguished guests who attended the ceremony were present at the wedding here of the bride's parents back in 1913 and others had known the family intimately during their long sojourn in London where Haroldine was born. Miss Leslie Hutchinson, young barrister of London, was a childhood playmate of the bride.

The Elliott Carpenters, old London friends of the family, were present as well as Mr. U. S. Thompson (previously married to the late Florence Mills). From San Francisco came Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans; the latter designed the bride's mother's wedding gown and also here for the occasion was Mr. Harry Johnson of Sacramento, who had provided a honeymoon lodge for the parents of the bride. Bride's aunt, Miss Margaret Browning, of Kansas City, attended.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

You are invited. This plus the date and place is all that was implied in the invitation we received to what we could easily call the party of the week. Just how were we to know that the hostess Carmen Garrott was celebrating her ?? birthday?"

Not knowing the complete facts or purpose of this thing we didn't come equipped with our usual load of gifts (it's too late now) and also felt kinda strange at this semi-formal in Levi's and tee-shirts (our usual party attire). But as one poor man tries to convince another we recited those famous last words of consolation, "clothes don't make the man" and proceeded inside where we found Judy Pico making "whoopee" with Mickey Canillas.

Barbara Weaver and Joe Bordenave paired off early in the evening. This makes us wonder what happened to a chum named Billy. . . . Lovely Barbara Grant spent an obviously playful eve teasing some of the young whippersnappers, namely Sammy Lewis, Thad Winston, John Lewis and Jimmy Moore. . . . Candra Shields showed up with Bill Scott, "Great Scott." Benny Prescott rolled up in his red convertible and unloaded more gals than the law allows. Couldn't distinguish any faces in his harem. . . . Ann Bradford, calm and collected as ever, added the classy touch as usual. . . . Among those in the congested feed line the faces of Royal Valley, Cecil Clay, Hewlette Regard and Joe Gore were outstanding since they can be credited with the disappearance of twenty per cent of the eats.

That cunning young devil, in the form of Louis Grant, concentrated all of his efforts on Rhae Tate this time. Who'll be next? Noticed Gilbert Smith with his lady fair, Glenda Arcenau. Also among the crowd of merrymakers we also noticed Barbara Garrott and Bob Gudger, Pat Carter and Rudy Modfter, Ralph Arranaga, Janice Shelby, Teddy Hart, Arlene Provost, and Harold Paillet.

Frank Braxton Jr. and Bette Bridges were wed last Sunday at the Independent Church. This was one of the most elaborate ceremonies we've ever witnessed. Having known them personally for a number of years we know that these two people could hardly be better matched. If personalities ruled the world these two would be king and queen. The reception, held at the Kappa Kastle, was attended by many friends and relatives. Here's wishing the best of everything to two swell people.

We Couldn't Help But Notice

Some weird things a-happening the other night over to Anna King's impromptu social.

Andrew Wallace, leaving without his date of the eve, Ann Allen (who played Sarah in "The Harlem Globetrotters"). We think she was escorted home by that cad, Uly Griggs.

Lorenz Wallace, doing his rendition of that dragnasty dance called the Dirty Boogie.

Jean Bugg stimulating the greater part of the male congregation with a torrid knit dress.

The methods Sam McCullum used in severing the ties between Zenobia Thomas and two of her swains Bud Connors and Herman Ward.

More About

South African Disobedience

dan, Iraq, Lebanon, Yemen and the Philippines.

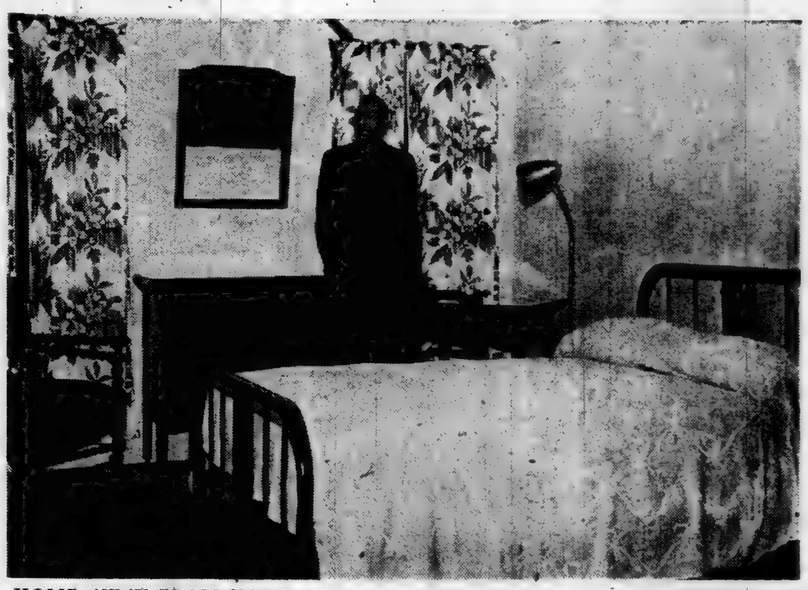
Throughout the country, the non-whites gathered in meetings and chanted their pledge.

Vow to Act

"We, the oppressed peoples of South Africa, do hereby solemnly pledge to carry on our relentless struggle for the repeal of the unjust laws. . . . We shall go on to the uttermost limits of our endurance and sacrifice to carry out the African National Congress plan to defy the unjust laws which subject our people to political slavery, economic misery and social degradation. From this day on we vow to act as free men and women and to dedicate ourselves to the struggle for freedom and fundamental rights."

Action contemplated includes the unprecedented refusal of the Negroes to carry the hated "passes," which they are required by law to keep with them always. Indians have declared they will cross "forbidden" provincial frontiers. Coloreds(people of mixed blood) will refuse to use jim-crow entrances to railroad stations, post offices and other buildings.

United behind the civil disobedience program are the African National Congress, the South African Indian Congress and the Colored People's Franchise Action Council.



Anger against the oppressions has been mounting steadily as a result of the intensification of the restrictions imposed by the Malan government.

Most recent event was Malan's threat to curb the powers of the Supreme Court because it had declared his latest jim-crow law unconstitutional. That law denied the right to vote to the country's 50,000 coloreds.

Malan's actions have raised a storm of protest, with increasing demands that he resign.

No Equality in South

an attorney and Mrs. Almena Lomax.

"I am completely opposed to persons being denied opportunity because of color or creed," he stated emphatically. When asked what positive proposals he had in mind to assure that freedom of opportunity, the Senator became vague as most politicians do on such a tuchy subject.

Voluntary FEPC

"I'm for a national FEPC on a voluntary basis," the Senator explained that he was opposed to a law that would cause a person to be fined or sent to jail and thought the program should be effected through education. He admitted that it was a very weak approach, but declared that if the law was penal in character, it might well be ignored like prohibition.

The Senator pointed out that the present law outlawing discrimination in war plants wasn't being enforced. "It's being winked at and nobody seems to want to do anything about it."

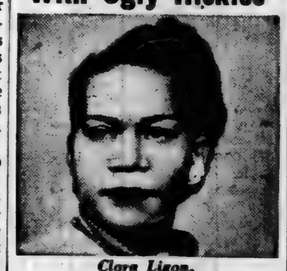
Upon closer questioning the Senator said somewhat inconsistently that the type of FEPC outlined by the President's Committee on Civil Rights was the sort of program he advocated.

"If the penal type of FEPC is in the Democratic platform, or passed by Congress, and I am in office, I will support it and do all in my power to enforce it," Kefauver said slowly and deliberately.

Jim Crow Keystone

The concept of "separate, but equal" is the keystone to the Jim Crow system of the South. It is the legal excuse for segregation and a basic Southern philosophy. Although it is the official policy of his own state Senator Kefauver admitted that "separate, but equal' was a fallacy.

Senator Kefauver, without a doubt, is one of the most able men in government today. His high sense of duty, deep rooted integrity and liberal political philosophy definitely stamped his as presidential timber. That doesn't settle the question for Negro voters.



For Negro voters are still leary about Southern politicians. After all is said and done, the presidency is a political office. Its occupant must engage in politics—of a high order perhaps, but still he must play politics. The big question, still unanswered, is what could be expected of a president who is a southern politician? For Tennessee is the South, despite Kefauver's insistence that it is a border state. How would civil rights fare if he were president? Would he give leadership to the fight against segregation in the armed forces? In federal service? In employment? What would he do in the event of more incidents such as happened in Florida? Would he take positive steps? Or would he be content to take good positions on small questions and let the big issues slide. He admits that "separate but equal" is a fallacy. Would he do anything about it? The Man From Tennessee hasn't answered those questions.

Aim Well Buys Church Home

The Aim Well Baptist Church announced that through the leadership of Rev. P. D. Walker, their pastor, they have purchased a church home at 1250 E. 34th St. The seating capacity is 375, with a five room house in the rear.

Rev. B. D. Walker was ordained from the Beulah Baptist church, 4th street, New Orleans, La. He came to this city and joined the St. Paul Baptist church under the leadership of Rev. S. A. Williams. He remained under the leadership of Rev. John L. Branham until 1949. He later moved to the Aim Well Baptist church. While here Rev. Walker took some subjects from Jefferson high school and also attended the Los Angeles Baptist Theological seminary.

Sarah Vaughn Quizzed in Dope Case

Singing star Sarah Vaughn was quizzed last week by a grand jury in Washington, D. C., in connection with a narcotics investigation.

U. S. Atty. Charles M. Irelan said he had called Miss Vaughn before the jurors hoping that she could explain away the mystery behind the "disappearance of 99 pounds of marijuana. The prosecutor said her testimony was "not helpful."

Miss Vaughn testified for 30 minutes and was later followed by her husband-manager, George Treadwell, whose testimony took 15 minutes.

Miss Vaughn left the grand jury room accompanied by Treadwell. They both tried to avoid their pictures being taken, and the singer put her hands in front of her face as the flash bulbs popped off.

In replying to questions by reporters, all Sarah would say was "they wanted to know whether the sun was shining outside."

KNBH Head To Address Sales Club

Donald A. Norman, general manager of television station KNBH, Hollywood, will be main speaker for the April dinner meeting of the Los Angeles Sales Club, Thursday, April 10, 7:30 p.m., at the Penthouse Club, 4424½ Avalon Boulevard.

He will address local salesmen on the various techniques used in television sales, backed with colorful anecdotes and a motion picture dealing with television operations.

Previous to his recent appointment as general manager, Norman had been sales manager of KNBH since July 1, 1950. Prior to this he was sales director for WNBC-WNBT in New York and has been with NBC since 1943.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, Norman started his business career with Standard Brands. After Standard Brands, he joined the A. C. Nielsen Company and became a field supervisor of Market Research, specializing in the drug field. He left Nielsen to join NBC.

Thursday's LASC meeting will also have as special guest, Mrs. Mildred Thomas, sales promotion executive of the Dearborn Supply Company, on visit here from Chicago, Illinois.

IONA WADE . . . petite song stylist, is the new "vocal sound" that will handle the vocal chores in the band of Joe Lutcher.

Louis Jordan On Broadway

NEW YORK, N. Y.—After a four months absence from the nation's theaters, clubs and ballrooms, Louis Jordan has come back to Broadway headlining the stage show at the Warner Theatre. Jordan, a little heavier but much healthier than when he announced an "indefinite retirement" last December is fronting a bouncing five-piece band reminiscent of the world-famous Tympany Five, which powered the dynamic little maestro to the top bracket of his profession.

Marian Anderson Sings on Television Easter Sunday

Marian Anderson, world-famous contralto, will make her postponed television appearance on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," Easter Sunday, April 13 (CBS-TV, 8-9 p.m., EST). Miss Anderson originally was scheduled to make her TV debut on "Toast of the Town's" Christmas program. She will sing Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the spiritual "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

One of the great singers of our time, Miss Anderson is currently on her sixteenth consecutive American tour. In the years since her first American concert, she has been honored by governments, universities, Presidents and Kings.

Winner of the $10,000 Bok Award, the Spingarn Medal, three Honorary Doctorates of Music, and countless other honors, she is represented in a mural in the Department of the Interior in Washington commemorating her Easter Sunday concert in 1939 before an audience of 75,000 at the Lincoln Memorial. She has sung twice in the White House, the second time for the royal guests from England, King George and Queen Elizabeth.

"Toast of the Town" is sponsored by Lincoln-Mercury Dealers.

Billie Holiday To Open at New Alabam Nitery

Billie Holiday, the nation's number one song stylist, will begin a limited engagement at the New Club Alabama in May. The famed singer of sweet swing songs recently concluded a record-breaking stint at the Tiffany club where she broke the house record for box office attendance.

Prior to the scheduled Alabam opening, the sultry-styled songstress will play several one-night concert-dance engagements in Portland, Oregon, Fresno, San Francisco and then to Honolulu where she opens at one of the Island's swank nite spots.

During her stay on the coast, Miss Holiday will appear in a starring role in a full-length motion picture and will de a recording session for one of the major recording firms.

Jimmy Huff Cuts New Blues Discs

Jimmy Huff, whose record of "All That Wine Is Gone" was a juke box favorite on the nation's juke boxes last year, returned to the city last week following a highly successful tour of the nitery circuit along the Northern Coast.

Huff, a fast-rising young blues singer rated on a par with other "greats" of the blues-singing kingdom, has organized a new combo and will soon be heard on a score of new record releases.

Currently appearing week-ends at the club Tambourine on South Avalon Boulevard, the popular little Huff has won many fans and friends with his original and relaxed style of shouting the blues.

Under the personal management of J. T. Gipson, Huff is scheduled to make his first Los Angeles appearance in over a year when he appears soon in a one-night dance engagement at one of the local dance emporiums.

"DON'T SHOOT . . . I'LL ROOT"

A fashionable wedding is about to take place in the gay and pleasant little Carver Manor Village. Her father plans to stick a rose in the shot gun.

LULU BENDY will miss her club's Florentine Gardens affair. The popular Doll-Leaguer and Spa owner is recuperating from a minor operation and please don't ask to see it.

That shapely General Hospital nurse that makes her home in the 55th and Compton neighborhood, was the reason for the 1950 job running into the 1928 ford when she took a stroll across the 55th and Compton in shorts with a pair of legs that would have drawn plaudits from the late Earl Carroll.

"Galloping Domino Informers"

The gambling boys along the 4200 hundred block on Central are up in arms soince some "G. S. brother" called the heat about a friendly little crap game. In fact the game was so friendly they just about needed four wagons to haul off the culprits. One can hardly make a dishonest dollar . . . and not have some "choir boy" holler!!

The grapevine has it, that Elihu (Black Dot) McGee and Tricky Davis are gunning for a certain big voiced character known among the "easy-livers'" set as a "stoolie."

THE CHINK is out of the clink and sporting a new cream colored 1952 Pontiac, the same kind the F.B.I. confiscated in a dope raid. Charles Laughton is driving a new job also.

JOE MORRIS isn't exactly going broke in the new Club Alabam. He just purchased a new caddie; a pearl blue job, and "Big Joe" goes rather well behind the wheel.

Officer John Thomas is talking Buick; the 1952 kind. While Ben (sax) Webster's new bride, Verna, points admiringly at the new Victoria Ford. That leaves Joe (Smoke Rings) Harris still polishing up his thumb with "illumnating" paint.

"Frames of Fame"

The Poker Set

A Western avenoo's real slick gambling "wheel," is briefing a well-known real estate secretary for a big take in our local society poker games. The suckers are said to be those in on the games currently being played in many of the plush hill dwellers "cribs."

Playing It Safe

A big church "wheel" of the Eastside parks his black classy limousine down the street from the service garage of the Yellow Cab Company on 22nd and San Pedro and leisurely boards a cab to a cozy rendezvous not far from his wife's home.

The newest gimmick is to insert a dime in the slot get the operator buzz, hang up and insert the nickel for the number of your call and brother let the good times roll. There is no way to stop this five cents hustle.

The Dope Set

The local narcotics officers are prepared to pick several known figures in the trade with secret indictment and are the boys along heavy users row got the jitters. In fact, many are making sudden and jet like trips out-of-the-city. One who wasn't fleet of foot enough was "Joe" who was picked up by two motorcycle cops. In the slammers a coupla weeks ago was a well-known female charged with making a coupla sales. TWO FOR THREE—the "heat" picked up a character for peddling dream smoke. Turned out to be Lipton Tea, claimed he was an agent for Arthur Godfrey's show. No charges.

J. T. GIPSON—who turns out perhaps one of the best Theatrical Column in the nation is dickering for the publicity job with Billy Holiday. Louis McCay, husband and manager of the world's famous song stylist couldn't find a better guy than that Gipson.

They Are Buzzing

Christian Science Sermon Declares Unreality of Sin

How sin, sickness, and death can be destroyed today as in Jesus' time, by denying their reality and spiritually understanding God's power over them, will be explained in the Bible Lesson in all Christian Science churches Sunday on the subject "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

Paul's declaration to the Romans (8:2) will be the Golden Text: "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

Mathew records that when "Mary Magdalene and the other Mary" came to see the sepulchre, the angel said unto them, "Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. . . . And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy" (28:1, 5, 6, 8).

"Jesus mapped out the path for others. He unveiled the Christ, the spiritual idea of divine Love," writes Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." She continues, "He overcame the world, the flesh, and all error, thus proving their nothingness."

— Come Home, Mommy —

LONESOME BABY — This is five-month-old Brenda Joyce Smith. Her daddy is fighting in Korea; her grandmother works at night, and her mother has been missing since Easter Sunday. The infant seems to get slight comfort from her mother's picture there beside her.

RUNAWAY MOTHER SOUGHT

Korea Soldier's Child Left Dependent on Aunt's Care

"Please come home, mother!" is what five-month-old Brenda Joyce Smith would say if she could talk.

Mrs. Oreal D. Smith, 17, 434 E. 127th street, the wife of Ernest Smith now serving in Korea, left home Sunday afternoon to sing in the Easter cantata at the Village Baptist Church on 111th street and has not been heard from since the close of the services.

Witnesses who saw her leave the church say that she was picked up by Willie Wright in a convertible supposedly borrowed from the car lot at 166 N. Vermont avenue where he works.

Seen With Man

According to Mrs. Clarice Johnson, Oreal's aunt who is now caring for the infant, several friends of the missing girl report having seen her several times during recent weeks in Wright's company.

Neighbors of the family also recall having seen the man in the vicinity, evidently waiting for Mrs. Smith to meet him.

Levi Williams, her father, who reported her missing, stated that Mrs. Smith is an habitual runaway. This was confirmed by her mother who added that the girl had been sent from Jordan high school to Garden Gate because of truancy and incorrigibility.

Eloped to Yuma

Her marriage was an elopement to Yuma and her family heard from her then only after three days of anxiety and worry. Her 22-year-old husband was sent to Korea only three weeks after their January marriage and the girl has lived, with her baby, at the aunt's home ever since.

Mrs. Johnson told EAGLE reporters that her niece's friendship with Willie began several months ago when he came here from the Williams family's home in Monroe, La.

HAVE YOU SEEN HER?— This is Oreal D. Smith whose disappearance has left a five-month old infant motherless. The baby's father is in Korea. Mrs. Smith is 17, five feet three inches tall, 120 pounds, black hair, brown eyes, light brown complexioned. Her hair is now cut short. When last seen she was wearing a white flowered organdy dress over pink, pink topper, white pumps.

ANOTHER FAMILY THREATENED!

Police Accused Of Abuse

Charging that she has been the victim of a persistent course of persecution and harassment by police officers, Mrs. Florence D. Riley of 943 So. Raymond avenue, Pasadena, this week accused Officer R. E. Guenther of telling her Monday night that he would arrest her "every time" he saw her on the street. His statement followed his accosting her near her home, she said, and refusing to accept her statement of identity.

Chief of Police Clarence Morris promptly branded her story as "distorted" and said that the officer had merely offered her his services when he saw her on the street about 12:30 a.m. Tues-

No Wedding Now, She Says After Beating

"I'm glad this happened before we were married," Ara Elizabeth Jackson, 28, of 2637 7th Avenue, told police officers after reporting that Harry A. Madden, 38, her fiance, had given her the beating of her life. He wound up charged with assault and battery.

Mrs. Jackson and Madden moved in together at 2637 7th avenue about two weeks ago with the intention of getting married April 15. A week later he hit her across the forearm with a bottle and twisted it in an effort to make it pop, but she continued to live with him.

Last Sunday night Madden began to drink and Mrs. Jackson went to bed and left him up. About one o'clock he went into the bedroom where Mrs. Jackson was and began to strike her without any apparent reason. He got ugly and uglier as time wore on, she said.

He got a gun and held it on her, telling her that if she screamed there would be no one around to hear her as no one lived near them. He would kill her if she called the police, he said.

Madden kept her prisoner the rest of the night and drove her to work Monday and told her that "all was forgotten." Mrs. Jackson made a police report and a citizen's arrest with the aid of police officers.

"This cut you see on my forearm and this swelling is where he hit me on the head, this swollen forearm is where he hit me with a bottle last week and twisted my arm. I'm just all broken up." Mrs. Jackson pointed out to officers as she made her report.

NAACP Member Drive Opens Sunday

Lester Bailey, newly appointed field secretary for Los Angeles and Southern California branches of the NAACP, will kick off the Los Angeles membership drive at the regular branch meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. at Avalon Christian church.

Bailey, who comes to Los Angeles direct from Cairo, Ill., where he has been in the forefront of the NAACP drive to abolish separate schools in that area, is no stranger in the city. He headed the successful membership drive in 1950 and plans to boost the rolls to a new high this year.

The afternoon meeting will climax a parade that will form at 20th and Central avenue at 12:20 and come to a halt at Wrigley Field at about 2:30. Dr. E. I. Robinson, president, will preside.

Campaign workers in the drive will hold a rally tonight (Thursday) at Bewsh M. E. Church, 36th and Trinity streets, to polish up last minute plans to put the drive over the top. Chairman Edward Atkinson said that workers will be given sup-

Murder Climaxes Brawl

"There were only two licks passed; I hit him and he hit the ground. I didn't know that he was hurt bad enough to die."

That was the statement of John Wesley Rowland, 48, 608 East 5th street, when he was arrested Sunday morning in his room by staked-out officers on suspicion of murdering Jessie James Nichols, 36, 843 E. Adams Blvd.

Nichols, who is known around Los Angeles as an acute alcoholic, was going up and down East 5th street drinking when he came up to Rowland. A witness stated that Rowland was seen to hit Nichols on the jaw and Nichols fell to the sidewalk. The witness further stated that the two men seemed to be playing. However when Rowland saw Nichols bleeding he left the scene.

Nichols was found on the street in front of 616 East 5th Street and taken to the General Hospital and treated for intracranial hemorrhage, cerebral contusion and fracture of the skull late Thursday afternoon. He died around 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Detective Lieutenants L. Baughn and R. T. Reid of the City Hall Homicide Detail were immediately assigned to the case and the EAGLE was notified of the death. Lillian Nichols of 843 East Adams Blvd. and Mary Nichols of 1523 South Arlington avenue, sisters of Nichols, were notified and they decided to send the body to San Antonio, Texas to be buried by way of Angelus Fuenral Home.

Nichols was a porter at Union Pacific.

The County Coroner's inquest into the death is set for 9:30 a.m. April 21. Rowland refused to give any reason why he and Nichols had the fight.

Sugar Wins By KO In Three

Sugar Robinson with a vicious left, right, leftand right knocked Rocky Graziano into slumberland in 1 minute and 53 seconds of the third round in their middleweight title bout fought in Chicago last night.

Rocky floored Robinson in the beginning of the third round with a terrific right. Robinson bounced back with no count and unleashed the terrific four-punch combination that ended the fight.

33 LONG DAYS

Thirty-three long days ago two homes were bombed on Dunsmuir avenue. Today, police said there was nothing to report—that the case was still "open"!

There was unanimous condemnation of the outrage—from everybody; the mayor, the chief of police, the city council, private citizens and organizations.

But nobody has been arrested yet—nobody.

The FBI gave out a statement that it was "investigating." It hasn't got any results.

The police announced that they were right on the job and would see it through. The police haven't arrested anybody.

The victims of the bombing received threat letters through the mail—in violation of federal laws. That department hasn't been able to track the writers down.

The sad truth is that not a single person has ever been arrested in Los Angeles in a score of instances where Negro home owners have been molested, threatened—or bombed.

It's time we had some results.

Fear of Racial Changes Hampers Public Housing

WASHINGTON—The staff of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee said Friday fears of "a change in the racial character of a neighborhood" were causing difficulties in locating public housing projects.

The view was expressed in one of a series of reports on Government housing programs being made to the committee by its staff. This report said there had been slow progress in completion of public, low-rent housing units under the 1949 law. It added that only 13,500 units had been finished and that 105,000 were under construction on Jan. 31 although 1,125 cities had filed applications to build 500,000 units.

"In a number of cities we found," the report said, "that the local authorities were confronted by organized neighborhood resistance to the location of a particular project.

"The chief opposition seems to arise—and this was true especially in the Northern cities—from what the people in the neighborhood to be selected believed would be a change in the racial character of a neighborhood.

"In some cases, the difficulties created by such fears resulted in rejection of sites, and in other cases long delays.

"The Housing authorities, we found, were not attempting to make any radical change in neighborhood patterns and were attempting in a realistic way to meet their prime responsibility of providing decent housing and respectable and acceptable neighborhoods for those for whom they had to provide the housing."

Ike Ducks Query on Civil Rights Stand

NEW YORK—General of the Armies Eisenhower hasn't had the time to make a detailed study of the civil rights program and entertains the belief that he should not comment on such matters while he retains his status as a general, his headquarters told Representative Clayton Powell last week.

The statement was made in response to a request from the New York congressman for a clarification of his views on the highly controversial matter. Eisenhower's only contribution on the subject thus far was a statement he made in 1948 in which he expressed opposition to a thorough program of integration in the armed forces.

Informed commentators regarded the general's statement as an indication that he hasn't yet made up his mind as to where he will stand on the issue during his forthcoming presidential campaign. They pointed out that while he was president of Columbia University he had expressed his views on a variety of subjects.

Gross Quits Ross Snyder Playground

A familiar face is missing from Los Angeles playgrounds this week.

Carl Gross, who began a career with the Department of Recreation away back in 1933, resigned from the department Tuesday.

Gross had been chief director at Ross Snyder for the past four years and prior to that time served as chief director at Central Playground from 1942 to 1948. William Lacefield is acting director at Ross Snyder.

The second Negro to achieve the rank of director in the Recreation Department, Gross started as a junior director at Ross Snyder in 1933 and remain-

'Sell And Get Out,' Note Says

Advised by police not to publicize the threat, a Negro family, new residents of a lily-white area on W. 42nd Street, wait apprehensively for whatever may follow a "Get out if you value your safety" letter.

Alone at home with her 3-year-old daughter, the young wife sits in terror until her husband returns from his night job. Police, she says, have assured her there is sufficient protection from regular patrols which pass through the district "all the time."

It was last Friday at 11 p.m. that the attractive housewife and her child came home after an absence of a few hours to find a letter on the porch addressed to "The Negro Occupants."

Greatly alarmed by the threat penned by an anonymous writer, she hurriedly called the police department. Detectives dispatched to the home read the note, signed with a heavy black cross; advised her to await future developments, and departed, taking the note with them.

It was not until the following day that the husband read the letter which said, in part: "For your safety and your family's we advise you to move out. You know you have moved into an all-white neighborhood. We advise you to sell."

The missive indicated that they would be given time to make other living arrangements before any further pressure would be exerted.

The family intends to remain in the home despite the threat, the young lady averred. Close neighbors, she said, have been normally friendly with but one exception.

The former owner is reportedly angered that Negroes purchased the home because she sold it to whites and did not expect them to resell to nonwhites. She has even consulted a lawyer to see what she can do about it, she told the present occupants.

Lad Missing After Row With Parents

"Mother, I wish you weren't married and there was just the two of us like it used to be," were the words uttered by Charles King, 17, 1409 East 75th street, to Mary Elizabeth Brown, a few days before he left home.

Mrs. Brown said King's father died two months before he was born and that the two of them lived together up until four years ago when she married Anthony Mentz. Mentz and King never got along well and her son began giving her trouble.

King drinks quite a bit and hangs around with users of narcotics and addicts, she said, but she does not think that he uses dope.

King left home about two months ago and stayed four weeks coming home each day to eat. Mrs. Brown discovered where he was rooming and his landlady urged him to return home.

Mrs. Brown signed papers for King to enter the army last year and he stayed four months, receiving an honorable discharge December 22 as a result of not being able to adjust himself to military routine.

He left home early Sunday morning after having a round with his step-father the night before and has not been heard from since by his parents. Mrs. Brown said that he works at Jenkins Poultry at Ascot and Vernon avenues and that he phoned Annie Marshall of 1055 East 41st place Tuesday telling her that he was willing to marry her.

Ellis, Simmons Marriage Annuled

Hortense Ellis, prominent Pasadena society matron, was granted an annulment of her marriage to James Simmons, local painting contractor.

The couple eloped to Las Vegas December 3, 1951.

Judge Kurtz Kaufman awarded the comely young matron the decree when she established that at the time of their marriage, Simmons had not obtained his final papers from a previous marriage.

Parade for Lundy

Supporters of Atty. Rayfield Lundy's candidacy for the State Assembly will gather in front of his 103rd street office Sunday, April 20, 2:30 p.m. to form a parade which will pass through all the main thoroughfares of the Watts-Willowbrook area.

Sponsor of the parade is Gilbert Lindsey.

BRAVE MUSIC—Women incarcerated in the County Jail told their faith in Easter morning hymns. Among those shown listening to the 15-voice aggregation are Mrs. Mina Snodgrass, chaplain; Chief Jailer Al Willey, Sheriff Biscailuz and Lt. Audrey Lehre.

Judge Bans Swim Pool Jim Crow

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Segregation in publicly-owned swimming pools in this city has been banned by a decision handed down by United States District Judge Albert A. Ridge.

The city, through its counsel, David M. Procter, announced today that it would appeal the decision all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

In a 28-page opinion, handed down on April 9, Judge Ridge found that the Jim Crow swimming pool facilities which the city provides for Negroes are not equal to those provided for white citizens. Accordingly, he ruled that exclusion of Negroes from a pool reserved for white persons is a denial of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

What Price Accidents?

Twenty-five thousand brand new $12,000 homes . . . a market basket piled high with $32 worth of food for every man, woman and child in the state . . . 1,500,000 new television sets.

Californians could have had any one of these things last year with the $324,710,000 (million) they spent in paying the price for traffic accidents, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

FILL NEW POSTS—Pictured here are the three men appointed to the new posts created in a recent reorganization of the National Urban League. They are Western Field Director W. Miller Barbour, Housing Department Director Reginald A. Johnson and Community Services Director Nelson C. Jackson.

Local Soldiers Now in Germany

NAHBOLLENBACH, Germany—Two Angelenos are now on duty with the 728th Quartermaster Service Company at Strassburg Kaserne and Nahbollenbach Quartermaster Depot.

One of the men is Lt. Cyril E. Peace, 3446 7th Avenue, a platoon leader in the 728th. Lt. Peace first entered the service in January of 1943 and was recalled on January 12th of this year. He holds the American Defense, European, African and Middle Eastern Command Medals and three bronze battle stars.

Master Sergeant

Master Sergeant William H. Evans, son of Douglas Evans, Sr., 528 East 35th Street, is First Sergeant of the 728th. Sgt. Evans, who first entered the service on June 1, 1942, holds the EAME Ribbon, Good Conduct Medal, American Defense Medal, German Occupation Medal, and five battle stars for the Normandy, Northern France and the Rhineland campaigns.

Government Takes Primus' Passport

Pearl Primus, exotic dancer, who gave a recital at Philharmonic Auditorium Saturday lost her passport a few hours before the affair when it was picked up by a representative of the State Department. The critical international situation was assigned as the cause for the action although she was denied specific reason, Miss Primus said. She added that she plans an international tour soon which will be disrupted if her passport is not returned or another issued and said that she is at loss to understand the State Department's attitude.

Policeman Accused day morning. "He didn't accost her," the chief said, "he merely followed our policy of offering his help to a citizen who might need it."

Mrs. Riley blamed her decade long conflict with Pasadena police to what she said was resentment at her occupancy of property in a "white industrial district." "They've been trying to get me out ever since I moved here," she charged. She conducts an antique shop at the Raymond avenue address and lives in the rear.

Mrs. Riley said that she was within a block of her home when Guenther accosted her and demanded to know what she was doing on the street. She claims that she pointed out to him that he had been at her shop on several occasions and knew her but the chief told the EAGLE that Guenther is a "new man and had never seen the woman before."

When Guenther and Mrs. Riley arrived at her combined shop and home she said he stalked into the place and insisted on conducting a search. "I haven't persecuted you yet," she claims he said, "but from now on I am going to arrest you every time I see you on the street."

Mrs. Riley claims that her difficulties with Pasadena police have increased since she made an appearance before the Los Angeles county grand jury in connection with its probe into vice in that city but the chief said that she made no such appearance.

Mrs. Riley and Chief Morris were in complete agreement on one thing: both said that she has carried her troubles to everybody in city government from the manager down to police officers. Chief Morris said that her every complaint has received careful attention. She said that she has never been given any satisfaction even when she reports that trucks or cars blocked her drive way.

HEALTH PROGRAM

The 96th Street School Parent Teachers Association, in cooperation with the school's administrative staff and the Watts district health center will present a health education program in the school's auditorium, Thursday evening, April 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Musn't Use Gun to Get Your Money

Armed muscle men who try to collect a bookie debt must go to jail for 180 days ruled Judge Wallace W. Toelle of the South Gate Court.

After an appeal, the appellate court sustained Judge Toelle and the three defendants were remanded to jail April 14.

Richard Vincent Morel, John Morter McVeigh and Roger Cloyd Payne were arrested with two blue steel automatics in the car at the corner of Michigan avenue and Hildreth in South Gate as they were making plans to collect debts owed to them by bookies, whose names they refused to state.

The police reported that the trio had been playing the books for several months and winning, but the bookies did not pay them so they were out to make some collections of their own when nabbed.

Assigning ill health as the reason for his resignation, Gross told the Eagle that he will enter private business in Monrovia after he "takes a long rest." He has lived there for the past five years and indicated that he and his wife may open a novelty shop for the sale of copper tooled pictures and hand painted textiles, two things in which he has been interested for a long time.

Gross has been a resident of Los Angeles for 30 years and is a native of Kansas. The Gross' have two daughters and one son, all of whom are married and live in this vicinity.

Willowbrook Seeks Added Street Lights

"The Youth Project Willowbrook Committee will sponsor a community meeting Tuesday, April 29, at Mona Park Community Building at 8 p.m." Mrs. Edith Kelly, newly elected president named today, Supervisor Raymond Darby and Paul Gruendyke, Director of County Recreation and Parks Department, and a representative from the County Planning Commission have been invited to discuss with the Committee and the community citizens procedures for securing adequate lights, particularly around the new Community Building at 2291 E. 122nd Street.

Upon request from the County Recreation Department, the Youth Project Willowbrook Committee planned and executed the dedication of the new recreation community building and park last October. "We have been concerned," Mrs. Kelly stated, "that with such a fine community building it is not used to its maximum for night activities and programs because of inadequate lights on the streets surrounding the Park."

Public Relations Head To Speak at Capitol

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Ludlow W. Werner, president of Ludlow Werner Associates, New York City public relations firm rated by the Department of Commerce as the most outstanding public relations firm operated by Negroes, will speak on "Public Relations and the Negro in Business" at the 7th Conference on the Negro in Business, Friday morning, April 18, in the Commerce Department Auditorium.

Mr. Werner, who has a background of more than 25 years in the newspaper field as an editor and publisher, serves a variety of clients beside being public relations counsel for the New York State Civil Defense Commission, and consultant for the National Urban League. Just recently, he was guest of the United States Navy on Atlantic Fleet maneuvers observing its policy of integration. His associate, Mrs. Georgianna Werner, is public relations coordinator for the New York City Board of Education, Districts 12, 13 and 14.

School Accepts Bigot's Money —Dean Resigns

DEMOREST, Ga.—"I fear Fascism as much as I do Communism," said Dean A. R. Van Cleave in a letter of resignation addressed to Piedmont College here Tuesday.

Cause of his action was the school's acceptance of money from an association headed and financed by George Armstrong, Texas cattle and oil magnate, who has often publicly expressed his violent prejudices against Negroes and Jews.

The popular dean's resignation has split the faculty and student body.

Seek Soldier's Wife

He was," she said, the friend of Oreal's older brother who at that time also lived at the Johnson home. During Wright's frequent visits to the home the girl spent much time with the two men, often leaving with her brother and Wright who at that time had a car of his own.

Her suspicions were aroused about the outsider's interest in the girl, she declared, so she forbade him to visit the home again.

Both the mother and the aunt of the missing girl insist that they were very careful to supervise her conduct and did not allow her to "go out."

During last week's choir rehearsals which Oreal attended in preparation for the Easter cantata, it was arranged that the choir director should bring the girl home every night.

Since the disappearance, however, it has been learned that twice the girl told the director that friends were taking her home and that she left the church without her appointed chaperone.

Efforts of Mrs. Smith's father to find Wright have been to no avail. Assertedly, the supposed companion of the runaway has not returned to the car lot, nor has he returned the automobile in which he was last seen.

None of the family expresses fear of foul play, but they plead with Willie to bring Oreal home to her child.

INSURANCE RECEIPTS

Veterans Administration today announced it will discontinue sending receipts for insurance premiums becoming due on and after August 1, 1952.

VA said this is an economy measure that will not affect service to policyholders.

Notices concerning the discontinuance will be mailed to all policyholders of U.S. Government Life Insurance and of National Service Life Insurance—the two groups affected.

Sheriff Tells New Plan to Locate Kiddies

An additional aid in locating missing or lost children was adopted by Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz this week whereby the Sheriff's Crime Prevention Bureau will utilize patrol cars equipped with public address systems to expedite the search.

"During the last nine months in the unincorporated areas over 1800 children were reported missing or strayed fro their home," Sheriff Biscailuz said. "While most of these returned home by themselves, we must of necessity make a thorough search for each child.

When a child is reported missing or lost, the patrol cars equipped with the public address systems will immediately be dispatched together with other units to the vicinity of the child's home. These cars will start broadcasting the child's name and physical description and will enlist the aid of the community in the search.

GOP Majority Backs Roberts

Members of the 26th Congressional Fact Finding Committee which met last Monday night for the selection of a Republican candidate, favored Frederick M. Roberts, who held a majority in three ballots cast.

No endorsement, however, was made by the Committee of 77 since Roberts failed to amass a three-fourths majority. Appearing before the committee were David Mattson, George Jerome, Richard Moore Westbrook and Fred M. Roberts.

Surprise!—Negro Voters Oppose Senator Russell

NEW YORK—Opposition to the proposed Stevenson-Russell slate for the Democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominations is widespread in the Midwest, Walter White, reported on his return to New York this week from a speaking tour in Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio.

"Negro voters, trade unionists and liberals with whom I talked in the Midwest were unanimous in their opposition to the inclusion on the Democratic ticket of any such southerner as Senator Richard Russell or Senator Robert Kerr," White said. "These citizens, most of whom have voted for the Democratic candidates in recent years, expressed deep resentment against the proposed Stevenson-Russell ticket."

"What do you do with all the money you make?"

Standard's income sometimes raises such comments as: "You people do a lot of business. You must be rolling in dough. How about answering this one—What do you do with all the money you make?"

The answer is a matter of public record. But in brief—after we've paid for materials, wages, employee benefits, and miscellaneous expenses...wear and tear on plants and equipment...interest on our long-term debts...and, in the last 5 years, more than $405,000,000 in taxes—then what's left, the "money we make," goes this way:

We invest in research and technical service—more than $35,000,000 in the last 5 years—to develop better ways of finding oil, increasing the yield, cutting costs, creating new business. That brings you new and improved products, with prices held down as we compete for your patronage.

Exploration here and abroad has cost us more than $229,000,000 in the last 5 years. Known crude reserves are at an all-time high. But these deposits were the easiest to discover. Though the earth holds vast hidden reserves, it now costs many millions to find each new field.

And finally, after setting aside funds for future operation, our more than 100,000 shareholders get what money remains—last year $2.60 a share, their return on savings invested in Standard. So almost all the "money we make" goes right back into circulation.

We put funds into facilities—in the last 5 years, more than $644,000,000. The need for oil products keeps growing. Standard must replace old wells, increase crude oil production; add to the capacity of refineries, pipelines, tankers, and other things needed to serve you well.

Long Step Backward

The Los Angeles Board of Education, five of whose members owe their appointments to former members who were either removed from office or convicted of crime, has just taken a long step backward by banning the UNESCO program in our public schools.

The initials, UNESCO, stand for United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and it is one of the best activities of the United Nations. Basically, UNESCO is devoted to the exchange of educational, scientific and cultural information between member nations. The UNESCO program as developed in our public schools was that of teaching the student to understand the other nations of the world.

UNESCO's program has been under attack for a long time from those who are so blind that they will not see that ours is One World and that our own well being as a nation depends on our ability to understand what goes on in the near and far places of the globe. Many of the things that are going on are disturbing but we can't wish them out of existence by closing our eyes to reality.

The abandonment of the UNESCO program simply means that Los Angeles students will be less well equipped to understand the world in which they are living and with those problems with which they must come to grips after their school days are over. Putting blinders on students is a mighty poor way for a Board of Education to perform its functions.

Comforting Our Enemies

Wesley Brazier, secretary of the local Urban League, performed a public service when he denounced those responsible for linking public housing with the Dunsmuir bombings. As Mr. Brazier pointed out, the so-called Small Property Owners Association has long been a stooge for the local Realty Board. That board in its proper turn has been just as busy trying to shore up residential segregation as it has been in battling public housing.

The plain truth is that the only democratic housing pattern in this community is that practiced in developments of the Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles. The Authority insists on making dwellings available on the basis of need without segregation and without reference to race or color. That attitude is in bold contrast to the policy pursued by the private contractors, builders and realtors who have financed the fight against public housing. Segregation and discrimination are the rules among private builders.

We don't know who runs the "Eastside branch of the Small Property Owners Association" which was responsible for the handbill which said in effect that the bombings on Dunsmuir were the products of public-housing policies and that the bombings prove that voters should cast their ballots against public housing on the June 3 ballot. We do know that there is no connection at all between the two issues and that this kind of irresponsible public conduct only offers aid and comfort to the bombers.

A Penny a Day

The local branch of the NAACP is all set to launch its annual membership drive and if it doesn't get at least ten thousand members this year its failure will be a direct reflection on the citizens of this community.

Every week brings added news of what the NAACP is doing, in Los Angeles and throughout the nation, to further our fight for first-class citizenship in America. It is on the job every day and the fact that it doesn't do all that we want it to do can be traced to lack of the support that it should have.

Membership in the NAACP costs only two dollars per year—that's less than a penny a day and there isn't one of us who can't afford that amount for self-protection.

Contrary to propaganda that is spread in some quarters, most of the money raised locally remains right here in Los Angeles, and is used for local purposes. Heaven helps those who help themselves and there isn't a better way to help yourself than by buying a two-dollar membership in the NAACP.

The President Is Right

The newspapers and public figures who clapped hands all across the country when President Truman stepped in and seized the coal industry to prevent John L. Lewis from calling a strike are just as frenzied in their denunciation of the chief executive for his crackdown on the steel companies.

The president's recital of the facts leaves no room for doubt as to the correctness of his decision. The big steel outfits are making fantastic profits but they refused to agree to a wage hike unless they were given license to gouge consumers a little deeper.

The Wage Board hearings demonstrated that the steel workers needed an increase and they agreed to the compromise figures. President Truman acted correctly and courageously in bringing the steel operators to book. The yowling that is going on doesn't reflect the opinion of the average American at all; it simply emphasizes the fact that big business calls the tune for most newspapers and commentators.

New Day In South Africa

Instead of suppressing the desire for equality in South Africa, Premier Malan's super-Jim Crow policy of complete separation of racial groups has accentuated the struggle of that country's eleven million non-whites.

Malan, who played footsie with the Nazis during and prior to World War II, has taken over Hitler's racist theories, lock, stock and barrel. His plans call for penning up the Africans on reservations and for depriving the Indian and mixed people of the few civil rights they did enjoy.

These savage repressions have had the effect of driving Africans, mixed blood peoples and Indians together and of bringing them some support from liberal whites. Additionally, the Malan policy has focussed world attention on South Africa. The combination of these factors has not only imperiled Malan's regime but threatens to spark a counter movement that may sweep aside many of the color bars that existed before he took office.

Want a Contract?

The National Urban League is trying to help small Negro business concerns become an integral part of the national mobilization program of the federal government and as a step in that direction is offering its services to assist such concerns in getting sub-contracts from larger contractors.

Firms which are interested and which can qualify can get the information and assistance they need by simply writing to the League at 1133 Broadway, New York. There's no charge and the only strings tied to the League offer are that such requests be made as quickly as possible.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

Slowly but surely the old fairy tales about Negroes and housing are being proved to be untrue, and with these revelations new opportunities are being opened for Negroes seeking decent housing, either apartments or private homes.

The latest helpful statement comes from Belden Morgan of South Pasadena, former president of both the Chicago and Los Angeles chapters of the Society of Residential Appraisers. He declares that the long-held belief that the presence of Negroes or other minorities in a neighborhood is a value-destroying influence is no longer valid.

Mr. Morgan's views are contained in an article in the March issue of The Review, a publication of the Society of Residential Appraisers. He points out that the changes in the housing picture for minorities, and particularly the Negro, can be traced directly to the great advances that have been made by the race in the past two decades, especially since 1940. Education and earning power have increased. Progress has been made in the professions, in skilled labor categories, and in civil service. The vast movement toward establishment of a civil rights program has helped to change public opinion among whites even while it was according new opportunities to Negroes themselves.

As a result, this appraiser contends, the market among Negroes for homes in the brackets from $7,500 to $15,000 has expanded greatly, with activity, also, in the brackets above the $15,000. The article does not concern itself with social justice, ideals, or rights, but with values. It states flatly that if whites do not get panicky when the first Negro family moves in, values will not be hurt because demand is so great among dark home-seekers that better prices will be had and steady values maintained in the area concerned.

Mr. Morgan does not argue, per se, for mixed neighborhoods, but his thesis helps those of us who do because it debunks one of the most stubborn obstacles to mixed housing: that the presence of Negroes in an area destroys property values.

It requires a long time for these expert opinions to seep down into the general public. There is plenty of evidence that as of today they have not penetrated to banks, loan associations and other lending institutions. Negroes are still denied financing for homes on the basis of the old tales about them and housing. Some years ago a report of National Association of Real Estate Boards revealed that Negro tenants take care of the landlord's property as well as tenants of any other group, and that Negro homeowners maintain their property in repair as well or better than tenants of the same economic level in other groups.

Despite all this, we have today an "iron curtain" in financial circles on mortgage money for Negro homes. We have blunt refusal by real estate agents to sell, and we have fiery crosses, bricks, and bombs for those pioneers who dare to seek decent habitation. Mr. Morgan, whatever his real motive, has helped toward the attack and solution of a most difficult problem on the race relations front. Stubborn as it appears to be at the moment, the housing problem will be solved. Negroes are far from quitting.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

The Reverend A. Clayton Powell, Jr. and his Abyssinia Baptist Church of New York performed a useful service when the congregation voted to "resign" from the National Council of Churches of Christ. Of course, the church could not really resign, since it held no direct membership, being connected with the National Council only through the affiliation of its national Baptist body. But the dramatic manner of the Reverend Powell's announcement plus the indubitable soundness of his grievance, caught headlines and generous column space in a number of newspapers across the country, and this was what was really aimed at in the first place.

For Negro church groups have regularly sought devices for making public their disgusted impatience with the racial policies of a large majority of the "Christian" churches of the United States. The leaders of these groups, being realists, have not demanded a modern miracle. They recognize that most church organizations are, first of all, social groups which reflect in membership policies, church politics and community attitudes the prejudices, vested interests and superstitious fears of a majority of their members in everyday life.

Most Negro church leaders, lay and clerical, also realize that their own denominational and congregational policies can be laid open to searching criticism in a number of ways—that bigotry and immorality know no color line. There are probably a number of Negro congregations which, if given the opportunity, would be apt to vote against admission of white communicants into their own memberships.

But this is not the point at issue in the action of Abyssinia Church. The real issue lies in the prolonged inability of the great denominational leaders of this country to agree on a straightforward, clean-cut and Christian racial policy to pass on to their denominations, dioceses and districts and individual congregations. Until such agreement is reached at the top level of Protestant planning, there is little likelihood of any great, sudden reformation of racial attitudes in Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and other Protestant churches that form the basic constituency of the National Council.

This is what the Reverend Clayton Powell was shooting at when he aimed the shotgun blast of Abyssinia's "resignation." That some of the shot hit the target was shown in the defensive statements elicited from National Council spokesmen. They pointed out—with not too great relevance—that Abyssinia Church couldn't resign; they stated that the resolution under question had not been defeated and that action on it could be expected "soon."

The natural response of the interested Negro public is: How soon is "soon?" In this case it would seem that "soon" will be too late, no matter how soon it comes. For tremendous damage has already been done to the prestige of the organized church, simply because it has been possible for a congregation to practice and publicize the most un-Christian racial policies without affecting one with its regular "Christian" standing. It is not unfair to state that in the United States one of the biggest supports for racial segregation is the organization of churches into "white" and "colored" congregations.

Even if the National Council should immediately pass the strongest possible resolution on the subject, this would be only a start—the barest start—on the job of getting Jim Crowism out of the Christian Church. But until the start is made, there is no hope of the job ever being done. This, as I understand it, is what Abyssinia is saying; with this 99 per cent of Negro Protestants will agree.

The People Say—

The Eagle is glad to publish your letters. Say anything you want to say, whether it is critical of our policies or in approval of them. We'll print what you have to say if you will keep your letters as short as you can. And you'll help us if you'll type your letters. If you can't type them, please write legibly on one side of the paper. Thanks.

CIVIIL DEFENSE

Dear Sir:

This letter is somewhat belated but nevertheless sincere and written to express the appreciation of the Office of Civil Defense for the fine article you printed in your February 21 edition of the California Eagle pertaining to Samuel M. McCallister's fine organization work in civil defense.

Such constructive articles are a tremendous help to our program and certainly do much to aid the development of the overall civil defense program thruout the city.

Again, thank you for your support, and let us know if we can work with you in any way to continue our good relations.

CARL BLUMAY,
Public Affairs Officer

WE'VE BEEN TOLD TOO

Dear Sir:

Those Fitzgerald Brothers who run LATL are here again with another request for an additional fare increase. It's beginning to be a habit with guys. Just how much do they think the proletarians can stand for a bumpy, jolting, jerky, kidney wrecking ride on their Rattletrap Toonerville Specials?

If the City Council stands for this one, the people will sharpen their pencils for the next City elections.

It looks like the Los Angeles Transit Lines are trying to pawn off their junky line on the people of Los Angeles, by creating a cry and demand for the City of Los Angeles to take over and buy the line.

It the Public Utility Commission grants this outrageous fare increase, they are heading for a storm that won't abate until those poor excuses as public officials are kicked out.

Sincerely,
Mayer G. Royal

SMALL BUSINESS

Dear Sir:

As a member of a volunteer advisory committee of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and representing the National Urban League, I have just met with officials of the Department to discuss ways and means to aid small Negro-owned firms become an integral part of the national mobilization of the Federal government.

Here in the New York metropolitan area, the effort is now being made to contact Negro firms which might be in a position to bid as sub-contractors for lucrative government contracts.

The National Urban League, in keeping with its campaign for equal economic opportunity, is anxious to hear from all Negro firms interested in bidding for such contracts.

We would appreciate these firms contacting the National Urban League, 1133 Broadway, New York 10, New York, as quickly as possible, so that we may be of assistance to them in this program?

Guichard Parris, Director
Promotion and Publicity

YOU BET WE'LL HELP

Dear Sir:

The American Council on Human Rights takes this method of thanking you for the excellent cooperation you gave in the way of publicity to the recent drive which was conducted to get citizens registered to vote.

The books in the Registrar of Voters office were closed to affiants April 10 for the June primaries. The Registration Committee is happy to report that a total of 1809 voters were registered by the committee on registration. We are not entirely satisfied with the results of the campaign, but it is a step in the right direction, and we sincerely feel that when the books are open again after the June primaries, and when the committee goes back to work again in July that we will get a greater number registered for the general election.

May we count on you for the same type of fine cooperation in the second half of our drive as was shown in our initial effort? Thank you!

Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) Florence Anderson

MR. BELUNCLE
By V. S. Pritchett

Mr. Beluncle thought of himself as a successful businessman; his business, however, in its essence, was fleecing guileless women. He had almost run out of new victims when Lady Roads brought along a nephew to set up in business. Promptly and happily Mr. Beluncle went to work, unaware of the debacle in his future. For the I. THE OLD RELIABLE
By P. G. Wodehouse

In his sixth decade as a novelist, old reliable author Wodehouse has transferred his attention from Edwardian England to a Hollywood that never was, but the formula is as good as ever. A rich, domineering sister, a meek and impecunious brother and a safecracking English butler scramble over the mansion of torrid ex-movie star Carmen Flores, looking for her equally torrid and extremely marketable diary, while the heavy-footed police and a couple of pairs of assorted lovers moon about the place.

Impressive Resurrection Observance

Observance of Easter at Neighborhood Church, 47th Place and San Pedro was based on an idea conceived by a member of the Deaconess Board of the church, Mrs. Tillie Durham. She presented as a gift a tomb built on the church lawn. The tomb was closed on Good Friday following the Seven Last Words rendered by the senior choir. There also was appropriate singing at the tomb.

On Easter Morning, following Sunrise Service, the pastor, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, followed by the Deaconesses, choir and congregation retired to the lawn, there to observe the open tomb.

Wax figures told the story, including the Angel announcing that "Christ has risen as He Said."

Sunrise sermon was delivered by Rev. D. Thomas, the benediction by Rev. Gamaliel Mansfield Collins, both young men are assistants to the minister.

Regular Easter service was held in the sanctuary at 10:30 a.m. when the pastor delivered the message to an overflow crowd.

Baptist Joint Educational Program Affording Leadership and Fellowship

REVOLUTIONIZED WORK—More than 5500 people have attended leadership training schools and 1200 youths and adults have attended summer conferences in which more than 50 young people have been converted. Vacation church schools have increased by more than 100 percent with 3,000 in attendance each summer.

Ten years ago a Christian Education program was initiated under the joint sponsorship of the Western Baptist State Convention and the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society which has served to revolutionize the work of the State Convention.

Success of the program is due mainly to the astute leadership of Dr. Horace N. Mays, state director of Christian Education for the Convention and director of the Department of Negro Activities for the City Misison Society.

Dr. Mays is a product of the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa., and accepted the call in 1942 to shoulder the task of building and projecting into the life of the Convention a vital program of Christian Education.

Since then great Baptist organizations of California have provided the opportunity for Dr. Mays to pursue graduate studies at the University of Southern California and the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary where he became the first Negro to be awarded the Doctorate in

The accomplishments of the Christian Education program are tremendous. Over its ten year span, some 5500 people have attended leadership education schools and projects in which 310 courses have been taught and 6500 course cards awarded. Seventy-eight Certificates of Progress have been issued in training schools. More than 1200 youths and adults have attended the annual Summer Conferences in which more than 50 young people have been converted and scores have renewed their consecration to Christ.

A vital factor in stimulating interest in the summer program of Christian Education for children and youth has been the annual Laboratory Vacation Church

School. This is evident in the fact that the number of vacation church schools has increased by more than 100 percent with more than 3,000 in attendance each summer.

Prior to 1933 the Western Baptist Association carried on its educational and missionary work through field workers. But at the Athletically speaking, Jefferson high school is the most feared school in the city. No school wants to be in the same league with them and with some justification, as Jefferson has almost made it a habit to win city championships, much less league championships. The Southern League has been juggled and rejuggled, but to no avail, as the demon Demos keep winning championships.

They have won the city track, football, and basketball title in the same year. This year they didn't win the basketball championship, but they have nailed down practically everything else.

Because Jefferson, in recent years, has become a school composed of practically 90 per cent Negro students, and the teams are all-Negro, this has given rise to much speculation.

Before 1933, Jeff couldn't win a tiddle-wink contest. Many Eastsiders went to Jefferson for three years, and the school never won a game or contest.

Prior to 1933, Jefferson occasionally produced an outstanding dash man such as Archie Woodyard, Silvon Creecy and Marzetta West. In 1933, Jeff produced its first great football team with such players as the Phillips brothers, the Galardo brothers, Karl Kimbro, Al Duval, Jim O'Neil, Woodie Strode, Cleve Macon, Amiel Jones and John Robinson. They beat Manual that year for the first time in the history of the school, and lost the title to Fremont 7 to 6.

That was the beginning of Jefferson's emergence as an athletic power. They have won the city track championship 14 times out of the last 18 years and have won the state title for the last three years.

It is a far cry from the time in 1933 when "Sloppy" John Rout, now a physician in Washington, D. C., won the state 440, and the school declared a holiday.

What makes Jeff so great? The students expect to win, and will only accept winning. Championships are the expected at Jefferson.

Many claim it is because the school is virtually all-Negro, and raise antiquated race theories. They are dead wrong.

What makes Jeff great is a combination of two factors. Pride and the greatest farm system outside of a Big Ten college.

Notre Dame or Army, two traditional football powers, could not be any prouder of their college's success than the average Jefferson student or athlete. U.S.C., traditionally a powerhouse in collegiate track ranks, has no better record than Jefferson and cannot be more proud of it than Jeff's alumni and students. Ironically, the only school closer to U.S.C. than Jefferson is Manual Arts, yet the Methodist institution has never seen fit to favor Jefferson athletes with scholarships.

The farm system is the real key to Jefferson's success. When I say that Jeff has the greatest farm system outside of organized baseball, it is true. Jeff draws from three junior high schools, John Adams, Lafayette, and Carver. Johnny Randolph, a Chapman College grad and instructor at Carver, spots an athletically endowed youngster and gives him the benefit of special attention. Same goes for Holden at Lafayette and instructors at John Adams. Joe Lewis at Central Playground, Bill Lacefield, Olympic broad jump and hurdle man in the 1936 Olympics and Jefferson alumnus at Ross Snyder, Leslie Bisco, swimming champion and recreation director at Slauson, Delbert Murray at South Park and Carl White at Compton Playground, all pick up talented youngsters and help develop them.

Frank Donaldson at the 28th Street YMCA develops swimmers and basketball players. Police officers Polk, Bell and Jackson help through the Deputy Auxiliary Police athletic program. All of these men go to all Jeff meets and games and pull for youngsters they helped develop. "That's a Carver boy," or that's a DAP boy resounds through the stands at the end of a good run, play or race. That is what makes Jeff great. That plus second-generation Jeff students and coaches like Marienthall and Johnson, who really take an interest in the boys.

Top that off with relatives in Texas and Louisiana and other points South, who spot a good athlete, and ship him to relatives in California.

With such a reservoir to draw from, no wonder the coach at L.A. says he wishes he had Jeff's cast-offs.

Majors List 17 Negro Players; Jethroe, Campy Star in Tilts

The National League lists nine Negro players.

Heading the parade of major leaguers who opened the season Monday was Jackie Robinson, first Negro to break into organized baseball, and now one of the main stays of the Dodgers. Roy Campanella, either the best or one of the best catchers in baseball, is back at his old stand behind the plate with Brooklyn. Whether or not pitcher Joe Black, up from St. Paul, can make Dodger fans forget Don Newcombe is an open question but Manager Charlie Dressen is said to be hopeful.

The pennant winning Giants opened without the services of powerful Monte Irvin, laid up in a hospital with a broken leg. All he did last year was to bat .321 and lead the National League in the all important runs batted in column. Center Fielder Willie Mays won't be around the Polo grounds long because Uncle Sam has him signed up for a little tour come May 18. Henry Thompson's status with the Giants is doubtful. He lost out as a starter last year and if the Giants' new outfielders come through he may sit this one out on the bench too. Ray Noble is the second string catcher for Leo Durocher's club.

The Jet is Back

The fleet Sammy Jethroe is back at center field for the Boston Braves. Teaming up with him are George Crowe, sensational first baseman up from Minneapolis and a rookie catcher, Bill Bruton.

Over in the American League with its nine Negro players all eyes will be on Cleveland's talented quintet consisting of Larry Doby, Luke Easter Clarence Simpson, Sad Sam Jones and Quincy Troupe. Jones is a toothpick eating fastballer up from San Diego and Troupe is being retained as a reserve catcher. What Cleveland does this year will depend largely on Easter's trick knee which is said to be ready for heavy duty and whether Doby can pull himself out of last year's slump.

The fleet Orestes Minoso is all ready to ramble again for the Chicago White Sox and claims that he is set for an even better year than he had last season when he played a big role in keeping the Sox up in the pennant race. A fellow countryman, Hector Rodriguez, is scheduled to take over third base and if what he did in the International League is any indication of his ability he will help to make the Sox the scourge of the League again.

Old Satchel With Browns

And then there's ancient Satchell Paige who is with Bill Veeck's question mark St. Louis Browns. Satch is not one for too much discipline and he and the hard driving Rogers Hornsby, Brown manager, may not be able to see eye to eye. Hornsby was one of the bitter ones opposed to Negroes breaking into organized baseball and he has already slapped a hundred dollar fine on the Ancient One for breaking rules.

Anyhow, that's seventeen—count 'em—Negroes in big league baseball. That number includes some of baseball's highest prize talent and as some of them go so will the pennant races.

Sam Jethroe rapped out a home run and Roy Campanella delivered a game winning single—one of three—to pace the 17 major league Negro players who responded to the call of "play ball" as big league baseball got under way Tuesday. Jethroe's home run was wasted as the Braves dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the Dodgers. Jackie Robinson went one for three in the Dodger-Brave game.

Clarence Simpson and Larry Doby each got a hit for Cleveland against Chicago, while Luke Easter went hitless. Orestes Minoso and Hector Rodriguez got a hit a piece fo rthe White Sox. Other Negro players were idle as the Giants were rained out.

This season's 17 Negroes constitute a new high for the number of Negro players in the majors and while some of them are question marks others are well established.

OMEGAS WALLOP ALPHAS 63 TO 52 WHILE KAPPAS TRAMPLE SIGMAS

The question of who is going to stop the Omega's title march in the interfraternity basketball series was cleared up decisively at Loloya Saturday night. The answer is—nobody, a fact that became crystal clear as they swamped the Alphas 63 to 52. In the curtain raiser the Kappas ran over, around and under the hapless Sigmas end up on the long end of a 58 to 36 score.

The Omegas cinched a tie and now have a four won and no lost record with only two more games to play. The Kappas and Alphas have identical records of two won and two lost each while the Sigmas haven't won a game yet.

Ed Tucker stayed at Stanford Saturday night but the Omegas didn't miss him as Algin Sutton and Ivan Robinson took charge of the proceedings and bucketed 33 points between them. Sutton got 18 to emerge as the high point man of the evening. When Sutton and Robinson weren't hitting the basket Charles Reed was and he wound up with an even ten digits.

John Barber and Al Tabor were the high men for the losing Alphas, with 17 and 14 points respectively. As usual they got their quota of support from the fast moving Hill twins. The game started out to be close and with a few seconds left in the first quarter the score was tied at 11 all. Ivan Robinson raced down the floor to score a field goal just as the gun sounded and was fouled in the process. He added the free throw to give the Omegas a 14 to 11 lead and they went on from there. Half time score was 36 to 18 and the Alphas were still behind 50 to 41 at the end of the third quarter.

Dave Williams was hotter than the proverbial firecracker for the Kappas and although he played only about half of the game he wound up with 17 points to his credit. The Sigmas had a miserable six points to the Kappas 18 at the quarter, and were dragging behind 42 to 22 at the end of the third quarter, thus offering the Kappas the chance to scream their "Satisfied" yell with meaning for the first time in three Saturdays.

Coach Lowell Stewart gave every Kappa on the squad a chance to get into the act and all of them were effective. Trying to keep up with who scores what for the Sigmas is too much of a chore because their numbers are not listed on the program and because numbers wouldn't mean anything anyhow since every substitute borrows the retiring player's shirt. Some wag remarked that it looked as if they had lost their shirts in more ways than one. However Bobby Pounds wasn't up to his usual form and Doug Shaw hit more than his quota of baskets.

Saturday's tilts will see the Kappas all set for the Omega meat grinder while the Alphas are licking their chops in contemplation of swamping the Sigmas. If the Omegas win—and they will—they will sew up the flag and leave the Kappas and Alphas to fight it out for second place. Even if the impossible happens and the Kappas whip the Omegas the latter will have only the Sigmas to meet the next Saturday and they can't lose that one.

TIP-INS

The crowd came to life when Irving (Smitty) Smith, local news photographer, went in for the Sigmas and he obliged by pouring in four points. . . . The whistle tooters were busy as little bees Saturday and called many fouls they had been overlooking in the first games. . . . Fred Bluett, old Sigma stand-by, is getting a little flat footed now and the boys are running away from him with increasing frequency. . . . Kappa cheer leaders changed their luck by switching from red skirts and white blouses to red blouses and white skirts. . . . The Omega run-away is hurting the box office. . . . John Brewer is the last of the Old Guard, he was around when the series was strictly an Alpha-Kappa shindig.

PERFECT GAME — Robert Austin, 20-year-old freshman, pitched a no-hitter in his first college mound appearance as the Florida A and M College Rattlers beat the Howard University nine 3-0 in the second of a three game series. The Bishops won the first 10-6, and dropped the third 5-D.

Clisby Victor in Cosmo Tourney

Oscar Clisby made a show of a fine field of golfers in the Cosmopolitan club's sweepstakes at Chino last Sunday by firing a one over par 73 that led his nearest competitor by six strokes.

Sam Cummings won the first low net cup in class A with a 79 followed by Roscoe Jones. Pretournament favorites such as Henry Barabin, Al McDaniel, Archie Hairston and Milton Rayson found the narrow fairways and alfalfa fields on the first nine too much to cope with.

Contestants in class B were more closely bunched with Lee Young, Autry Jones and Earnest Terrell winding up in a triple tie for the two low net cups. A sudden-death play-off will be held this week.

Lonnie Eberhardt won the class C net cup with Henry Wolfe and Howard Groom tying for second. Groom was the winner of the playoff. Next Cosmopolitan tourney has been set for Griffith Park, Sunday, May 4th, according to tournament chairman Theophilus Smith.

DANCE COMMITTEE of Alpha Gamma Omega chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority took time out of their busy schedule to view their pastel gowns and to check invitations to friends and guests of the sorority for the Pastel formal to be held at Zenda's ballroom on Friday evening, April 25. Photographed at the residence of Earline Shaw are, standing, left to right: Earline Shaw, chairman of decorations; Shirley Spencer, Alice Long, antibasileus of the local chapter; Bernice Catherine Wright, chairman of publicity; Josephine McDavid, Shirley Curry, Verna Dauterive. Knights Easter Dance

It was "old home" week Sunday afternoon at the Elks Auditorium, when the Social Knights held their traditional Easter Promenade. In some sections of the country, the groundhog is the harbinger of Spring, but in Los Angeles since 1930, the Easter Sunday Promenade given by the Social Knights officially ushers in the white shoes season.

A gay crowd, a little older, heavier and wiser, thronged the beautiful Elks auditorium, greeting old friends, backslapping and shaking hands like politicians. A war mspirit of old friendship pervaded the atmosphere of the dance like a balmy spring breeze.

Organized over 22 years ago, the Social Knights Easter affair is the oldest traditional affair in Los Angeles. Louis Cole, who has introduced the club members at all of their dances, introduced Lillian Randolph, who sang the club theme song, Easter Bonnet, and introduced members of the club.

The club members wore the traditional-grey suits, red carnations and red knit ties, and straw katies. As they were introduced they tipped their hats in acknowledgement. Music for the affair was furnished by Jeep Smith's orchestra.

Put This on your Social Calendar

The STARLETS, a new organized girls club, are presenting their first affair at the Alpha Bowl, May 2, the theme being Star Dust.

UNDERCOVER hounds

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

The vision of Easter finery is still a pleasant memory in the Hounds' minds. Gazing upon gorgeous gals in beautiful summer clothes is an experience that can hardly be forgotten by the average and even above average lush-lifting male. You've got to hand it to some of these Easter Sunday babes.

It would be an injustice to many to name just some of those we saw in the Easter Parade. We'll let you take it for granted that everyone was looking tops.

Ambassadors to Ambassador

The craziest, this time was held at the Ambassador and was given by the Alpha Pledges. The crowd yielded an assortment of old and new faces. Among some of the ones we did recognize were:

Maurice Johnson and Alberta Henderson enjoying the scenery. Artis Saunders and Thomas Green holding each other up. Bette Norman who caused more than one head to turn. One in particular? Ike Jones.

Noticed quite a few chaps discussing the fact that Pat Roberts will be back on the scene within the month. . . . Also dug the dream with the dress on—Pauline Smart, she'd be a dream without the dress, maybe a nightmare. . . . Also ran into Lou Robinson and Peggi Beasley, James Braggs and Billie Barrett, Walker Bruce and Peggy Terry, Joyce Overr and Orville Diggs, Loretta Lee, Lorenzo Wallace, Walter Smith, and Tony Sheen. . . . After parties were given at the homes of Wanda Harris, Ted Scheffer and Arthur Lewis.

Lollin with the Apollins

Not long ago we, as most others, were becoming disgusted with pay afairs. But the dance thrown by the Apollins a couple of nights back restored our faith in donation shindigs.

Elvira Redd and her five presented such ultra-modern sounds that they transformed the crowd into dance mad maniacs. While dancing to one of the band's specialties we stubbed toes and bumped elbows with such personalities as John Haynes, Pat King, Walt Hart, Sidney Carson, Rosalyn Dauphine, Milard Johnson, Francine Fortier, Jean Marshall, and Harry Mallett who was squeezing the beans out of his best gal, Alice.

The club members namely Willie Barnes, Zeff Frazier, James Barrow, Claude Poe, Alfred Jackson, Joe Wilson, Charles Pendergrast, George Cobb, Ronald Stokes, Cleveland Lewis, James Bernard and Wade Shoemate kept the log rolling in keeping a constant vigil against prospective party crashers. Toward the end these lootless fellows were let in.

Among things were Undercovered this week were:

Any day now is the day for Gloria Collins.

Wilson Robinson was recently married to Gloria Swanagan.

Arthur Lewis and Maxine Kennady are engaged.

Albert Crum has big round eyes for Dorothy Aken.

Mary Ann Baumann has resisdered an old beau. Is the feeling mutual?

Guess Who?

Did you know about that Delta sorer who has her boyfriend puzzled over her going out with her girlfriends more than any other man? Something or someone's kinda funny here.

Wonder why a certain Kappa fratman is drinking so heavily now? A recent putdown is the most probable reason. After so much playing and goofing what could be expected? Well, he who laughs last, lasts best. This time it happened to be a she.

All good things come to an end. Clarence Kennady thought that his cunning line could keep him in or out of confusing situations. But now his head is spinning a ring that cost a fortune around her marrying finger.

The pathetic story this week has to do with one of the social boys of the "400" who is being shunned by his very friends over his bad habit of staying loaded (not drinking). We're hoping he'll get of of that kick, some friends are very concerned. And, too ,it's quite a bad reflection on his family.

Wonder why the policeman wouldn't allow Leon McCarty to continue that conversation with his gal L. D. at the Ambassador, Sunday?

D.C., S.L. is real cool, so why be so obvious? Be cool.

Expose

Who is the Ivy Leaf who plans two dates a night? After snapping one off at the front door she stays inside long enough to grab a snack; then out the back. And who is the married man who parks his car in the alley behind the house? Better look out J. G. you may end up without a spouse, you louse.

Right about now we'll take time to tell about the local playboy whose insincere affections for almost every gal in town proved fatal about three months back when he latched onto a gal who was as green as the valley.

We got it from an inside source that he is already married with divorce pending. Here's hoping for her sake that it comes through in time.

We're even wondering just what caused the termination of Theresa Matthews and Neton Harris' little "go with." The general consensus tends to follow that her eyes go red, about the color of a convertible owned by playboy, Benny Prescott.

B.W., please wise up to date. Due to the intricate comunication system in our atmosphere, namely the telephone, social grapevine, and postal service it isn't so hard for people in far away places to get wind of all the sneaks and creeps you're pulling.

Back from Uncle Sam's boys camp this week are David Mijares, Air Force Cpl. just back from Korea on leave; and Eddie Roberts, Air Force Cpl. who enjoyed the scenery in the better parts of Europe and was stationed in Western Germany.

Look Out, the Hounds are Around.

Mad Hats and Gay Music Entertained Spectators

The Doll League affair at Florentine Gardens, Easter Sunday was one of the most extraordinary events of the day. It is true that due to the social growth of this fair city and influx of new people who are really on the ball, doing, going, expanding and trodding where 'angels fear," some feel a bit reluctant about attending the newer spots for fear of feeling like a stray or intruder.

Not true, however, with the Doll Leaguers. In the comfortable club hall they provided a friendly atmosphere created by the girls, everyone relaxed and just had a wonderful time.

Music and Bonnets

The music of Sammy Franklin's aggregation may have had something to do with it.

The acts in the show were outstanding. Martha Davis' performance alone was worth the price of the ticket. The Easter bonnets were exciting, extreme, expensive, fabulous and original. Also, milady was attired up to the minute in popular spring fashions—costumes featuring materials of faille, taffeta, silk shuntung, pure silk prints, nylons, nets and organza, as were the traditional suits of gabardine and sheer wools. Popular colors were navy, orchid, purple, grey and combinations of colors. wearer according to facial con-

Cottons and Lace

The president, Euvalda Morris, wore a striking spring print. Evelyn Royal, chairman of the affair, was attired in green satin and lace combination.

Eye catchers among the many guests were: Jeanne Holmes in a beige bengaline suit with bead trim, Ora McClain in grey ribbon knit with purple accessories, Myrtle Jones' after 5 costume, and Irma Fairs' hand knit red suit with navy accessories. Mrs. Abie Robinson wore a tailored suit and stunning milan straw chapeau.

The overall picture was one of prosperity and good taste.

Creations of Hair

Hair styles were more unique than ever, Poodle cuts, long bobs, feather curls, brushed ducks, back part, no parts; each style specially created for each wearer acording to facial ocntours as well as the figures.

A few eyecatchers were the coiffure's of Mrs. Vera Salomn, featured a soft waved bang composed of her grey hair; Mrs. Alice Johnson's short auburn hairdo; Mrs. Ara Skaggs McClain, smart short cut under hat of violets; Bernice Gilbert, Leagurer, semi-poddle in full brush; Edwina Hill in becoming short brush curl.

Gussie Tucker, new length poodle; Mrs. Kay Calvin's stunning natural chestnut brown creation, Mrs. Fay Wagner, Leagurer, soft curls forming red crown; Mrs. Chris Wright's dressed up horse's tail; Mrs. Heloise Patton in the much discussed but feared "5 inch", Mrs. Leontyne King, black hair softly curled, and Mrs. Irma Fairs in Claudette Colbert smooth bangs.

BILL SMALLWOOD

Tall, handsome Frank Harvey gets in any minute now after long months in Korea with the 40th. He was with the Medical Detachment; the idea of not being at the front with his buddies cut short his project of operating an infirmary behind the lines. He hastened on and rejoined them. His mother, happy as only a mother welcoming home a son could be, says she knows he'll need some fattening up so she will trot those juicy steaks out of the deep-freeze but pronto. Maj. Baxter Scruggs, who has really enjoyed his current leave, winds up his local stay this weekend. He goes to Indiana then will return here later. Virgie Benson legally rejoined the ranks of bachelors the other day.

The Bob Allens (Dot) getting ready to host Bob's brother Bill, due in early next month from the east coast. They've taken over that new place of theirs. Jo Cooper, off to SF for a long weekend via air, houseguesting with the owners of the Scaggs Hotel. Birthdayed Tues.: Chazz Crawford. That was Bunny (Mary) Hinkson, daughter of Philly's Dr. and Mrs. DeHaven Hinkson (nationally known family), who danced on last Sunday's televised opera (Amahl and the Night Visitors). She taught awhile at the Univ. of Wisconsin, her alma mater, but has been appearing with a dance group of late.

Cal Bailey's painting among those on view during the Rahn concert is titled A Group: Mother and Child. He will be off soon on an extensive four-month tour on which he will paint exclusively. Upon return he will complete arrangements for his first one-man show (Beverly Hills). Last stop on his trip will be deep in interior Mexico. All of it amounts to a pretty serious undertaking for whenever Cal puts aside his golf clubs you may safely bet it's darn vital. Noble Sissle has friends guessing. He's seeing much of a DeeCee socialite these spring days. Charlie Beal played for that recent fabulous party given in Paris for Jay Clifford. And breathes there a traveled Angeleno who at some earlier time or other never was part of those crushes in Jay's penthouse atop Harlem's Sugar Hill? He's off next to visit an Egyptian prince, a buddy of his.

Dorothea Towles positively causing a traffic jam in the lobby of Harlem's Hotel Theresa. She's a platinum blonde along with it all. Betty Hudson so in love this spring. He's Johnny (Big John) Davis, left field ace for the San Diego Padres. And they have time for little other than each other! Bobbee Black Borders and medico mate Ted in Ft. Wayne all packed and ready to take their plane to Puerto Rico. Ted attends a medical meet there, then they tour the Caribbean. Bobbee will visit her mother (Mrs. Lillian Black) here before the year is out. Bobbee, you know, and Carmelita Lomax are sisters; Woody Lewis is their nephew.

Haitian Ambassador Laraque's daughter Jacqueline will wed a DeeCee disc jockey. Seeing Elaine de Lavallade and her cousin, Sheila Montgomery, in the Browning-Brewington wedding party gave me cause to marvel anew over that large family group of talented cousins and nieces. All of them seem so well able to do things with finished flair. Amazing family. And surely a highly decorative-to-gaze-upon family! Angelique Bratton is justifiably proud of them collectively. London visitor Leslie Hutchins surely must be the most refreshingly successful visitor to these shores in a decade. Folk are being especially nice to her around the clock. She finds life in the States both startling and fascinating. And our basketball—well, she says, never has she seen anything quite like our enthusiasm. In London they politely clap. Her current taste of things American is the most exciting thing ever to happen in her eventful life.

Girl Friends meet Monday night. Wonder what happened to Ann Marquess and her army officer mate's heralded trip home from the South Pacific? They were to come through here en route east, seems to me. Mrs. Sy Oliver (Belle) and her son Taylor, visiting the Paul Hickmans, continued on their way. The Lloyd Grangers, he's brother to Lester who visited here recently, are nearing the completion of a luxurious round-the-world cruise. They'll include California on their route home. How did the press overlook the fact Errol Flynn's attorney in his recent suit in Nassau is the famous titled 'colored barrister' of that area?

Widow of Chica. Defender's Lucius Harper is writing a book. Evelyn Cummings reminds me somewhat of Charlotte Strickland (she spent time here during the war). Betty Scott home again after hospitalization.

I want you to meet: Six-footer Gregory (Skipper) Simons, who for the past two years was the only colored member of the Hope St. YMCA championship swim team. Swimming since he was six, this is his first season with the L.A. High School line-up. His coach describes fifteen-year-old Skipper as one of the most relaxed swimmers he's ever contacted.

Quite a lad, this Simons. A teen-age church worker, too. He enjoys taking his parents out; they made the interfrat basketball games, arm in arm. His grandmother is Norene Forney, dynamic personality that she is so well known to be. Skipper owns a large collection of medals, awards, etc. for his prowess. He wants to be a physical therapist. With his ambition, talent and an all-fire outlook Skipper and the others like him will make the grade.

Doll League cross-section during the Easter skip-to-my-Lou razzle dazzle: At one table, Walter Miller, Eleyce Johnson, Sylvia Wimberley, Wilma James, Johnny Brewer. Another table-full: Joe King, Sally Tucker, Rosemary Smith. And smart-as-ever Eula Henderson with a group.

Lou Dodson Fetes Southern Belles

The Southern Belles club held its regular meeting Sunday, April 6, with Mrs. Lou Edna Dodson serving as hostess. Special guest for the evening was Mrs. Louise Fitch. Plans are underway for the club's Annual Mother's Day Brunch at 388 W. 41st place.

Plush Embassy Room Houses Huge Crowd

The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity stole a march on other local social groups last Sunday with a lavish presentation of its annual Easter Show in the plush confines of the Ambassador Hotel's Embassy room. Everything went off well. The crowd was huge, smartly dressed and in good humor; the entertainment ample, consistent and high class.

Guest Stars

Among the array of gifted guest stars who paraded their talents on the show were such famously popular names as Arthur Lee Simpkins, Mable Scott, Joyce Bryant, the Nicholas Brothers, Crip Heard and the Five Flames. Local disc jockey favorite Joe Adams kept the entertainment moving briskly as master of ceremonies.

Highlight of the evening was the happily received appearance of beauteous movie star Linda Darnell. She attended in the party of another film name, Bill Walker, recently starred in "The Well." Newspaper editor Chês Washington introduced the movie beauty to the audience.

In keeping with a standard custom of the fraternity, the Alpha Gold award was presented to the artist whom the members the organization felt had given most of his time and talent to the furtherance of the many worthy projects sponsored during the past year for the benefit of deserving charities.

Pianist-vocalist Nellie Lutcher won the award but was not able to receive it in person, being away from the city on show engagements. A sister of hers received the honor for her.

Chairman

Last year the Alpha Gold award went to Arthur Lee Simpkins. Chiefly responsible for the lining up the gala Easter Show for the Alphas was Dr. Roy Andrew, chairman of the affair. He spared no effort to make sure that the patrons were satisfied with the entertainment.

This year's Alpha Easter show will long remain in the memories of local socialites as an affair smartly arranged and presented.

Joint Educational Program Offers Leadership Course

annual meeting of the group in August of that year in Pasadena, it temporarily discontinued all of its field work, both missionary and educational. At the same meeting an Educational Commission was appointed by the late moderator H. B. Thomas.

By November 3, 1933 the Commision had submitted a report to the Executive Board of the Western Baptist Association calling for "Ministers' Institutes, Leadership Training Courses, Districts Institutes and Teacher Training Classes in all the local churches connected with the Association."

The 1933 Commisiston worked hard to implement its report but resigned at the annual session in 1934 and Dr. Thomas appointed Dr. Jonathan L. Caston as Commissioner of Christian Education.

At the 1939 annual session of the State Convention, the work of the Educational Commissioner was returned to an Educational Commission and in 1941, a plan of cooperation between the Western Baptist State Convention and the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society was approved.

The plan of cooperation set up a joint board with equal representation from the Convention and the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society to supervise the work of the newly elected director of Christian Education, Dr. Horace N. Mays, who began work in 1942.

What was formerly a movement limited to the Sunday School and BYPU Congress has now become a varied program of almost unbelievable proportions. At present, the educational program of the Convention consists of the following: Annual Congress, annual summer camp at Thousand Pines, annual Young People's Easter Convocation, annual vacation Church School laboratory, annual spring and fall schools of Leadership Training in the Los Angeles area, annual schools of Leadership Training in South Los Angeles and Pasadena, quarterly forums in the Los Angeles District Association and Leadership Training Schools for local churches in Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Riverside and San Diego.

Much of this program has been developed on an inter-racial basis. Faculty members and members of the staff have served without remuneration and, from the beginning of the coperative venture, the work has been financed two thirds by the Baptist City Mission Society and one third by the Western Baptist State Convention.

New Manager at Paradise Lounge

Al Austin this week announced the appointment of L. C. Bland as new manager of the popular Paradise Lounge at 5505 S. Central avenue.

The public is invited to come in and select from American and Chinese menus and everyday specials. The management also earnestly solicits patrons' comments through the medium of a "Suggestion Box" at the bar.

Bland brings to the Paradise long and varied experience in serving the public, having worked in many of the best clubs in this area.

Speights Featured by Symphony Group

The Community Symphony Rehearsal Orchestra celebrated its second anniversary Tuesday evening with a public rehearsal at the First Unitarian Church. This unique group, which was formed for the purpose of affording opportunities to both white and Negro musicians of this city to train for symphonic work, holds regular weekly rehearsals at Le Conte Jr. High School auditorium on Tuesday evenings.

The program featured as soloist gifted young soprano Dorothy Speights, in a group of arias by Handel and Puccini. The orchestra performed works by Coleridge-Taylor, Beethoven, Berlioz and Ravel.

Blinky's Band At 'Say When'

Blinky Allen, local drummer and former Jefferson High school athlete, now leads his own swing band at the cozy "Say When" club in San Francisco.

'Scatman' Crothers Has Major Role In Motion Picture

Benjamin Crothers, more familiarly known in local swing circles as "Scatman," and best known as a blues singer and comedian, turns actor in "The Great Champion," a Universal-International picture starring Dan Dailey and Ann Blythe.

WILLIE SMITH LEAVES DUKE; JOINS BILLY

Willie Smith, great alto star who formerly played with the bands of the late Jimmie Lunceford, Harry James and recently with the Duke Elington crew, left the latter aggregation to join the new Billy May orchestra.

Smith told a reporter: "I hate to leave Duke Ellington, but I also hope to settle down in California and I think Billy (whose headquarters will always be in Hollywood) will be doing less traveling."

Ellington had not announced a permanent replacement for Smith at press time.

Wardell Gray Forms New Ork With Top Stars

Wardell Gray and his newly-organized combo recently concluded a record-breaking engagement at the Tiffany Club, featured on a bill that headlined the famous Billie Holiday.

Gray's crew, which features Pianist Hampton Hawes, Drummer Chico Hamilton (a bassist whose name escapes me at the moment) and Gray himself toying with the tenor, has been set for several concert appearances and one-night dates in Chicago, Kansas City and other eastern cities. The Gray outfit is considered one of the nation's greatest, listenable young swing crews.

Lauretta Butler Dies

for the annual kiddie dance revues which she presented for 17 years. During the 35 years that she taught piano and dancing here in her native Los Angeles, she numbered among her pupils most of those who later became "names" in artistic fields.

Among the famed whom she taught were Dorothy and Lillian Dandridge, the Peters sisters, and Alice Key.

Born the daughter of California pioneers Amanda and Joseph Green, she spent most of her life in this community. Her travels included aperiod of teaching at normal and industrial schools in Florida and summers spent presenting a sextet of girls in that state's finest resort hotels.

On Pearl Harbor Day she was in Hawaii with a group of children whom she took there to appear in dance recitay.

High tribute was paid to Mrs. Butler for her many philanthropies, her hospitality and the major role she played in many civic undertakings.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Cecil Jones; severa cousins and a number of youngsters whom she reared, one of whom, Mercedes Goodeau, still resided with her at the time of her demise. She was the widow of William Green who died 35 years ago.

Pallbearers were Garner Grayson Sr., Walter Early, Fred M. Roberts, Bernard Gray, William Stovall and Edward Shepard. Roberts Mortuary conducted the funeral.

Baby Burns Hand

The tiny hand of one-year-old Denise Joan Roberts was painfully burned when she collided with an open heater in the living room of her home at 5426½ S. Compton avenue, Friday.

The mishap occurred when the tot, tripping, thrust out her hand to break her fall.

She is at home after treatment at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

BRONZEVILLE IS MY BEAT...

By Les Henry

OFF THE RECORD

GLADYS BENTLEY and her FINE COMBO turn out a truly superb performance on FLAME LABEL of a new original, titled: "JUNE 'TEENTH JAMBOREE." SAX STAR doin' the tooting on the disc is BUMPS MYERS, who is the superior artist of all local TENOR TOOTERS. . . . THEN THERE'S the fine disc on the JUKE BOXES by AARON "T-BONE" WALKER from the gifted pen of JESSIE MAE ROBINSON, titled: "COLD, COLD FEELING." FLIP-OVER, "I'VE GOT NEWS FOR YOU BABY," was penned by local columnist JT GIPSON, who handles "THE BONE'S" b'sness from his plush SUNSET STRIP OFFICE. . . . WHATEVER HAPPENED to the fine little combo fronted by DRUMMERMAN ALTON REDD? He has long been rated one of the top drummers around this neck of the woods, and HIS BLUES-SHOUTING is ear-pleasing stuff. . . . WHY DOESN'T OL' LOUIS "SATCHMO" ARMSTRONG record "SEPTEMBER SONG?" The number is a CLASSIC, and POP'S would definitely blow it into the COLLECTOR'S ITEM class!

'ROUND TOWN LOWDOWN

'SMAZING HOW some people (Mostly Frivilous Femmes) WILL LOUDLY verbally-spank COLUMNISTS NOT TO "put my name in that darn colyum," then (WHEN NOBODY'S LOOKING) offer all kinds of FAVORS TO HAVE it put there! Ho, HUM!! . . . GERALDINE LUNG (with new poodle hair cut, and pounds slimmer) IS BACK IN THE BURG and waitressing at one of the LOCAL EATERIES. . . . THE TOWN REALLY jumped over the EASTER WEEKEND with many "shows" high-lighting the HOLIDAY. THE SHOW AT SOUTH PARK was crowded, but not up to its previous expectations; the SHRINE AUDITORIUM was the scene of a fast-moving SHOW THAT thrilled from opening number to finale!! . . . SOME OF THOSE alleged WESTSIDE Debutantes oughta fall off that high horse they're ON, and stop puttin' people on the pan. PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES shouldn't, etc. . . . AN EAGLE STAFFER is really in BAAAD at home! DURING A VACATION trip to PALM SPRINGS he sent a post card home and UNINTENTIONALLY LEFT OUT the letter "e" in one of the words. The CARD SIMPLY stated: "HAVING A WONDERFUL TIME. WISH YOU WERE HER!" ?

HOT PLATTERS

THE LATE CECIL GANT puts in some smooth vocalizing and KEYBOARD WORK on his record release, "ALL BECAUSE OF YOU." . . . WHILE WARDELL GRAY is solidly in there with HIS NEWEST DISC, "FARMER'S MARKET." HE'S THE only tenor-tooter heard around these parts in a LONG TIME who really puts OOMPH in his blowin' . . . ARTHUR PRYSOCK sings "I DID'NT SLEEP A WINK LAST NIGHT" in REAL BEEEG-TIME style. I'd like to hear more of the OLDIES ("DEEP PURPLE", "ONCE IN AWHILE," and other hits of yesteryear) recorded by the lad with the GOLDEN VOICE. . . . FOLKS ARE TALKIN' REAL loud about the fine work of Pianist LLOYD GLENN on his new waxing, "AFTER HOURS." . . . THE NEW BILLY MAY orchestra musically backs up NAT "KING" COLE on his "I'M HURTIN'" disc. MAY'S music-makers sound like the old Jimmie Lunceford bank—in spots!

NEWS IN REVIEW

And we hear SHE HAS A CERTAIN young Man-About-Town completely GA-GA over her LOVLINESS!! . . . The EASTER PARADE looked like RECESS in HEAVEN! Some of the luscious dolls could easily have been mistaken for ANGELS ON A FURLOUGH FROM THE HEAVENS! . . . LOTS OF EXCITEMENT over last nite's bout between SUGAR RAY ROBINSON and ROCKY GRAZIANO, with many of the local boys wagerin' all on SUGAR RAY to WIN via the KNOCKOUT route!! . . . THOSE RED CAPS out at INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT should be given an AWARD OF SOME KIND for their friendly service. ALWAYS smiling and bein' sooo FRIENDLY! HATS OFF TO a group of FINE FELLOWS!! . . . JIMMY MITCHELL (the BLACK PANTHER of the wrestling rings) is quite a popular fella! He's a gentleman both IN AND OUT of the squared circle!!! . . . Johnny Otis at Apollo in N. Y.

NEW YORK—Johnny Otis and his famous orchestra, featuring the throaty-voiced Little Esther on vocals, will begin a week's engagement at the Apollo Theatre here on April 25.

Shriners Giant Charity Show at Florentine Gardens Monday

Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, chairman of the Associated Charities program of Egyptian Temple No. 5, Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, announced this week that he has lined up a million-dollar show for the gigantic charity cabaret dance sponsored by the organization at the Florentine Gardens, 5955 Hollywood boulevard, on this coming Monday night, April 21.

"Rochester" said that he is indeed gratified by the splendid response he has received from top stars in Hollywood, who will give their best in the star-spangled show for the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital that is now being built in Hollywood to serve all races and creeds. Part of the funds also will go to the tubercular and cancer fund, and the local organization's hospital in Washington, D.C.

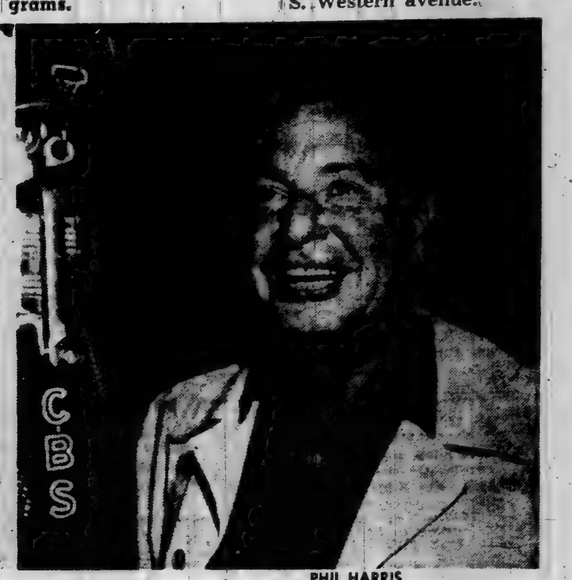
George Jessel will emcee the million-dollar show that will feature such stars of radio, screen and television as Jack Benny, Frank Sinatra, Phil Harris, Dennis Day, Arthur Lee Simpkins, Jane Russel, Bob Crosby, Peg-Leg aBtes, Mabel Scott, Toney Lavello, Paul Nero, Johnny Lee, Nicholas Brothers, Hadda Brooks, Helen Humes, Willie Covan, and Johnnie and George.

Helen Humes, Leonard Reed, George Bryant, Scat Man Crothers, The Hi Hatters, and many other stars will appear on the program.

18-Piece Band

Benny Carter, one of Hollywood's top musical arrangers, is rehearsing an 18-piece orchestra with some special arrangements to set the musical tone of the show.

This is an annual affair sponsored by the Shriners to raise funds for their many charity programs. This year it is unique in that a major portion of the funds are earmarked for a local Shriners' hospital, as well as their own organizational programs.



Walter Goodlow, chairman of the ticket committee, announced that a brisk sale of patron subscriptions has been reported to him by the Nobles, indicating a sell-out house. Persons desiring reservations at the Florentine Gardens can contact any Noble of the Temple or call REpublic 9475. Subscriptions are also available at Bloom's Liquor Store, 3115 S. Western avenue.

ARLENE FRANCIS
JOSEPH WISEMAN

The goings on of certain attractive members of a popular social club and how they came into possession of brand new cars and plush apartments is not Sunday school gossip. That westside Latin number should give up and leave a handsome young business-man alone. He informed her that as far as he was concerned she is "dead", which means my man Lamarr Hill at the Angelus can call for the body anytime.

PIGGY BANK BANDIT

A big time Eastern comedian is being sought by F. B. Eyes as the key man of the inside apartment robbery. Missing after the bold job was exposed was a baby piggy bank loaded with loot.

BOTTLE, BOTTLE

What prominent Los Angeles business man is thinking of blaming alcoholism when he files for a divorce. It seems he is getting sick of the playing second fiddle to Old Crow.

OUT IN THE COLD

That valet for a big time blues singer is having it tough enough in town facing a dope charge. Now his gal friend has tossed him out of the "pad' early in morning adding more trouble to his already troubled soul.

The smooth whiskey figure at the 51st street address is having his love troubles again. Seemed like she up and hauled away her pretty self. Could her exhave something to do with the parting?

POPULAR

DOLL LEAGUERS' newly elected president Euvalda Morris can easily be reason why this important community organization should reach its zenith.

THE DOPE SET

The New Orleans set is buzzing about finding young handsome Albert Duplessis in a dope-stupor in the exclusive residential section of New Orleans. The Duplessis name ranks high in the Crescent City social set. A big time realty broker is treading on very dangerous ground and the "narco" just missed him by a second.

FASHION PLATES

Young Joe King, considered in the needle and thread set as one of the most promising tailors, saw his work take first, second and third places in the recent "His Nibs" fashion show. Modeling for King were Bub Marshall, Walter Miller and George Hyman.

BUTTONS AND BONNETS

Catching the Easter Parade at various sections we drooled over: Betty Allston, Alma Murray, Sue Jones, Nat Jones, Mrs. James Bowore, Lillian Randolph, Mallie Kussman, Flora Williams, and Katherine Lee. Will Rogers Park's three gorgeous gals were Sadie Jackson, 13-year-old Trinidad Lopez and 9-year-old Billie Sandra Capelton.

Gloria Forman, Helen Stewart, Flo Goggins Owens, Cecelia Rene, Ursula Jackson, Irene Ho'King, Michi Itomura, Gloria Rose, Helen Bean, Ruth Wolfe, Georgia Mavlo were pretty as a sonnet.

Leonard (Welch's) McClain says Johnnetta Starks and Wilma Dungey were two of the beautifully attired ladies. Incidentally the McClain fellow is doing a bang up job with the Simon Levi company and their Welch's latest pocket-sized drink is getting a good play in sales.

"With These Hands," prize-winning motion picture produced by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union to tell the story of its history, its struggles, and its achievements will be seen by Los Angeles televiewers next Sunday afternoon. It will be shown over TV station KNBH, Channel 4, at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, April 20.

Starring the famous Hollywood character actor, Sam Levene, and featuring Joseph Weissman, who has played lead parts recently in "Detective Story" and "Viva Zapata," "With These Hands" has been used as a major propaganda weapon in the war for Democracy. It has been shown all over the world by the Voice of America and the State Department, having been produced in almost every major language.

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan will appear in concert with the New York Philharmonic at Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn. sometime during the summer. Deal was set by the Gale Agency.

Sultry Singer Solidly 'Sends' Scribe With Sentimental Songs

By LES HENRY

We've covered assignments from the opening of a new nite spot to a three-ring circus, but the grooviest assignment of them all was the Billie Holiday recording session last week at one of the major record firms. She is, without a doubt, one of the truly great artists in the Kingdom of Swing, and her style of chirping is perfection personified!

There have been many articles written on the subject of popular singers, but not one of them stand up with the greatest of them all—Billie Holiday! They simply don't have the art of putting a song across, and most of the present-day crop of femme chirps resort to trick tonsilling to put their songs across.

Not Billie Holiday!

She has an original and distinctive style of toying with a ballad or swinging a sweet swing tune that has kept her name up around the top (where it so rightfully belongs!) for nearly a decade!

She has good diction, doesn't sing sharp or flat and has perfect "mike" technique.

At the session caught by this reviewer, the charming and neatly-dressed songstress literally rocked the rafters with her selection of songs. Miss Holiday reached the heights by constant practice and hard work. She is a tireless entertainer and has been known to sing for a solid hour at a time, obliging with encore after encore. She gives the guys and gals in the audience just what they ask for! And the way she wraps her heart around a vocal, you'd think she was born with a silver tune in her mouth!

Anytime she steps in front of a microphone and begins to sing, she can be sure of an eager audience!

Central Avenue barber. He'll be hustling those brands for months to catch up with figures he dropped.

DEEP FREEZE

That's the label the boys along Western Avenoo hung on shapely and tantalizing Laurita Alexander ambling down the street on a hot sunny afternoon. BILLIE IVES, quit the Newton Grill cold the other week. The popular waitress tossed in her trays at the east Fifth street eatery. Reasons were that the boss lady was not the best in the world to work for. Dr. John Simmons is going to get some business down Watts way if that longshoreman's wife gets her wires crossed with that liquor store clerk.

GROOVY CORSAIRES

Ever wonder what happened to such likeable guys as: Moody Dandrige, Sugar Jones, Chuck Henderson, Solly Wilson, etc.? Well, Sunday afternoon at 1918 S. Harvard the gang is making with lots of merriment on April 27. The Majestic Corsairs are famous for attracting the finest in female pulchritude to their affairs.

POSTALETTES

This enterprising group of young postal employes headed by Hazel Foster is making steps as one of the better social clubs in our community. Club member Mattie Kennedy certainly impressed Eagle staffers as one reason why the Postalettes should go places.

CUPID KAYOS "HUSTLER"

Actually it seems more difficult to get a promising pair of "hipsters" to finish college before getting hitched than to get Senator Rankin to support Fair Employment Practice or to persuade Los Angeles' downtown theatres (even though 55% of their business is Negro) to hire at least one charming and qualified colored cashier or usherette.

Rumor has it that the latest "hanging" has been between Lewis Oscar "Hustler" Williams, brilliant Bruin back and Lessie B. Shepard, student nurse at General.

At East Los Angeles Junior College each wanted to finish his education but, remember this: "The people in purgatory want ice water."

YOUR DUTY

As a committee of one, the next time you attend any downtown show why not ask the management why there are none of our cashiers or usherettes when there is seemingly every other conceivable race under the sun on the job?

If to appease you, managers state they are going to later . . . then give them a week to do so. When you return and find absolutely no change, stop frequenting that show and tell the management why! If every colored person would refuse to attend any downtown theatre until our own were employed, the immediate loss of 55% of their trade would virtually close more doors than television.

FALSE ALARMS

Although there are reports on the party line that a fine westside hotel clerk recently tied the knot with a not so hot musician . . . definitely it is not true. Aside from the fact that this no-playing, no-reading and frequently no-working gentleman already has an "old lady" and a namesake, he started the rumor in order to inflate his own ego.

'BELL BOTTOM BEAU BRUMMELS

When, if ever, will Los Angeles' loud and proud, broken down clowns, harried and married playboys . . . who are always ducking the heat and so poor that their feet beat the street . . . wise up to the fact that they are as ancient as box back coats and button shoes.

Remember, squares, young and bold or old and cold . . . if a lady (those who are left) smiles at you or treats you with respect it hardly indicates that she thinks you are God's gift.

GOING SHREVEPORT WAY?

If you get chance to make it down Shreveport, La., Pete Harris's Freeman and Harris Cafe is the last word in sea food. Dapper Pete Harris opened that city's most modern eatery after his release from the Army and its popularity is getting to be nationally famous.

Forty Days and Forty Nig..

Forty days ago two bombs exploded on South Dunsmuir avenue.

They were designed to drive Negroes off that street and to keep other Negroes from buying homes there.

Th explosions set off a wave of indignation.

Everybody got into the act.

The bombers were berated by the mayor, by the city council, by civic groups, by newspapers, by everybody who could get a hearing.

Chief of Police Parker gave out with brave words about how the guilty were going to be caught.

That was forty days ago.

Nobody has been punished.

Nobody has even been arrested.

The bombers are as free today as they were the minute after the bombs exploded.

We repeat what we said last week: Nobody—not a single person—has ever been arrested in Los Angeles in connection with more than a dozen instances of vandalism against Negroes who have moved into so-called "white neighborhoods."

It's time for the police to stop talking and do something.

NAACP Stages Mammoth Parade, Hollywood Show

Numerous social clubs, civic organizations, business representatives, and city officials rode in an hour-long parade which toured the Eastside Sunday in support of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The colorful parade preceded Sunday evening's "Festival of Stars" sponsored by the association's Special Activities Committee headed by tireless Lillie Montgnery.

Special Cars

The branch president, Dr. E. I. Robinson, and the board of directors were provided with special cars. Cited as outstanding among the many vehicles participating was the gold-spangled Cadillac entered by the Masquers Club.

The subsequent festival at the Florentine Gardens in Hollywood provided fabulous entertainment for a capacity audience which included many notables.

The guest artists included many of the best-known names in show business. (For more details see theatrical and social pages.)

"The NAACP has done right well by Californians," declared West Coast Regional Director Franklin H. Williams, "and Californians have responded accordingly."

He made the statement at a meeting held at Avalon Christian Church last Sunday to formally launch the 1952 membership campaign for the local branch.

Williams said that "when the

Luke Rosser Testifies at Commy Trial

Louis (Luke) Rosser, long time political figure and secretary of the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, showed up in Judge William Mathes' court last Thursday to put the finger on fifteen Communists on trial for violation of the Smith Act. He knew most of them, he said, and gave dates, times and places of his association with them during his membership in the Communist party from 1932 to 1945.

Rosser, who was a student leader on the UCLA campus and a big man in Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, joined the Communist party in the bottom of the depression and worked organizing the unemployed and doing special political work.

Long a stormy petrel on the Eastside, Rosser led organizing drives, street meetings and directed picket lines. An eloquent speaker with a commanding physical appearance, Rosser was the best known professional Communist in the community.

The next day Leonard Patterson of New York, testified. His career in the Communist party in the East closely paralleled Rosser's in Los Angeles. Patterson has testified at several of the government trials under the Smith Act.

Governor Won't Extradite Lad To N. Carolina

SAN FRANCISCO—Leon Carthen, 18, of San Francisco, was allowed to remain in California last week by the refusal of Governor Earl Warren to grant a request for his extradition to the State of North Carolina.

On the preceeding Monday, Terry A. Francois, attorney for the youth, and John Adams, an attorney for the San Francisco Branch of the National Association For the Advancement of Colored People appeared before the Governor's Secretary and urged that the extradition request be refused.

The attorneys were supported in their request by Franklin H. Williams, Regional Director of the N.A.A.C.P. and several other representatives of San Francisco organizations. The Reverends William Turner and H.A.L. Cle-

City Nurses Seek Pay Increase

City employed nurses receive less pay than many unskilled and unschooled city employes, it was revealed this week.

Asking a pay rise, the registered nurses who are employed in city clinics or to work "in the field" have attracted the sympathy of many community organizations.

These groups, which include the Coordinating Council of Watts and other areas, voluntarily have written to the City Council urging that body to abandon a plan for city-wide percentage pay increases in favor of "cost of living" increments.

This would have the effect of raising the lowest paid employes more than the percentage granted the highly paid.

Nurses now begin at only $221 for clinic work and $211 for field work. They can expect only five increases during their entire period of city employment, bringing their top pay to 337.

These nurses, although highly skilled, expensively educated and hard-worked, receive less than the city's gardeners, or some office machine workers or caretakers.

Their protest will be heard Friday when the City Council will vote on a percentage increase bill. At that time, Councilman Edward Roybal is expected to encourage a bill designed to give greater increases to the lower salaried city employes than to those whose pay allows them living expenses at the present price levels.

It is pointed out that many Los Angeles nurses have been lost to county, federal or state agencies because the wages offered by these are all appreciably higher than city pay. This, in part, is

Wins $3,500 Settlement For Injury in Yellow Cab

Elvernal B. Bailey, 3421 North Virgil Avenue, has been granted a $3,500 settlement against the Yellow Cab Company.

The accident occurred on September 8, 1951, at the corner of Western and Slauson Avenues. Bailey, an employee of Hughes Aircraft, was riding in the cab when it stopped suddenly, throwing him forward and bumping his head against a rail in the cab. A brain concussion and minor injuries were sustained.

Bailey was taken to Temple Hospital, 235 North Hoover street, where he was attended by Dr. W. Z. Gordon, a staff physician. At the request of his attorney, Bailey was also attended by Dr. Maxwell M. Andler Jr., a neurologist.

Miss Velda M. Jackson handled certain investigational details for the Bay area firm of Berkeley and White, which filed the case.

Doomed Texan Wins Stay at Last Minute

DALLAS, Texas—A last-minute stay of execution was granted this week to Booker T. Reed, 30, facing death on a murder charge by Gov. Allan Shivers after Warren Berzett, an attorney retained by friends of Reed in the Negro community here and three fellow members of the local Criminal Bar Association—M. K. Norton, Sam Barbaria and and Charles Tessmer—announced they would appeal Reed's conviction to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Reed's case was described by one attorney as "the worst railroad case in the history of Dallas," a report stated that:

"There was no defense presented at the trial" by Reed's court-appointed counsel, who was given only one day to prepare for the trial by the judge, and that "Conflicting statements made at various times by Jerry Wiliams" (the only eyewitness to the killing) had 'troubled" a committee of the Dallas Bar Association.

Runaway Mother Returns

As a direct result of the story of her disappearance published in last week's EAGLE, 17-year-old Mrs. Oreal Smith was returned to her 5-month-old infant by juvenile officers Friday.

The youthful wife of a soldier now serving on the Korean battlefront insists that she was at the home of her mother-in-law on E. 30th street druing the time that her mother, father and aunt were seeking her.

Confirmation of her story is not possible as the mother-in-law left this city last week for a month's visit in Mississippi.

A teacher at Garden Gate high school (where the truant girl was sent after proving incorrigible at Jordan high) read the EAGLE'S report and phoned juvenile officers that Mrs. Smith was—at that moment—visiting Garden Gate.

Oreal was not placed under arrest but was returned to her mother and aunt's home where the baby was being cared for. She expresses regret for her escapade and declares, "I don't know why I did it."

Her family expresses doubt of her explanation.

Wild Ride Nets Ruin For Lads

In a wild ride for riches, four teen-age youths terrorized the South Los Angeles area for 72 hours last week in a series of robberies and purse snatchings, using a stolen car for their getaways.

The boys started Thursday evening by stealing a car, adjusting wires around the ignition to turn the switch on, they then drove along Compton and Florence avenues looking for a woman carrying a purse so they could snatch it or for a place lonely enough for a hold-up

16-Pound Baby Born; 'All's Well'

A 16-pound, 4 ounce baby girl was born to Mrs. Ralph Woodard of 815 East 112th St., at Los Angeles County General Hospital Monday.

The baby, delivered by caesarian operation, is believed to be one of the largest born at the hospital, authorities said.

Family Beats Man; All Land in Pokey

Rudolph Kellum, 34, 1400-3 Via Francisco is in General Hospital in a serious condition from a beating and stab wound received at 370½ East 52nd street when the family of that household didn't like his looks and proceeded to change them Sunday night.

Kellum went there to see his girl friend, Ora Johnson, 24, of 2225 West 25th street. Immediately Mrs. Johnson's mother, Georgia Cork and father, J. W. starting arguing with him about his going out with their daughter. Laverne Smith, 32, of 152 West 41st street, Mrs. Johnson's aunt, got into the argument and they all began to scratch and hit Kellum.

Kellum had been drinking and felt like a hero; when he tried to strike back, Mrs. Smith stabbed him in the left shoulder blade from the back. The unidentified weapon with which she struck him came out through his left chest below the heart.

Mrs. Johnson told police officers, "Rudy came in the house and was pretty drunk and was pushing all of us around and cutting at us with a knife. I took my baby and we went to the store. When I got back, Rudy had been cut. I don't know who

TALLADEGA OFFERS NEW SCHOLARSHIPS

Talladega College, in Alabama, has announced that its annual Competitive Scholarship Examination will be administered in May this year in selected centers throughout the country to high school seniors and graduates of any race who have not attended any college. In former years this examination has been offered only to Negro students living in thirteen Southern states.

The top-ranking student in this examination will receive an all-expense scholarship of $650, renewable each year if the student's achievement warrants it. Other students who rank high in the examination will receive scholarships ranging from $100 to $275. All applications should be filed with the dean of the college.

Talladega has top rating as a liberal arts college by national and regional accrediting associations.

Acquitted in Slaying of Best Friend

Four hours and five minutes after it started deliberations, a jury of three men and nine women brought in a verdict of "not guilty" to free Milton Lee Allen for the knifing to death of Ural Vaughn in the early morning of Feb. 9 following a drinking spree. Allen was represented by Atty. Francis Jones, and Superior Judge Edwin L. Jefferson presided over the three-day trial.

Bible quotations were used freely by Jones after a witness, Sherman Hurst, told the jury that Vaughn got the knife and attacked Allen and that Allen took it away from him and used it in self-defense.

"He who lives by the sword must die by the sword," Jones declared. "Here was a simple argument between friends and Ural Vaughn decided he wanted to kill. . . . All through the history of mankind all of us had a reason at one time or another to act quickly. If the first man had hesitated we all would be dead."

"Sherman, I am dead," Vaughn, 33, of 719 E. Vernon avenue, said, as Allen, 23, Valley Dale Trailer Court, 119th and Willowbrook avenue, sat on top of him in the living room at 1337 E. 78th street, and plunged a butcher knife into his chest during the early morning hours of Feb. 9.

The evening before, Allen and

Watts Candidate Being Harrassed

Willie Schramm, proprietor of Bill's Market at 1525 East 103rd street, wound up on the wrong end of a citizen's arrest when he got involved in a hassle with Attorney Rayfield Lundy last week.

Lundy, who is a candidate for assembly from the 55th district, said that the trouble started when Schramm insisted on obliterating the word "Mason" on Lundy's campaign automobile.

Witnesses said that Schramm refused to believe that Lundy was a Mason even after the latter had produced credentials and and that police were then called.

Lundy said that he was going to prefer charges against him for destruction of property, disturbing of the peace, intoxication, and assault.

"This is one of a series of incidents which have occured to me since my decision to run for the assembly. The wires of my automobile have been tampered with, I have received all kinds of annoymous calls and propositions, I have been theatened with bodily harm by other merchants. A merchant approached me in the presence of my campaign chairman, Mrs. Ethel January, and began to use violent, profane, and abusive language and stated that he objected to the use of my campaign stickers on windows up and down 103rd Street. I feel that the time has come to call a halt."

lady alone. The 15-year-old was set to get out of the car and snatch her purse when another woman was sighted. In a hasty change of plan two got out and made a double haul.

Following this gambit, they drove around until they observed a woman getting off the street car on Broadway between East 19th and aMnchester. They were driving through the alley to approach her from the rear when they were stopped by a police unit and questioned. Police told them to go home.

Hold Up Theatre

After a number of snatches and a liquor store hold-up Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, one of the youths tried holding up the Fox Florence theatre with a jackknife. Foiled by the assistant manager, who threw them out, the boys got only a ten cent box of ice cream bon bons.

A large sum of money was netted by the youths in their 72-hour crime wave which ended when a Sheriff's patrol observation car picked up the 13-year-old on Florence avenue while he was walking alone.

He told the names of his accomplices. They were taken to Firestone Park Station and released in the custody of their parents.

Boy Hit Playing Ball With Flash Battery

Playing ball with a flash light battery yesterday caused Roscoe Owens, 12, of 1039¾ Fedora St., a serious injury to the left eye.

The boy said a playmate threw the battery to him and it struck him in the eye.

His father, James Owens, took the boy to Georgia Street Receiving hospital with abrasions of the eyeball and lacerations of the lids.

Scottish rites solemnized the ceremony. Pictured in front of NAACP parade cars are Eastern Stars Lessie Sparks, grand matron; Rosa L. Moreland, secretary; Estellyn B. Sanders, matron; Myrtle McGee, matron; Mary S. Ross, associate grand matron; Mattie Davis, secretary; Reenia Brannon, Ruby Ross, Florence B. Battle, Mary F. Silmon of Mt. Moriah Grand Chapter.

INSTALLATION—Installed as high rulers of two lodges were J. C. McGhee, Grand Master-Elect, left, and W. H. Banks, Grand Master of Worshipful St. Anthony. Past Grand Master N. E. Moreland, center, presented gavel at installation ceremonies of this Masonic group Sunday.

Popular Matron Dies After Fall in Home

Mary Butler, prominent Los Angeles church woman, was buried last week following her death from injuries received from a fall in her home several weeks ago.

The popular matron, who was active in church affairs and a charter member of the Mississippians social club, was a member of Mt. Zion Baptist church.

Funeral services were held at Mt. Zion with the Rev. R. W. Washington, assistant pastor, officiating. Musical solos were rendered by the Mt. Zion and Mount Moriah's choirs. Miss Mamie Russell sang the well known matron's favorite song, "When They Ring Dem Golden Bells."

Born in Jefferson County, Miss. in 1871, Mrs. Butler arrived in Los Angeles in 1929. She leaves 10 children; 42 grandchildren; 31 great grandchildren; one sister and a host of friends. Angelus Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Interment was at Evergreen cemetery.

NAACP Reports To the People

The Consolidated Realty Board will sponsor the public meeting, Sunday afternoon, May 4, at 3 p.m., at the St. Paul Baptist Church, 49th and Main Streets.

Drafted? Test Now Might Defer You

The draft deferment examination will be given nationally Thursday, April 24, at 8:30 a.m.

Each man who takes the test must bring his card of admittance or other sufficient evidence of his draft status such as registration card which gives his number and local board number. Also a pen or pencil is needed.

The exam will consist of 150 questions pertaining to algebra, graph reading, and word definitions.

A sample pamphlet concerning the test and further information may be obtained from any local selective service board.

Among Los Angeles schools chosen as sites for the test is East Los Angeles Junior College, 5357 E. Brooklyn Avenue.

North Pays for Dixie Jim Crow, CIO Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The economic impact of discrimination in the South affects all citizens, and taxpayers in the North are being made to pay an unfair and excessive share of the federal tax burden as a direct result, Secretary-Treasurer of the CIO, James B. Carey, told the Senate Labor subcommittee last Thursday.

He urged the committee to support pending FEPC bills "because of the moral considerations involved, because of the plain economics of the situation, because of the general welfare of the people of the United States and because of the grave situation that confronts the world today, which has for its main cause discrimination against certain classes of human beings."

Carey, who is chairman of the CIO Cimmittee to Abolish Discrimination as well as President of the CIO Electrical Workers, submitted to the subcommittee a detailed comparison of per capita tax payments to the Federal government with the per capita amounts of Federal grants paid back and State taxes collected in six Southern and six Northern States.

"Out of every dollar paid in federal taxes, the state of Alabama received back from the federal government in grants or subsidies 59c. Florida 30c, Georgia 40c, Louisiana 54c, Mississippi $1.35, and South Carolina 52c," he pointed out.

"Out of every dollar in federal revenue collected in the second group of states, Illinois got back 7c, Michigan 6c, Minnesota 16c, New Jersey 10c, New York 6c and Ohio 9c."

Pointing out that "the burning item" in all FEPC discussion seems to be States Rights," Carey added:

"The significance of all this is that Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina all have more money kicked back to them by the federal government on a per capita basis than they collected in their own state revenues. The other two states, Florida and Louisiana, did only a little better in collecting state taxes."

Carey said that he had "dinned into my ears over the years the sectional pride of certain people, usually those who are in the forefront of the fight against establishing a national policy against prejudicial discrimination in employment. Those people are given to speeches about their traditions of freedom and their pride. I can understand the pride of a man who pays his bills, who pays his own way, who maintains that he is a rugged individual and self-supporting."

EMPLOYMENT UP

SACRAMENTO — Civilian employment during March was about 22,000 lower than in February, but the estimated total of 4,449,000 persons at work was still 146,000 higher than the total for March of last year.

LOS ANGELES CITY-OWNED DEPARTMENT
WATER AND POWER

1869 - First Water Meter Installed in Los Angeles
The first water meter in Los Angeles was placed at Macy Street and Mission Road in 1889. Use of meters increased slowly. As late as 1902, when the city bought and took over the operation of the water system, there were only 319 meters in use. Under municipal ownership, however, meters were installed rapidly, resulting in water conservation and more effective use of the city's water supply.

Today in Los Angeles—
446,000 meters
are operating in a vast water distribution system

Back of the meter at your water service connection are the miles of distribution mains, the pumping plants, storage reservoirs and the aqueducts of the municipal system that delivers water to a great and growing city.

Building water distribution facilities for fast-growing Los Angeles is a never-ending task. Since 1945 your city-owned Department of Water and Power has invested more than $55,000,000 in building additional trunk lines, reservoirs, distribution mains and other works. In the next five years it will be necessary to invest an estimated $75,000,000 more. This huge cost of keeping water flowing to this growing community is being paid for without use of tax funds. And Los Angeles city water rates are still at prewar levels. Water still costs less than 5¢ a ton in Los Angeles!

Community Upholds NAACP in Projects

local branch reaches the 6,000 mark in this campaign for 10,000 members, California will lead the nation."

Report Meeting

Leon Steward, who has been setting up the campaign, announced the first report meeting this Thursday.

Citing recent signs of NAACP activity in California, the regional director pointed to two extradition cases:

1. Leon Carthen was sought by the state of North Carolina and refused by the governor after appeal by NAACP. 2. Vernon Foster was wanted in Louisiana on a framed-up charge and although the governor had been tricked into signing the extradition, the governor refused extradition after NAACP appealed.

Foster is the nephew of Malachi Monday of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company agent in the Watts district.

O. D. James, a young Negro, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Fresno eight years ago. NAACP sought and attained a habeas corpus from a Federal court and charged that he had been denied adequate representation by counsel. The writ was granted and the original charges were dismissed. James is now free.

Williams further stated that the NAACP had filed a suit in Sacramento enjoining the Sacramento housing project from maintaining racial discrimination in housing projects. A similar suit has also been filed in Fresno. The NAACP also has filed a suit against the practice of the Southern Pacific Railroad in segregating Negro passengers on streamline trains in and out of Los Angeles.

The association has also enjoined the San Francisco Civil Service Commission from refusing to qualify college graduates for jobs who have finished from Southern schools, and has forced Vallejo Junior College to cease discrimination against Negroes in admission to courses on cosmetology and retail salesmanship.

HOTEL DENIES DISCRIMINATION RUMORS

Rumors that the management of the Ambassador hotel had decided on a policy of not renting their ballrooms for Negro affairs as a result of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity Easter Sunday social held in the plush Embassy Room of the swank hotel, were scotched this week by the Reubin Arvanoff, maidre de of the hotel.

Arvanoff stated that he was quite pleased with the affair held by the fraternity, and thought the crowd that attended the affair was well-mannered and orderly.

Beta Pi Sigma Sorority had engaged the Gold Room for an affair on June 6, and had their deposit on the hall returned.

Arvanoff said that the original rental was made by his assistant, who did not know of plans to close the Gold Room during the entire month of June for renovations.

Carthen, his parents and four brothers and sisters had worked as sharecroppers on the farm of one Tom Yarborough, in Kings Mountain, North Carolina. When they stopped working for this white landowner, he had young Carthen, then 16 years of age arrested for larceny. Carthen was sentenced to 18 months on the road gang which sehtence was set aside with the understanding that Carthen would be on probation and continue working for Yarborough. Carthen's entire family thereafter worked for more than six months without pay.

In the belief that his probation was ended Carthen came to California and has been steadily employed by his uncle, a construction engineer, for the entire period since October 1950. He is now married and his youthful wife is pregnant.

cut him. I didn't cut him and I didn't see any of the others with a knife." She called her sister, Mrs. Stella Lacy of 415 West 73rd Street, to take her three year old daughter before the officers took her off to the lock-up.

Mrs. Cork,49, stated that, her husband, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Johnson had been at the house all day and Kellum came there about 7:30 p.m. and they all drank an dtalked, "Then my husband said, "Rudy is cut, we shoul dtake him to the hospital'. Joseph Bell arrived at that time and we all took Rudy to the hospital. That's all I know about it. Rudy was not cut when he arrived at my house. She, too, was taken to the clink.

Cork started, "I was driving down the street and when I got to 52nd and Town avenue, I saw this man in the middle of the street and a crowd of people were around him. I picked him up and drove him to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital. I didn't cut him; I never saw him before."

Fifteen minutes later Cork admitted, "Yes, Rudy was at my house but he didn't get cut in my house. He was cut in his car. He called me, 'J. W., come and get me and take me to the hospital'. I did not call Thomas to tell him to have Joseph to come to my house and help transport him. I didn't know anything about anything. I don't know why I keep changing my stories." he was hustled off to be placed behind bars.

Mrs. Smith denied everything, even her name until Cork forced her hand by telling the officers in front of her that she was who she is. This landed her in the pokey.

Kellum was transferred to General Hospital and Dr. Vickey of ward 14400 stated that he was in ver yserious condition.

Mrs. Johnson, Cork, Mrs. Cork and Mrs. Smith were all booked at City Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

God is glorified, not by our groans but by our thanksgivings; and all good thought and good action claim a natural alliance with good cheer.—Edwin Percy Whipple

More About Acquitted in Friend's Death

Vaughn met at the 78th street address and watched the wrestling matches on television, Later they went out for a few beers and returned around 4:30 a.m. Saturday, when they got into an argument.

Sherman Hurst, who lives at the 78th street address, heard them arguing, got out of bed and went into the room to try to stop the argument. He said he saw Vaughn pick up a butcher knife and Allen pick up a table lamp to defend himself and that he then pushed them apart and made both men put down their weapons. Hurst then went upstairs to 1337½ E. 78th street, the home of Edward Diggs Allen, Milton's brother, in order to get him to help quiet the disturbance.

THE DEATH BLOW

When Hurst returned with Edward Allen, he observed Milton in a sitting position on top of Vaughn, with a butcher knife raised over his head. Milton Allen then plunged the knife deep into Vaughn's chest, he said. Vaughn cried out, "Sherman, I am dead," to Hurst and began coughing. Edward Allen then told Milton to get his wife, who was upstairs at Edward's home, and go home. Milton and his wife left in their car.

Edward Allen took the knife away from his brother before he left and put it on the drainboard of the sink in the kitchen. He noticed that Vaughn was bleeding profusely. He and Hurst wrapped him in a blanket, carried him to a car and drove him to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital where Vaughn was pronounced dead.

People who knew the two men said that Vaughn and Allen had been friends for nearly 20 years.

Editorial

Warren: Deeds and Words

Governor Earl Warren told an Eastern newspaper last week that he is in favor of a "sweeping civil rights program, beginning with a Fair Employment Practice Act. . . . I insist upon one law for all men. I believe that the Republican Party has been a traditional friend of the Negro when it had an opportunity to show it."

Of course, the governor is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and what he was saying was a part of his drive to get that nomination. His stand is in refreshing contrast to the kow-towing to states rights that Taft has been doing in an effort to appease the Dixiecrats and to the silence maintained by General Eisenhower.

However, those of us who live in California can be pfardoned if we don't throw our hats high in the air and stampede for the Warren bandwagon. We've heard Mr. Warren say those things for ten years now. But nothing has happened.

During the decade that Mr. Warren has been governor he has had a Republican assembly and a Republican senate. His proposals for an FEPC have never even got out of the Republican-controlled committees to which they have been referred. And there is no evidence that the governor has ever done anything to force the committees to act or to persuade his fellow Republican assemblymen or senators to enact the FEPC which he says he favors.

The governor's appointees to the state supreme court and the district courts of appeal have consistently lined up in favor of upholding race restrictive covenants and the state's anti-intermarriage law.

Governor Warren's leadership of the Republican Party in California over a period of ten years hasn't produced a single important civil rights law.

The governor has made two major appointments of Negroes in his ten years in office. He named Walter A. Gordon to the state parole board and Norman O. Houston to the state athletic commission. Both have been excellent public servants but the example of their service hasn't induced the governor to appoint other Negroes.

In that decade the governor has made at least a hundred appointments to the municipal and superior courts, many of them in counties having large Negro populations and distinguished Negro lawyers. His sole contribution was the upgrading of Edwin L. Jefferson, an Olson appointee, from the municipal to the superior court.

The short of it is that the governor's deeds don't match his words.

His record on the issues on which he spoke out so bravely in New York is a pretty thin one and on that record it doesn't seem to us that Mr. Warren makes a very good case for himself. There is nothing in that record to warrant the hope that he would be any more effective in guiding a federal FEPC through a recalcitrant Congress than he has been in securing such legislation from a Republican legislature in his own state. There is nothing in that record to indicate that he could be depended upon to name Negroes to policy-making position in the federal service. There is nothing in that record to warrant belief that he would seek out and name Ngeroes to the federal judiciary. There is nothing in that record to bear out his claim that the Republican Party, at least under his leadership, "has been a traditional friend of the Negro when it had an opportunity to show it."

The governor is an honest and capable administrator but his record—not his words—is not one to inspire the Negro voter.

Rev. Jordan Is Deserving

The Rev. Frederick D. Jordan is a candidate for a bishporic at the forthcoming conference of the A.M.E. church and those of us who live in Los Angeles where he has ministered for the past dozen years can certainly recommend him to the fellow ministers of his faith.

The Rev. Jordan has not only done an excellent job for his church but he has been one of the most valuable residents of the community and has played a large and honorable part in all civic movements. Without wanting to interfere in the internal affairs of the A.M.E. church we think that the denomination will by-pass an excellent opportunity to help itself if it doesn't elect the Rev. Jordan to its House of Bishops.

Root of Opposition

"The chief opposition (to the public housing developments) seems to be—and this was true especially in the Northern cities—from what people in the neighborhood to be selected believed would be a change in the racial character of the neighborhood."

That is the considered opinion of the staff of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee which has been investigating the reasons for the reluctance of cities to build public housing. Back of that opposition lurk the organized realtors, contractors and builders who have spent a half century in building up the idea that Negroes lower property values and ruin neighborhoods where they live.

Nothing has been said about it in Los Angeles but those on the inside know that a large part of the opposition to this city's 10,000-unit program stems from the fear of racial change in the proposed Rose Hills and West Los Angeles developments. Residents of those areas made no bones about the fact that they didn't want the developments because they knew that under Los Angeles' policy Negroes would be permitted to rent on the basis of need and eligibility.

And it was the Chamber of Commerce, the Realty Board and the builders who whipped up those fears and organized the opposition around them.

In light of those facts it is hard to understand why a few short-sighted individuals in the Negro community have rallied to the side of the opposition and are working to defeat the housing program.

If there was ever an instance in which the nose is being cut off to spite the face this is it.

Loss to the Community

Carl Gross' resignation from the Park and Recreation Department is a loss to this community. He has spent almost twenty years in playground work and has done a thorough and conscientious job in helping youngsters and counseling and advising parents.

We can understand Mr. Gross' desire to take a rest from his arduous duties and we think the community ought to let him know how much it appreciates the job he has done.

Bad Law Unconstitutional

Although Negroes were not its victims, all of us can rejoice in the Supreme Court decision holding our state's Alien Land Law invalid. The law was a piece of spite legislation aimed at Japanese solely on the basis of their race. The local NAACP is to be congratulated for having joined in the efforts to overthrow the law.

Laws directed at any minority group are a danger to every other minority, and to the whole fabric of democracy.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

In the passing of Robert R. Church last week the race lost one of its most powerful workers for advancement and the Republican party lost one of its most honest and competent leaders.

Robert R. Church was one of the giants among the Negroes in the Republican party. He was an "old time" Republican, but, happily, had "new time" ideas. In fact, although he was at all times a party man, he never was a slave to party policies. He did not follow blindly. From the beginning to the end he was a critic when criticism was indicated, and a strategist who did not hesitate to press his points upon the powers in the party.

No one knows the private business of individuals completely, but the story is that when the elder Church died in 1912 he left his son Bob about $700,000. Robert R. Church was a good business man and report has it that he ran his fortune up to at least a million dollars at one time. Whether the story of the size of his legacy is accurate to the last dollar, or that of his fortune as accurate, the truth is that Bob Church had enough money so that he was dependent upon no man, and least of all upon favors from Republican politicians.

In this favorable position other men might still have gone forward building a greater fortune upon political operations, but not Robert R. Church. Stories are still told of how big Republican leaders attempted to use upon Church the same inducements they had found so effective with other Negro Republican leaders. They sought to pay his way to conventions and other party gatherings. They offered him fat "expense" accounts for his work in behalf of the party. To all these Church turned a deaf ear. He paid his way and he spoke his piece, not the piece of those who sought to buy him.

In the past twenty years of Democratic party rule, Bob kept his eye on his people and their welfare. H was a Republican and he stayed a Republican, but he could not fail to see that his people were getting much from the Democrats. He refused to wear GOP blinders and condemn everything Democratic. Instead he worked ceaselessly to try to show his party in each election what course it should adpot in order to win back the allegiance and votes of the Negroes it had lost in 1932.

Throughout the long fight for a Federal FEPC law Robert R. Church worked day and night with his party leaders and with Republicans in both houses of Congress trying to show them that it would be smarter to help pass the bill and collect later from Negroes on a positive record of achievement than to block FEPC and then fry to get Negro votes by pointing to a Democratic failure. Throughout all his work in Washington and out in the country, his race came first, the Republican party second, and the Democrats last.

Personally to this writer, Mr. Church was a magnificent figure on the American scene. Back in 1932 I went on my first big venture for the NAACP, that is, investigating wages and working conditions of Negro laborers on Mississippi levee construction. My partner, George S. Schuyler, and I were posing as laborers and we used Mr. Church's home in Memphis as our headquarters, working from there down through the state of Mississippi. We left our city clothes and our luggage in the fine old Church mansion. He gave us his private telephone number in the event we got into "trouble" in Mississippi and this came in mighty handy when Schuyler was arrested in Jackson a few weeks later. When we finished we made up our reports in his living room, refreshed with hot baths and cheered by spirits from his cellar.

Truly a giant has fallen, a man whose power lay not only in his superb skill in the game of politics, but in his courage, his personal integrity and independence, and in his deep concern for the welfare and advancement of his people.

Birth of an Idea

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

Now that Governor Adlai Stevenson seems to have taken himself out of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, (though you never can tell) a chap can discuss him as a political personality without being accused of puffing him up as a presidential possibility. Not that I have any qualms about displaying political preferences in this column of purely personal views, but it's a pretty risky undertaking to toot trumpets for a man who has not yet fully expressed himself on national and international issues.

Still, I have no hesitation in stating my regret that Governor Stevenson has sharply dimished the chance that his party will nominate him as its candidate. The rest of the stuff that has been put in the showcase thus far is pretty shoddy material to be considered for the world's toughest job. Kefauver? A boy setting out to do a man's job, playing with his coonskin cap along the way. Barkeley? An entertaining racontour of after-dinner jokes with a gift for gallantry and a record of faithful party loyalty. Kerr? Phooey! Russell? X%$& X$&?$!!

Unless something better than this comes out of the rubble, there is serious danger that the G.O.P. will back into the election—and that would be a national tragedy. Because the easier the job that Republican Party leaders think they have in electing their man, the poorer the chance that they will nominate a good man. Taft's best hopes of securing the nomination lie in the prospect that a weak Democratic candidate will be put up. There are many G.O.P. politicians who'd rather lose than win this election if losing were the only way of their retaining power; add to this crowd those leaders who believe they can win and stay in power with Taft, and you have a formidable assemblage of reaction. And make no mistake about it, with Taft in the G.O.P. saddle and his Dixiecrat support serving as pack-horse, the worst influences in the Democratic Party would seem like tenderfeet in comparison.

This is the reason why so many persons of liberal political outlook are turning toward General Eisenhower as their preference. In the first place, they see the fabulous Ike as the only political personality on the horizon big enough to stop Taft from picking up all the marbles and putting them in his pocket before the game begins, at the G.O.P. convention. In the second place, they feel that even if Eisenhower should be unable to pull enough delegates to get the nomination for himself, he could hold them together long enough to bargain Taft out of the picture and put a third party into the candidate's seat. And in the third place, Eisenhower supporters feel that their man has close to an even chance to win; and they consider that he has shown enough in his record of military and university administration to prove that he will produce a reasonably honest, reasonably intelligent and hard-working administration, should he reach the White House.

These liberals felt that if next Fall had presented us with a choice only between Taft and Truman, the country would have been in a pretty bad situation. If it had been Taft and Stevenson, they would have swung over to the Illinois governor. If it were Eisenhower and Stevenson, they felt, the country would have been faily well assured of a good administration either way. But Taft against a Democratic nobody—a television star, an expert baby-kisser, a big oil man with plenty of bucks and few scruples or a Georgia politician—Taft would have too good a chance for a walk-in, taking his Dixiecrat and isolationist pals with him. And that's why the frantic, pleading call for Ike to "come home!"

Now he's coming home, and now Governor Stevenson seems really to mean it when he states that he's "just running for Governor of Illinois." And I, for one, am not going to blow Eisenhower negligently out of the way because "he's a military man," or because he hasn't "declared himself on FEPC." I'm going to wait and see what the alternatives are and I'm going to try to find out what Eisenhower is like in comparison—and then I'm going to do my shopping. And it won't be Taft!

ON THE BOOKSHELF

EPITAPH FOR A SPY by Eric Ambler.

Monsieur Vadassy, a timid teacher of languages, vacationing on the Riviera, picks up the wrong camera, finishes the roll, is arrested as a spy and is used as an accessory by the Naval Intelligence to find the camera which has caused this predicament. To prove his innocence, Vandassy bluffs and bumbles—and on occasion, displays an impromptu inventiveness in his attempt to trap the traitor.

ROAD TO THE SUN by Marjory Stoneman Douglas.

Jason Horne, Florida rice planter, shoots and kills a "cracker" farmer who has blown up his dam and so destroyed his crop. Though acquitted, he seeks expiation for his guilt. A thoughtful, temperate story of an unshakeable conscience.

MY SON AND MY FOE by Josephine Pinckney.

Kirk McAfee, an engineer, goes on a junket to the Caribbean and in his wanderings finds himself on a small island named St. Finbar. There he meets a strange and attractive family, the members of which are divided by many conflicting frustrations His presence among them seems to release temporarily their tensions, but when a tragedy occurs, they turn on him as though he had brought it about. The author has captured the flavor and exotic quality of island life in a covincing and unusual story.

THE JUGGLER by Michael Blankfort.

This symbolic story of one man's discovery of himself and his new land has for its central figure Hans Muller, a world famous juggler, whose spirit and sanity had suffered in Nazi concentration camps. Arriving in Israel, he mistakes a policeman for a Nazi, strikes him down. Believing he has committed murder, he wanders over the countryside, but through his fondness for a young boy he befriends and the love of a fine woman, he regains eventual peace. A story which has a warm approach to the making of the Jewish homeland.

"Ladycake Farm," by Mabel Leigh Hunt, a new beek to be published by Lippincott on April 23, was warmly praised in a recent letter received by the publishers from Walter White, Executive Secretary of hte National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The book is a family story of white and Negro neighbors and the ways in which they may enjoy and help each other in our modern world.

Mr. White writes: "It is one of the most exciting, fascinating, heart-breaking stories I have tver read. In addition to reading it myself, I asked my ten-year-old stepdaughter to read it, and she is equally as excited about it. I don't believe any person—child or adult—can read the story without both enjoying and benefiting from it."

Mabel Leigh Hunt, well-known author of books for boys anh girls, lives in Indianapolis, which is also the home of the illustrator of the book, Clotilde Embree Funk.

The Story begins with a move from town to country by the Freed family, with their three children: Little Joe, Indian Rose and Pearlie May. Miss Hunt's treatment of the problems that arise is understanding and friendly. "Ladycake Farm" is a book that is directed not only to children but to parents, librarians and teachers who are alive to the problem it treats.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I want to thank you for publishing my statement regarding the leaflet distributed by the Small Property Owners League and the editorial which you published this past week.

I understand that the Small Property Owners League have launched a personal attack against me for making the statement but have not made any specific answer to my charges.

It would give me the greatest pleasure to debate this subject before the public at some sort of a mass meeting. It seems to me that, if this group is sincere, they would be happy to let the public hear the facts in an open debate. This is a direct challenge to the Small Property Owners League. I should like to know what connection there is between the bombings and public housing and I think the public would too.

Sincerely yours,
WESLEY R. BRAZIER

This is the time of the year when most baseball fans indulge in that fascinating sport, picking the standings of the teams in the American and National Leagues come October. This hot-stove future book on baseball teams is readily forgotten, when the standings are known, unless someone was lucky, then you've got to hear about it all year.

Francis Waller, our intrepid advertising man, says he likes St. Louis. Probably got suds in his eye looking for some beer advertising. Publisher Loren Miller, who learned his baseball on the wide plains of Kansas, likes Cleveland in the American and Brooklyn in the National. A real solid pick. "With that good pitching, and if Cleveland hits the ball at all, they should breeze in. I liked the Giants until they lost Irvin, so I've got to string along with Brooklyn, though they are not the young team they used to be," said the learned Mr. Miller as he looked up from his law books.

Wendell Green, who fancies himself a bit of a ball player, rubbed his fast balding pate and said, "Cleveland, White Sox and the St. Louis Browns in the American, Giants, Brooklyn and Boston in the National. No color on the other teams, so I naturally don't consider them and hope they lose all the games.

This Corner picks Cleveland, White Sox, St. Louis, and Boston. Brooklyn, Giants, Boston and Cincinnati in the National. We'll see come October.

Jimmy Carter should move to California and buy a home. Think of all the money he would save in train fare alone. The only place the lightweight champ can make a quarter is at the Olympic.

In spite of my doubts of Salas to give Carter a battle, he made me wrong by really pressing the champ all the way. The 15-round title bout slated for the Olympic in May really should be a dilly.

This Saturday night the only real inter-frat game that draws, the Alphas versus the Kappas, really should be a dilly. The Kappas are out for blood as the Alphas kicked over the dope bucket and soundly trounced the Kappas in their only meeting this season. Be on hand early to get a good seat.

Otis Harris, 163-pounder from the USS Mississippi (I know he's glad its a boat and not the land) and Cornelius "Bear Cat" Toumen from the USS Mt. Olympus will square off at each other over channel 2, KNXT, tonight (Thursday). A coupla youngsters who will bear watching.

If you get time some Sunday morning, drop by Ross Snyder Playground and watch the never-grow-old men of the post office playing baseball. Some of them are older than the game, but they still play a good game.

When UCLA and Cal tangle in a dual meet at Westwood Saturday afternoon, the locals will get a chance to see how "Fly" Guy Blackburn has improved. Blackburn has been having a bit of trouble beating his teammate who transferred from Tuskegee, and keeps Blackburn looking at his shoulders.

Mighty Jefferson just might lose Friday's meet to Fremont. The Pathfinders have some lads of color who are very swift. It'll be a ding-dong affair. I'll see you there in th estands with the Post Office and Police Department contingent.

OMEGAS CLINCH FRAT BASKET FLAG WITH 77 TO 53 WIN; ALPHAS TAKE SECOND PLACE BY BEATING SIGMAS

Doing what came naturally, the fast moving Omegas buried the Kappas under a 77 to 53 score to clinch the flag in this years' interfraternity basketball series at Loyola-Gym Saturday night. Meanwhile the Sigmas kept their record of not winning a game in 1952 intact by dropping a 54 to 33 tilt to the Alphas in a colorless game that was highlighted by John Barber's 21 points.

Omega speed, furnished by Ed Tucker, Algin Sutton, Vernon Riggins and Ivan Robinson was too much for the Kappas who let their rivals rack up eight points before they got around to scoring. From then on it was just a question of how wide the margin was going to be. At the end of the first quarter the Omegas were in front by 24 to 11 and the half time taly was 37 to 25. The third quarter ended with the Omegas leading by 54 to 37 and the game ended in a blaze of zany antics with the Omegas waving a red scarf before Dave Williams. Not to be outdone, Dave got into the spirit of the affair and performed a nifty dribbling act that would have done the Globe Tritters proud. At that point nobody cared much what happened and everybody had fun while the Omega cheering section taunted the Kappas with inquiries as to just how "satisfied" the Crimson and Cream contingent was.

Chief failure of the Kappas lay, as in the past, in their inability to hit the basket. Their shots were wild, or worse, and the ball repeatedly bounded off the backboards or the rim to drop into the hands of some willing Omega who thereupon moved it to the other end of the court where it up and hopped through for another two pointer. Gene Williams seemed to have more trouble than anybody else in locating the hoop. Johnny Moore who had a fair night finally fouled out in the second half to rob the Kappas of what little hope remained to them.

The Alpha's Barber was red hot and with only a minimum of help from his team mates was able to best the hapless Sigmas. Bobby Pounds was back on the beam for the Sigmas and dropped in 13 points while Doug Shaw, who showed up after the first half, was effective as usual with his close-in hook shots. Fred Bluett, who also missed the first half, dropped in a ciuple of long shots to give the Sigmas a little something to cheer about. Again, the Sigmas listed no numbers for their players, to add to the score keeping confusion, but at least the substitutes all had shirts for the first time.

Saturday's encounters will pi the Alphas against the Kappas with the last year's champs faced with the necessity of winning the tilt in order to get a second place tie. The Kappas now have a two won and three lost record while the Alphas have won three and lost two. The Sigmas are faced with the dismal prospect of having to play the Omegas and although they now have last place cinched they can—and will—take a firmer grip on it by dropping the final game to the Omegas. That will give them a no won and six lost record which is about as nearly perfect, in haven't copped a pennant.

reverse, as a team can hope for. The modern series record still gives the Kappas the edge. They have won three flags while the Omegas now have won two and the Alphas two. The Sigmas

PLANNING A HITTING SPREE—Artie Wilson (left) talks over with his keystone partner, Nanny Fernandez, plans for leading the league in hits. In 1950 Artie won the Pacific Coast batting championship, the teams began to employ the "Artie Shift" to stop him. Artie figures he can beat the shift this year.

JEFF IN CRUCIAL MEET WITH FREMONT FRIDAY

Tomorrow, on the Democrats' Fulton Field, the Jefferson track team faces one of the toughest league meets since their defeat at Washington in 1947.

Manual scored 33 points this year against a Jeff team that was sharper than the one which easily trounced weak Washington last week, 80-24. Fremont boasts more first place points and are stronger in the events that Jefferson is finding it hard to develop consistency.

In the sprints Ray Alvarado and Bob Owens are capable of running one-two because Herbert Vaughn, Robert Taylor and company have found it difficult to better their early season marks.

Another event which concerns Coach Estel Johnson is the 880. Willie McMahan, Jeff's top man, hasn't come close to running back to his outstanding early season mark of 2:05.4. He was held out of the Washington meet because of disciplinary reasons concerning his tardy record and it is the coaches' hope that he will post a more creditable time against the Pathfinders.

The inconsistency of Roland Harvey in the hurdles is another "if" for the Democrats. He ran into tough luck against Washington and didn't place in either race. He has one of the best performances in the city to date but inconsistant athletes can't be counted on in the more important meets to follow.

Cleveland Duncan with a best of 15.0 in the high hurdles is more than able to cop the blue ribbon for the Pathfinders.

The month long injury of Roslyn Range with a sore groin is still of great concern to the coaches at Jeff who pray he will regain his health before the league prelims. He still has the best city marks in the 220 and broad jump. Without Range in the long jump Fremont's Carey Black could easily win the event. He will also climb high into the scoring column in the high jump. Jeff still has four fellows over six feet but the big boy, LaVerne Smith, fell off to 6'1" against Washington.

The two outstanding races of the day line up to be in the 440 and eight man mile relay. In the quarter Fremont's Jim Morris tangles with Robert Taylor. Their best times being separated by only a tenth of a second, 51.3 and 51.2 respectively.

Jefferson Baseballers Open Season

Coach Ray Wehba unveils a fast-moving, spirited baseball team this week after a 50-50 spring training season. The varsity baseball team opened their season last Tuesday against the Roughriders nine from Roosevelt. Garfield is being picked by most of the dopesters to cop not only the Southern League crown but the city as well. Today the Democrats go against Manual Arts in their second league try at Manual. It is hoped that the Jeffs will be the giant killers of the league if just a few of the key men come through in the pinches.

The leading hitters on the club thus far are Arthur Alvarez, Earl Wilson, Harry Cal, Donald Johnson, and Lee May. Wilson is by far the sharpest pitcher with his fast-breaking curve ball. The lack of an adequate bench is one of Coach Wehba's greatest worries.

Pictured on the Kastle's staircase are the group and guests who will serve the public next Saturday.

Kappas Serve Kocktails in Kastle's Lavish Gardens

Tinkling glasses will prevail over light conversations and modern music at Kappa Kastle, Sunday, April 17, as the scene of the Kappa Kocktail Scholarship Benefit soiree will be staged from 4 to 8 p.m.

Silhouettes, symbolic of good will and cooperation, will serve as hostesses innovating modern anticipation of the affair.

Featuring music for the occasion will be Red Callender and his RCA-Victor recording trio. The capacious Kastle will also be open as an entertainment attraction and placed at appropriate spots in the Kastle will be choice selections of hors d'oeuvres.

The activities committee has in store other highlights for the guests conducive to an evening of enjoyment. Special decorative aspects have been inaugurated by committee members which include Junius Covington, Robert Green, ex-officio, Henry Grayson, Edgar Bishop, Leroy Berry, Leonard Brady, Bernard Johnson, Robert Merrill, Horace Johnson and Joseph Walker.

Fete Bride-Elect at Gala Social Events

Shirley Curry, the winsome and popular bride-elect of James Alfonse Greene, is being given a whirl of social events to precede her marriage.

She was the recipient of a delightful supper and shower at the home of Ellyn Greene on Saturday night.

On Thursday Juanita Banks and Dorathella White were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in her honor. The guests at the party were all her teammates on her basketball team.

For those who didn't know it, Shirley is quite a sportswoman. Her team won second place in the Los Angeles County conference this season. "Dot" and "Blocker" as they are known by the team, really gave Shirley a "send-off."

The Wayne Howards are giving the rehearsal dinner, which promises to be a most gala affair. Attending the dinner will be matron-of-honor, Juanita Banks; maid-of-honor, Dorathella White; bridesmaids, Ellyn Greene, Frances Dabney, and Jacquelyn Sebastian and groomsmen Charles Harris, Basie Frazier, Jimmy Allen, Nathaniel Harris and John Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Woodard and Mr. and Mrs. William Vernon Johnson will also attend. (Mrs. Woodard and Mrs. Johnson are sisters of the bride-elect.) Shirley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunn will be among those present.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, April 26 at St. Philip's Episcopal church at 11:30 a.m.

Silhouettes' Installation Held Sunday

Guests and fellow members witnessed the Sixth annual installation of officers of the Silhouettes (Kappa Alpha Psi wives) at the Kappa Kastle last Sunday.

All officers, retiring and incoming were presented with a corsage of roses.

Mrs. Clara Webb, retiring president, was presented an inscribed gavel for her services of the past two years.

Kappa sweetheart handkerchiefs were given to Mrs. Camilee Van Hargis, Mrs. Maceo Moody and Mrs. Ethel Bradley for their work.

After the ceremonies guests and members enjoyed a delicious repast in the rose-apointed dining room.

Droves of Out-of-Towners Drawn to Sigma's Dance

A number of out-of-towners found the Sigma Phi Beta annual post Easter formal significent enough to attend in droves. Even the once-a-yearers flocked out to celebrate the fraternity's big social event.

Held in the Royal Palms and supplied with music of Sammy Franklin's orchestra, the dance, interspersed with a queen coronation and introduction of brothers, closed at the final hours with guests leaving for the many after parties.

UNDERCOVER hounds

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

As the frat series draws to a close we deem it only polite to commemorate some of those beautiful dolls who've been leading their respective teams to victory (or defeat) on the hardwood down at the Loyola gym.

Not only do these girls put their all into moral support but seem to add a little local color while sporting the colors of their favorite frat. Those people we dig as outstanding and more versatile in their fields o'yelling include Claudine Stasher, a magnificent baton twirler for the Q's; Betty Norman and Loretta Lee, cheaty yell queens for the Alphas; Annie and Mercedes High, energetic cheerles supporting the Sigmas; and the Kappa Selects are attractive Mary Cantrell, Dot Cain, and Jean Southern whom wethinks are the bestus.

Lou Robinson and Peggi Beasley always in there plugging for the Alpha cagers.

Howard Morehead bets on the cheerleaders rather than the hoopsters.

William Johnson has a special seat reserved on the floor where all Alpha pledges belong.

Kenny Washington doesn't care where he sits as long as its with a non-local lovely.

Deloras Crooms, Janet Draper, Pat King, and Francine Fortier rooting for the men rather than the team.

The kiss of death—Bob O'Rielly talkin' about what he could do if he only had it to do it with.

Lestrita Nichols and Arlene Provost are ardent Kappa fans. And a Fifth of the fun was gone.

After the game Sat. we happened upon four or five impromptu affairs, the craziest seemed to be the shindig on 22nd St. by a cat named "Chester."

The party was getting under way and the juice was really flying when a fifth of vitals showed up missing. After searching all of the suspects they found that the culprits were far too adept in the art of "five fingers and a getaway."

And so on into the night many danced knowing that a "buzz" would never be reached. Of the good people attending Pat Prescott and Ray Johnson seemed to be two of the most "way out." After doing considerable distruction to the punch bowl and scoff table, Walker Bruce proceeded on into the salon where Elaine Bias awaited his company. Besides hyping the majority of the young ladies Leon McCarty found time to talk some real serious trash to Elaine Lindo. Leon Bridges and Paul Mitchell, who were having a little get-to-gether earlier in the eve called it to an abrupt end when they heard of the crazy time to be had at this congregation. Couldn't help noticing the hype's Dion Marrow uses in his hits on his buddy's chicks. This time it was Alma Johnson who belongs to Calvin Lawrence. The party came to and end as the sun rose and some cads made off with the hosts birthday cake. We won't go so far as to say just who.

The Cocktail Set

Society's confirmed lushlifters made with the heydays a Sunday eve back, at the Al Alesions twilight cocktail dansant. People, we know danced and gurgled quick lime mixtures to the music of top name recording artists who cheerfully donated via wax.

Unforgettable Betty Brannon did her part in tryin gto keep some of the good living males in this dimention, cause some of them like Charles "Jazzy" Jackson, Bobby Blake and Tony Carr were out in space. Some mo' folks who were in fairly good shape considering the condition of other guests were Barbara Kimball, Gloria James Herbert McCluster, Rodney Tompson, Jean Benton, Vidia Hopkins, Zeff Frazier, Herb Wood and.. that awful sweet Valorie Coleman.

An Epidemic?

That awful Hungarian Mong Gong (marriage) is slated to strike down many love minded couples in the future months. Connie McCallister and Bobby White are undergoing name changing sooner than you think. Lillie May Campbell and Duncan Osborne are doing the thing too. Those great people Charlette Johnson and Austin Nicholas are also two stepping it in a few weeks. And Gloria (Casey) Collins who did it a long time ago has received her reward, an 8 pound baby boy.

Things we can't overlook.

Four Roses to Dave Williams who turned Harlem Globetrotter on the Q's in the final minutes of play.

We're laughing at the self-styled Miss America who thinks she'll win a current contest because she's got what it takes, but this statement reminds us of the famous English conservative who said, "If you know you've got what it takes then stop lettin geverybody take it."

The Ivy Leaf picnic that everybody's gabbing about is sure to be tough and tough on the leaves who swear they'll give their all to make it a success.

The Starletts, a newly organized girls' club is turning the crowd on with a dance, May 2nd that they hoep will be their greatest. It will be held at the Phyllis Wheatley Home.

The Miss Bronze L. A. contest is rapidly coming to a head but there is still time to enter. For full details get in touch with Howard Morehead at the Omega House.

The A.K.A.'s step forth with their Spring formal this weekend. From past experience we recommend it highly. Be on hand (if you were lucky enough to get a bid).

Remember, this weekend, the Les Calliavettes present "The Chase" featuring Elvira Redd at the Alpha Bowling Club. The date is April 25th.

Look out for the Hounds

BILL SMALLWOOD

Esterline Powell well on her way to Alaska. She will be gone some six months she hazarded a guess. Lover of luxury and giver of gala parties that she is I frankly am astonished at her rugged traveling to such a far-flung outpost, but adventure these spring days is fine antidote for boredom on anybody's part, by cracky. That bad fall Noble Sissle had in N. Y. the other day gave him a fractured spine and put him in the hospital. His doctors say his injury is more painful than serious.

Newspaperman John R. Williams' recent trip to his hometown of Baltimore is his first in thirty years. Girl Friends met Monday at the home of Mrs. Clara Scruggs. They are plotting a rummage sale.

Etta Moten's daughter Etta V. (Mrs. Alvin Lee Tinnin) and her bridegroom are off to Brazil after the latter winds up graduate work at Harvard in June. The trip was one of their wedding gifts. Dr. Gertrude Curtis Thompson socially busy in Manhattan these spring days takes time to send cards back home here to chums. She's having quite a trip of it. Leigh Whipper's daughter off to Europe soon. Joanne Sampler on the ailing list. Their apt. atop one of those Montclair terraces is a unique thing. Mildred Blount deserves a bow for a nice gesture dating back to Easter Sunday. She took time to gather her newest hats and her model then made a surprise visit to Hattie McDaniels. They put on surely what must have been the most exclusive Easter millinery show in town and Hattie enjoyed every moment of it.

Jet now is looking for the most spectacularly dressed woman in town. There is one who has no immediate competition and it will be interesting to see if they pick her! Meanwhile, that mag's current spread on soignee Leontyne King (best dressed) is a handsome job. Leontyne goes serenely on effortlessly making our so-called models pale into the nearest background. All that and brains, too! Local friends of Chi's Atty. and Mrs. Earl Dickerson (Kathryn) about to make the rounds to shop for their daughter Diane who will be all of eighteen next month. She will be a June debutante, too. And off to college in the fall. The collective Dickersons are well known in these sprawling parts, you know.

Marion Jackson Downs due in town. She came in on the Queen Liz a few weks ago, went to Baltimore for family reunion. Her daughter Karlene has been there some time now; she returned to the States with her grandmother and aunt after their extended trip last summer. Marion, who hasn't been out this way in long, long seasons, will come west in time for the Methodist conference in S.F. then head down state. She's been in Italy two years and plans to return to the continent later. Pounds thinner, she's taken on much of the continental allure, I hear. Reminiscences in part of her earlier years in Pasadena will doubtless fetch her many a chuckle while here. Be good seeing her!

Hotel Biltmore has Dr. Ralph Bunche's reservation. Carl Jones flew back in town from Canada for four days visit with his wife and family. He took a plane out to N. Y. prior to flying back to Europe for another long trip. He left Tuesday for Europe. Helen Whitman had to hurry to Oklahoma to attend the funeral of her mother-in-law. Her husband Ernest, ailing himself, couldn't make the tedious trip. Dorothea Towles, due in, is asking a thousand dollars for her fee to model those Parisian clothes here she brought back. It is said she may sell some of the many gowns in her role of representative French model. She's a smart cookie and deserves much credit. And is getting it.

Bill Cummings found a house and is fast getting settled in it. Blonde Marian Clark cut her local trip short from Ohio and returned there recently. Her medico mate bought a new house while she was here so she had to board the Chief to go home and supervise moving details. In case you looked twice to be sure, that IS sports-loving Alec Peoples in the new role of official umpire at local ball games around town! He took the official primer course and now has full sanctioned standing and all. How, he will divide his time between the golf course and baseball diamond remains to be seen by fascinated buddies. He and wife Kitty may visit Chi this summer, then they just may settle for the Bay area. They're an ideal twosome.

Ex-Angeleno Wesleen Foster appeared recently as a talent scout on Jan Arthur Godfrey show. Affluent Detroiter Grady Jackson who has been visiting his sister here goes back to Motor City. Did you know Seattle's Dr. Homer Harris (lives now in Chi) wed recently for the second time? He and his family are at home in L.A. what with so many lifelong friends here and in Pasadena. Mamie Waugh was distinctively the hostess Monday afternoon when she had twenty-five tables of chic villagers in. Her supper was royal, no less. She entertained her club. Add to the list of recent village hostesses who entertained but delightfully: Mrs. Baxter Scruggs last Friday at her place. One of her clubs, too.

Nora Holt on advice of her physician resigned as General Chairman of the N. Y. branches of the Nat. Assoc. of Negro Musicians Inc. who are hosting the August to-do in that town. She was made Honorary Chairman. Numerous local townsfolk are making the long haul to N. Y. for that particular event. Among them, Faustina Johnson, Albert McNeill, Jo Cooper, Ora Lee Scott, others. Known here, Viola Jefferson reaches these shores soon from Sweden for a visit. She'll go to Chi to see her famill. Chuckling at my query as to just which direction she will go this summer travel-lover Pauline Slater says: "I'll be right here at home reliving those forgettable moments of Europe from last summer!"

Fabulous doin's, the Deason-Jackson gala weekend show, etc. up SF way. That kind of glitter and glamour you may well associate with the loudly lamented good ole days. The lads have the exact touch and flair needed for such joy, a sort of shot in the tired arm. They're smart lads, indeed. Several of our local golden brown glamour gals and lads took to the skies for the weekend up there. Seems to me they even flew the press (Jessie Mae Brown Beavers) up for the hoedown. Heigh-ho, now!

GREEK ARTISTS—First recital presented by the Pan-Helenic Council was held in Hancock Hall, USC Campus last Sunday. Fraternity and sorority members sponsored were Gloria Roberts, Minnette Finis, Lawrence Lassiter, Ethel Ingram, Ruth Parks, Danellen Mabry, Oscar Plant, and Ganelle Miles.

First All-Greek Artists Recital Brings Praise

One of the main purposes of the Pan Hellenic Council was defeated Sunday afternoon in Hancock hall, University of Southern California campus. Collectively organized to add cultural life to the community, more than 2,000 Greeks were represented by less than 200 people at the first All-Greek Artists recital.

The poor showing was recognized by outstanding artists as Muriel Rahn as well as others who acclaimed the individual performances of the seven artists as the most gratifying to cultural activities witnessed during this last stage of the musical season.

Artists, contributing to the unusual program, performed with precision and ease of well trained musicians. From each contribution variations of style and technique were detected, straying far from the drab routine of familiar renditions.

The well known Greek artists who appeared were Gloria Roberts, pianist, Alpha Kappa Alpha; Minnette Finis, coloratura soprano, Sigma Gamma Rho; Lawrence Lassiter, violinist, Kappa Alpha Psi; Ethel Ingram, mezzo soprano, Zeta Phi Beta, accompanied by Ruth Parks; Danellen Mabry, marimbist, Delta Sigma Theta; Oscar Plant, baritone, Omega Psi Psi and Ganelle Miles, harpist, Delta Sigma Theta.

Poodle On Last Leg

The much-publicized, much criticized, much-worn poodle cut is on its way out.

Local beauty salons aren't quite ready to say so. But they admit that "partial poodles" and "poodle variations" now form the bulk of their business—which is just another way of saying that many women are tired of little curls brushed up all over their heads and are looking for styles with lessfluff and more shape.

But they still like the look and feel of hair swept up off the neck and away from the face—especially with summer coming on.

The signs definitely point to upswept hairdos and a revival of pompadours, probably by next fall.

This style differs from those exaggerated, built-up pomps of the 1900s and 1940s in that it's small, neat and close to the head—a suggestion rather than substance.

It looks cool, fresh and serene, most appropriate for the Gigson girl shirtwaists, little flowered sailor hats and other old-fashioned revivals now on the fashion scene.

Green-Tally Announce Wedding Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. James Green announce the engagement of their daughter, Shalmir, to Mr. Herman Talley, son of Mrs. Victoria Talley.

Helen Wortham Weds in June

Mrs. Helen D. Wortham, formally announced the bethrothal of her vivacious daughter Helen Luverle to Mr. Rober Lloyd Burdette.

Helen Luverle is a native daughter, a graduate of Jefferson High school and is now a senior at East Los Angeles Junior college. Her mother has been for many years directress of Hamilton Methodist Church choir and is head teacher of Pueblo del Rio school. Her father was the late James A. Wortham.

Burdette is the son of Mrs. Beatrice Perkins, a native son, a graduate of Jefferson High school and is now employed by the Board of Education.

Both young people are prominent members of the younger social set and active in Hamilton Methodist church.

The wedding is set for the month of June.

No social news will be accepted after 9 p.m. Monday. All copy must be typewritten.

MODELS FOR SHOW—Business-Professional club of Woodlawn YWCA held its annual show Sunday. Models were Ruby Parks, Beatrice Davis, Charlene Cooke, Marilyn King and Lena Torrence.

Phyllis Wheatley House Given Pyramid Shower

Plans have been completed for the Pyramids Linen shower which will have its setting at the beautiful Phyllis Wheatley home, 2125 S. Harvard blvd. on Sunday afternoon, April 27 from 2 until 5. This affair will air the home with furnishings of linen. The community may help by donating a linen item, small or large, for this shower.

The main attraction of this late April event will be an outstanding fashion review.

The spotlight will be on such charming and glamorous young models as Gloria McPherson, Mary Carroll, Joan Mason, Grace Jackson, Myra Dickerson, June Miller, Alma Morris, Leatrice James, Mona Jones, Sandra Monroe and Harriet Wilson. These beautiful young ladies will wear formal, sport, cocktail, dressy, and late afternoon wear.

Piano music will be provided by Zenobia and Arline Thomas, Ella Mae Turner, and Ura Redmond. Soloists for the affair afternoon will be Bobbie Mae Walker and Helene Oatts. Mr. Okeke, African student, studying at the University of Southern California will also be on hand to entertain.

This elaborate fashion show and program will be moced by Wini Orr.

Floraline Ingram, chairman, who is working very hard, says "You can't afford to miss this wonderful affair which is formost worthy cause." Harriet Miles, Mona Jones and Gloria Nelson, president, are working along with Miss Ingram to make this an outstanding event in all respects.

Stars Stir Excitement at Gigantic NAACP Festival

A capacity crowd and a star studded show combined to make the Second Annual Festival of Stars sponsored by the Special Activities committee of the NAACP at Florentine Gardens Sunday night a huge success. Heading the committee which planned and conducted the show was Mrs. Lillian Montgomery.

Heading the list of artists who appeared on the show were Muriel Rahn, Peg-Leg Bates, Hadda Brooks and the Nicholas brothers. They were supported by a long list of other professional and amateur performers who made the two hour long show one of the best of its kind presented at the Forentine.

Les Thompson's band furnished music for the show and for the dancing that followed. Lillian Randolph, Wini Orr and Hunter Hancock divided the responsibilities as masters of ceremonies and kept the lively show going.

Planned to kick off the membership drive of the local NAACP, the show furnished a receptive audience which heard Dr. E. I. Robinson voice an appropriate plea for support of the association.

Rosemary Boykins, the Interracial Chorus, Mabel Fairbanks and her proteges, Aland Dixon, Andre Drew and the Caperettes Tap Trio were among others contributing their talent to help make the show a success.

People and Places

A noted eastside mother of two charming daughters was telling them the other eve that the best labor-saving device ever invented is a husband with money. However, the mother failed to come up with the antidote for falling in love with a married man with three kids and why she is forced to support all five.

KILLED THE GOOSE

If Maurice Saunders and Norma Stormes have been the reason why you found high class entertainment at the Chez Leon, you will have to seek some other place as the young ladies are no longer with the joint. The owners of the Chez handed Maurice a lousy deal after she stood by them when their first manager left them in an awful houe. Maurice was willing to, and did, stay to attempt to work up business without a salary. So, they up and thank her by making it so nasty for her she had to leave. It was a surprise to learn Chalky Wright was "used" by the owners to oust Maurice and in a manner which made him look very small in sight of Maurice's many friends.

Little does Chalky realize that the owners are feefering to his friends as roustabouts. He'll be next to go.

GERTRUDE GIPSON, theatrical writer, was handed her walking papers, and it was a poultry deal. However, a national magazine quickly added her name to its payroll.

SCHOOL TEACHER MODEL

Dorothea Towles, Wichita, Texas, born ex-teacher who is making herself famous as a model, will make her debut at the Florentine Gardens May 24, in what they term "Parisian Fantasy." Dorothea taught in our local schools and was married to popular Dr. Nate Ferorance. She abandonded both for a swing at modeling.

Dapper Dr. Overstreet Gray is sporting a new 1952 Victoria Ford and says it's one every year. Incidentally, the young Vernon Ave. dentist is interested in a first calss Negro business. IRAMA ZAKON, GERTIE L. BROWN, IRMA BEAURY, JEAN SESSIONS, are the lovelies who make the Central Drug the popular 25th and Central lunch spot. MIGNON SPENCER is the Diamond at the Pam's Costume Jewelry and what a sparkle in "dem there eyes." WOODY BROWN is a good pattern for any enterprising young man who would like to get ahead in the world. Brown projected an idea into a money-making venture by working hard.

TED SCHAFFER and WALTER GORDON are a likeable combination and could be the reason why Atty. Schaffer is interested in moving his westside office eastside. He could pick up many good ponts from the suave Atty. Gordon. BILL (RED HUT BROILER) DAVIS is thinking about entering Laurita Alexander in a bathing beauty contest. I suggest she drape her lovely coffee brown frame in a three dot suit. A dot here, a dot there and a spot where? CARL COBBS, JR., piano genius, is holding forth nightly at the High Seas with Jake Porter's group.

CANDID COMMENTS

NORMA GREEN—wifie of the late Eddie Green, just sold her beautiful home and will soon take up residence in a westside apartment. NORMA WILLIAMS, socially prominent Heights' bundle of loveliness, is all smiles again and sporting Frank Harvey's engagement ring. Natch it's being denied by the family. At any rate Harvey is back from Korea and we shall see. The grapevines are buzzing about father not answering the big question of "who giveth this woman in marriage?" The old man wasn't "fer" it 'cause the groom didn't figure prominently in the blue-book nor the pocket-book. RUTH FORD and JAMES SMITH have come to the parting of ways. Ruth has been residing in her westside apartment alone for the past 30 days. LOVIE HARRIS, who pilots a four-hole job, is the secretary of the "LADIES OF DISTINCTION" social club. A young brownskin sat brooding over her drink at GARNETT'S the other eve. After her second drink she decided to call hubby to come pick her up. He did and she decided she wasn't ready to get into the car. He lifted her body and slammed it into the car as you would do a flat tire.

Noble Sissle on Mend Following Fall From Stage

NEW YORK—Bandleader Noble Sissle was reported in good condition following a fall from the stage of the Republic Theatre into the orchestra pit. The famed bandsman suffered the fall last week while rehearsing his band for a forthcoming engagement at the theatre.

He was rushed to Bellevue Hospital where it was first announced that the veteran musician had a fractured spine. However, Hospital authorities now say Sissle's condition is not serious and that he will be back with the "Shuffle Along" cast when the musical opens in New Haven, Conn. the week of April 23.

POPULAR BARITONE SIGNS FOR NEW U-I PICTURE

Le Roi Antoine, Hatian baritone who did an outstanding job as technical advisor on the 20th Century Fox films "Lydia Bailey" was signed this week by Universal International to set the jungle rhythm sequence in their picture "City Under the Sea." Antoine had charge of eight singers, four drummers and five dancers. The locale of the picture is Jamaica. Woody Strode also has a prominent part in the feature.

Signing a two way contract with the studio, Antoine also goes back to do the role of a bartender who sings calypso songs to his patrons.

"My Lost City" one of the musical numbers in the picture is an original by Anoine, composed for the film.

Negro in Movies: Post-War History

By L. DAVID

1950 was the high-level mark reached in the postwar struggle of Negro representation on movie screens, (1945-1951). In that year Juano Hernandez was projected forward wtih amazing speed by three studios in rapid succession. The veteran Negro character actor from Puerto Rico and New York City smashed across starring or co-starring or featured roles in MGM's, "Intruder in the Dust," "Stars in my Crown," in Warner Brothers, "The Breaking Point," and in that same studios' "Young Man With A Horn."

Later on in the year came "Lights Out," with James Edwards (Universal), "The Lawless," (Pine-Thomas) which dealt specifically with Mexican youth, and "The Jackie Robinson Story," made independently.

Although it is clear that the "Negro Cycle" (Holywood's description of their postwar employment of Negroac tors) was already waning fast what with "Intruder in the Dust," "Lost Boundaries," "Home of the Brave," "Pinky," already made in 1949; yet the employment of Juano Hernandez in four pictures in a row in 1950 was the high-level mark because it marked a slight departure from this idea of a "Negro cycle" and marked the stirrings of Hollywood to employ a good actor because he was a good actor.

Juano Hernandez had such a power in the movies he played in that Hollywood, caught in the throes of depression business, seized on this mad greedily and rewrote a "white" role for him, found other roles for him! The part Hernandez played in "The Breaking Point" was changed and written specifically for him after that studio saw what power he had in "Young Man With a Horn."

But if ever there was proof needed about the Hollywood attitude toward the Negro people, it lays in the fact that Juano Hernandez has not been employed by a movie company since 1950. Juano Hernandez with his power and exceptional ability made a hole in the "Hollywood Curtain" but quickly the hole was patched up and since 1950 no role has been written especially for Hernandez or any other Negro actor except in the cut and dried Negro "cycle" or "story" movies ("Red Ball Express," "Lydia Bailey," "No Way Out").

(It is disappointing to see in this issue of this paper that the Negro Art Theatre is starting casting of "Come Back, Little Sheba." To this reporter the most a production of "Sheba" will prove is that Negro actors are as god as white actors.

This point—made long ago on Broadway and also made effectively by the young Negro actors in Hollywood during the postwar years and specifically by Juano Hernandez who was so good the studios searched to find new and different roles for him—this point of doing "Sheba" now is a dull and colorless step forward for the Negro Art Theatre, the supposed representative of the best Negro actors in Los Angeles.

Moreover, the establishment of the proposition that Negro actors are as good or better than their white brothers has gained little ground in he struggle for equal opportunity for Negroe actors. Hernandez, ofr example, proved it and hasn't worked since he did.

Now comes the NAT to prove something that's already been proved and gotten little if anything for anybody. Why doesn't the Negro Art Theatre come forward and realy take a swing at Jimcrow! It seems to me people are mad—actors are mad, the plays should reflect that anger and channelize it.

(Here, after fighting for better representation on screen, the Negro actor is facing harder times than ever before.)

(Next week: 1951)

SULTRY SONGSTRESS—The torchy singing of Hadda Brooks was one of the highlights of the second annual Festival of Stars at the Florentine Gardens, sponsored by the NAACP. A turnaway crowd attended the event Sunday afternoon.

Bill Walker In New Pic

William "Bill" Walker, affable Negro actor who made his film debut in "The Killers" when the late Mark Hellinger "dared" him to take the role, gets the best break of his career in 20th Century-Fox's "Night Without Sleep".

Walker was signed yesterday for a top supporting role to Linda Darnell and Gary Merrill in the psychological drama, portraying a nightclub proprietor who becomes involved in a murder mystery. Walker, co-incidentally, operated a famous nightclub in Detroit for many years before coming to Hollywood at the insistence of his friend Hellinger.

The assignment follows his recent featured appearances in "Lydia Bailey" and "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie" at 20th Century-Fox.
